THE WAS GOOD OLD TIMES.

Mr. H. E. C. Bryant has a delineation of hog-killing in Sunday's Charlotte Observer, reciting all the glories of the small boy on that day when he delighted himself at eating roasted pig tails and blowing up bladders.

Great battle scenes are often written by the field correspondent in some cozy city parlor or office, but we will warrant that Red Buck was at the hog-killing but left or went to sleep a little too soon to see two of the negro men after supper come up to the kitchen of the "big house" and there, with woodmen's axes, chop the sausage meat fine on an oak slab bench. If he had stayed he would have had a taste of the first sausage, for when the sire and dame had put in the sage, and other garden flavors, the salt, pepper etc., and to confirm the accuracy of the palate on the raw meat they would fry a little panful. When the big folks had done tasting, little "Buck" could have had another dainty, better even than the half raw and half burnt pig tails. Then, too, he could have seen the sire on one side of a tub of sausage meat and the dame on the other, the former holding a tin stuffer with a wooden rammer, the head of which rested against him about the upper edge of his "britches" flap. She would slip the casing on the spout of the stuffer and he would hold the spout between the first and second fingers and let the casing slide off as the stuffer drew nearer and nearer to the fountain of his appetite and the meat went shooting into the casing, she in the meantime plunging an awl or stable fork into the sausage to let the air escape. He refilled the stuffer and she laid the string away. Red Buck should not have gone to sleep before these pretty "snakes" were coiled around in the large hewed-out wooden tray.

By taking the risk of a licking next day for bad lessons one could enjoy this part of hog-killing even if he did have to go to school.

France has more alcohol than she needs, but has to buy all her petroleum therefore she is working away on engines by which to use alcohol as a motor. Judging from its effects on men it should be a hummer as a motor.

The United States treasury should stand well over the world as the new secretary has six toes on each foot.

Yes, a Good Thing to let Alone.

A contemporary remarks that "when thirty States request Congress to call a constitutional convention for the purpose of providing for the popular election of United States Senators Congress must obey," that "six States have already done so, and fully thirty have at times accepted the proposition in principle," and the holding of a Federal constitutional convention becomes therefore possible, even probable." This matter of the election of United States Senators by popular vote is a good one to let alone. The framers of the constitution knew what they were doing when they provided for the election of Senators by one electorate and of Representatives by another, and the agitation for a change is promoted for the most part by demagogues.

Children Especially Liable.

Burns, bruises and cuts are extremely painful and if neglected often result in blood poisoning. Children are especially liable to such mishaps because not so careful. As a remedy De Witt's Witch Hazel Salve is unequalled. Draws out the fire, stops the pain, soon heals the wound. Beware of counterfeits. Sure cure for piles. "De Witt's Hazel Salve cured my baby of eczema after two physicians gave her up," writes James Mock, N. Webster, Ind. "The sores were so bad she soiled two to five dresses a day."—Gibson Drug Store.

Wilson Decorated.

A gentleman who has just returned from Wilson states that the smallpox scare there seems to scare other people much more than the residents of the town. "Everyone is allowed to come and go where he please," he said, "and the people do not seem to regard a quarantine as at all necessary. The streets are lined with yellow flags and your first impression is that you have either struck Chinatown or a circus parade."—Raleigh Times.

Strikes A Rich Find.

"I was troubled for several years with chronic indigestion and nervous debility," writes F. J. Green, of Dancaster, N. H. "No remedy helped me until I began using Electric Bitters, which did me more good than all the medicines I ever used. They have also kept my wife in excellent health for years. She says Electric Bitters are just splendid for female troubles; that they are a grand tonic and invigorator for weak, run-down women. No other medicine can take its place in our family. Try them. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by Fetzers Drug Store.

A Profitable Investment.

"I was troubled for about seven years with my stomach and in bed half my time," says E. Demick, Somerville, Ind. "I spent about $1,000 and never could get anything to help me until I tried Kodol Dyspepsia Cure. I have taken a few bottles and am entirely well." You don't live by what you eat, but by what you digest and assimilate. If your stomach doesn't digest your food you are really starving. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure does the stomach's work by digesting the food. You don't have to diet. Eat all you want. Kodol Dyspepsia Cure cures all stomach troubles.—Gibson Drug Store.

Beat Out of an Increase of His Pension.

A Mexican war veteran and prominent editor writes: "Seeing the advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, I am reminded that as a soldier in Mexico in '47 and '48 I contracted Mexican diarrhoea and this remedy has kept me from getting an increase in my pension for on every renewal a dose of it restores me." It is unequalled as a quick cure for diarrhoea and is pleasant and safe to take. For sale by M. L. Marsh druggist.
