

ARRIVAL OF TRAINS AT CONCORD

The following change of schedule took effect August 1, 1914.

Table with columns for Train, Direction, and Arrival/Departure times.

All the above trains stop regularly at Concord, except No. 27, southbound, and No. 28 and 29, northbound.

LOCAL AND OTHERWISE.

Mr. Alonzo Hoop is now clerk at the St. Cloud Hotel.

Use our penny column and let it make dollars for you.

Rev. Paul Barringer preached in Lexington last Sunday.

Mr. James Taylor has a position with the Southern as fireman.

Mr. N. D. Fetzer offers her horse and phaeton for sale.

Rev. C. P. Fisher preached in the St. James Lutheran Church last Sunday night.

Mr. Alexander Tournay, of London, was here yesterday.

The first meeting of the Julia Magruder Book Club will be held November 1 with Mrs. R. S. Young.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest W. Fetzer are now in Concord.

Mr. J. M. Gamble, who has been living in Rutherfordton for two years, is again in Concord.

We want to publish your name on our roll of honor.

Dr. M. L. Marsh is having his residence on South Union street covered with slate.

Rev. B. S. Brown, of China Grove, has been compelled to retire from the active work of the ministry.

Bishop W. W. Duncan, will preside at the annual meeting of the Western North Carolina Conference at Charlotte, November 10.

Mr. C. W. Carpenter, who has been with H. L. Parks & Co. for some time, has resigned that position.

Mr. W. A. Castor and Mr. J. D. Misenheimer, of No. 5, will leave today for Ansonville.

Mr. Thos. J. Rowland died last Thursday at his home in Statesville.

The following are marshals from Concord for the Charlotte Fair: W. J. Montgomery, Jr., Luther Brown, J. C. Wadsworth, J. W. Cannon, Jr., J. F. Cannon, Archie Cannon, F. L. Smith and Dr. F. O. Rogers.

Dr. B. F. Dixon, State Auditor, will speak here on next Saturday night in the court house.

The colored people of Concord have organized the First Congregational Church.

Hon. F. M. Simmons, Democratic State chairman, will speak in the court house to day at 12 o'clock.

Mr. W. C. Correll will be at Lentz's Hotel in Mt. Pleasant on Friday, October 23, to examine eyes and take orders for spectacles.

Mrs. James Clayton died Monday morning about 6 o'clock at her home at Cannonville, of diabetes.

There will be a big Democratic barbecue in Salisbury Thursday, November 5, when Col. R. B. Glenn will speak.

An alarm of fire was sounded Monday morning, coming from the house of Mr. Hasey on Simpson street.

Mr. Hatchett's Brother Hurt in Collision.

A telegram received here Sunday announced that Mr. Yancy Hatchett, a brother of Mr. John D. Hatchett, was killed in a head-on collision on the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad, near Natchez, Miss., last Saturday night.

An Organized Company Buys the Coleman Property.

A company was organized here this week composed of several Concord business men, to be known as a Real Estate, Loan and Trust Co.

We want some pine wood on subscription. Don't all come at once.

Messrs. G. M. More and G. T. Crowell are having their residences remodeled.

The Virginia Dore Book was delightfully entertained last Saturday afternoon by Mrs. G. T. Crowell.

Craven Bros. Furniture and Undertaking Co. have a new ad. on the first page. They talk about Buck's stoves and ranges.

The rate to the Charlotte Fair is $1.20 for the round trip, which includes admission to the grounds. Tickets are now on sale.

The members of St. James Lutheran church will have a congregational meeting on the first Sunday in November, for the purpose of calling a pastor.

The Presbyterian Synod meets at Durham this year. Mr. D. B. Morrison is delegate from the First Presbyterian church here, with Mr. W. W. Sturart as alternate.

Rev. W. J. Tidball, of Taylorsville, will assist Rev. Mr. Orsine in communion service at Bethpage next Sunday and will also preach at Gilwood Sunday night at 7:30 o'clock.

Mr. Charley Payne, who has had a position in the Gibson mill for some time, left yesterday morning for his home in Washington, N. C. He will not return to Concord.

A letter from Mrs. S. A. Hamilton, at Bloomington, Ill., to her nephew, Mr. J. J. Hamilton, bears the information that her son Mr. James Hamilton, died recently in Asheville of consumption. Mr. Hamilton lived here for several years.

Cotton went down to 94 cents the latter part of last week, and as a consequence only 90 bales were sold here Saturday. The weather is so fine for getting corn and doing other farm work that farmers will not bring cotton to market, especially when the price is under 10 cents.

Miss Carrie Neider and Mr. W. R. Wilkins were married at King's Mountain last Wednesday, at the home of the bride's mother. Miss Sallie Castor, of Concord, was one of the attendants, and Mrs. W. A. Ridenhour played the wedding march. The bride is well known in Concord, having often visited here.

A cantata, "The Beatitudes," will be sung in St. James Lutheran Church next Sunday by the following: Mrs. W. H. Hiller, Misses Ida Blume, Olivet Cline, Estelle Blackwelder, Sallie Castor and Lula Spaffenfeld; and Messrs. Charles Cook, R. E. Ridenhour, J. L. Miller, V. L. Norman and C. A. Blackwelder.

Cynthia Peeler, the colored woman who was so badly burned at Mr. C. F. Ritchie's last Tuesday, is not expected to live. Her clothing caught fire from the fire at the wash pot, and in a moment she was enveloped in flames. Mr. John Goodman, who was passing at the time, managed to extinguish the fire but not before the woman was badly burned.

We regret to note the death of Mr. G. H. Lents, which occurred October 6 at his home at Guerero, Mexico, of typhoid fever. He went to Tampico for treatment, and after he returned took a relapse and died in four days. He was 24 years old, and a son of Mr. Jos. W. Lents, of No. 7 township. He had been in Mexico for about two years. He was a member of St. Stephens Lutheran Church.

Hon. Thos. C. Bowie, Democratic presidential elector, spoke in the court house last Friday night. He had a big crowd, and he made them an excellent speech. He spoke, of course, mainly on national issues, and made a palpable hit of the "Roosevelt and prosperity" song when he said that the only time the cotton mills of Concord have ever been closed down was this year during the very last of Roosevelt's administration. The cotton mill operatives here say if this is a sample of "Roosevelt prosperity" they want no more of it.

Mr. Hatchett's Brother Hurt in Collision.

A telegram received here Sunday announced that Mr. Yancy Hatchett, a brother of Mr. John D. Hatchett, was killed in a head-on collision on the Yazoo & Mississippi Valley Railroad, near Natchez, Miss., last Saturday night.

Mr. Hatchett was engineer on the freight train which collided with a passenger train. It is said that the passenger train failed to obey orders to meet the freight. A later telegram received yesterday says that Mr. Hatchett was not killed, but badly hurt, though not dangerously.

A Servant's Remarks on the Servant Question.

Monroe K. Quire.

The servant problem, or what they call the servant problem, is worrying some folks. They tell us that the cooks have quit the kitchen and gone to the cotton fields. Well, that ought not to worry anybody except those who are sick weakly and in any way incapacitated for work. We are old-fashioned enough to believe that it does not do great injury to a strong, able-bodied man or woman to do a little work. Shades of suffering Job! it makes us tired to hear a strong, healthy woman whose husband owes for groceries consumed and clothes worn, whining because cooks are scarce. You hear lots of racket about the servant problem by folks who are not able to keep servants. The wife of poor man who is straining every nerve to make buckle and tongue met, who leaves her kitchen in the hand of some slovenly cook in order that she may gad about or spend her time in idleness may make an angel in the hereafter, but she is a poor excuse here. We wish that some of these women who are able to do their own work and are not able to keep servants and are complaining about the servant problem could follow for a week many a good woman who is doing her house work, making the clothes for half a dozen children doing her own washing and ironing and making a hand in the cotton fields part of the time. A lot of this cheap talk about the servant problem is boob.

On account of the illness of his son, John Aycock, who is suffering an attack of typhoid fever, the Governor has cancelled the appointments heretofore made for speakings outside the State and will therefore deliver one or more speeches in North Carolina before the election.

The county board of education has decided that the public schools of the county must open between the second Monday of November and the first of December.

Neighborhood News.

Mrs. Hill College has many friends in this section who will be glad to hear that work is well under way upon the walls of the new building which has been so sorely needed. This building was designed by E. T. Daniels, of Weldon, and is to be of brick. It will have a seating capacity sufficient to accommodate about 600 people on public occasions. Six rooms will open from the main hall. These will give suitable quarters for the Business Department; a studio specially lighted for the Art Department; two rooms for music practice; while a recitation room and the main office will open from the same hall. This is the third building used for recitation purposes, and is made necessary by the rapid growth of the school under the management of Mr. R. L. Moore, who is prominent among the educators of Western North Carolina. This school is one in which Rev. J. E. Smith was greatly interested. Several young ladies from Concord—Misses Florence Ritchie, Laura Godwin and Ida Junker—are attending school there this season, and we are informed that they are making a good record.

The rendition of the comic operas, Dolly Varden, at the opera house last Saturday night was a great success. It was perhaps the cleverest performance of the kind which Concord theater-goers have had an opportunity to see. The performance was clean, the leading parts all well sustained, the voices good, and on the whole the opera was delightfully rendered. The proceeds were $259.00.

A small white boy snatched by a warehouse of the Newton Cotton Mills Sunday afternoon, about 1:30 o'clock, idly applied a match to an exposed bale of cotton and, in less than an hour, about $10,000 damage had resulted. The warehouse contained some 500 bales and a large proportion of it was destroyed, or badly damaged.

Neighborhood News.

Mt. Pleasant.

The great day is now recorded as a bit of interesting history for this town, and 'tis but just that we say the people here appreciate the many nice things which have been said about their efforts to make the day a success, both socially and politically. And, also, the substantial aid but by others is duly acknowledged and appreciated. We will look forward to more of these days. They are worth the price.

We regret that the two beautiful floats, which were seen in the parade here last Tuesday, had been dismantled before news was received of the big rally in Concord, November 5th. They may, perhaps, be reproduced and take part in the parade. However, that may be, Mt. Pleasant will be represented in a body.

The band went to Locust Level Saturday and furnished music for the Democratic rally at that place. A splendid representation of Stanly Democracy was on hand and listened to two gems of oratory—one by Hon. Locke Craig, of Asheville, and the other by Hon. T. C. Bowie, elector in this district.

Mrs. D. D. Barrier entertained Friday evening. Refreshments were served and all voted it a splendid evening.

A moonlight picnic to Boat's Mill Friday night was another of the social features last week.

We are expecting to furnish a long list of visitors to the Mecklenburg fair this week.

Miss Ella Moore is spending the week with her cousin, Miss Mary Moody, of Charlotte.

Misses Lottie Bostian and Ada Stewart, of China Grove, are visiting at the Seminary.

Messrs. Sifford & Barringer have opened up a first class restaurant for the winter.

Messrs. P. M. Nussman and Will Busby, of Spencer, were callers here Sunday.

Miss Belle Torrence is spending the week with her parents in Charlotte.

Mr. Jas. F. Harrell went to Wadesboro Saturday for a week's stay.

Messrs. Earnest Foil and Emmet Thompson, of Salisbury, were in town Sunday.

Mr. L. A. Lipe has returned from St. Louis with a lot of fine horses.
