THE CHARLESTON SHOW.

The Richmond Times of the 19th says:

"Two well-known citizens of Richmond returned last week from Charleston, where they visited the Exposition, and they bring a most favorable report. They say that the Charleston Exposition is one of the most beautiful and instructive ever seen in this country, and that it is a credit to the State and to the South. They speak in very high praise of the beauty of the buildings and especially of the mechanical part of the Exposition is most creditable. The management have met with many difficulties and have been delayed in completing the work, but the show will be in perfect condition. A little while hence, and when the grass is green and the flowers all in bloom, it will be as a garden of paradise, so our Richmond friends say.

This is good news. The people of Charleston have shown great courage and industry in getting up this industrial show, and we believe that it will do not only Charleston, but the whole South much good. Southern newspapers ought to advertise it as much as possible, and the people of the North ought to make it a point to go to Charleston and see this exhibit of Southern industry and progress. All expositions are not exactly alike. The Charleston Exposition is peculiarly a Southern Exposition, and we believe that the people of other sections who visit it will find it not only enjoyable, but in a high degree instructive."

This Charleston Exposition is a study. We all want our people to enjoy it if they can spare the time and means to do so, but we were so disappointed in learning that there was actually no exhibition on the ground when we gladly announced the opening that we want to be sure that there is something to see when we encourage our people to go. The Times' article sounds as if the show is opening up to proportions worth seeing.

The Salem Female Academy delegation plead vigorously with President Roosevelt to attend the Centennial celebration of that famous school but he politely declined, saying he could not attend on account of pressure of business. When one Mrs. Patterson told him that she was one of 2,000 women who had graduated at that institution and that not one of them had ever applied for a divorce the President emphasized his regrets that he could not attend. The President will doubtless miss the chance of his life in this particular.

Maxims of a Successful Man.
The great secret of success is laying by a nest egg and adding to your little store—never spending more than you make.

A young man should command what he is worth, always keeping his eyes open to do better for himself.

No one can follow in the footsteps of another, he must work out his own destiny.

If you observe the rules of honesty, integrity and economy, and fear God, you have just as good a chance as any man that may be cited.

Never allow a social obligation to interfere with a business engagement.

Lots of sorrow has been caused by men meddling at a game regarding which they knew nothing with fellows who did.

False pride is an enormous obstacle.

Never worry about tomorrow. Today is the all important issue.

Don't watch the clock. The man who does would probably never be missed by his employer.

A Fireman's Close Call.

"I stuck to my engine, although every joint ached and every nerve was racked with pain," writes C. W. Bellamy, a locomotive fireman, of Burlington, Iowa. "I was weak and pale, without any appetite and all run down. I was about to give up, I got a bottle of Electric Bitters and after taking it, I felt as well as I ever did in my life." Weak, sickly, run down people always gain new life, strength and vigor from their use. Try them. Satisfaction guaranteed by Fetzner's Drug Store. Price 50 cents.

Encouragement for Mothers.

Many a discouraged mother folds her hands at night and feels as if she had after all, done nothing, although she has not spent an idle moment since she rose. Is it nothing that your helpless children have had some one to come to with all their childish griefs and joys? Is it nothing that your husband feels safe when he is away at business, because your careful hand directs everything at home? Is it nothing, when his business is over, that he has the blessed refuge at home which you have that day done your best to brighten and refine? Oh, weary and faithful mother, you little know your power when you say, "I have done nothing." There is a book in which a fairer record than this is written over against your name.—Selected.

Don't Live Together.

Constipation and health never go together. De Witt's Little Early Risers promote easy action of the bowels without distress. "I have been troubled with costiveness nine years," says J. O. Greene, Depauw, Ind. "I have tried many remedies but Little Early Risers give best results."—Gibson Drug Store.

"Better be a healthy beggar with a dollar than a prince with dyspepsia."

"It's easy to make an egg stand on end—after it is hatched."

A Negro School Teacher Lynched for Shooting a Planter.

Samuel Moon, a planter near Strayhorn, Miss., was shot Sunday afternoon by Sam Bowie, a negro planter and school teacher. Strayhorn is about 15 miles west of this point.

Bowie surrendered. W B Serrin and B Coe were especially deputized to bring him to this place. When in the Arkabutia bottom, a few miles from town, the prisoner and the officers were surrounded and ordered to give up their guns. The two special officers were taken a distance of several hundred yards and ordered to decamp. The prisoner was shot to death and the mob vanished. A coroner's jury did not develop any evidence as to the identity of the mob. Moon, who is a planter, is in a critical condition. Bowie was prominent among the members of his race. The cause of the killing has not developed.

Attachment of the Furniture of Lee's Business College.

Before Squire D G Maxwell, yesterday, C E Hooper & Co., J W Wadsworth's Sons, W L Sanders, and Dr. C A Misenheimer, swore out warrants of attachment on the furniture of Lee's Business College. They held claims against Prof. D L Lee. Squire Maxwell has the furniture stored in the old court house for the present. The lot consists of four typewriters, tables, chairs, etc.—Charlotte Observer.

When smallpox or other epidemics strike a town the newspapers are sometimes requested not to mention it, but when unscrupulous persons give out reports making the matter much worse than it really is the newspapers are expected to correct it as matter of course.—Durham Herald.

[In other words the newspapers are expected to do a good bit of convenient lying either in words or silence.]

The man who advertises only in the fall need not be surprised at a dull summer trade.—Durham Herald.
