BRYAN'S SPEECH AT CHICAGO.

The following is the speech delivered of aggrandized wealth. by Hon. W. J. Bryan before the Democratic Convention in Chicago, Thursday, July 9, 1896: Mr. Chairman and Gentlemen of this Convention-I would be presumptuous indeed, to present myself against the distinguished gentlemen to whom you have listened, if this were but a measure of ability, but this is not a contest in all the land when clad to the armor of a righteous cause is stronger than all hosts of error that they can bring. I come to speak to you in defense of a cause as holy as the cause of liberty, the cause of humanity.

When this debate is concluded, motion will be made to lay upon the table the minority report as well as the resolution offered in condemnation of the Administration. I shall seriously object to bringing this question down to a level of persons. The individual is but an atom; he is born, he acts, he dies; but principles are eternal, and this has been a contest of principle. The warmest tres of love and acquaintance and association have been cast aside when they refused to give expression to the sentiments of those whom they would lead, and new leaders have sprung up to give direction to the cause of truth. Thus has the contest been waged, and we have as-sembled here under as binding and solumn instructions as were ever fastened upon the representatives of a peo-
