THE LEGISLATURE.

Raleigh, Jan. 16.—The Senate today passed the House bill for the incorporation of the Durham and South Carolina Railroad company with authority to build a road from Durham to some point on the South Carolina line.

In the House Murphy, of Rowan, introduced a bill to re-enact chapter 29 of the laws of 1899, relative to divorce.

Warren, of Jones, to make the salaries of the Supreme and Superior court judges $3,000. The Scales bill, pending in the Senate, makes the salaries $4,000.

Alexander, of Mecklenburg, to amend Section 3854 to further define vagrancy.

Graham, of Lincoln, to promote poultry interests and aid the North Carolina Poultry Association.

Both branches were in session about an hour.

Raleigh, Jan. 17.—In the Senate bills were introduced to establish an immigration bureau; amending the divorce laws; aiding Confederate soldiers and sailors; for the better government of the Deaf, Dumb and Blind Institutions; to protect water sheds; protecting human life by requiring fire escapes on public buildings. Bills passed incorporating the Winston-Salem South-bound Railroad; protecting the growers of ginseng.

In the House, bills were introduced compelling Indians in Swain county to attend school; preventing the dealing in futures. Bills passed final reading incorporating the Durham & South-bound Railroad Company; conferring on magistrates jurisdiction for the offense of boating trains. There was also a long discussion of the bill regulating the sale of meal in packages and fixing the standard at 48 pounds. The bill was referred to the committee on judiciary to inquire into its constitutionality. Its opponents claim it to be in restraint of trade.

It was notable yesterday's session of the Legislature that only one bill each passed the House and Senate. This fact is indicative of strong and effective committee work. It was expected by many that the session would be long and laborious, but the Senate was in session less than twenty-five minutes, and very few new matters were introduced, those of most importance being the petition of the Western North Carolina conference in regard to the divorce bill, and the other being the bill of Mr. Stringfield ordering that a head stone be placed at the head of the grave of every deceased Confederate soldier in North Carolina.

It is also evident from the number of liquor bills already introduced, that this General Assembly will break records in whiskey legislation, and at present there seems to be no sign that the demand for new rum laws will soon cease.

The bill before the Legislature, providing for the Soldiers' Home, carries $18,000 annually for maintenance this year and next year, $3,000 for building improvements this year and $2,000 for next year. This will enable the home to provide for 150 veterans.

Cutting Wood.
Mooreville Enterprise.
Farmers who sold their cotton a year ago for 12, 14 and 16 cents a pound failed, and some refused, to cut wood sufficient for the demand throughout this section, but it is said by a man who is well posted, the same fellows have cotton now at 7 cents and are paying enormous prices for wood. The axe can be heard in all quarters just now, there being more profit in wood than in cotton.

Chamberlain's Cough Remedy Absolutely Harmless.

Marsh and D. D. Johnson.

Buzzard Picks Wool From Live Sheep Guatham Record.
Some days ago Mr. S. T. Womble, of this township, saw some buzzards perched on one of his sheep, which was lying down, and pulling wool out of it. He of course thought it was dead, but when he went to the sheep it got up and walked off very much alive.

What makes a book a phenomenal success? Much bad, much bad, and much bad.

A CHINESE PRINT SHOP.

John Lake in Charlotte Observer.

We are told that the men in the Celestial Empire were the first to hit upon the mariners' compass, the game of chess, the manufacture of paper, and the art of printing by means of movable types. If they were the first to invent the art of printing, the mystery is, why they didn't go a little further back with their inventive genius and invent a decent language in which to use the "art preservative." This is a veritable Chinese puzzle, and next to the language itself, the "Chineseness" puzzle is a Chinese font of type.

Your correspondent has just been examining with wonder and awe and amazement and amusement one of the five fonts of Chinese type of the China Baptist Publication Society here at Canton. Think of it! One font has 12,000 boxes, and over 200,000 pieces of type! As these people have no alphabet, every word is a separate character, and the dictionaries give more than 40,000 different words. Of course many of these words are rarely used, so this publication society, the magnitude of which the most interested friends in America never dreamed, keeps blank types on hand, and keeps a man on hand to engrave new pieces, rare words, as they are needed. We stood dumbfounded when Rev. R. E. Chambers, of Virginia, the general manager of the establishment, asked us to call out any word, and when instantly a compositor wearing a pigtail stepped across the compartment and picked up the proper type and handed it to us. Again and again the test was tried, and again and again the almond-eyed Celestial produced the proper hieroglyph almost before you could wink. These Chinese are a wonderful people, and for obvious reasons, their memories are abnormally developed, and their language is "fearfully and wonderfully made." Once considered "an invention of the devil to keep the Gospel out of China," it is now the vehicle through which it is being carried to myriads, and over 200,000 volumes were issued from these presses during last year.

CANTON, China, November 24.
An Uninformed Chicago Man Starts a Fight When He Overhears a Bible Lesson.
CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—"It happened this way," said James Carter to Justice Caverly. "I was reading the Bible to my little son Jimmy about Cain and Abel. 'Cain killed his brother and Cain was a murderer,' I said. Just then Mike Kane here rushed in the door and yelled 'Who is murderer?' I wasn't thinking of him and said, 'Cain is a murderer.'
"With that he knocked me across the room and then jumped on me and choked me until I was nearly dead. 'Take it back,' he said. 'Take what back?' I asked. 'That I am a murderer and killed my brother,' he said. 'I take it back,' I said. 'I meant the Cain in the Bible. You're a liar,' he said. 'The Kanes in the Bible are all right, aren't they?' Then he choked me some more. 'Yes,' I said, 'they're all right.'
"Ten dollars for you, Mike Kane," said the Judge. "The Kanes in the Bible are not all right. Go and read it."

Diamond Ring on Cat's Tail Sends Boy to Prison.
DETROIT, Jan. 17.—William Henderson, of Galesburg, nephew of William Ward, also of that town, was two years ago sent to the reform school for boys at Lansing on conviction of stealing a $1,000 diamond ring from his uncle.

In the Ward family is a cat, not yet three years old, which has been exhibited as a curiosity because of the formation of its tail, which was contracted in the middle and bulged out like the links of a sausage in the upper and lower portions. Recently a visitor in playing with the feline pet discovered something hard in the tail. The cat was chloroformed yesterday, the tail cut off in the middle and the ring Henderson was accused of stealing was found. Steps are being taken to return the boy's release.
It is thought that the Ward baby got hold of the ring two years ago, crowded it over the cat's tail in play, and it has remained concealed all these months, while the growth of the animal from kitten to cat resulted in the malformation.
Hickory county, Mo., has hitched the world along another step. They pay taxes by telephone down there. Farmer calls up collector, learns the amount of his tax bill and deposits the money with the operator, who, having listened to the conversation is qualified to issue a receipt. Farmer saves time and travel expense; county gets its money in a hurry.

MILLIONAIRE MARRIED MILL GIRL.

Atlanta Journal.

Pretty romances about mill girls marrying millionaires, such as you read about in summer novels, do not occur so often in everyday life as to lose their novelty. Here is one.

It is the story of how Ada Brierly, skirt maker, was made the mistress of a New York mansion. A few weeks ago she toiled ten hours a day for $7 a week. Now she is Mrs. Francis Talcott, next door neighbor to the Vanderbilts and the Whitneys.

The man she married is a mighty good young American.

Frank Talcott's father is a multi-millionaire who made his money by manufacturing hosiery and knit goods. He has several large mills at New Britain, Conn. Frank decided to learn the business and after graduating at college began at the bottom as a mill hand. That was two years ago.
Ada Brierly was the daughter of one of the foremen in the Talcott factory. She worked in a shirt factory. Her father is a fine type of the American skilled workman and it goes without saying that she is pretty, sensible and winsome.

It was noted that Frank Talcott cared nothing for society. He had fallen in love with Brierly's daughter. So one day recently the couple went quietly to the study of the Congregational minister and were married.

What would Frank Talcott say? This is what he said when he heard of his son's marriage: "If my son's wife worked in the mill I would think none the less of her. I know I was glad to work when I was young."
Sensible, sane old pater familias!
There's no danger of the dry rot of American aristocracy—of ingrown snobbery—while your like lives.

The mother and the girls, it is understood, do not reconcile themselves so easily. Talcott's daughters had elaborate weddings and married in swiftness.
Frank Talcott and his wife don't care. They are happy. And the story itself needs no stage setting.

Church-going Dog is Dead.

WINSTED, Conn., Jan. 17.—"Gip," Williams, a church-going dog, died in Nontville, a Berkshire village, yesterday and his funeral was held to-day. Many children followed the dog to its burial place.

Gip, who was owned by a family named Williams, for years had attended prayer meetings and all the entertainments in the village church.

After the family had gone to prayer meeting last week Charles Richardson, who lives with the Williamses, said to the dog: "Gip, you can't go to church to-night." The dog walked into the next room and went through the window, ash and all.

Arriving at the church Gip pushed the swinging door open and took his accustomed seat with the congregation.

Belle of a Ball Charges Beau $20 a Dance.

CHICAGO, Jan. 17.—Miss Italia Blair, belle of last night's charity ball charged admirers $20 a dance and by strict attention to business and many changes of partners succeeded in making $200.
Miss Leona Small, hearing of Miss Blair's scheme, cut the price to $10 and she gathered in $120.
Miss Blair is a daughter of Banker Chauncey J. Blair and is twenty-one years old.

When Mrs. Palmer heard of the precedent she said: "Very clever, indeed." The ball netted $80,000.

The petted young beauty in the carriage looked with dismay at the mud that lay between her and the sidewalk.
"I think it was Sir Walter Raleigh," she said, "that threw his cloak upon the ground on a certain memorable occasion that his queen might not get her shoe muddy."
"You're my queen all right," replied the young man in the case, "but if Sir Walter Raleigh had been a clerk on a salary of $10 a week he would have done exactly what I'm going to do."
Whereupon he carried her to the sidewalk—but did it so nicely that she forgave him.
Brutally Tortured.
A case came to light that for persistent and unmerciful torture has perhaps never been equaled. Joe Goldstick, of Colusa, Calif., writes: "For 15 years I endured insufferable pain from Rheumatism and nothing relieved me though I tried everything known, I came across Electric Bitters and it's the greatest medicine on earth for that trouble. A few bottles of it completely relieved and cured me." Just as good for Liver and Kidney troubles and general debility. Only 50c. Satisfaction guaranteed by all Druggists.
Probably the happy medium is the spiritualistic medium who has a knack of acquiring the circulating medium.

PREACHERS' SONS.

Those who do their own thinking know that a great many of the current sayings handed down from past generations are far from being true. For instance, who has heard that old slander, "Preachers' sons are the worst boys in the world." And lots of thoughtless people believe it to be true. More being expected of them their peccadilloes only seem worse.

The "American Boy" quotes a noted French scientist, who had made a thorough investigation of the subject, as saying that the sons of ministers make up a large proportion of the world's great men. The following are some of the names given:

Agassiz, Hallam, Jonathan Edwards, Whately, Parkham, Bancroft, the Wesleyes, Beecheres and Spurgeons, Cowper, Tennyson, Lowell, Holmes, Emerson, Charles Kingsley, Matthew Arnold, Dean Stanley, Macaulay, Thackeray, Sir Christopher Wren, Sir Joshua Reynolds, Swift, Sterne, Hazlitt, Presidents Cleveland and Arthur, Peter Stuyvesant, Adoniram Judson, Timothy Dwight, Henry Clay, Fritz Green Halleck, Morse, the inventor; Justices Field and Brewer and Senator Doliver.

Trying to Beat a Hide for His Boy.

Stateville Landmark.

"I've been up against a good many skin games in my time," said Capt. W. T. Rowland, of the A. T. and O. vestibule, while going south Friday morning, "but I've just struck one that is a little strong." Being asked to explain the captain proceeded to tell that while passing through the second-class car he noticed that a man who occupied the end of the seat next the aisle had his overcoat carefully arranged on the end of the seat next the window.

Every time the conductor passed the passenger was carefully adjusting the overcoat, and Capt. Rowland's suspicions were aroused. Thereupon he dropped into the seat back of the suspect and made it convenient to shove the overcoat off the seat. Lo and behold! the uncovering revealed a boy who must have been 10 or 12 years old. "Half-face for the boy, please," said Capt. Rowland. "It's a dirty trick for a conductor to move a passenger's overcoat, isn't it?" continued the conductor pleasantly. The passenger smiled in an absurd and embarrassing way while he handed out the cash for the boy's fare and tried to explain that the boy was timid and afraid and that is why he covered him up, while the other passengers laughed outright at the exposure.

But some people think it's all right to beat a railroad, and this passenger was not only doing it but training his boy up in deceit.

Stomach Troubles and Constipation.

"Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets are the best thing for stomach troubles and constipation I have ever sold," says J. B. Cullman, a druggist of Pottsville, Mich. "They are easy to take and always give satisfaction. I tell my customers to try them and if not satisfactory to come back and get their money, but have never had a complaint." Nor sale by M. L. Marsh and D. D. Johnson.

A Well known Cotton Buyer said today that cotton would sell for five cents before it sells for eight cents, and it looks as though he is correct.
