of the Corn or Cotton Crop, can be plowed under the following April or May in time to plant corn or other crops the same season. Crimson Clover prevents winter leaching of the soil, is equal in fertilizing value to a good application of stable manure and will wonderfully increase the yield and quality of corn or other crops which follow it. It also makes splendid winter and spring grazing, fine early green feed, or a good hay crop. Even if the crop is cut oil, the action of the roots and stubble improve the land to a marked degree.

Not Every Boy and Girl Should Go to

We long ago surrendered the notion college. We have seen not a few that should not have been sent to any college. There is a large class of boys who will learn, will develop more rapidly at work than at school. Send them to school and they will become loafers. There are others (and they are many who cannot take classical or literary education and who have no use whatever for it, but who may profit mightily by agriculture or mechanical training We are glad that farming is becoming popular again, and that young men are finding out that agriculture is at once one of the greatest, most fascinating and profitable studies. Likewise there is great practical and educational value in the mechanic trades, and many young men- will find preparation in them more likely to make men of them than the mere study of books. We do not hesitate, therefore, to advise some parents to put their boys to work, and others to give them a strictly practical education in the A. and M. College.
