MASONS IN SESSION.

Will Build a Grand Temple—Honor to Secretary Drewry.

The Grand Lodge of Masons is in session in Raleigh. A movement is on foot to build a Grand Masonic temple at the capital.

A pleasant feature Wednesday was that of getting Grand Secretary Drewry out of the hall to have a whole lot of good said about him, among which was that he is about to get married and the body unanimously voted him a handsome present, probably a silver service set.

N. C. Regimental History.

We are proud to have received the 3rd volume of the Regimental History of North Carolina Confederates. Its pictures are rather a curiosity. The best we see in its resemblance of the present is Capt. D. A. Caldwell. Capt. William Johnson, Mrs. J. C. Wadsworth's father, is true to our memory of his features before we entered the second battle of Fredericksburg where he fell commanding his company. Mr. D. B. Coltrane's picture is barely recognizable and the only thing that looks like Paul B. Means is the spectacles with the chord. There is a pretty good looking youngster that they say does not look like the Standard-man.

It is a handsome book of 761 pages embossed on cover with the battle flag and State flag.

Gov. Vance's picture is the frontispiece in Colonel's attire including sword and belt.

These books cost $1.00 with 25 cents extra for express charge.

Chicken Show at High Point.

A High Point special of the 15th to the Charlotte Observer says:

The first meeting of the North Carolina Poultry Association is now on at this place, the doors being opened to the public last evening. The show is being held in the Anchor Warehouse, a structure large enough for all purposes. About 1,000 head of poultry and pet stock had been entered at the time of the opening. Mr. Jesse A. Harrill, the veteran superintendent is present. The judges are men of national reputation: Stephen T. Lea, of Hodges, S. C., and F. J. Marshall, of Atlanta. The secretary is Mr. R. L. Simmons, of Cherryville. They with all other officials and fanciers agree that the finest collection of birds ever gathered under one roof in the State is on exhibition here. Rabbits, including the Angora, Maltese, Belgian, pigeons and turkeys and nearly every variety of chickens to open greet the eye of the visitor.

"Love-laden glances are the wireless messages from the heart."

Mr. Sherwood's Danger of a Fire.

Mr. Charles A. Sherwood narrowly missed a very serious fire on Wednesday morning at his home near the furniture factory.

On hearing something wrong with one of his sons up stairs he went to see to him. He found the boy stifled in a dense smoke and the boy says since that he was as if in a dream that he could not breathe. Mr. Sherwood hastened to find the source of the smoke which was so dense as almost to be felt. He finally found a smouldering fire underneath the house which had charred off two sleepers. He has a Buckeye hand pump and by cutting the floor he was soon master of the situation and saved his house and perhaps his five children up stairs who were fast being stifled and might have succumbed without waking.

The S. W. G. C.

We now have another organization among the fair ones of the sweeter age. It was organized Wednesday at Mrs. R. A. Brown's with Miss Grace Brown as president, Miss Mianie Allen vice-president and Miss Julia Johnson as secretary. It is called the S. W. G. C. club. It is not ours to solve the mystic initials.

Real Estate Sale.

Mr. J. C. Wadsworth made a sale Tuesday of the Howell property on North Union street to Mr. W. Frank Morrison. The consideration was $1,500.

Our Merchants Fill Orders from Corea.

It will be remembered that Rev. J. R. Moose formerly pastor of a church in Concord is now a missionary in Corea. We have just been shown an order received by the Cannon & Fetzer Company for a bill of goods including such things as are needed in a family for domestic comfort as well as wearing apparel. It includes about two hundred pieces, counting small and large articles. He sent an order also to Mr. W. W. Gibson for three pairs of shoes. All will be shipped within a few days via San Francisco to Soul Corea. He says he experiences a good deal of difficulty in getting orders filled in San Francisco and takes this method of dealing where he knows what to depend upon.

The National Magazine.

The National Magazine for January edited by Joe Mitchell Chapple and published in Boston, Mass., is on our desk. It has a number of very desirable productions of live interest. In fact is a very desirable magazine. Senator Hanna begins a series of articles with the January number entitled "William McKinley as I knew him". It promises to be worth much more than the cost of the magazine.

Petrea-Wilkinson.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Wilkinson at Cannonville on Wednesday night, their daughter, Miss Minnie, and Mr. Hawley Petrea were happily united in marriage by Rev. J. A. B. Fry.

It was a quiet home wedding at which a number of special friends were invited to witness the ceremony and participate in the joys of the contracting parties.

The bride was the recipient of many presents, including costly silver ware and statuary.

She was arrayed in white organdy and bore a beautiful bouquet, being the picture of loveliness and the proud groom was manifestly elated with his prize.

Our best wishes go with these young people on their matrimonial voyage.

American Poultry Association.

Charleston, Jan. 14.—The American Poultry Association, composed of the leading poultry men of the country, will hold its annual meeting here next week, during the continuance of the poultry and pet stock show of the exposition. In order to give Northern exhibitors full opportunity to enter their poultry and pet stock, the time for making entries has been extended till the opening day of the show, January 23.

The Good of Small Pox.

People who have had the small pox live longer than those who have not,—the small pox microbes swallow up the microbes of other diseases, we are told. The same authority says that people suffering from rheumatism and gout live long.—Durham Recorder.

Five Dead From His Drunk.

A Pittsburg dispatch of the 15th gives a most horrowing tale of a Pole who came home drunk and made a murderous assault on his wife, who, though severely hurt, fought him off. He then turned to slaying his children, when the wife attacked him with knife in each hand and inflicted mortal wounds, but he killed her. Including children that will die of their injuries there are five fatalities from his drunk.

Alphabet on Pin Head.

A Baltimore jeweller has succeeded in engraving the letters of the alphabet in capitals on a pin head. As it was his first attempt and was done in an hour and a half with a common engraving instrument, he is proud of the job.—Morning Star.

B. F. Keith Gets the Plumb.

B. F. Keith, a Wilmington man, is to be collector of the port at that city in place of Daney it is now confidently asserted.
