Ges ricia Doctors Make Dene wo Hear ana Dumb to Speak.
Ammie McBain, of Macon, and Kittie Sqittr, arp living proofs then mutes can be cured; that the deaf can be made to hear and the umb to speak.
"Thése two living examples of he power of science-will ppear before the committee on the School for the Deaf at the capthe interests of mutes to the end that appropriated. for the school at Cave Spring.may be increased largely so that nore of the unfortunates there shall be taught to speak and be treated so that they shall hear.
That two persons who were born mutes, who could not speak or hear for many, many years, should beable to talk intelligently o members of the legislature and ask them for more money for the school wherein they were cured seems miraculous. Had this thing taken place in the days of the forefathers it would have been regarded as direct interposition of Providence. It would have ranked in dence. It would have ranked in the mind of the good old peopl ot that day as a miracle equally wondrous
