tucky's Fair Daughter. When Mary Anderson left the stage Henry Abbay told her that if she suc reeded in giving it up she would d something greater than she had yet schieved. Yet, though her career on the boards was a brilliant one, and though she retired from them when her fame was at its highest, the possibility that she may return to the scene of her triumphs is very slight. Mary Anderson was educated in an Ursuline convent in Louisville. She was a devout Catholic, and all through her stage experience she practiced the duties of her religion very faithfully. At seventeen she made her debut as Juliet in a local theatre. Her fame speedily grew. Her extraordinary beauty has always had much to do with her success. In the beginning she used to play in one week sich widely different roles as Lady Macbeth, Juliet, Meg Merriles, Pauline, Ingomar, and Galatea. In 1883 she went to England and captured the British public, winning a far greater success than in America. Then came the failure of her health, her farewell to the stage, and her marriage to Antonio de Navarro, a member of the well-known New York family of that name. Nothing could have been more quiet and offhand than the simple wedding in a small Catholic church in England.

Mr. De Navarro took a place in Tunbridge Wells, for the sake of his wife's health. From there they go up to London frequently (it is only an hour's railroad journey), and they lead at home the most quiet, contented existence imaginable. Nothing is needed to make life at their charming villa on Ferdale road an ideal of domestic bliss except the presence of their children. There are rumors after their marriage of their disagreement and separation, but such reports were as baseless as they were unkind. Mrs. De Navarro has said: "T don't think anything could have taken me from my stage life except being so much in love with my husband. We had been in love for ten years, and I marry him." Although they are very much Anglicized Americans now after their long stay in England, the De Navarros have by no means ahandoned the idea of living in America again at some time in the future.-London Exchange,

These endeavors bring to public attention a curious feature of the In-The Oneidas were one of the confed-

This was the fetich of the tribe; they looked on it with the utmost veneration, and esteemed it as cossessing divine and magical virtues. So great was their reverence that they could not endure any separation from it, and in consequence wherever they went they moved with them their facous rock, as the most important as well as the most cumbersome article of heir impedimenta. The stone served em as a sacrificial alter and nd about it the great rites of their eligion were performed. The ceremonial feasts which were held in commemoration of their dead were eaten on the open place that surrounded the oly stone, and the sachems kindled the illuminating flames beside it when hey gathered about the council fire to fiscuss the weighty matters of Indian policy and action. Its inspiration was sought as well for the flerce frenzies of the war dances, when the braves lought to rival in the furies of physical contortions the fervor of their wild

There it remained for many moons the ole remnant of the Oneidas, for its devotees had gone to hunting grounds where they could not bear with them heir beloved rock.

How many young men and young women are cut off just as the future seems brightest and fallest of promise! They are taken away by the disease which causes over one-sixth of all the deaths in the world—the disease which doctors call consumption. There is absolutely no reason in the world why consumption should be fatal-why it should be even serious. It is a disease of the blood, and can be cured absolutely and always by purifying and enrich-ing the blood. The only exception to this is the case where the disease has been neglected and improperly treated until it is stronger than the body—until the body has become so weak as to have lost the ability to recuperate. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure 98 per cent, of all cases of consumption if used according to directions. It also cures all lingering coughs, bron-chial and throat affections.

Henry London has invented and per-ected an electrical bicycle lantern. London is one of the first men who Francisco at a time when bicycles were sot allowed in Golden Gate Park. Years of riding have not diminished his ar-for for the healthy exercise. He is an amateur electrician as well, and to light he path of his wheel he has constructed and attached to the handle bar the most perfect little lantern imaginable. It is about as large as one-half of an ordinary sized peach. The reflector measures two and a half nches in diameter on the outside and is one inch in depth. The lamp itself is about the size of a basel nut. The lan-tern looks precisely like those on toy

The battery is contained in a leather ase nearly as large as a tool-bag, and is astened to the cross-bar in the same nanner as the latter one. It consists of three-cell storage battery.

The incandescent lamp is rated at two andle power. It has attracted the attention of wheelmen, pedestrians and people in carriages since it made its appearance in the park, and men and women stop to inquire what produces so brilliant a light from such a small apparatus. All sorts of pet names have been coined for the little lantern, such as flash lamp, search-light, calcium and time light. London calls it the electric bicycle lantern.

The light is regulated, extinguished, or relighted instantly by the pressure of a button, conveniently fastened on the handle-bar, without moving the hand. The battery furnishes light for two and one-half hours. London is now engaged on a battery which will have a caracity for twelve hours without being recharged.-Chicago Post.

The old story of Prometheus is a parable en allegory. Prometheus was on terms of imacy with the gods. From them stole fire, and gave it to men. For this sin he was bound to the rocks of Mount Caucasas, and vultures were set upon him. They only ate his liver. This grew again as fast as it was pecked away. Are his sufferings to be imagined? Yes, and realized. Take a modern interpretation of the par-able. There is no cooking without fire. In cooking and eating the mischief lies. The stomach is overtasked, the bowels become clogged, they cannot dispose of the food that is given them. The impurities back up on the liver. Then come the vultures. The sufferings from an oniside, visible hurt, are a mere pin-scratch to the torments of a diseased liver.

But, moderns are ahead of the ancients, There is a sequel to the old story. Dr. Pierce is the anthor. His "Golden Medical Discovery" is more than equal to the vultures of dyspepsia and its kindred dis-eases. Every atom of the "Discovery" is an active agent against disease. It flies like a ferret, wherever it is sent. It is as sure as the needle of the compass. There is no more need of suffering from dyspepsia than there is of hanging one's self. Mr. W. ROGERS, of 507 Grayson St. Louisville, Kv. has this to say for himself and the "Golden Medical Discovery": "I was a dyspeptic. I had not had a comfortable night in six years. I have taken three bottles of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. I am now fifty years old. I feel thirty years pounges."

AFTER THIRTY YEARS.

Mr. Fred Taylor was born and rough tup near Elmira, N. Y., and from here enlisted in the 189th regiment, N. Y. V. L. with which he went through the war, and saw much hard service.

Owing to exposure and hardships during the service Mr. Taylor contracted chronic distributes from which he has suffered now over 30 years with a beolutely no help from physicians. By nature he was a wonderfully vigorous man. Had he not been, his disease and the experiments of the doctors had billed him leng age. Landanum was killed him long ago. Landanum was the only thing which afforded him relief. He had terrible headaches, his nerves were shattered, he could not sleep an our a day on an average, and he was e dreed to a skeleton. A year ago, he and his wife sought relief in a charge of climat: and removed to Geneva, Ohio; but the change in health came not Finally on the recommendation of F. "As frowning man grasps a straw so I took the pill, 'says Mr. Tay.or, "but with no more hope of rescue. But after thirty years of suffering and fruitless seare for relief I at last found it in Dr. Willams Pink Pills. The day after I took the first pills I commenced to feel better and when I had taken the first box I was in fact a new man." That was two months ago. Mr. Taylor has since taken more of the pills and his progress is steady and he has the utmost confid-nee in them. He has regained full control of his nerves and sleeps as well as in his youth. Color is coming back to his parched veins and he is gaining flesh and strength rapidly. He is now able to do considerable outdoor work. As he concluded narrating his sufferings, experience and cure to a Beacon reporter Mrs. Taylor, who has been his faithful helpmeet these many years, said she wished to add her testimony in favor of Pink Pills. "To the pills alone is due the credit of raising Mr. Taylor from a helpless invalid to the man he is to-day," said Mrs. Taylor. Both Mr. and Mrs. Taylor cannot find words to express the gratitude they feel or recommend too highly Pink Pills to suffering humanity. Any inquiries addressed to them at Geneva, O., regarding Mr. Tayler's case they will cheerfully answer ss they are anxious that the whole world shall know what Pink Pills have done for them and that suffering humanity may be benefitted thereby.

The tensile strength of iron at 400 below zero is just twice what it is at 60 above. It will take a strain of 60 instead of 30 tons to the square inch, and equally curious results have come out as to the elongation of metals under these conditions. It was an idea of Faraday that the magnetism in a permanent magnate would be increased at very low temperatures, and experiments with comparatively low temperatures had rather negatived Faraday's suggestion, but Prof. Dewar has completely verified the opinion of the famous savant, having shown that a magnet at the extremely low temperature made possible by the liquid air had its power increased by about 50 per cent.

Very low temperature was shown also to have a remarkable effect upon the color of many bodies. For example the brilliant scarlet of vermillion and mercurle iodide is reduced under its influence to a pale orange, the original color returning with the rise of the temperature. Blues, on the other hand, are unaffected by cold, and the effect is comparatively small upon organic coloring in matters of all tinta-Cassier's Maga-

The English of the Indians.

Lieut. Grote Hutcheson, aide-de-camp to Gen. Coppinger, is in receipt of a highly interesting letter from one of his brother officers now in camp at Fort Hall agency in Idaho, the home of the Indians who were mixed up in the recent Jackson's Hole trouble. The letter is interesting because it has noth ing to say of Jackson's Hole, which is a relief. Instead, it deals largely with conditions at Fort Hall from the standpoint of a student of ethnology. "I am taken," says the writer, whose name Lieut. Hutcheson does not feel at liberty to mention, "with the speech of the Indians in their communication with the whites. Having little to occupy time, I have bothered to look into the origin of the kind of language which I hear used by Indians and traders in their talk with one another. It suggests the slang of the Bowery, being a purely artificial adjunct to both the Indian and the English language It suggests, too, the baby talk of young mothers, who insist on placing verbs where nouns should be, and who prefer mixing up their first, second, and third persons to taking them straight. For istance, there is the word 'mebbe At first I thought this to be a sort of corruption of may be, meaning perhaps, or used in a doubting way. This is not true. The Indian and the white in conversation use 'mebbe' as an affirmative. 'Mebbe get wagon' is the strongest way of declaring that you will get a wagon. You eat mebbe' brings delight to the Indian, for that is a promise of giving him food, a promise which may by no means be evaded. A white man, too, in conversing with an Indian when an Indian will converse, and when he knows even this patois, injects 'mebbe' into his talk at every fourth

"I discover that the English language of Fenimore Cooper and Oll Coomes are non-existent. I have dug profoundly into the 'Ugh' and the three-word sentences of the povelist, and I find they are out of fashion. If you succeed it getting an Indian to talk to you at all he will not shut off with three words ending in an exclamation point. Neither will he use the expression 'pale face.' No self-respecting Indian says

'pale face' now. "Although the language is a study worth attention. Seriously, I imagine a text book could be compiled which would really result in a great good for the Government in bringing the Indians to something like civilized habits. At it is, the instruction is based on the same conditions as prevail in the English language and with English-speaking persons. This does not fit the Indian. His language is simplicity itself, and there are two twists of case, tense, of the like. As to lense, one illustra-tion will show. Take the word the We have it 'go, went, gone, going, will go,' while the Indian puts in two cases, 'go' and 'was go.' If he wishes to make it a future tense he simply puts in the specific time, as 'He go to-morrow, mebbe,' which to my mind is quite expressive of the idea. I seriously believe attention might be called to this situation among scholastic men and perhaps we would be able to get along without rascally and incompetent interpreters. One hundred words would be a good vocabulary."-Council Bluffi Daily Nonpareil.

Castoria.

"Cantoria is an excellent medicine for children. Mothers have repeatedly told me of its good effect upon their children." Dz. G. C. Oscorb.

Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by foreing opium morphine, socialing syrup and other hurtful agents down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves."
