TERMINIC BATTLE NOW ON

Japanese Advance on Liao Yang—Hand-to-Hand Fighting.

LIAO YANG, Aug. 30, 10 a. m.—From 5 o'clock this morning up to 9 o'clock there has been an incessant shower of shrapnel. The heaviest cannonading is coming from the southeast, where the Japanese have numerous guns.

Deadly shells are bursting everywhere, their white smoke being distinctly traceable against the dark foliage on the mountain side. The Japanese are searching the whole countryside with their fire, selecting certain squares of territory on which for a few moments they mass a hail of shot and shell. In this way the entire Russian force has been systematically searched in the first four hours of the cannonading. Then commenced the general Japanese advance along the whole line.

The Japanese artillery fire has somewhat slackened, but their infantry is steadily pushing forward.

The Russians have been holding their ground gallantly and their losses are small, considering the terrible nature of the Japanese fire.

6:45 p. m.—The battle is growing in intensity, the Japanese fire is chiefly directed on the Russian southern end. The advance was pressed with such vigor that it developed into a hand-to-hand fighting, the Twenty-third Regiment repelling an attack at the point of the bayonet. One Japanese battery was dismantled.

SAN JONES' LETTER.

Atlanta Journal.

Still on the wings, or as the good old colored pastor replied when asked what he was doing these days, replied: "I am still prevaricating around on my circuit."

It seems like it would grow monotonous to a fellow, but it don't. The changing scenes and shifting crowds as one greets the thousands every day at these chautauqua assemblies keep up the mental stimulus and the quickened pulse, and the way we go as we go it.

It seems to me I have been everywhere twice, and the novelty is worn off of the sights and scenes, but still there remains much to interest and engage thought.

I am not surprised at the jump in the prices of wheat and corn. It seems to me that this country this year is producing the poorest crops I have seen grow out of the soil in many years. I put down the wheat crop at 65 per cent. and the corn crop at 60 per cent. of an average, and in my judgment both corn and wheat will go much higher.

Though I have no disposition to bet or money to wager on my judgment, or opinion, nevertheless, it's a good way to tell how matters are going to ride over the country and see for one's self.

I am now at Rockford, Ill., chautauqua for two days. This is one of the most splendid towns of 40,000 population I have ever visited. This is a great manufacturing center. The magnificent hotels, residences and business houses tell the tale of wealth and prosperity. I will speak at the Monmouth, Ill., chautauqua to-morrow, thence to the Ames, Ia., chautauqua, thence to Charlotteville, Va., and for I am a foot-sore, dust-covered and tired traveler.

When I am so far from home I do not get the Atlanta papers, and no one knows how a fellow misses them. The comments of the northern press on the Georgia lynchings and burnings are pretty salty; some are vicious. But, after all, I know of but one way to stop lynchings, and that is to stop the crimes for which lynchings are administered. I am a southern man, born, bred and buttered in the South, fifty-six years old, and yet I never saw a mob. I never witnessed a lynching, and cannot say of my own knowledge that there was ever a lynching in the South. Yankee Doodle has been doing business along the same line whenever occasion offered, and will continue to do things just like Dixie does them whenever and wherever manhood is outraged and womanhood dishonored.

Lynchings seem to be like railroad wrecks. Whenever they have one they have three. One more, and I suppose Georgia will rest a while.

But I keep saying it, I won't be caught in a mob. If a fellow does me a deed for which he ought to be killed, and I determine to kill him, I am going to gunning for him by myself, alone. I ain't much on them sort of picnics or summer festivals, or whatever you call them. Law caught to be supreme, and mob law is lawless law.

The human or inhuman brute deserves a thousand hangings and burnings, but let the courts try them and the sheriffs execute them. If the people want them burned, let the legislature make the law so that when a brute is convicted of assault on an innocent woman, he shall be tied to the stake and burned in public, by the sheriff of the county.

Politics seem to be too great, both crowds seem to be puzzled over how and what to make the issues for the campaign. Both parties are agreed on finance. There is a differentiated difference on the tariff; they are together on expansion and both seem to have trouble getting campaign funds. Tom Watson still hurt the Democrats somewhat in the west, where it will count. I think Tom just ran to get to say his say, and Tom is sunny, too, and as smart as he is sunny. It seems now like it's going to be a decent campaign and a dignified one. The Republicans have tied and muzzled Teddy, and Parker has made most of his capital by his speech. If campaigning and speaking would have elected a candidate, Mr. Bryan would have been twice elected president. But no great talker or orator was ever elected over a quiet candidate. Campaign thunder will be matted out by the stiller of light weight and through the postoffice in the way of literature.

Yours truly,
SAM P. JONES.

WATTS LAW WISE AND PROPER.

The Position of the Democratic Party on the Liquor Question Clearly Set Forth by Chairman Simmons.

Adequate police protection is set forth as an essential for places where liquor is manufactured or sold, and the Watts Law discriminates against no one.

Such is the substance of a letter just written by Democratic State Chairman Simmons in reply to a series of questions sent to him by the editor of Webster's Weekly, of Reidsville, who asks the position of the Democratic party on the Watts Law, and the application of the law.

The reply of Chairman Simmons is as follows:

RALEIGH, N. C., August 20, 1904.
Hon. John R. Webster, Reidsville, N. C.

DEAR SIR:—I have received your letter of August 13th, in regard to the temperance plank of the Democratic State platform of this year, in which you propound the following inquiries:

1. Did not the late Democratic Convention at Greensboro declare unanimously for the principle of the Watts bill?

2. Has any county convention or candidate for office the right, under the provisions of our platform, to either propose or advocate an amendment to said bill to leave it to a vote of the people by township or county?

3. Can there be police regulation, provided by the platform, out side of incorporated towns or cities?

In reply to your several inquiries, I beg to advise you that the Democratic State convention held at Greensboro did unanimously approve the general principles of the Watts law. The language of the platform, upon this subject, is in part as follows: "We approve the general principles of the Watts Law, regulating the manufacture and sale of liquors and limiting the same to localities in which there may be adequate police protection."

A subsequent clause in this plank of the platform declares that, "The General Assembly has the power, and when controlled by the Democratic party, can be trusted to make all amendments which experience and conditions may demonstrate to be wise and proper."

Of course the Legislature has united power to amend or repeal all legislative enactments, but those two classes of the Democratic deliverance upon the subject of temperance legislation, as embodied in the Watts Law, should be taken together; and construing them together, an amendment of this law, which would allow the manufacture and sale of liquors in localities in which there may not be adequate police protection, would in my opinion be a violation of its general principles, and in conflict with the platform declaration.

The essential principle of the Watts Law is that liquor must neither be manufactured nor sold in this State except under adequate police protection. As at present written, that Law confines the manufacture and sale of liquor to incorporated towns, where adequate police protection is presumed because required by law. It would seem, therefore, without reference to the incorporation of a locality as a municipality, if adequate police protection of the traffic to be conducted therein can be and is in TRUTH and in FACT provided and secured by law, it would be a compliance with the party's requirement limiting the manufacture and sale of liquors to "localities in which there may be adequate police protection."

Very truly yours,
F. M. SIMMONS,
Chairman State Democratic Ex. Com.

SIX FOREMOST CAROLINIANS.

Raleigh Post.

"I believe there are just six men of mark alive in North Carolina," declared Postmaster C. T. Bailey.

"Whom would you name?" inquired a reporter, and here is the list of the six foremost living North Carolinians the postmaster of Raleigh enumerated:

General R. F. Hoke.
Ex-Senator M. W. Ransom.
Colonel A. B. Andrews.
Judge Peter C. Pritchard.
Colonel John S. Henderson.
Governor Chas. B. Aycock.

CABARRUS POLITICS.

What a "Promising Republican" Tells the Salisbury Sun.

Meeting a prominent Republican from Cabarrus county, I asked him the news of his county of a political nature.

"Nothing doing there that would interest you. There is apathy with a big A."

"What are the chances of Mr. Blackburn compared with two years ago?"

"I don't see any enthusiasm over his nomination nor any betting on his prospects. A good many Republicans are dot satisfied with his living in one district and forcing himself on another. While I want to see him elected I am satisfied this argument will cost him votes. I have heard some Republicans say that he has misrepresented his home to obtain the nomination and that it will defeat him in November."

"I see that Mr. Sims resigned from the executive committee; what does that signify?"

"I really don't know. I see that ex-Congressman Shuford is reorganizing the Populist party. May be he will line up with his old associates. If so, it will cost Blackburn many votes in Cabarrus."

"What do you think of joint discussions in your county?"

"The people demand it. If our party over had a ghost of a chance to go up against the Democrats and win this is our year. Any school boy could discuss the issues and hold up his end. If Blackburn don't meet Newland throughout the district this campaign he might as well stay at home, for the people will not tolerate such another canvass as he made with Mr. Kluttz. The State candidates should be forced to meet each other or get off the ticket and let some one else get up a full ticket."

"I suppose you people will put up a full ticket?"

"Yes, if we can get the men to run. Mr. Buchanan and others there are strong men and would make a good race but we will have men of power and influence to oppose us. It seems that dissensions have arisen among Republicans all over the district and our county is not without discord and domestic strife. It is to be regretted that the row between Linney, Price and Blackburn ever occurred. It will at any time take the united vote of the Republican party to win in this district and from present appearances Blackburn will fall far short of getting it."

Courtesy Brings Reward.

RALEIGH, August 30.—By reason of their courtesy to the son of the late Edmund S. Heath, of Newark, N. J., three Goldsboro gentlemen received bequests amounting to $11,000. The gentlemen are members of the well known Dortch family, all devoted sportsmen. Charles Heath, their personal friend, visited them each winter until his death, hunting until two years ago, when he went to Goldsboro to recuperate and lived at the home of the Dortches, who treated him as if he were a member of their family. He died suddenly and they went with the remains to his New Jersey home. The grateful father never forgot their kindness to his son.

Never Mind the Weather, Love.

The trains on the Lake Shore Railway, bound east or west, will run just the same, and will be on time, no matter what the weather conditions may be. If it is hot, the cars will be cool and well ventilated. If wet and stormy, no amount of rain can trouble the magnificent four-track roadbed. So when you travel, don't bother about the weather, but be sure that your ticket reads, "Via the Lake Shore."
