PUNISHMENT WORSE THAN THE CRIME.

That South Carolina woman was evidently more sinned against than sinning, which brought the following timely remarks from the Statesville Landmark:

"One of the cruelest outrages that we have read of in a long time was recently perpetrated at Blacksburg, S. C. A prominent citizen of that town, Mr. L. H. Holland, lost his wife and was left with several children. He got along as best he could with his domestic affairs, employing colored help. A neighbor, a Mrs. Elmore, took an interest in the family and assisted in Mr. Holland's domestic affairs and in caring for his children. Finally Mr. and Mrs. Elmore moved away from Blacksburg but Mrs. Elmore made frequent visits back there, stopping with Mr. Holland's family and sometimes staying several days and nights. This suggested a scandal and thereupon a mob of white caps called at the house early one evening while Holland was at his business and took the woman, who is described as a frail, delicate creature, into the street and whipped her with buggy whips. The conduct of Mrs. Elmore was such as to give rise to talk, and she and Holland are blameworthy for not avoiding the appearance of evil. But the action of the self-constituted regulators was a cruel outrage without excuse. The woman's husband should have objected first, but it is not recorded that he raised any row. But even if the couple were guilty of wrongdoing—and the evidence is not conclusive that they were—Holland was the party to be dealt with. He was a man and he was responsible. The cowards who attacked a frail and helpless woman, even if she were guilty, are unworthy the name of men."

When one is so busy in his own little corner he sometimes fails to note properly the signs of growth and prosperity that is crowning the efforts of his neighbor. After reading the supplement of our esteemed exchange the Charlotte News we lost it and have been unable since to speak intelligently, as we wished, of its grand new printing press with its accompanying general improvement. The News is now printed on one of those improved machines that you can't understand and can't see how it does it. The paper is on a roll like ribbon and it is run off and at the other end it comes out an eight-pager (or anything else you want it) pasted together in book form with the edges left slightly attached. The News is the only evening paper we know of in the State printed from a roll and seems therefore the most progressive evening paper in the State. The general appearance and style is improved and is an achievement of which to be proud. Though too long delayed we tender our congratulations to that progressive journalist, Mr. W. C. Dowd.

While we have never believed there is much danger that the United States Senate will refuse Mr. Simmons a seat in that body, we have not caught the pretext for such action. It can't be the specious plea that the negroes were unconstitutionally deprived of their votes under the amended constitution, for the elimination of the illiterate negro voters only goes into effect in 1902. Negroes were as free to vote as they ever were and in the August election a legislature overwhelmingly Democratic was elected which insures a Democratic Senator. We do not hear of any contest over the constitutionality of the election law. Where Mr. Pritchard proposes to hook his finger in we do not understand.

Remember the Orphans.

We gladly conform to the request to publish the following in the interests of the Oxford Orphan Asylum and other orphanages that the generous public will remember at the coming Thanksgiving:

"At Thanksgiving, when the mercies and blessings of the past year are carefully recounted and considered, many will be impelled to express the deep gratitude of their hearts, both in words and in deeds. By contributing to some worthy cause, which has for its object the relief of distress, the rescue of lives, the salvation of souls, thank-offerings will be made to God. The orphans' homes of North Carolina have large claims upon the benevolence of our whole people. The care and training of destitute, homeless, orphan children is a work of paramount importance, rich in results. The cause appeals to us all. Could we make an offering more acceptable to God, more beneficial to dependent humanity, than a contribution to maintain these homes for homeless boys and girls? Thanksgiving contributions to orphan-work each year are liberal. They are pleasing to God. They make glad the hearts of the children gathered in our various orphan's homes and of the workers for these boys and girls. We all have much to be thankful for. Let us this Thanksgiving express our gratitude by even greater aid to those who so much need our help."

Brave Explorers

Luke Stanley and Livingstone found it harder to overcome malaria, fever and ague, and typhoid disease germs than savage cannibals; but thousands have found that Electric Bitters is a wonderful cure for all malarial diseases. If you have chills with fever, aches in back of neck and head, and tired, worn-out feelings, a trial will convince you of their merit. W. A. Null, of Webb, Ill., writes: "My children suffered for more than a year with chills and fever; then two bottles of Electric Bitters cured them." Only 50 cents. Try them. Guaranteed, Sold by P. B. Fetzer, Druggist.

Brown (slapping total stranger on back)—Hullo, old man, haven't seen you for an age. Don't you remember me? Stranger—I don't remember your face, but your manner's very familiar.—Punch.

Sanitary Notice!

All persons are notified to clean up their premises at once, those keeping hogs are especially warned.

The commissioners have taken strong action in the matter and the mayor has given strict orders. A word to the wise is sufficient. Clean up and stay clean and save yourself of fine and cost. JAS. F. HARRIS, Chief of Police.
