Wood's Seeds.

Crimson Clover

Sown at the last working of the Corn or Cotton Crop, can be plowed under the following April or May in time to plant corn or other crops the same season. Crimson Clover prevents winter leaching of the soil, is equal in fertilizing value to a good application of stable manure and will wonderfully increase the yield and quality of corn or other crops which follow it. It also makes splendid winter and spring grazing, fine early green feed, or a good hay crop. Even if the crop is cut off, the action of the roots and stubble improve the land to a marked degree.

Montgomery County Boy Killed.

According to an Aiken, S. C., special to The Columbia State, a white youth, aged 19 years, Bud Madison McLoud, son of Calvin McLoud, of Star, Montgomery county, was shot near Eureka Station, Aiken county, last Saturday afternoon being taken to Aiken. He seems to have been something of a tramp and somewhat weak-minded. His auto-mortem statement was to the effect that he went to a country house and asked for something to eat. The woman of the house told him she had nothing and he asked her if she could not cook something for him. She said yes, and he went around the house and sat down on the doorstep while she bustled about the kitchen. Huggens came up from the orchard and as soon as he saw McLoud commenced firing on him. One shot took effect and McLoud ran through the house. Huggens pursued and shot him a second time. Huggens then dragged him out of the house, sent for a buggy, sent him to the station and had him shipped to Aiken. McLoud said that he had said nothing to Mrs. Huggens to alarm her. Another story is that she was frightened by his rough appearance and rough address and that she had escaped from the house to that of a neighbor and had sent from there for her husband, whom she told of her fright. The coroner's inquest had not been completed Tuesday, the appearance of Huggens to give testimony being awaited.

Violent Attack of Diarrhoea Cured by Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy and Perhaps a Life Saved.

"A short time ago I was taken with a violent attack of diarrhoea and believe I would have died if I had not gotten relief," says John J. Patton, a leading citizen of Patton, Ala. "A friend recommended Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. I bought a twenty-five cent bottle and after taking three doses of it was entirely cured. I consider it the best remedy in the world for bowel complaints. For sale by M. L. Marsh.

Nearly Forgets His Life.

A runaway almost ending fatally, started a horrible ulcer on the leg of J. B. C. Frank, Franklin Grove, Ill. For four years it defied all doctors and all remedies. But Bucklen's Arnica Salve had no trouble to cure him. Equally good for burns, bruises, skin eruptions and piles. 25c at all druggists.

Henry Wall, an employe of the Rowan Brick Company, of Salisbury, attempted to board the mixed train on the Yadkin Railroad Wednesday afternoon at the company's plant one and a half miles from the city, lost his grip and fell, the engine and four cars passed over his legs and badly mutilated both. He died before medical aid could reach him.

It is learned that the following is the rule in fixing the annual salary of rural free delivery mail carriers: Twenty-four mile and over, $720; 23 to 24 miles, $702; 22 to 23, $684; 21 to 22, $666; 20 to 21, $648; 18 to 20, $612; 16 to 18, $576; 14 to 16, $540; 12 to 14, $504; 10 to 12, $468; 8 to 10, $432. Eight miles is the shortest route.

CHILD LABOR AT FALL RIVER.

Baltimore Sun.

A loud cry has for several years been going up from Fall River and other New England cotton manufacturing centers against "child labor in the South," with the object of inciting philanthropists of that section to inaugurate radically restrictive legislation that would hobble the Southern cotton manufacturing industry. New England cannot compete with the South in the production of certain classes of goods—a fact of which the present strike of 30,000 Fall River operatives is the result—but it was felt that if the labor conditions that exist in New England were transferred to the South the expense of manufacturing in the latter section might be considerably increased. Hence a great outcry of self-righteous denunciation of imaginary mistreatment of children and call for drastic laws. Investigation has shown that "child labor" in an objectionable form does not exist to an appreciable extent in the Southern mills, but that, in fact, the young people employed in the mills are looked after and in many cases educated at the expense of the owners, so that their condition compares very favorably with that of youths employed in Fall River mill. An "exiled Virginian," residing in Massachusetts, has noted the contrast there between preaching and practice and sends The Sun an illustrated Boston paper which describes the actual situation at Fall River. Pictures are given of three children age ranging from 8 to 12 going to work. Two of the three are girls who "toil in a spool room of one of Fall River's biggest mills for $1.97 a week," and it is added that "they are two of many thousands." They work from 6:30 in the morning until 6 at night, with an hour off at noon. Their labor is constant and hard. Previous to the cut-down of last November their pay was $2.50 a week. The 10 per cent. cut at that time left it $2.25. If they remain at work they will receive $1.97 a week. They do not have this wage for spending money. It goes to help support the family.

Indiana Republican Candidates Are Heavily Assessed.

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., July 29.—Failure on part of manufacturers and other employers of labor in the Republican party to subscribe liberally to the campaign fund and the believe of the party managers that Indiana is a doubtful State when the Democratic party is united, have caused unprecedented assessments to be placed upon the candidates on the State ticket. As a rule the assessments are lower in a national campaign year than in an off year, but when the candidates sought an explanation for the 50 per cent. increase the other day they were informed that few contributions to the fund had been made, and these were smaller than had been received from the same contributors for years, while many had refused to give anything at all.

Collecting a Troublesome Business.

Charlotte Chronicle.

Perhaps one of the most troublesome features of a modern commercial business is the collection of accounts. Many people are wholly inconsiderate of the collector and of the man or firm who has given the accommodation in the way of credit. "Come again," or "I'll see about it," or some petty objection to the form of the account is too often all that the collector can get. Sometimes a man may not be prepared to pay—may not have the money. But if those who could just as well pay as not would volunteer their payments, or even facilitate the collector's work, it would help those whose business often needs the money due.

Husband and Wife Do Not Speak.

Monroe Journal.

In a trial before a justice of the peace yesterday an elderly couple were put on the stand as witnesses in behalf of a neighbor, and it was developed that they had not spoken to each other in 15 years. The man said in explanation that he and his wife had had a little quarrel 15 years ago and he had said in his anger that if he ever spoke to her again he hoped God would strike him dead, and now he is afraid to talk. The conversations are carried on through the children.

COLLEGE GIRLS AS FARM HANDS.

Modern Hand Reapers Are Making the Hay and Moving It, too.

Because of a lack of farm hands the farmers around Whippany, Atton, and Hanover, N. J., have had to call on their daughters to assist in the harvest. In the ordinary course of things this would be nothing strange. But for the farmers in that section of the country it is unusual; for they are a well-to-do lot and most of the girls are college bred. But college bred or otherwise, it makes no difference to the farmer who has to get in the hay. This is the haying season and it is the finest kind of haying weather.

The farmers offered high wages for male help, but it was not forthcoming. Just when it looked as if the hay crop would be a failure on account of a lack of harvesters, Miss Mabel Mowder, who finished at Vassar two years ago came to her father's assistance and said that she would take the place of a man for $2 a day, the price he had offered.

He scoffed at the idea at first, but this young woman soon showed that she was as good as her word by mounting a mowing machine and driving into the field, where she cut the grass like a veteran. Other girls in the vicinity saw their leader at work, and it became the fashion at once, so that two days later more than a dozen women could be counted within half as many miles, and all of them were riding on mowingmachines, reapers, or gang rakes, handling a pair of horses and a big machine as if they were used to it.

The Dirtiest People in the World.

London Lancet.

With possible exceptions in the cases of Tibet and Lapland, we are compelled to admit that the English working classes are probably the dirtiest bipeds in the world, alike in their clothes and in their persons, and that they display themselves in public and even travel by public conveyances in conditions which would not be tolerated in any other civilized country.

Nothing like English working class dirt is ever seen in public on the continent of Europe unless in its far eastern portions, and dirt is prejudicial to health, not only by its direct physical operation, but in a still greater degree, by reason of the absence of self-respect which it entails and which removes from the dirty man or woman at least one safeguard against drunkenness and against misconduct.

The confession has been signed by Hammond and he is being taken back to Montana for trial.

FOR SOCIAL EQUALITY.

A colored correspondent of the Washington Post predicts that the Republican ticket in 1908 will be Theodore Roosevelt and Booker Washington. The campaign emblem will be the negro boy and white girl, standing hand in hand who enthused the convention that nominated Roosevelt.

The writer is Henry S. Baker and his remarkable communication is as follows:

"As a colored man, I wish to call attention to the difference between the Republican and the Democratic National conventions. At the Republican convention the colored man was treated as a companion, friend, and brother. There he was made to feel as if he were not only a political, but a social equal. The delegates followed the advice and example of our beloved President Theodore Roosevelt, who teaches that the colored man deserves to be treated as a social equal. To emphasize this fact, he had the courage to have at his table Prof. Booker T. Washington. If Roosevelt is elected it will soon encourage the colored men that we will demand that Prof. Booker Washington shall be the Republican candidate for vice-president in 1908.

"Let not my colored brethren forget that scene in the Republican convention when a beautiful white girl was placed upon the stage, and by her side a negro boy. They then placed flags in their hands and allowed them to lead the cheering, thus making the first and grandest example of the equality of the races that history records."

Pot Superstitions.

A young man in a Bucks county tavern cut off a lock of yellow hair and threw it into the fire.

It burned with a feeble and dull flame, and soon went out.

"Oh, dear," she cried. "That is a sign that I won't live long."

Hammond says that he and his partner stole the dynamite with which they blew open the passenger car from a mine and they had more than 50 pounds of it. Hammond came to Spokane, where he was betrayed by a companion with whom he became associated after the robbery and was arrested.

Shades of the past! How they do knock holes in our most cherished beliefs. "Country Life" now says it is a foolish notion to suppose that the ringing of bells or the tinging of tin pans will cause a swarm of bees to settle. "The real origin of this custom," it says, "dates back to the reign of Alfred the Great, who, in order to prevent disputes regarding the ownership of a swarm, ordered that the owner should always ring a bell when his bees swarmed; and ever since then the good farmer's wife has been rushing out with ringing bells whenever the bees swarmed, and the fact that they settled verified in her own mind, the belief that the bell did it." This is too much for us.

New Orleans State.

Sam Jones, the evangelist, has been preaching on Missouri politics. Before the Carthage, Mo., Chautauqua he said: "If the machine politicians in Missouri were to die all at once, of course they'd go to hell, and when the devil saw them coming he'd close up shop. But the gang would caucus, hold an election, knock the devil in the head, make a new one and run hell to suit themselves. In less than ten days everybody there would be sorry for the change."

Hall Made Dents in Houses.

RALEIGH, July 30.—Rev. Dr. T. N. Ivey, editor of The Methodist Christian Advocate, has returned from a visit to the hall-mitten district in Scotland county, where 100 farms were swept. He says the hall made dents in the houses, actually tore the bark from red oak trees and swept away scores of farms, while in other cases the dead stalks of ruined crops alone remain. He says the hall would have evidently killed persons exposed to it.

VALUATION OF RAILROADS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

RALEIGH, July 28.—The corporation commission to-day gave out information regarding the new assessment of certain property of the railways and other common carriers. The Atlantic Coast Line has 947 miles, valuation $24,454,014; Seaboard Air Line, 612 miles, valuation, $12,500,000; Southern Railway owned line, 589 miles, $14,735,250; Southern Railway, leased lines, 690 miles, $11,575,339; miscellaneous railways, 903 miles, $6,218,470. The total mileage is 3,833, and total valuation, $69,483,073. The other valuations are as follows: Western Union Telegraph, $927,921; telephone companies, $823,702; Southern Express, $402,109; Pullman Company, $163,401; electric light and gas companies, $305,860; street railways, $1,564,190; waterworks, $401,125; steamboats, $179,605; bridge and canal companies, $222,500; refrigerator companies, $104,032. The grand total is $74,377,522, the increase over last year being $592,836. The increase of mileage of railways is 56, divided as follows: Suffolk & Carolina, 24 miles, Transylvania, 11, Durham & Charlotte, 3, Cape Fear & Northern, 4, Chowan & Alexander, 3, Raleigh & Cape Fear, 7, South & Western, 4.

A young man in a Bucks county tavern cut off a lock of yellow hair and threw it into the fire.

It burned with a feeble and dull flame, and soon went out.

"Oh, dear," she cried. "That is a sign that I won't live long."

Then she explained gravely that and other superstitions of the Pennsylvania Dutch.

"If a lock of your hair burns bright and long," she said, "you will have a happy life of 70 years or more, but if it burns weakly and soon goes out, your life will be both sad and short.

To test your sweetheart's humor, make him stir the fire. If he stirs it to a hearty blaze, he is good-humored. If he makes it smoke and fade, he is hard to live with.
