CHILDREN OF THE CONFEDERACY.

A Delightful Evening Spent With Them—Net Proceeds $40.40.

The Children of the Confederacy made a crowning success of their efforts at an entertainment Friday night. The performances were good in every part and the close attention and vigorous applause indicated that the unusually good audience duly appreciated the splendid renderings.

The recitations and largely the songs referred to the "Lost Cause," and filled the bosoms of survivors of those ordeals with reminiscences of the terrible eventful days, while to the young they doubtless fanned into flame the sparks of chivalric pride in an immediate ancestry.

A large group of girls with Confederate banners sang "Cavalier's Glee."

Miss Margaret Lentz recited a short little tribute to the "Men who wore the gray."

Miss Janie Patterson sang "The Conquered Banner."

Miss Mary Young rendered a piano solo, "Old Black Joe," with variations, that was surpassingly sweet and expressive.

Miss Ohla Brown sang a solo, "The Girl I Loved in Sunny Tennessee," and deserves special praise for her clear enunciation and her pathetic rendering. She merited the round of applause given.

The flag drill was very satisfactory. More of it would have been enjoyed.

Miss Mollie Brown recited "Tribute to Sam Davis" in verse, the introductory being read by Prof. Keesler. The recitation has a pathos of sadness and heroism that Miss Mollie brought out of it in splendid style.

"Pride of Battery B" that most touching little piece of fiction was recited to perfection by Miss Mary Kimmons. It gave intense delight.

Miss Gertrude Caldwell so gifted in voice, sang in solo "The Vacant Chair."

Miss Lina Hartsell rendered a piano solo in very creditable manner.

Miss Annie Hoge recited "The Confederate Note," holding one of the bills in her right hand and giving the story of its issue in good faith and its decline to low depreciation, yet dear for the mission it filled.

Miss Julia Barrow rendered "Old Folks at Home" with variations. It was rendered as by one far beyond her in years. It was highly enjoyed and she was encored.

Miss Margaret Woodhouse recited "The Sword of Lee." She displayed gifts and training. It was enjoyed.

Miss Addie Patterson sang

"My Old Kentucky Home," which never gets old when sung as she sang it.

The pantomime rendered by a group of young ladies arrayed in the artist's conception of angelic beings, the movements being suited to the sentiment, "Jesus Lover of My Soul," was a devotional inspiration. The same group rendered a tableau that we will call "Sleeping Beauties."

The final scene was little Miss Katherine Goodson in statue "Child of the Confederacy" with banner in hand.

The Concord band added much to the entertainment, a special feature of which was the solo by Mr. Willy Fetzer.

The net proceeds of the enterprise we are glad to say is $40.40.

K. of P's Elect Officers.

The Knights of Pythias in meeting Friday night held their semi-annual election of officers as follows:

- Wade Barrier, C. C.
- Luther Weddington, V. C.
- R L McConnell, P.
- E J Jones, M. of F.
- C L White, M. of E.
- Eli Goldston, M. at A.
- Jas. C Fink, M. of W.
- Paul Parks, I. G.
- D W Tucker, O. G.

The newly elected officers will be installed on the first Friday night in January.

Twenty-five Years for Hinson.

Will Hinson was found guilty of manslaughter at Albemarle court for the killing of D F Swearingen, some months ago, and was sentenced to 25 years in the penitentiary.

Unpardonable.

"I shall never speak to him again," she declared.

"Why not?" her chum asked.

"When we were at that concert the other night I told him if he didn't take me out of the crowd I would faint and he would have to carry me away."

"Yes."

"Well, you'd have thought his life depended on getting me out of there in a hurry!"—Selected.

Richmond had a $75,000 fire Thursday night that started Miller and Millers wood working establishment. The incident most remarkable was that of a pair of fire horses taking fright and dashing through the street full of people without hurting more than two and they but slightly.

Look pleasant; look pleasant, urged the photographer, with the bulb in his hand.

You seem to forget, replied the victim, what you are charging me for these photos.—Ex.

An example of the chances in the United States for the bright and energetic young men who stay in one place is furnished by the success of Chas. M Hayes. At the age of 19 he was a clerk in a railroad office at St. Louis, his salary being $40 a month. That was 23 years ago. Mr. Hayes has become president of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which is the largest system but one in the world. He will have a salary of $55,000 a year and will be the highest salaried railroad man in the world.—Anderson Intelligencer.
