THE CONFEDERATE REUNION.

Greensboro Gave the Veterans a Great Time—The Old Soldier's Tent and Fed—Officers Elected—Poem and Fine Orations.

The late veterans reunion at Greensboro was the largest affair the State ever had in the way of a gathering of Confederate Veterans. It is estimated that 3,500 to 4,000 were there and as many more not veterans were there to participate in or witness the joys of the old wearers of the gray.

Greensboro had thought of tenting them and of feeding those who could not have attended at their own boarding expense but the men are used to getting more than is promised, so all or practically all looked to be fed and were not disappointed.

The formal and business meeting was held Wednesday morning.

The election of officers resulted as follows: General commanding, Julian S Carr; brigadier general of First Brigade, Col. P C Carlton, of Statesville; brigadier general of Second Brigade, Gen. W L London, of Pittsboro; brigadier general of Third Brigade, Col. Frank W Parker, of Halifax; brigadier general of Fourth Brigade, Col. James W Ray, of Buncombe.

Resolutions were adopted denouncing the pensioning of deserters from the Confederate to the Federal army, commending Capt. A B Stronach for his unselfish devotion to the interests of the soldiers' home, and Judge Clark for his great services in getting up the regimental histories.

Mr. Pinckney Groome read an original poem entitled "Men of the Confederacy." He was applauded and thanked with a request to publish.

A resolution was also voted in appreciation of the services of Adjutant Gen. H A Landon and sorrow at his absence on account of sickness and to Greensboro for entertaining the veterans so hospitably and to the railroads for especially low rates to the reunion.

Capt. D C Waddell, Sr., of Greensboro delivered the address of welcome and Hon. J B Watson made a very happy impromptu response.

Col. P B Means in a brilliant introduction speech presented Hon. B A Crump, Solicitor General of Georgia, who delivered an address rehearsing the events that led up to the war and those connected with it and those immediately subsequent to it.

He was greatly applauded and was asked to submit the manuscript for publication as an important part of the written history of the great struggle.

The parade took place at 4 o'clock and was imposing. Most of the old soldiers were in line and there were about 100 carriages containing sponsors and veterans unable to walk.

The exercises were concluded Wednesday night with services at West Market street church.

Very many broke for home on the evening trains and the rest left this (Thursday) morning. All feel kindly toward Greensboro for the hospitable way in which she cared for the wearers of the gray.

The place for the next reunion will be determined by a committee. It is understood that Darbam wants it.

GASTON MAN'S DEAD REED.

Spells His Home by Drinking—And Returns to Shoot a Friend and Kill Himself.

A Gastonia special of the 20th to the Charlotte Observer gives an extended account of one Jesse Fairies who wounded a friend and killed himself at 9 o'clock Tuesday night at his home a mile east of Pleasant Ridge.

The story is a sad lesson on the drink habit. He had made things very unpleasant and had been much away from home. Having lurked about during the day the wife and two daughters got a friend Mr. Harvey Dickson to come and stay during the night. Fairies himself came to the house and talked to Dickson and requested him to leave.

He did but stole back again. After he retired Fairies poured a load of shot into Dickson's leg and then going some distance he shot himself dead with a pistol.

We Can Communicate With Ships on the Ocean.

We are now prepared to communicate with outgoing and incoming vessels on the ocean by wireless telegraphy if the vessels wished to be communicated with are equipped with the Marconi instruments. The messages are sent by telegram over the postal system to Sagaponack and from there to these vessels. It is a means of communicating with these vessels five hours out of sight of land.

To My Friends.

It is with joy I tell you what Kodol did for me. I was troubled with my stomach for several months. Upon being advised to use Kodol I did so, and words cannot tell the good it has done me. A neighbor had dyspepsia so that he had tried most everything. I told him to use Kodol. Words of gratitude have come to me from him because I recommended it. Geo. W Fry, Iowa. Health and strength, of mind and body, depends on the digestive organs. Kodol, the great reconstructive tonic, cures all stomach and bowel troubles, indigestion, dyspepsia. Kodol digests any good food you eat. Take a dose after meals.—Gibson Drug Store.

FOURTH DAY OF INSTITUTE.

Prof. Whitsett on Pedagogy and Language—Prof. Jones on Mathematics and Prof. Lentz on Food and Digestion.

The fourth day of the institute was opened with devotional exercises by Rev. M G G Sherer who read from the 28th chapter of Job.

Prof. Whitsett then resumed his lecture on pedagogy.

He took the iron beneath the soil on which we walk as a similitude of the child's mind. This iron is worth but a few cents per pound but when wrought into fine watch springs is worth more than its weight in gold.

See the great manipulation of the world's machinery and equipments in the industries of life. How worthless all these if we do not rear cultured minds to be placed in charge. This is the opportunity, the duty of the teachers in our schools.

The public school teacher has peculiar opportunities to mould the rising generation not enjoyed by the high school, the college or the university.

He had placed on the board these injunctions to the teachers.

Strive for ideal scholastic attainments.

Illustrate in your own life physical mental moral and spiritual culture. Discover your weakness along special lines and strengthen yourselves.

Speak in pleasant tones.

Always be courteous.

Use well chosen language.

Govern yourself.

Lead pupils to govern themselves.

Prepare for daily duties.

Let your life be worthy of your profession.

Seek to advance along proper lines.

Be liberal and charitable.

Strive daily to be original, enthusiastic, cheerful, energetic, spiritual, systematic, kind, firm, self possessed, dignified and patient.

From 10 to 11 Prof. Jones treated mathematics chiefly as to area. This led him into square root and then into cube root, both of which he endeavored to simplify in the solution.

From 11 to 12 Prof. Lentz dwelled on that part of physiology and hygiene relating to foods and digestion, imparting valuable ideas for the strength and preservation of the body.

Prof. Whitsett in place of a lesson on history, occupied his last moments in the forenoon with a talk on language, which he subdivided into, use of words, relation of words and philosophy of words. His words were closely noted and we have heard words of praise and gratification that we have not the words in which to epitomize and convey the full ideas.
