

WOMEN.
 Many troubles are the serious to women. Many ailments are often overlooked. Doan's Kidney Pills are the best remedy for all ailments of the kidneys. They are sold by druggists and general storekeepers everywhere. Price 50c. Doan's Kidney Pills, Buffalo, N. Y.

A Pleasure Sensation.
 Little Jean had visited one of the large summer amusement parks for the first time, and with the courage possessed only by those girls whose playmates are boys and girls older than themselves, she had not hesitated when invited to take a ride on the "thriller" that abounded in such places.
 To her mother, on her return from the park, she confided the emotions she had experienced as she swept round the curves of the "figure eight" with her elder brothers.
 "Mamma," she said, "when I went round those awful turns so fast I felt just as if I had freckles on my stomach!"—Youth's Companion.

Playing Blind.
 This is a funny little stunt enjoyed alike by old and young. If one has never tried it is very amusing to find anything with your eyes shut or to judge distances.
 First place a piece of paper on the floor before you, shut your eyes, walk backward two steps; then try to walk on the paper and pick it up. Then stick a pin in the wall about four feet up and try to pick it off blindfolded. Stand about five or six feet away from a table; shut your eyes; then try to walk up to it without knocking against it.—Woman's World.

FOR MALARIA, CHILLS, FEVER.
 Colds and La Grippe take Elixir Babek, a preventative against Malarial Fevers and a remedy for all Malarial Fevers.
 "I have used Elixir Babek for four years and found it all that is claimed for it. Without it I would be obliged to change my residence, as I can not take the malarial fever in any of its forms.—J. Middleton, Four-Mile Run, Va. Elixir Babek, 50c. per bottle. Druggists or Kiercewski & Co., Washington, D. C."

A Quaint Thought.
 Miss Geraldine Farrar, seated in her deck chair on the George Washington, regarded a half-dozen urchins playing on the sunny deck, and then said with a pensive smile:
 "I often wonder, considering what charming things children are, where all the queer old men come from!"

Important to Mothers.

Any man can get into a fight, but sometimes it takes a certain amount of courage to keep out of one.

OWES HER HEALTH

To Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Scottville, Mich.—"I want to tell you how much good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Sanative Wash have done me. I live on a farm and have worked very hard. I am forty-five years old, and in the mother of thirteen children. Many people think it strange that I am not broken down with hard work and the care of my family, but I tell them of my good friend, your Vegetable Compound, and that there will be no backache and bearing down pain for them if they will take it as I have. I am scarcely ever without it in the house.
 "I will say also that I think there is no better medicine to be found for young girls to build them up and make them strong and well. My eldest daughter has taken Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for painful periods and irregularity, and it has always helped her.
 "I am always ready and willing to speak a good word for the Lydia E. Pinkham's Remedies. I tell every one I meet that I owe my health and happiness to these wonderful medicines."
 —Mrs. J. G. JOHNSON, Scottville, Mich., R.F.D. 2.
 Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from native roots and herbs, contains no narcotics or harmful drugs, and to-day holds the record for the largest number of actual cures of female diseases.

WOULD SAVE TOWER

Chicagoans Protest Against Razing of Historic Landmark.

Great Pile of Masonry Which Survived the Disasterous Fire of 1871. Very Rich in Romance and Tradition.

Chicago.—Shall the oldest landmark of the north side, a spot rich in tradition and romance, the only remaining monument of the time of Chicago's victory in her greatest struggle for life, be profaned by a city's commercialism and destroyed in the name of economy?
 Shall the silent sentinel of stone, the ivy-mantled tower where sweethearts were wont to meet, where children played and heard wondrous stories of other days, be reduced to a shapeless mass of stone and scattered all over the city?
 In it not possible to preserve the picturesque gray tower of the old Chicago avenue pumping station to posterity to serve as a memorial of the great fire of 1871?
 These are a few of the questions raised by scores of Chicagoans who had read of the plan to tear down the tower of the Chicago avenue pumping station in the interest of municipal economy. This ancient landmark stands at the foot of the "Millionaire row," North of the famous old structure are the homes of the rich. Since 1867 the tower has stood as a constant reminder of the permanence of the work of the city's founders.
 Members of the Chicago Historical society joined in the storm of protest against tearing down the tower. They were unanimous in the sentiment that this landmark should be preserved and made one of the show places of Chicago.

When Chicago began to burn, the evening of October 8, 1871, terror-stricken citizens fled north to the tower in the belief that the fire would be confined to a narrow district. The following day the fire reached the tower and roared at its base, destroying the machine shop and adjacent buildings. The pumping engines were stopped and the walls of the engine house began to crumble. The roof and floors of the other buildings gave way, but the tower stood firm while the flames raced northward.
 The great pile of masonry was preserved when repairs were made, and since that day has been rich in tradition and romance.

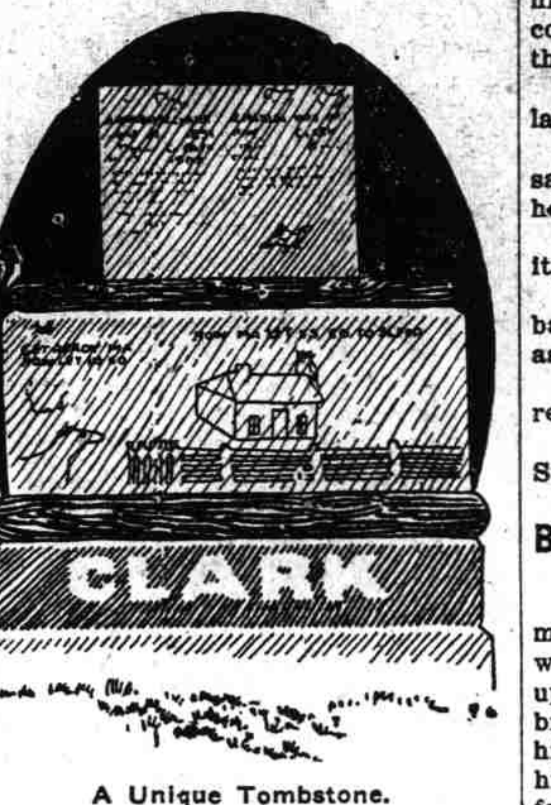

Many stories of the tower deal with the romances of some of the richest sons and daughters of Millionaire row. An eloping couple is said to have been married at the top of the tower. In the days of old thousands of young men and maidens wandered up the stairway to the summit to plight their troth.
 The doors of the tower were locked long ago. The only magic key that will unlock the door is in the keeping of the city authorities.
 The city authorities hold now that disintegration has begun and that the tower must go. This theory is denied by members of the Chicago Historical society, who declare that the tower was built to stand 10,000 years and that there is no danger of its crumbling for generations. Hundreds of visitors gaze in awe at the old tower every day.

Do, Don't Talk.
 Just do a thing and don't talk about it. This is the great secret of success in all enterprises. Talk means discussion; discussion means irritation; irritation means opposition; and opposition means hindrance always, whether you are right or wrong.—Sarah Grand.

A Widow's Trial.
 It is not easy to be a widow; one must resume all the modesty of girlhood without being allowed even to feign its ignorance.—Mme. de Girardin.

GIRL HAS QUEER MONUMENT

Fantastic Conception Is Memorial to Daughter, Who Was Her Father's Idol.

A Unique Tombstone.

Fantastic conception as a memorial to loved ones who have passed to the other shore.
 The devotion that Hannah Clark, a simple minded but wealthy farmer, displayed toward his daughter, Mary, stands out prominently with every blow welded by the stone engraver. When she died at the age of sixteen, he decided to perpetuate upon the family monument not only the dates showing the birth and death of each member, but also some verses of poetry appropriate, and also in the case of the daughter, reproductions of animals and farm scenes. Everything that the girl loved in life was to be reproduced upon her monument after death, according to the directions of the sorrowing parent.
 Her entire existence was spent upon the farm and she knew but little of the wide world outside. She was passionately fond of the pursuits of agriculture and of domestic life as she experienced it upon her father's farm. She was the apple of her father's eye and her untimely death broke his heart. He soon followed her to the grave, but not until he had left minute instructions concerning a monument commemorating the traits and affections of the daughter and also some epitaphs concerning his wife and himself.

The daughter's favorite expression was, "Now, ma, let's go to sleep," and "Get ready, ma, now let us go," and others similar. These were ordered carved upon the huge shaft of granite together with no less than fifty symbols showing objects on the farm, among them being the following: Side saddle, pair of scissors, tumbler, violin, copies of love letters, owl, fish, horse, cow, turkey, hen, rooster, dog, cat, grain cradle, plow, fence, house, bird, etc. It required months of patient labor upon the part of the monument maker to complete this strange monument.

That the old man's reverence toward his daughter was extreme, is indicated in the unique manner in which he has sought to perpetuate her peculiarities. He doubtless believed in his simple way that this would please her. Relatives objected strenuously against the erection of such a remarkable monument, but the whim of the old man could not be disregarded and it stands conspicuously in the rural cemetery, an object of extraordinary interest.

NARROWEST STREET IN U. S.

It is Found in St. Augustine, Florida, and is Only Seven Feet in Width.

St. Augustine, Fla.—The narrowest street in the United States is found in St. Augustine. It is called Treasury street, and is only seven feet in width.

Treasury Street, St. Augustine.

a fact which is proved by the man with extended arms, his hands touching both sides of the street. The streets in the old section of this city are all very narrow, most of them being only 12 to 15 feet wide, with exception of Treasury street. These streets are lined with the old Spanish residences built of coquina, a curious coral conglomerate, easily quarried, but becoming extremely hard when exposed to the air for a long time.

Waste of Good Money.
 Some American manufacturers send catalogues in English to China, but they cannot be read and the goods advertised in them would not be bought even if they were printed in Chinese, as the Chinese do not buy that way.

A Concomitant.
 "Is a sham battle always followed by a festive celebration?" "I don't know. Why do you ask?" "Because where there is a sham battle, there is a sham peace, there is a sham battle, there is a sham peace, there is a sham battle, there is a sham peace."

PUTTING IT, RATHER NEATLY

Place of Humor That Lifted Dilettent Professor to the Highest Summits of Joy.

It is told that after Professor Ay-toun had made proposals of marriage to Miss Emily-Jane Wilson, daughter of Christopher North, he was, as a matter of course, referred to her father. As the professor was uncommonly dilettent, he said to her: "Emily, my dear, you must speak to him for me. I could not summon courage to speak to the professor on this subject."
 "Papa is in the library," said the lady.
 "Then you had better go to him," said the professor, "and I will wait here."
 There being apparently no help for it, the lady proceeded to the library. "Papa's answer is pinned to the back of my dress," said Miss Wilson, as she re-entered the room.
 Turning around, the delighted suitor read these words:
 "With the author's compliments.—Success."

BABY'S HAIR ALL CAME OUT

"When my first baby was six months old he broke out on his head with little bumps. They would dry up and leave a scale. Then it would break out again and it spread all over his head. All the hair came out and his head was scaly all over. Then his face broke out all over in red bumps and it kept spreading until it was on his hands and arms. I bought several boxes of ointment, gave him blood medicine, and had two doctors to treat him, but he got worse all the time. He had it about six months when a friend told me about Cuticura. I sent and got a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent, a cake of Cuticura Soap and a box of Cuticura Ointment. In three days after using them he began to improve. He began to take long naps and to stop scratching his head. After taking two bottles of Resolvent, two boxes of Ointment and three cakes of Soap he was sound and well, and never had any breaking out of any kind. His hair came out in little curls all over his head. I don't think anything else would have cured him except Cuticura."
 "I have bought Cuticura Ointment and Soap several times since to use for cuts and sores, you have never known them to fail to cure what I put them on. I think Cuticura is a great remedy and would advise any one to use it. Cuticura Soap is the best that I have ever used for toilet purposes." (Signed) Mrs. F. E. Harmon, R. F. D. 2, Atoka, Tenn., Sept. 10, 1910.

Ben's Logic.
 "Ben," said his friend waking up from a reverie in which he had been gazing abstractly at the shiny expanse of Ben's skatin'-rink-for-fies, "is there nothing you could do for your baldness?"
 Ben, by the way, is only forty.
 "No, lad!" he replied with decision. "Fifteen years ago I was courting strong, and I tried lots of things. But about that time 't' prince of Wales—Edward, you know—came down 't' new hospital, and I said to myself as soon as I saw him liftin' his hat 't' 't' crowd, 'Ben, my lad, that can give it up as a bad job, and save thy brass. If there was owt 'at 'ud cure a bald head they'd 'a' cured his.'"—"Tit-Bits."

Cannot Be Right.
 "What is the right thing to do when your wife asks you for money and you haven't got it?"
 "Under those circumstances anything you do will be wrong."

POULTRY

NEST BOXES PLACED OUTSIDE

Convenient Arrangement Which Means Considerable More Room in the Poultry House.

Nests on the Outside.

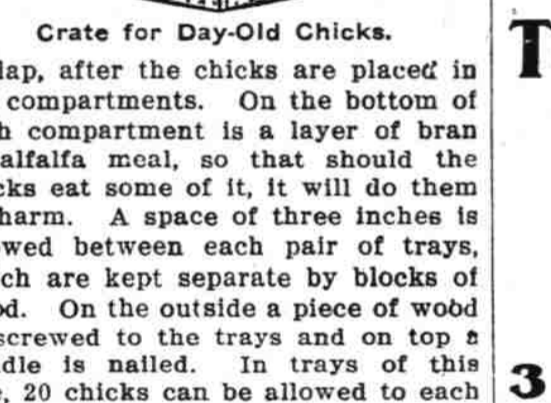

The illustration herewith is intended to show the new boxes on the side of the poultry house. The eggs are collected by raising the lid of the box C, and the hens enter the passageway E at the door A. The interior of the box is shown, the nest box being seen at B, which does not, however, contain the litter for the nest, the bare floor being made plain in order to convey a better understanding of the construction of the box, while DDDD show the entrance to the nests.

 As laying hens will always prefer a secluded place for a nest, this arrangement will be found excellent. The lid, when closed, prevents water from reaching the nests, and the eggs are taken out by simply raising the lid and reaching them with the hand. The hens can be shut out at any time by closing the opening to passageway at A, and more room is thus gained in the poultry house. The design was originated by J. C. Baker of Illinois.

CRATE FOR SHIPPING CHICKS

One Shown in Illustration Herewith Will Be Found to Be Very Convenient and Cheap.

For shipping day-old chicks, the crate illustrated herewith will be found very convenient. It consists of wooden trays each four inches deep and 18 inches square, inside measurements, says the Orange Judd Farmer. Each tray is divided across the center so as to make four compartments. The top of each tray is covered with Crate for Day-Old Chicks.

 burlap, after the chicks are placed in the compartments. On the bottom of each compartment is a layer of bran or alfalfa meal, so that should the chicks eat some of it, it will do them no harm. A space of three inches is allowed between each pair of trays, which are kept separate by blocks of wood. On the outside a piece of wood is screwed to the trays and on top a handle is nailed. In trays of this size, 20 chicks can be allowed to each compartment; that is, 240 to the size illustrated herewith.

CURING FEATHERS AT HOME

If Handled Right Will Return Surplus of Pillows or Will Bring Good Price If Sold.

Feathers may be cured at home and if handled right secure to the housewife a surplus of pillows and cushions or will bring a good price if sold. Before the chicken is scalded, take the scissors and cut off the soft, downy end of the feathers about the tail. Separate the feathers in picking and dry thoroughly. Immerse the feathers in lime water made by decanting one pound quick lime in one gallon water. Allow the feathers to remain in this two or three days, stirring frequently, then skim the surface of the water and lift the feathers out to drain on a wire sieve.
 When drained, rinse them first in hot water, then in two cold waters, then place again on the sieve to drain. If an old hammock is at hand stretch it tightly in a warm room near the floor, spread the feathers thinly upon it. Once a day tap the netting lightly with a stick and the feathers that are sufficiently dry will fall through to the floor. White feathers bring a better price on the market than colored and duck and geese feathers better than chicken feathers.

Feathers Worth Money.
 Fowls to be dressed should be dry-picked, for the feathers are worth money. Turkey tail and wing feathers are made into feather dusters and featherbone manufacturers give from 15 to 25 cents a pound. No one who uses hot water to scald poultry should expect the best price for the feathers. They bring more if carefully sorted and shipped in bags or shoe boxes.

Demand for Capons.
 Those who must depend upon the markets of the smaller cities or towns for their purchases need have no fear but that a demand for capons can be readily created. Even if it does not already exist, these birds have but to be offered for sale.

Milk-Fed Chickens.
 Milk-fed chicken which is the finest meat in the poultry line is allowed no exercise whatever. It is kept in a close coop where it has barely room to turn around, and is never allowed to leave it except when it goes to the gillnet.
