SORES AND ULCERS.

Sores and Ulcers never become chronic unless the blood is in poor condition. It is the system that must be relieved of the unhealthy matter through the sores, and great danger to life would follow should it heal before the blood has been made pure and healthy and all impurities eliminated from the system. S. S. S. begins the cure by first cleansing and invigorating the blood, building up the general health and removing from the system a constant drain upon the system. A CONSTANT DRAIN UPON THE SYSTEM. When this has been accomplished the discharge gradually ceases, and the sore or ulcer heals. It is the tendency of these old sores to grow worse and worse and eventually to destroy the bones. Local applications, while soothing and to some extent alleviate pain, cannot remove the cause of the trouble. S. S. S. does, and no matter how apparently hopeless your condition, even though your constitution has broken down, it will bring relief when nothing else can. It supplies the rich, pure blood necessary to heal the sore and nourish the debilitated, diseased body.

SSS

It is the only pure vegetable blood purifier known—contains no poisonous minerals to ruin the digestion and add to, rather than relieve your sufferings. If your flesh does not heal readily when scratched, bruised or cut, your blood is in bad condition, and any ordinary sore is apt to become chronic.

BILL ARP'S LETTER.

Atlanta Constitution.

In all ages mankind has felt the need of a God. There is a feeling of helplessness in our nature and if man can't find a God he will make one. It is curious how strangely similar are all the heathen mythologies to the Bible religion. St. John says: "And there was war in heaven and Michael and his angels fought against the dragon and his angels and he overcame them. That old dragon, which is the devil, was cast down into the earth." Just so in Grecian and Roman and Scandinavian mythology; there was war in heaven and the good deities prevailed and the evil ones were cast down. Jupiter had war with the Titans and deposed them. Odin, or Woden, as he was called, had war with Loki and deposed him and gave him Hell, or Hell, for his kingdom. The Scandinavians had a serpent to figure out the end of the world, and that serpent was ever gnawing at the roots of the tree of life—a tree that grew by a spring and was kept in perpetual bloom by the water of the spring. This spring was at one end of the rainbow and the home of Woden and the gods. It was the end of the rainbow, and the serpent was ever gnawing at the roots of the tree of life—a tree that grew by a spring and was kept in perpetual bloom by the water of the spring. This spring was at one end of the rainbow and the home of Woden and the gods. It was the end of the rainbow, and the serpent was ever gnawing at the roots of the tree of life—a tree that grew by a spring and was kept in perpetual bloom by the water of the spring.

Yesterday I received from a friend a late copy of "The New York Sun," in which whole pages were devoted to a review of "Macley's History of the United States Navy," which has just been published in three volumes by the Appletons. I read with deep interest all about the destruction of the Maine and the fight at Santiago, which I can't upon a mercenary scathing criticism of Commodore Schley, which made me hot and fatigued my indignation. I had thought that whole controversy was settled and partially harmonized, but this will cause it to break out afresh. The Sun largely indorses all that Macley writes. He tells what Admiral Philip told him about Schley's disgraceful conduct. (Philip is dead now) and that he actually turned tail and ran away from the fight, and that his contribution to naval strategy throughout the campaign was "Avoid your enemy as long as possible, and if he makes for you, run!" Hobson is not mentioned in this review. Who is this Macley, anyhow? But today I am comforted, for I have been eagerly perusing Dr. Curry's latest best book, "The Civil History of the Confederate States," published by B. F. Johnson & Co., Richmond. It is a small book, a calm, considerate review of the past, and full of his personal reminiscences—his contact and communion with our noble men—Davis, Toombs, Stephens, Hill, Howell Cobb, Longstreet, Judah, Benjamin and others. It does not seem to be a school book, but I wish that every young man in the land would read it. It would take but a few hours and would establish him in the faith—the true faith—of the South. All his contemporaries who figured in the scenes he has narrated are dead. All but one—Judge Cabell still lives. How fortunate we are that that the good doctor lived to write this book, for what he writes is respected and true. He has long moved in an atmosphere far above envy or malice of distinction. Long may he yet live.

Furniture Factories at High Point.

A recent paper on furniture manufacturing in the South, by Mr. E. M. Armstrong, of High Point, furnishes the following interesting information: "Permit me to give a few facts in regard to the manufacture of furniture in High Point, N. C., as I am more familiar with the factories of that place and as it is a representative Southern manufacturing town. The first factory there, the High Point Furniture Company, began work in 1889. They first made a few chamber suits. There are 83 factories, one for every 150 people. Thomasville, seven miles from High Point, has 12, which manufacture every article of furniture which man needs from the time he lies in his cradle until he sleeps in his coffin. It would be tedious to mention the name of the different factories and their managers and the various articles of furniture manufactured, which include everything that is needed for use and ornament in a modern dwelling. These are shipped to every State of the Union and to some foreign countries. The factories have been uniformly and remarkably successful. Regular dividends ranging from 10 to 25 per cent. per annum have been paid in nearly all cases. Stock sells at a good premium without exception. Not $10,000 worth of stock is owned out of town and none outside of the State. Many stockholders are young men and boys now at work at the benches. A labor employed is white with a few negroes who drive drays and handle lumber about the yards. An air of thrift, cleanliness and prosperity pervades the entire town. There is nothing about the work that is degrading mentally, morally or physically. It is an uncommon thing for the sons of the richest men in the town begin turning a labor by the side of men who support their families on $1 a day or less. The furniture factory has made High Point what it is today, and already it is widely known as a furniture manufacturing town."

Senator Morgan's Letter.

Birmingham News.

Senator Morgan's letter to Capt. Frank S. White is a strong arraignment of the "grandfather clause," which the majority of the committee on suffrage and elections proposes shall become part of Alabama's new constitution. The Senator's opening sentences that "The American Revolution was not so much a redress of grievances as it was a struggle to abolish heredity in government, presenting an unanswerable argument, showing as it does that the very basis of our free institutions lies upon opposition to the kind of discrimination which the 'grandfather clause' proposes." "Political heredity," the Senator continues, "and all its appurtenances, such as prerogative and titular nobility and primogeniture, and all its protecting laws, such as corruption of blood, primogeniture and excommunication, perished and were placed under the heel of prohibition by our Constitution." The Senator correctly observes that whoever would restore any of these to that extent discredit the cause of the Revolution.

"This remedy cured two severe cases of cholera morbus in my family and I have recommended and sold hundreds of bottles of it to my customers to their entire satisfaction. It affords a quick and sure cure in a pleasant form." For sale by M. L. Marsh.

MR. HERRON'S DEFENSE.

The most independent defiance of the marriage relation is that which has been presented by Rev. George D. Herron, who abandoned wife and children in order to become the law-husband of a woman who had cash enough to buy out the rights of the real wife.

CHINA WINS AFTER ALL.

Baltimore Sun.

The news from China can hardly be satisfactory to those who a year ago advised using the mailed fist against the offending Celestials. Large armies were sent to teach China a lesson, to exact an indemnity and make a reputation of the anti-foreign Boxer movement impossible. The Dowager was to be executed, and an entirely new administrative system was to be established. The trade situation was to be remedied by opening all Chinese seaports and river ports to the foreigner and by abolishing obstructive internal taxes, such as the local officials enforce for their personal enrichment. The opportunity has come, in short, to reform stagnant China and place her upon the high road of modern progress. The rescue of the legations at Peking was the least of the objects in view, the alteration of the situation in the interest of the West being the chief motive alleged for the loud beating of tom-toms.

COTTON MILLS LOSING MONEY.

Raleigh Post.

Under the above caption the Chicago Chronicle makes the following suggestive statement: "The only large industrial interests in the country that have not been sharing in the general prosperity are the New England cotton mills. They have been losing money for the last six months. Three causes operated to this end. One the high price of cotton, another Southern competition and the third lack of organization and agreement. "The conservation of the companies has for years rejected all suggestions of a combination, but recently the idea has been regarded with some favor, and the result of the present situation may be the combination of the cotton mills and the raising of the price for cotton goods. "Since the first of the year the New England mills have been paying 40 cents a pound for cotton and have been selling manufactured goods on the basis of an 86 2/3-cent cotton market. The following mills have passed their usual dividends: Last previous div. per cent. Capital.

Mills. div. per cent. Capital.
Atlantic 2 $1,000,000
Booth 3 1,300,000
Chicopee 3 1,300,000
Jackson 5 900,000
Lancaster 4 1,200,000
Merrimack 3 2,750,000
Nashua 3 1,000,000
Middlesex 3 750,000
Salmon Falls 3 600,000
Tremont & Suffolk 4 2,000,000

The passing of the above dividends reduces the July disbursements from manufacturing companies $432,000. "We do not rejoice at the failure of any industry to pay, and pay good dividends; but we cannot refrain from recalling what we have before adverted to some of them that undertook to and did not succeed in doing so. The purpose of making the labor in Southern mills 'discontented.' They have succeeded in some sections to a degree, and what the final outcome may be the future alone can tell. The New England agitators readily found men in the state ready to accept the reduction of the wage and enter upon the work, and one of these local agencies is now in Salisbury jail for theft, after creating very unpleasant disturbances in several localities. The Southern mills had just begun to grow and get in a position to do great service in the way of adding to the wealth of and larger employment of labor within the South. To the extent that the Southern mills developed to that extent the markets hitherto entirely controlled by the New England mills were invaded and the former enormous profits, which have gone to the benefit of the New Englander, have been secured. The Chinese officials will continue to supplement their deficient salaries by extorting 'likin' taxes from trade with the interior. There has been no recent addition to the number of ships that we have to our coast opening all ports to foreign trade. Fear of foreign arms has been perhaps instilled in lieu of the contempt with which foreign powers were formerly regarded, but it is accompanied with disgust and hatred on the part of the people to whom they are applied, with which some of the Christian powers conducted their military operations. Our measure has been taken by the Chinese diplomats, who have learned, like the Turks, how to play the game of the great game. It is perceived that the United States, Russia, France and Germany have different interests and can seldom agree upon any comprehensive scheme that is unacceptable to China. The West lacks the patience and calm of O'Brien's diplomats. Our sensitiveness to expense and conflicting purposes place us at a fatal disadvantage.

Opposes Taxation of Whites to Pay for Negro Schools.

Jackson, Miss., Dispatch.

Recently before the state normal Judge J. A. P. Campbell, ex-chief justice of the supreme court of this state, delivered a very important address on the subject of the Negro Educational Problem. The view of such a man or so important a subject is of more than local interest. In discussing the question the judge said: "Our present system of education of the negro is a failure. A million dollars appropriated annually for the support of our schools and this is equally divided for the education of the negro and the white, yet the burden of taxation is borne by the white tax-payers; the tax that the negro pays amounts to nothing. The title of the address was 'The Negro Educational Problem.' It was because of these influences that citizens of Chincoteague Island, realizing the worth of domestic purity, rose up and expelled the band after several sensational incidents. Later the company sought refuge in Chowan River, off Montrose, where they had a houseboat they battled with armed citizens from the shore. One sanctified woman was shot to death. It has been the band's custom to settle in towns remote from railroads and telegraph wires.

Coming of the Shirtwaist Man.

New York Press.

The shirtwaist man is coming because he is the logical expression of comfort in torrid weather. A coat is a crime in such temperatures as we have been punished with in the last week. All the world will bless the Jersey Judge who suspended the dignity of the court on Monday and Tuesday and permitted lawyers, clients and hangers-on to take off their coats in the presence of 100 of the attorneys about the bench. And as an excuse for this leniency he hinted that he himself might be tempted to "shuck."

A Poor Millionaire.

Lately visited in London because he could not digest his food. Early use of Dr. King's New Life Pills would have saved him. They strengthen the stomach, aid digestion, promote assimilation, improve appetite. Price 25c. Money back if not satisfied. Sold by P. B. Potter, druggist.
