TELEPHONE NO. 71.

CONCORD, N. C., Dec. 4, 1900.

The Kentucky has just about finished her mission at Smyrna, that is, by her imposing presence, induced the Sultan to arrange for that little difference of accounts, and will probably go over to Morocco on a similar mission of persuading the government to settle the bill for the murder of Marcus Ezagui, a naturalized citizen of the United States, who was killed some months ago.

Secretary Hay and the representatives of Nicaragua have signed the treaty by which the United States have the right of way for the canal. Now let Congress sign the necessary contracts for the canal. We want to stop turning Cape Horn.

The Senate and House of Representatives met at noon Monday and after the usual preliminaries received the President's message, which is long, too long, for a busy man to read, but seems quite comprehensive and valuable as a recapitulation to China, together with the status of affairs in all our foreign relations. Paradoxical as it may seem the President calls for more men and less money. We repeat that the document seems quite worth the perusal.

The Supreme court of the United States has passed upon the separate car law in Kentucky sustaining the law. It recently gave a decision that allows the States the regulation of cigarette sales and our State Supreme court gives the mayor of a town jurisdiction over violations of its ordinances without the right of the defendant to remove the trial to a magistrate. It seems that local laws are not all swallowed up in centralization yet.

In another column will be noted the communication by Prof. Jay D. Lentz on the subject of "State Adoption of School Books." It was a long step backward, we think, when the county adoption was fallen upon. It goes with saying that the immense expense of the fight all over the State by the different book concerns is either drawn from those who buy the book or must be a robber of the legitimate profits of the book concern. The Biblical Recorder is timely in agitating the matter and due discussion is now eminently in order.

The city of Fayetteville is figuring on a large bleachery, a match factory and another cotton mill. There is such a thing as biting off more than you can "chaw."

Blissful Ignorance.

Poor little fellow in the cradle there,
He knows not time nor chance.
He dreameth not that he'll have to wear
His elder brother's pants.
—Puck.

She wept. "Oh, you editors are horrid" she sobbed.

"What is the trouble, madam?" inquired the editor.

"Why, I—boo—boo—I sent in an obituary of my husband, and boo—hoo—and said in it that he had been married for 20 years, and you—oo—boo—hoo—your printers set it up, 'worried' for 30 years."

She wept. But the editor grinned. Perhaps it was all right. Who knows?—Baltimore American.

A Cleanly Hen.

A little girl staying in the country for the first time saw a hen scratching in the garden.

"Oh, mamma," she exclaimed, "there's a hen wiping her boots! Do look!"—Selected.

The Town of Nogoood.

My friend, have you heard of the town of Nogoood, on the bank of the river Slow, where blooms the Waitawhile flower fair, where the Sometimeorother scent the air, and soft Goeasys grow?

It lies in the valley of Whattouse in the province of Letthingsslide; that tired feeling is native there; it is the home of the reckless Idontcare, where the Giveups abide.

The town is as old as the human race, and it grows with the flight of years; it is wrapped in the fog of idler's dreams; its streets are paved with discarded schemes and sprinkled with useless tears.—Durham Recorder.

In order that our force might take time and reflect and be thankful that our delinquent subscribers have not succeeded in starving us we are one day late this week.—News Reporter.

After confiscating so many whiskey stills, it is not surprising that the North Carolina revenue officers should see double.—Richmond Times.

All persons are notified to clean up their premises at once, those keeping hogs are especially warned.
