MR. BIVENS MAY COME.

The status as regards the superintendency of our graded school seems a matter of much uncertainty yet. It is to be hoped that Prof. Bivens' decision will be favorable. We have always heard of Mr. Bivens' ability and skill as an instructor and the fact that he is wanted where he has been and has made splendid records is the reason we want him here. We hope nothing has transpired to make Mr. Bivens hesitate to come and we trust that if he does come there will be a solid public sentiment to aid him by loyalty and good will to make a success of the great work. We believe our board has always been conservative, united and quite sustaining to faithful superintendents.

Meeting of the State Press Association. Secretary Sherrill has sent out the following under date of the 17th.

Arrangements are now about complete for the annual press convention at Hendersonville, on Wednesday and Thursday, June 25 and 26.

The people of Hendersonville are busy making arrangements to give the editors a pleasant time. A banquet will be given on Thursday night at the Wheeler Hotel, and a drive to Mount Hebron and Flat Rock will be tendered one afternoon. The editors and members of their families will all be entertained at one hotel, the Imperial, rate $1 per day.

The attendance this year will be large. Hendersonville is a delightful place, and its selection as the place of meeting meets with hearty approval on the part of the association members.

President Boylin has appointed the following essayists for the meeting:

"How Can the Country Weekly Best Secure and Retain a Large Circulation?"—H B Varner; alternate, Clyde R Hopy.

"Has a Semi-Weekly Any Advantages Over a Weekly from a Business Standpoint?"—W F Marshall; alternate, R R Clark.

"The Lights and Shadows of Newspaper Life."—Josephus Daniels; alternate, R F Beasley.

"How to Make a Country Weekly a Financial Success."—Thad. R Manning; alternate, J A Thomas.

The Cherry Tree Swindle and Senator Pritchard.

The following from the Washington Post seems a fine resume of the cherry tree swindle while it does not reflect so favorably on Senator Pritchard.

Many years ago a Connecticut man planted a lot of cherry trees upon a mountain in North Carolina. Something in the soil and the climate made the cherries thrive, the trees finally producing a cherry that is larger and sweeter, Mr. Pritchard says, than any other cherry in the world. The seeds, dropping everywhere, resulted in such a growth of trees that the mountain is called Cherry Mountain. The present owner is Amos Owen, the originator of the famous cherry bounce, which was first made out of these fine cherries.

Not long ago some enterprising persons, seeing the mountain covered with thousands of young cherry trees, conceived the idea of making a fortune.

They sent out circulars offering to any one who would act as their agents, and would send them $12, a collection of 60 cherry trees and employment at the rate of $20 a month for a year. The proposition proved immensely popular. The originators of the scheme held it until the second month's payment was due and then sold out. The purchasers kept it going a little while and then made enough to get rid of it. The third purchaser ran the business for 16 days, during which brief period he took in $18,000. By that time there was a long and loud public howl and the disseminator of cherry trees was brought before the courts. The jury decided that the whole thing was a swindle.

Senator Pritchard thinks that the proposition was a clever but honest effort to spread cherry trees, but then Senator Pritchard appeared as the attorney on that side of the case.

Born in Penitentiary and Returns There Later in Life.

Cleveland Booth, a negro youth 16 years old, was taken through this city this morning, to serve a sentence of five years in the penitentiary for the crime of housebreaking, of which he was convicted in the county court of Surry. The remarkable feature about the case is that Booth was born in the penitentiary, where his mother was serving a sentence for murder, and where she died. He now returns to the house of his nativity to serve and labor as a convict. Petersburg, Va., Dispatch to Richmond Dispatch.

HOW TO WOO SLEEP.

Rules by Which Victims of Insomnia May Find Relief.

The immediate cause of insomnia is abnormal activity of the brain, which draws an undue amount of blood to that organ. Cold feet usually accompany a heated brain. To re-establish normal conditions the tension must be removed and the blood drawn from the brain to the extremities, thus equalizing circulation.

A scientist who studies brain, fog recommends gymnastic exercise to precede repose. The following exercises, each repeated several times, are recommended: Standing normally, inhale slowly. Vigorously stretch the arms out horizontally from the shoulders, energizing them to the finger tips. At the same time rise on the balls of the feet.

After remaining motionless for a few moments slowly relax the arms, return to the normal poise and exhale. Stretch the arms in front of the body and repeat the exercise; also stretch them directly upward and repeat. Unite the three movements of the arms, raising them horizontally forward and upward, rising on the balls of the feet, inhaling and exhaling as before.

Next stand with the weight on one foot. Extend the other a long step diagonally forward, touching the toe to the ground. Partially transfer the weight to the forward foot, at the same time bend that knee as much as possible and raise the heel high from the ground, keeping the whole of the back foot on the ground until this position of the bent knee and the raised heel of the forward leg is firmly taken.

Then gradually pull all but the toe of the back foot from the ground, while pressing down forcibly, as if overcoming a strong resistance, with the forward leg. The forward knee straightens, the whole foot comes to the ground and the weight is transferred to the forward leg during the movement. Slowly transfer the weight to the back leg, forcibly pushing that foot to the ground as the heel of the forward foot rises.

If sufficient force is exerted in pressing the feet to the ground, after five minutes' practice they will glow and tingle. That the extremities be warm is a necessary condition for slumber. Many people are troubled with wakefulness in the night after a short sleep. It requires determination to rise and take exercise, although that is the only way in which some persons can obtain relief.

FLORENCE, S. C., Nov. 20, 1899.—I was first advised by our family physician in Charleston to use TEETHINA with our baby when he was but a very young infant, as a preventive of colic and to warm and sweeten the stomach. Later it was useful in teething troubles, and its effect has been found to be so very beneficial and so free from dangers that a consequent upon the use of drugs and soothing syrups, that we have come to regard it, after use with three children, as one of the necessities when there is a new baby in the house, and until the teething troubles are over, and we take pleasure in recommending it to our friends instead of the horrid stuff that so many people use to keep their baby quiet.
