Deaths of Prisoners on the Chaingang
Charlotte Observer.
The reporter found Policeman Summerrow and Deputy Sheriff Johnston engaged in earnest conversation on the square this morning, and thinking a sensation might be brewing, strolled up to the officers in time to hear the policeman say:

"If this thing keeps on, they will have to consolidate the two squads of the chaingang."
"If what keeps on?" queried the reporter.
"Oh, I mean if the courts don't get in the habit of sending more people to the gang, there won't be any gang after awhile."
"That's a fact," quoth the deputy sheriff. "Why, we used to have as many as 100 prisoners in each squad, but now there are not more than 75 in both squads. If business don't pick up, the commissioners will have to consolidate the squads."

It appears that many people whom the officers thing should be serving sentences on the roads have escaped punishment and also that many of the old chaingang crowd that formerly hung around Charlotte have migrated. Some of them have gone to Salisbury and other places where no embargo is placed on the privileges of the thirty.

After Society Gamblers.
REIDSVILLE, Feb. 28.—As a result of the charge of Judge Cook to the grand jury yesterday, in which gambling in high and low places were touched upon, Messrs. R. L. Watt, Russell Tucker, C. A. Penn, Fred Ford and several other of the most prominent society gentlemen of the place, have been summoned before the grand jury to-morrow to testify, it is supposed, about the numerous card parties and other parties in which prizes have been given. Among the Reidsville men serving on the grand jury are Messrs. E. M. Redd, foreman; Josef Lindsey and S. H. Bushnell. It is said that if there are indictments drawn against every one guilty under the law as laid down by this judge yesterday, most of the women and children, as well as the men will be summoned to court. The church choir and societies have been giving contests in Reidsville at which prizes were offered, and it is a rare thing that prizes are not awarded at the social functions in the town.

THE LEGISLATURE.

RALEIGH, Feb. 27.—Bills were introduced in the House to give pensions to all ex-Confederates worth less than $500; to amend the Iredell school law; to prevent vicious dogs from going at large.

Representatives from Wake made statements relating to charges of having sneaked through the Legislature a road law for Wake containing a section affecting profits of the dispensary. They denied this.

A favorable report was made in the House on the bill for a State Immigration Department. All bills requiring inspection of illuminating oils were unfavorably reported.

Governor Glenn sent in a message urging a State bureau of immigration; a strong law against vagrancy; for lessening a number of jury challenges; for the repeal of all divorce laws since 1888; to increase Confederate pensions to $300,000; to erect a monument to Ransom; to erect a Hall of Records and to create the office of State purchasing agent.

The House took up as a special order the bill to repeal the anti-jug law, except as to Cleveland, Cabarrus, Gaston and Mitchell. A number of amendments were offered. It was stated that the general anti-jug law bill had come over from the House and the motion was made that these be first taken up. This was not done. The amendment was adopted that the bill should not effect pending suits. The bill then passed after an effort to add Caldwell's Yancey, Rutherford and Madison had failed. The anti-jug bill was then taken up, many counties being excepted. A motion to strike out all these exceptions was lost and bills passed. Rowan (except Spencer and East Spencer), Stanly, Davie, Alexander, are among the excepted counties.

The bills passed to prohibit shipping of liquor into prohibition territory under fictitious names.

RALEIGH, Feb. 28.—In the Senate a resolution was introduced urging Congress to promote the project of an inland waterway in North Carolina and to renovate the Senate chamber and House of Representatives. Bills were introduced to regulate the employment of telegraphers and railway telegraph operators; to promote immigration; to regulate boards of education in Mecklenburg and certain other counties; to submit to voters of Asheville the question of establishing a dispensary.

Bills passed to amend the charter of Salisbury; to authorize county boards of pensions to place on the pension rolls any meritorious case, even where the person may have property worth $500.

Bills were introduced in the House to amend the road law of Mecklenburg and allow Arthur Butt to exhibit panoramas free of license tax; to amend the creek law for Iredell; to amend the law regarding analysis of fertilizers.

The Ward liquor regulation bill, which had passed the Senate, prohibiting distilleries in towns of less than 1,000 population, came up as the special order. Mr. McNeill warned all the friends of the bill against voting for any amendment, or for a motion to table any amendment, as such course might kill the bill. Mr. Turner offered a substitute making it unlawful to sell or manufacture liquor in North Carolina, subject to the vote of the people of each county at the general election.

Mr. Murphy, of Rowan, offered an amendment prohibiting the sale as well as the manufacture of liquor in towns of less than 1,000. Mr. Mitchell, of Bertie, spoke of the powerful lobby the distillers had here and the literature they were circulating, and said the other side had no such lobby. He said those who had rallied around the flag of Williams and Shore had tried to designate Chairman F. M. Simmons, the head of the Democratic party, in resentment of his efforts to protect the Church and School. Mr. Graham, of Granville, attacked the Ward bill, declaring that it contained no tinge of temperance or morality, but that while it meant good to the temperance cause it meant great evil the Democratic party.

SAM JONES' LETTER.

Atlanta Journal.
We have been very much hindered and worried with freezes, but now we have struck the thawing process, and I believe all in all, it is worse than the freezes on man and beast. I have heard of houses being untenable and roads being impassable, etc., but the fellow who starts somewhere now on Georgia dirt roads will find things in shape to suit the queen's taste in the way of mud and slush and slow travel and if he has much load, no travel, at all. It is now about thawed to the bottom of the freeze, and everywhere you touch it, it is soft, very soft. Wood and coal and such like is mighty hard to get. The laboring people have been knocked out of work so long that they have but little to cook, and mighty little wood and coal to cook it with. But as the good old woman said: "It might have been worse." If ever there was a time when the South ought to raise the good road question and pass resolutions unanimously on that subject, it is just about now. I wish that the cotton convention assembled in Atlanta this week had adopted some resolutions to that effect they would not only have the acreage out in cotton, but the roads to town improved. Good roads help the rural districts and enhance values as much as railroads do for the cities and towns. Cities and towns reach each other over the railroads and the wagon roads.

It is just about as uncomfortable to ride in an old wagon over an old mud road as it is to ride over a rickety, dangerous railroad on a slow uncertain train. North Georgia will never the limit of her values and her prosperity until every road is macadamized and all her highways are fixed for travel. It looks now like the farmers are going to cut guano and the acreage about 25 per cent. It may not be all their fault, but I doubt if they can put in more than about 75 per cent. of the acreage that they had in last year.

I was impressed with the number of politicians that met with the cotton convention in Atlanta this week. Politicians will meet with any crowd and with all crowds that can vote.

I guess we will have two farmer candidates for governor, maybe three, next pop. I would love to see every county in Georgia put out a good candidate for governor. The more the merrier. There won't but one fellow get it, and I doubt if he is a farmer. But our present governor has demonstrated that a farmer can fill the office. Most any old thing ought to fill the bill from now on. In fact, from the list of candidates, as large as it will be, we can surely pick a good man and a winner.

I see it announced that the North Georgia Holiness Association convenes in Atlanta March 8th, and the services are to be held at Walker street church, Dr. Broughton's tabernacle and Wesleyan church, three or four times a day for nine days. Atlanta ought to welcome these people and attend these services. They will hear good preaching and get to mingle with some mighty good folks. I never hear the holiness movement spoken of but I think of the incident where it was said four ministers sat on the train and were discussing holiness and criticizing unkindly holiness people, and the so called infidel rose on the crowd and said: "Gentlemen, I am not a Christian, and I am not a believer in the Bible, but I have read it carefully, and if the book you call the Bible is true, then criticize holiness people as you may, yet the fact remains, it is holiness or hell with the last man of you."

The doctrine of sanctification is as clearly taught in the Word of God as the doctrine of justification.

We all feel better since the sunshine has come again. That is one blessed contemplation; no matter how long the clouds or rain may last, we know that the sun will come and shine again.

Yours truly,
SAM P. JONES.

FINDING HOMES FOR CHILDREN.

The Work of the North Carolina Children's Home Society.
Charlotte Observer.
A year ago this month the North Carolina Children's Home Society, of which Col. W. H. Osborn, of Greensboro, is president, was introduced to the people of Charlotte, and their subscriptions for the support of the work of the society has been the means of rescuing over 50 needy and neglected children and providing for their loving care in Christian families. Many of these children are well known to the people of the State, and each has an excellent home in a good family, supplied with every comfort, a mother's protecting care and counsel, and access to every advantage necessary to the development of their talents.

The society began work in September, 1903, received the first child October 12th, 1903, and has received and provided for 73 children to date, the last ones being those left homeless by the burning of the Belle Green Orphanage, at Montreat, some time ago. Seventy of the children are still wards of the society and under supervision. The society receives any normal white child under 15 years of age, and provides for it a home in a Christian family. It denies help to no needy white child, but can accept guardianship of those that are normal only; and does not wish to receive and child that can be cared for in an orphanage.

The support of the society is entirely those voluntary contributions of those who wish to help save needy children. A generous subscription was made by the citizens of the State last year, and the society both gratefully acknowledges this and solicits a continuance of support.

Bricklayers' Pay is still A Day.
New York World.
Over 9,000 bricklayers in this city, in accordance with their agreement with the Mason Builders' Association, will have their wages raised from 65 to 70 cents an hour on Wednesday, the highest wages ever paid to bricklayers in this country.

Under this rate of wages it will be possible for a bricklayer to make $67.20 a week. Eight hours at 70 cents an hour is $5.60, and in the busy season, almost without exception, they work twelve hours a day. For every hour overtime they get double pay, so for the extra four hours they receive as much as for the previous eight, or $11.20 for the day. The men say that this really is not so much because they are only employed six months in the year. Employers say the average is about nine months.

For an Impaired Appetite.
Loss of appetite always results from faulty digestion. All that is needed is a few doses of Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets. They will invigorate the stomach, strengthen the digestion and give you an appetite like a wolf. These Tablets also act as a gentle laxative. For sale by M. L. Marsh and D. D. Johnson.

THE BEAUTY CHASE.

Minneapolis Tribune.
Here are some of the things that society women really do or have done in the mad chase for beauty:
They take milk baths.
They bathe their faces daily in real sweet cream.
They have their entire faces skinned, so that a new skin may grow over this old surface.
They have their noses shaped.
They shave their eyebrows into a perfect arch.
They have their lips shaped into a cupid's bow.
They have all nature's fine hairs removed from the skin by electrolysis.
They have real dimples cut in their cheeks and chins.
They have good strong crooked teeth removed and artificial straight ones screwed on the stumps.

They go into complete retirement for six months at a time, are "done over," and emerge perfect beauties.
They have artificial figures built in their frocks and artificial insteps made in their slippers.
But it is not all wasted time. Never has the world been so crowded with beautiful women! Never have there been so many unbeautiful women who have produced the illusion of beauty.
