Renewed. A distinguished English surgeon, who was rather untidy in his attire, was one day called for hurriedly by another doctor. When ready to start, however, his friend remonstrated with him on the shabbiness of his dress, and suggested that as Lord — was a most particular man, he should at least change his hat, which, after some grumbling, the surgeon consented to do.

The caller waited for him impatiently for some time on the pavement, and at last was surprised to see the door partially opened and a new silk hat thrown to him, with a curt remark: "There's the hat; but I thought you wanted the man. Good-day."

A 25-YEAR CASE OF ECZEMA CURED

Mr. Butler Edgar of Danville, Pa., writes: "I have had an aggravated case of Eczema for over 25 years. My hands were unsightly for a great part of that long period. I have used seven 50c. bottles of Hancock's Sulphur Compound and one jar of Hancock's Sulphur Ointment. I feel as though I had a brand new pair of hands. My case has been such an aggravated one. Hancock's Sulphur Compound has cured me and I am certain it will cure anyone if they persist in using it according to directions." Hancock's Sulphur Compound and Ointment are sold by all dealers. Waiter's Price. It was a banquet where a notable gathering of politicians had assembled. A certain aspiring young attorney was among the number, and as he spied an influential judge at the far end of the parlor, he called the head waiter, slipped half a dollar into his hand, and whispered, "Put me next to Judge Spink at the table."

Upon being seated, however, he found he was at the other end of the room from the judge.

He called the head waiter to explain. "Well, sir," replied the official, "the fact is that the judge gave me a dollar to put you as far from him as possible."—Lippincott's.

Genesis of Men of Straw. Mr. Engelbach, an English author, in a new volume on humors of the law, relates the following queer bit of history.

"Some years ago men used to walk about openly in Westminster hall with a piece of straw in their boot. By this sign attorneys knew that such persons were in want of employment as false witnesses, and would give any evidence required for money. For instance, if an advocate wanted an obliging witness he would go to one of these men and show him a fee, which if not sufficient, the witness would not take any notice of. The fee was then increased until its weight recalled the power of memory to a sufficient extent. By this they derived their name, 'Men of Straw.'"—Harpers Weekly.

WOULDN'T CAUSE A SCANDAL. Old Negro Woman Had Lost Her Hogs, But Refrained from Pointing the Finger of Suspicion.

A gentleman stopped at a cabin where an old negro woman lived, and entered into conversation with her concerning the crop prospects. "I did hab fo' or five hogs," said the old woman; "but dat's dwindled down till I ain got but one now." "Somebody steal them?" "I nether talks 'bout my neighbors, an' doan' nether makes mischief, I doan't." "Did the hogs die?" "Da muster died; but yer ain't gwine to say nuthin' agin' my neighbors. De hogs disappeared away from heah while dat man was libin', but I ain't gwine to say nuthin' agin' him." "Do you think that he took them?" "Mister, dat man's dead, an' I doan' want ter say nuthin' agin' him, but lemme tell yer, while dat man was libin', he was a powerful stumbling block ter hogs."

CUBS' FOOD They Thrive on Grape-Nuts.

Healthy babies don't cry and the well-nourished baby that is fed on Grape-Nuts is never a crying baby. Many babies who cannot take any other food relish the perfect food, Grape-Nuts, and get well.

"My baby was given up by three doctors who said that the condensed milk on which I had fed her had ruined the child's stomach. One of the doctors told me that the only thing to do would be to try Grape-Nuts, so I got some and prepared it as follows: I soaked 1 1/2 tablespoonfuls in one pint of cold water for half an hour, then I strained off the liquid and mixed 12 teaspoonfuls of this strained Grape-Nuts juice with six teaspoonfuls of rich milk, put in a pinch of salt and a little sugar, warmed it and gave it to baby every two hours."

"In this simple, easy way I saved baby's life and have built her up to a strong, healthy child, rosy and laughing. The food must certainly be perfect to have such a wonderful effect as this. I can truthfully say I think it is the best food in the world to raise delicate babies on and is also a delicious healthful food for grown-ups as we have discovered in our family."

Grape-Nuts is equally valuable to the strong, healthy man or woman. It stands for the true theory of health. "There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Wellville," in pkgs.

POULTRY

STARTING IN POULTRY

Secure Foundation is Certain to Be Successful.

Agricultural Colleges Have Done Much to Teach New Aspirants Right Paths—Practical Experience is Good.

A poultry farm built upon a secure foundation is sure to be successful if afterwards properly managed. It is not only necessary to make the right kind of start, but the work must be regularly and faithfully performed, day in and day out.

As a rule, beginners start with great enthusiasm, and not a few build air castles—but to very many of them the sameness of the work, the close application, the constant watching, soon becomes monotonous, and then there is a shrinking of duty, neglect, carelessness—and the enterprise becomes a failure. The point is to begin small—measure the size of the initial step with the amount of capital and experience at hand.

It is often the case that men with more or less available capital practically put all their money in houses and stocks. This is a mistake, says Connecticut Farmer, and more so in the case of those who have had no personal experience in the work.

In the parlance of today: "A man must be onto his job." He must know what to do, and how best to do it.

Dual Purpose Type.

He must be aware that inexperience may cause leaks and leaks will soon sink the enterprise.

It is noteworthy fact that the most successful poultry farms of today are those that have started from a small beginning and gradually expanded as business and experience warranted.

Men who could not get into the dry goods business for the reason that they knew nothing about it, will build poultry houses and stock them, and expect the hens to do the rest.

Hens, like cows, yield a profit according to the treatment given them. They will not stand neglect. They are hard workers when properly rewarded, but can be most idle and indifferent producers when made to shift for themselves.

Our agricultural colleges have done much to teach the new aspirants how to tread in poultry paths, and men and women who endeavor to improve by these excellently arranged courses of instruction, will have won half the battle—the other half naturally belongs to practical experience.

A man with $1,000 had better invest one-half of it in buildings, stock and fixtures, and reserve the other half for feed and running expenses, than invest the whole amount in the equipment and have to go in debt for the feed.

Eggs and poultry are staple crops, and the demand is far greater than the supply.

DRESS POULTRY FOR MARKET

Difficult Task to Induce Small Shippers to Prepare Fowls for Market in Attractive Manner.

A prominent New York commission house says: "Don't you know that it is much harder to get the smaller shippers to follow instructions as regards the packing and dressing than the larger shippers? Every receiver is willing to furnish instructions as regards killing, dressing, packing and shipping, but it is hard to get shippers to follow them. It would make a considerable difference to many shippers if they paid more attention to making their poultry show up an attractive appearance, as we would get more money for it if it pleased the eyes of the buyer more. The larger shippers seem to follow instructions more and reap the benefit, but it is a hard work to teach some of the smaller shippers."

Keep Down the Lice. There is much to be said on the subject of lice, but it is sufficient to say that every breeder should give the matter his undivided attention. Every effort should be made to keep the fowls free from this parasite. The liberal use of lice killers and disinfectants will aid and a good lice powder applied to the bodies of the birds, together with dust baths, will practically keep the birds free.

Water Essential. Clean, fresh water is one of the most essentials that we can think of for the healthy fowls. As the greater portion of the egg is water, they should be supplied with a liberal supply at all times. It should be placed in such a way that it will be within easy access.

Hens Need Exercise. It is very necessary that the hens are given an opportunity to exercise. If they haven't a good place to scratch they can be forced to exercise by hanging sunflowers, heads of grain, etc., just high enough so they will have to jump to reach the food.

TO ENCOURAGE HOG RAISING

Southern Railway Issues Booklet "Hog Production and Conditions For Success in The South."

Atlanta, Ga.—In the effort to encourage Southern farmers to raise more hogs, the Southern Railway, through its Live Stock Department, has issued a booklet entitled, "Hog Production and Conditions For Success in The South," a copy of which will be furnished on request by F. L. Word, Live Stock Agent, Atlanta, Ga.

The booklet contains much practical and valuable information as to the care and feeding of hogs, selection of breeds, treatment of diseases, and cutting and curing meat. Chapters on each subject have been supplied by experts.

That the South consumes more pork and raises less than any other part of the United States despite the fact that pork can be produced more cheaply in the South than in the North or West, is a well known fact and a condition that greatly impedes the progress of the section. The long open season and the great variety of food crops at his command give the Southern farmer the opportunity to make more money raising hogs than is possible in any other territory.

The Live Stock Department of the Southern Railway devotes its efforts entirely to stimulating interest in live stock raising in the territory along the Southern Railway and the services of its experts are available without charge of any kind to any farmer or other person interested in live stock.

Land Show For Big Exposition. Knoxville, Tenn.—Realizing that land is primarily the basis of all wealth and that from the land must come food and clothing for the present and future generations, the management of the National Conservation Exposition has prepared for the greatest land show ever held in the South and for one of the greatest land shows ever held anywhere. Scientists say that the land of the United States must be conserved, must be nurtured and cared for, must be nursed and doctored and in no wise maltreated if the nation is to maintain its present proud position at the head of all the nations of the earth. It is to teach the lesson of the necessity of conserving our lands as well as of teaching the lessons of conservation of other resources, that the National Conservation Exposition comes into being. In the big new land building on the exposition grounds the land show will be held. The land building, completed to the last nail, is one of six big exposition buildings erected for the conservation exposition. Attached to it is an annex with an auditorium that will seat 3,000 persons. The United States government display in the land building as well as state displays will be particularly fine and comprehensive. The exposition will open on September 1 and will continue until November 1.

ECZEMA ITCHED AND BURNED. R. F. D. No. 8, Maryville, Tenn.—"My baby, when three months old, took eczema on his face and head. His head and one side of his face were almost in a solid sore. The eczema at first was kind of a rash and then it broke out in water pimples and they would burst and looked very badly. It would itch and burn so badly that he could not rest at all and his hair just all fell out at once till his head was perfectly bald. He could not sleep at night and was very cross. I tried remedies without any relief at all; he only got worse all the time until I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment. He had great relief the first application. He was soon cured and his hair began to grow back and now he has just beautiful fine hair and has no sign of eczema." (Signed) Mrs. H. D. Clabough, Jan. 29, 1913. Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 23-pk. Skin Book. Address post-card "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston."—Adv.

Diesel Engine Vessel. The ship Hagen, which is the largest vessel in the world to be propelled by Diesel oil engines, recently made her trial trip in the lower New York bay. The vessel, which was built for the Standard Oil company, measures four hundred feet over all and has a displacement of 3,350 tons. She is equipped with two six-cylinder Diesel engines of two-cycle type, adapted to develop 2,400 horsepower at 140 revolutions a minute. At sea the steering engine is driven by compressed air. When nearing port, steam from a donkey boiler is used in the steering engine. The vessel is lighted by electricity and the living quarters are heated by a hot water system, the water being heated by the main exhaust of the engine. During the test the vessel ran at about eleven knots.

As Mrs. Belmont Saw It. Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont, meeting Winston Churchill in London just before the young first lord departed on his Mediterranean cruise, scored well in an exchange of banter.

"At least, Mrs. Belmont," said Mr. Churchill, apropos, of course, of votes for women—"at least you'll admit that man has a great deal more will than woman?"

"Not at all," Mrs. Belmont replied, "he's only got more warts."

Town Destroyed By Fire. Nashville, Tenn.—A special says Sturgis, Ky., a town of about 2,000 people on the Illinois Central Railroad, 40 miles south of Evansville, was practically destroyed by fire several days ago. The fire started in S. E. Graves' drug store. All the business houses were in ashes and about 20 dwelling houses had been destroyed and the fire was still raging. The town had no waterworks and the people fought the flames with a bucket brigade.

Charlton Must Go to Italy. Jersey City.—Porter Charlton will start for Italy soon to answer for his regis killing, dressing, packing and shipping, but it is hard to get shippers to follow them. It would make a considerable difference to many shippers if they paid more attention to making their poultry show up an attractive appearance, as we would get more money for it if it pleased the eyes of the buyer more. The larger shippers seem to follow instructions more and reap the benefit, but it is a hard work to teach some of the smaller shippers."

AMONG THE HEAVY EATERS

Remarkable Gastronomic Feats That Are Hardly Believable, Though All Authenticated.

Champion Fried Egg Eater of the Berkshire was the title of Louis Morris of Housatonic, Mass., before he entered in a recent egg eating contest on a wager. He had a record of twenty-two eggs and the wager was on his contention that he could easily increase this record to twenty-five. When he reached seventeen eggs he was seized with an attack of acute indigestion and a doctor worked over him for an hour before he was restored to consciousness and pronounced out of danger. He also has a record for fifty-four ears of green corn.

At the beefsteak dinners of many political clubs astounding records are made in the consumption of viands. Some of those who take part think nothing of eating ten and twelve pounds of meat at the sitting. At one clam bake held at College Point recently eight baskets of food were eaten by one diner. This basket included a leg and a breast of a chicken, twenty-five clams, two ears of corn and four potatoes. This record is declared accurate and authentic and is posted up in an East side clubroom.

A Rhode Island farmer had a record of half a bushel of walnuts, of which he was extraordinarily fond. He used half a bag of salt white eating them. A New Jersey blacksmith on a recent wager ate nearly a peck and a half of cherries. He said he could go on eating "forever," as he put it, but those who witnessed his feat declared they had seen enough to prove the eater a wonder. A Chicago man inordinately fond of mush and milk, lived on for a week not long ago, eating four great bowls of it three times a day.

All is Clear Now. The old farmer was making his usual weekly call on Mrs. Wiggins. "P'aters is good this mornin', mam," he said, casting an admiring look at the basket he had brought.

"Oh, is they?" retorted Mrs. Wiggins. "That reminds me. I want to have a word with you about them you sold me last week. How is it that them at the bottom of the basket is so much smaller than them at the top?"

"Comes about like this," replied old John, a knowing look on his face. "P'aters is growin' that fast now, that by the time I get a basketful, the last ones is about twice the size of the first!"

"She's all the world to me," said the youth. "What would you advise me to do?"

"See a little more of the world, old chap," Rowndar replied."
