TEACHERS' INSTITUTE.

Teaching Teachers How to Teach—
Second Days Work.

The second day of the Institute was opened with devotional exercises by Rev. W H McNairy.

Prof. Whitsett treated the great topic of Pedagogy from 9 to 10.

The school work necessarily deals with the mind. This he presented under the three considerations of interest, sensibility, will. The topic of interest he subdivided into perception, memory, imagination, judgment, reason. He thus treated that mysterious part of man in its analysed functions broadening the conception of his class and developing the once ignored science of intellectual development and training.

Prof. Jones from 10 to 11 treated advanced arithmetic, taking fractions—their solution by the four fundamental rules of arithmetic—addition, subtraction, multiplication and division, illustrating his somewhat novel method by the solution of difficult problems.

Prof. Lentz then took up the study of physiology using parts of the human skeleton.

At the afternoon session Prof. Jones resumed the study of grammar. He favored a system of diagramming by which to present to the child more clearly the offices and the relations of the words that make up sentences. He cares not what system you use but thinks it wise to be consistent with some chosen system. He likes the Reed and Kellogg system, as those readily noted who have taught grammar by that book.

Prof. Whitsett again took up geography, dwelling more particularly on recitation. This he regarded as very essential and requiring skill in the teacher.

To ask questions skillfully is a very difficult part. You want to draw out of a boy not only that which he knows that he knows but also that which he knows but does not know that he knows. You want to stimulate thought, perception, investigation, even character by the way in which you ask questions.

Dies for Love's Sake.

Robert Remington, of the firm of Remington Bro's., committed suicide in Newport, R. I., on Monday. His persistency in efforts was remarkable. He used a 38-caliber pistol and it took the third shot to effect the purpose. He ploughed one bullet across the forehead, another across the scalp and at last, putting the muzzle of the pistol in his mouth, he fired and sent the ball into his brain. He died instantly. It was all because of a broken off love affair with the grand-daughter of Mrs. William Astor.

ST. ANDREWS BLAZING THE WAY.

Council Resolves to Rebuild and Appoints the Necessary Committees.

The church council of St. Andrews met at Mr. M C Walter's Monday night and were joined by a number of others of the congregation and a few from St. James church who wished to lend them any aid possible.

There was consideration of many phases which presented themselves, none of which seemed to offer difficulties too great to be met. This discussion resulted in adopting the following:

Resolved, That it is and shall be our purpose to rebuild our church at the earliest practical period.

A motion was adopted creating a committee to confer with the executive committee of the North Carolina E. L. Synod with a view to getting the title to the church lot as it is now the property of the Synod.

On this committee the chairman, pastor Fullenwider, appointed Messrs. M C Walter, M B Stickley and John Ritchie.

Messrs. Joe Walter, A E Bost, Jonah Freeze, M B Stickley, D R Hoover and M C Walter were made a committee to report at some future meeting a plan for the building. It is understood that an architect will be employed and that it will be a brick building.

A motion was then adopted fixing $2,000 as the amount desirable to have for building a suitable church.

The following were then chosen as a soliciting committee to secure funds, viz.: M B Stickley, M C Walter, Miss Ella Walter, John Ritchie, Joe Walter, C R Pless, Miss Sudie Harris, John L Safrin and Jno. M Hendrix.

The congregation will be called together at a very early day, when the work of the council meeting will be submitted for endorsement or modification.

Slander Case.

This morning Mrs. C A Settlemyre was tried before Esquire Hill on a warrant sworn out by Miss Jennie Bolden for slander. The facts in the case were not all brought out by either side.

Mrs. Settlemyre was bound over to court. Judge W J Montgomery appeared for the defendant and Mr. L T Hartsell for Miss Bolden.

Both parties live at Cannonville.

Good habits are not made on birthdays, nor Christian character at the New Year. The workshop of character is every-day life. The uneventful and commonplace hour is where the battle is lost or won.—Maltbie D Babcock.

Garmond Items.

Garmond, Aug. 18, 1902.—Cotton is opening well here. Mr. Martin Honeycutt has a patch that is getting white.

Three young Cabarrus boys in our neighborhood had an experience recently that they will remember. They called on their best girls and the bewitching charms of the fair ones made them forget that the river was rising. When they cut themselves off from these magnetic ties in the wee small hours they found the river too full to cross. They used a neighbor's barn for hotel purposes, but to their discomfort they ran up against the proverbially odoriferous stale egg in that barn which almost unfitted them for attending meeting next day. It was somewhat amusing, too, to see them completing their toilet next morning as they walked along and combed the chaff from their hair. We hope fortune will smile on them next time as sweetly as their girls do.

Mr. Philas Hartsell has sold his fine mule.

There will be communion meeting at Meadow Creek on the third Sunday.

Mr. Hiram Shoe has rented a farm from Mr. Ruben Biles. We regret to have a good man to leave us.

Mr. Osborn is teaching a singing school, so the Garmond band of which he is the head is not practicing much now. B.

Negroes Loaded With Firearms.

The tax list of the town of Washington and township shows a remarkable state of affairs in one particular, as far as the colored race is concerned. In a comparison of the total valuation of fire arms given in for taxation with farming implements, shows about the ratio to each other in favor of firearms as ten dollars is to four. In other words, the sum total of the books shows that while the negroes have invested ten dollars of their hard earnings in firearms, they have only invested four dollars in farming implements. It was nothing unusual for a negro to admit that he was the owner of from two to five pistols. There is food for thought in the above statement, and it shows the still further necessity of the law against carrying concealed weapons.—Washington Gazette.

Kindly Take Notice that Ely's Liquid Cream Balm is of great benefit to those sufferers from nasal catarrh who cannot inhale freely through the nose, but must treat themselves by spraying. Liquid Cream Balm differs in form, but not medicinally from the Cream Balm that has stood for years at the head of remedies for catarrh. It may be used in any nasal atomizer. The price, including a spraying tube, is 75 cents. Sold by druggists and mailed by Ely Bros., 16 Warren Street, New York.
