Over-Work Weakens Your Kidneys.

Unhealthy Kidneys Make Impure Blood.

All the blood in your body passes through your kidneys once every three minutes. The kidneys are your blood purifiers, they filter out the waste or impurities in the blood. If they are sick or out of order, they fail to do their work. Pains, aches and rheumatism come from excess of uric acid in the blood, due to neglected kidney trouble.

Kidney trouble causes quick or unsteady heart beats, and makes one feel as though they had heart trouble, because the heart is over-working in pumping thick, kidney-poisoned blood through veins and arteries. It is to be considered that only urinary troubles were to be traced to the kidneys, but modern science proves that nearly all constitutional diseases have their beginning in kidney trouble. If you are sick you can make no mistake by first doctoring your kidneys. The mild and the extraordinary effect of Dr. Kilmer's Swamp-Root, the great kidney remedy is soon realized. It stands the highest for its wonderful cures of the most distressing cases and is sold on its merits by all druggists in fifty-cent and one-dollar sizes. You may have a sample bottle by mail. Home of Swamp-Root, free also pamphlet telling you how to find out if you have kidney or bladder trouble. Mention this paper when writing Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y.

WHO ARE THE JAPANESE?

Their History is Extraordinary, Their Character Peculiar and Their Success Marvellous—May Not Their History Be Divided?

Charlotte Observer.

Minerva-like Japan has lately leaped grown and well armed into the arena of nations, asserting and proving herself entitled to position as a first-class power. So quickly was immense China conquered a few years ago, that men were reminded of the story of "Jack, the Giant-Killer,"—and this reminder today remains as blows fast upon the Russian bear, rightly known as the "Colossus of the North."

The Japanese cannot be, as some assert one of the ten lost tribes of Israel, for their faces and physical forms easily disprove this. Moreover; the first emperor of the present dynasty was crowned in Japan 660 B. C.; which was very soon after ten tribes were taken into Assyrian captivity. Besides, the Bible teaches that when the ten tribes are found they will be in islands to the northwest of Palestine, and also be Sabbath-keeping people.

The Japanese are probably the Hittites. (1). Mr. M. A. Streator, in his wonderful book, "The Anglo-American Alliance," on page 82 emphatically asserts, "The Japanese are Hittites." (2). M. Huges le Roix says: "There are three peoples in Japan—the Malay, the Mongolian, and a more mysterious race which dominated the others and has supplied the ruling caste."

(3). About three hundred years ago the Hittites were described and depicted by the Egyptians as "well made, of moderate stature, with receding chin and forehead; having eyes slightly oblique and a brown complexion, the hair being black the beard scant, and the head short and round."

This description strikingly tallies with the physical characteristics of the class to-day ruling in Japan.

(4). On March 23, 1893, Rev. Johnathan Goble, an American missionary in Japan wrote thus: "Most popular writers have classed the Japanese people as Mongolians, but recent discoveries in ancient philology find the language still in use in Japan, through Siberia and intervening countries to Hamathin Syria; proving that the Japanese, without doubt, are of the same race as the sons of Heth, with whom Abraham bargained for the burial place."

If the Japanese are Hittites, then they are descended from a cultured and warlike nation that 3000 years ago lived in Syria and the valley of the Euphrates warring frequently with the Assyrians, their bitter enemies.

Moreover, if the Russians are the Assyrians (as some think) then the present war between Russia and Japan is but the renewal of a fight unto death that took place in Western Asia nearly 3000 years ago, and which resulted in the Hittites being driven from their own land into the land of the Sunrising.

Does revelation 16-12 refer to the Japanese; and will the final result of this war be that these Hittites, long banished from the ancestral home, shall return to the land of their fathers with glad hearts and triumphant songs?

If God does restore the old homeland to these sons of Heth, who were only the friends of Abraham; is it not much more certain that He will restore to the children of Abraham that "Holy Land," of which Jerusalem was the centre and Zion the crown?"

No. 97 Again Wrecked.

GREENSBORO, July 5.—While No. 97, the fast mail train from Washington to Atlanta, was speeding southward this evening at the rate of 70 miles an hour it ran into a work train near Ruffin, which was engaged in collecting the debris of a freight wreck three days ago at that point. Five of the work train cars were demolished, the engine of 97 was thrown across the track, both being badly damaged. The fireman and engineer of 97 are reported to be badly injured. The accident occurred at 3 o'clock and delayed trains by blocking the track for five hours. The rumor here that mail cars had caught fire and were burned has not been verified.

Postmistress Forty Years.

Mrs. Mary Green, of Warrenton, is probably the oldest postmistress in the service of the government. For the past forty years she has been in charge of the office at Warrenton. She first entered the service of "Uncle Sam" under the administration of Andrew Jackson, and since her entry into the work of the government, she has been in peaceful possession of the Warrenton office. She is now past the allotted three-score and ten, being 75 years of age. She still is to be found at the delivery window, and indications point that she will serve the government for several years to come.

A SUMMER SEA TRIP.

Novel Entertainment Suitable for a Porch Party.

The invitations, says the House-keeper, were written on small cards about five inches in length and four in depth, the reverse sides decorated with pretty designs of ocean greyhounds plunging their way through wave and foam.

The entertainment was mentioned in the notes as a Summer Sea Trip, "Tourist party to start from the porch of the Jones' residence" on a certain date. No further explanation was given.

When all the guests had arrived and had been refreshed with iced lemonade on Margaret Jones' hospitable porch the mystery was solved. Each man and girl received a strip of pale sea-green cardboard to which a green pencil was attached with white ribbon.

On one side these marine questions (which constitute the sea trip) were written. The reverse side was left blank for the answers. Each question, it was explained, "was to be answered with a word terminating in the sound of 'sea.'"

For the sake of the hostess, who cannot find time to search out questions for herself when giving the party, the original set is added here:

What is the sea that never tells? Answer: Secrecy.

The sea that is always making mistakes? Inaccuracy.

The sea that reads or seeks to read the future? Prophecy.

The sea of derangement? Lunacy.

The sea of a hard heart? Obduracy.

TO KILL MICROBE OF OLD AGE.

Parisian Savant Says That is All Needed to Destroy Senility.

NEW YORK, July 5.—A cable to the New York American from Paris is as follows: "No one wants to grow old, and according to Professor Metchnikoff no one need—if only one can capture and kill the microbe which is productive of the disease. Old age, the Professor insists, is not a necessary condition, but is a chronic ailment, the cure for which science has not yet discovered, but surely will.

"Speaking of his theory and researches, Professor Metchnikoff said: 'I have for many years been closely investigating the problem of old age, and the reason that I took up this most interesting subject was that science merely contented itself with accepting the existing state of things without trying in any way to retard or prevent the advance of senility.

"As a matter of fact, old age is the result of a battle between the good and the bad elements of the human organism, a fight which invariably terminates with a victory for the latter. When I use the word 'battle' I am not speaking metaphorically, but I really mean an active struggle for supremacy.

There are in our bodies many cells, which have independent motion, and they are capable of devouring all kinds of solid bodies, hence their name of Phagocytes, or voracious cells.

"These Phagocytes fill an important role in our organism, and it is they which surround and devour any intruder that might injure our health; in fact, they are the police who safeguard our systems.

"Now we have divided these 'Phagocytes' into two distinct classes—the 'Microphages' and the latter are distinctly responsible for senile decay.

"The invasion of the tissues by these Macrophages is so general in old age that one is necessarily compelled to attach great importance to it, as, for instance, in brains of old men and old animals we find that the brain cells are entirely surrounded and destroyed by 'Macrophages.'

"My theory is that in old age all the better elements of our organism are destroyed by these Macrophages, which have increased and multiplied too fast, and my conviction of the truth of this statement has been more than verified by personal observation.

"Man has a distinct aversion to growing old, feeling instinctively that in old age there is something abnormal. Now, we give medicine to allay pain, why should we not discover some remedy for old age, which, after all, is a chronic disease?"

Bismarck Regains Speech.

Shreveport, La. Special to Philadelphia Record.

Julian Renfree, the young student who lost his speech and hearing at Chicago while defying God to give him a personal demonstration, had both senses restored to-day. Renfree wrote on a slip of paper last week in reply to a question that he believed God would restore his senses on Thursday at 3 o'clock, and to-day the time set, his statement was verified precisely at the hour mentioned.

It was at the home of his mother he opened his lips and shouted, "The Lord be praised!"

When the news of his recovery was learned the streets leading to his home were filled by excited people, who prayed on the way. It was announced by his friends that he would address the neighbors next Sunday.

Some Hope for the New Humble.

Wilmington Star.

A writer asks derisively, "What becomes of all those awfully smart children?" The smart girls grow up sweet and pretty, and cutely scoop up in with their matrimonial nets. The smart boys grow up shrewd and sell us gold bricks in various forms, get our small change by working a ball under a shell, or knock on the back door and are fed by the smart girl wives which scooped up in with their little nets. This is no joke.

Wonderful Nerve.

WORDS IN THE LANGUAGE.

Authorities Differ as to the Number Properly Used in Conversation.

No one can say how many words there are in the English language, because there are so many words of doubtful standing. The Century Dictionary contains about 225,000 words, and the new edition of the Standard Dictionary lays claim to over 300,000. Of these many are rarely obsolete, and many others are rarely used. Science has added a vast vocabulary of polysyllables that are scientific formulae rather than real words. They have no place in general literature. The ordinary English vocabulary may be said to contain from 30,000 to 50,000 words, the latter estimate being large. No single writer of literature has used so many as the lower number named.

Shakespeare, whose vocabulary is larger than that of any other English poet unless it be Browning, used about 15,000 words, while Milton, whose range was narrower, employed only about half that number. The vocabulary of the illiterate has been set as low as 300 words, but this must be exceptional. It is more likely that the ordinary working man uses from 2,000 to 3,000 words, while, of course he is familiar with several thousand more which he recognizes in print, but does not himself use.

The common estimate of the average vocabulary of educated people is from 5,000 to 6,000, but in this case the number of words which are not used is enormously increased. A well read college graduate should be familiar with perhaps 100,000 words, while in the course of a year he might not use 5,000 of them in his writing or conversation. Short-hand reporters find about 2,500 word signs and contractions ample for representing the words which are commonly used in public speaking.

Our Vast Spending.

Baltimore Sun.

The country was shocked in 1890 when Congress appropriated a half billion of dollars, but the Republican leaders have habituated us by this time to a much larger figure. The total of appropriations by Congress at the extra session and at the regular session just adjourned is $781,172,375. This amazing outlay is not well spent, much of it being wasted on unproductive services.

The army gets $77,070,300, the navy $57,505,140, pensions $138,360,700. The outlay for military purposes thus aggregates $273,000,000, which is enough to make the military monarchies of the Old World turn green with envy. In addition to the specific appropriations made, contracts were authorized to be entered into for certain public works requiring future appropriations by Congress amounting to $22,891,300, which represents a reduction of a little over $14,000,000 as compared with the contract liabilities of the last session of the preceding Congress.

The contract liabilities are mainly on account of the navy. New offices and employments specifically authorized exhibit a net increase of $,415 in number and call for an increased expenditure of $5,431,865. What adds to the inequity of the Government's enormous outlay is the sectional partiality shown in its distribution.

Nothing Like Knowing When to Stop.

Stateville Landmark.

The recent attachment of an editor for contempt and the subsequent flood of talk about the liberty of the press, has caused much talk about Jo. Turner, famous as an editor at Raleigh in reconstruction days. Turner's services were needed when he wrought and he did a good work for the State. He was very popular with his party and there was much talk of making him United States Senator, Governor, etc. But he reaped none of the rewards and honors. He was extreme and bitter and while men applauded his bitterness and daring when he was fighting the scallawags and carpetbaggers that were degrading and robbing the State, his style didn't suit the changed conditions, and in ten years after he was the most unpopular man in the State he was expelled from the Legislature in Raleigh by his Democratic associates in the body, and a few years ago he died in obscurity and poverty, with none to do him honor.

Safeguard for Children.

Notwithstanding all that is done by boards of health and charitably inclined persons, the death rate among small children is very high during the hot weather of the summer months in the large cities.
