Boulder is one of the most delightful of than five thousand feet, and the rarest and most health-giving atmosphere. I have made six visits to the Colorado-Texas chautauque, which is beautifully ocated one mile above Boulder, on a slope of the foot hill of the Rockies This chautauqua was inaugurated ten years ago by the Texas-Colorado people and has grown in crowds and strength each successive year. It is here one

I heard Mr. Bryan there last Satur day afternoon in his lecture on "The Prince of Pesce." It was a fine lecture, full of sense and sentiment. He speaks to the thousands with ease and fluency and holds the attention of all. It was

The Only Thing They Use.

Virginia, as everybody knows, is a state of wonderful and diversified agriculit where the farms appear to be composed chiefly of rock, and the thin top dressing of soil requires frequent treat ment with fertilizers in order to pro duce any kind of crop.

. As the result of a trade, a man from Ohio came into possession of a store in a small town in one of the rockiest of these sections. His first proceeding was was to take an inventory of the stock on hand. Much to his surprise, he found there was not a plow in the store. He immediately dispatched an order for a dozen plows to the nearest wholesale supply house, fifty or a hundred miles
