THE GREAT MEETING IO WILKES.

The Chronicle's Handsome Tribute to Sam Jones—Wilkes County Made Better.

We believe we have not yet seen Sam Jones written of so nicely and favorably as in the Wilkesboro Chronicle of the 11th. The Chronicle in reference to the late meeting held by the evangelists, Sam Jones and George Stuart says:

"The preaching was good all the way through and always hit the nail straight on the head. Sam Jones used his own peculiar style, now particularly rough, now persuasive, tender and eloquent, now scathing and cutting now humble and sympathetic. There is only one Sam Jones and all imitators are frauds and failures. Mr. Stuart who assisted in the meeting is different from Jones. He preaches the bible straight from the shoulder in a plain simple though eloquent manner and puts his illustrations so plain and clear that the force of its application can not be resisted. On Sunday afternoon he preached his temperance sermon, which is the finest, most practical and pathetic discourse we ever heard on that subject. Mr. Jones preached the morning and night sermons Sunday and they were both grand. Sunday night over two hundred repentant sinners gave their hands.

Monday morning was a great feast of love and rejoicing. Both Stuart and Jones made talks. Mr. Jones' text was "What wait I for? My trust is in God" At the close of his remarks hundreds went forward and gave their hands, among them distillers and liquor dealers. Such a scene is scarcely ever witnessed at any time or in any country. The spirit of heaven seemed hovering pleadingly over all and eyes united to tears were wet and hardened hearts were melted into the tenderness of the hearts of babies. Hands that had not touched for years were clasped in friendship and love again, and tongues that had spoken evil were turned to words of forgiving and praises to God. It was glorious to be there.

The influences of such occasions can never die. They work like the heaven. While the praise belongs to heaven, God always works through human agencies, and while appreciating the efforts of Jones and Stuart and their effective faithful labors, we should not forget that the noble work of our own faithful ministers for untiring years laid the foundation and made ripe the time for the glorious meeting.

Let us not forget them in their untiring labors.

Wilkes will be better by reason of the great meeting and we should all be thankful for it.

PROBABLE, S. C., Nov. 20, 1900.—I was first advised by our family physician in Charleston to use TEETHINA with our baby when he was but a very young infant, as a preventive of colic and to warm and sweeten the stomach. Later it was useful in teething troubles, and its effect has been found to be so very beneficial and so free from dangers that are consequent upon the use of drugs and soothing syrups, that we have come to regard it, after use with three children, as one of the necessities when there is a new baby in the house and until the teething troubles are over, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our friends instead of the horrid stuff that so many people use to keep their baby quiet.
