TOO MUCH HASTE TO GET INTO DEAD MEN'S SHOES.

It does not seem to us too early to raise a voice in protest against the immoderate, we attempted to say the indecent, haste at filling offices after the death of officials. Almost, if not quite, parallel with the announcement of death comes nominations of men to fill the place made vacant. We have noted a very recent example and we are led to believe that before the body of a lamented State officer was really cold there were aspirations, and calculations and possibly manipulations for the official plum. If it is not in exceedingly bad taste our sense of the fitness of things is greatly at fault.

If it is said that you must get into the push or be left, we would say be left with dignity maintained rather than succeed at its sacrifice.

We think the reprehensible drift could be checked by a well pronounced deliberation on the part of the appointing power and a frowning down of a suggestion of appointment while the thoughtful and the appreciative of a great, good officer are yet sighing over his providential removal. It hardly seems that a man to grace a high and noble office would enter a scramble for the position.

We are impressed that it would greatly elevate men in the estimation of elevated society if a very decisive reformation should be wrought along this line.

ANXIETY PARTLY RELIEVED.

Now that Miss Stone and Mrs. Tsilka have been released by the brigands and have appeared within the lines of safety, the anxiety for them and the sense of outrage at disappointments in the reports of their deliverance may give way to considerations for avoiding the repetition so much invited by the big ransom paid. Many an interesting story, too, will be in order on the captive experience of these consecrated women. The affair has put a sympathizing world in a strain which is relieved only in so far as these individuals are concerned. If a set of brigands, though, can defy the world and be paid for such high handed outrages will they not keep up the game. Diplomacy and bayonets have had bigger but less important tasks to perform.

PROF. J. Y. JOINER SUCCEEDS GEN. TOON.

The Governor has appointed Prof. J. Y. Joiner to succeed Gen. Toon as Superintendent of Public Instruction. Mr. Joiner is professor of English at the State Normal and Industrial College at Greensboro. He was called from the graded schools of Goldsboro to this position. He is a native of Lenoir county. It may not be in any way against his efficiency as an officer, but it is hard to shake off the too oft repeated reflection that western men seem not much in it for appointments to important public positions.

The Governor has commuted the sentences of two of the Emma burglars to life imprisonment. They kept on the outside then and are on the inside now, so to speak.

The Last Heard of It.

"My little boy took the croup one night and soon grew so bad you could hear him breathe all over the house," says F. D. Reynolds, Mansfield, O. "We feared he would die, but a few doses of One Minute Cough Cure quickly relieved him and he went to sleep. That's the last we heard of the croup. Now isn't a cough cure like that valuable?" One Minute Cough Cure is absolutely safe and acts immediately. For coughs, colds, croup, grip, bronchitis and all other throat and lung troubles it is a certain cure. Very pleasant to take. The little ones like it.—Gibson Drug Store.

Killed at Coasting.

One young lady was killed and four others of a coasting party were severely hurt at Pittsburg on the 22nd. They were going down a steep grade in the street and the sled got beyond the control of the guide and crashed into an obstacle with fatal results.

A Convict Killed.
Roanoke, Va., Feb. 24.—A special from Bristol tonight says: News reached here from Hunt-dale, N. C., this evening of the killing of James Davis, one of the convicts employed in constructing the Carolina extension of the Roanoke River & Charleston Railway. Davis, who had formerly held good positions in connection with railway construction became unruly and refused to go to work. By orders, negroes assisted in applying the whip to Davis and when he was released he slashed two of them so badly with a knife that it is thought they cannot recover. Davis then became defiant of all authority and was shot down by one of the guards, who is said to have acted under orders.
