HELPER AND HIS BOOK.

Baltimore Sun.

Chapter 7 of the Act of 1860, section 6, the police law for Baltimore city, contained this proviso: "Provided that no Black Republican or indorser or approver of the Helper Book shall be appointed to any office under said board." The author of the Helper Book, to which reference was here made, was Hinton Rowan Helper, who at the age of 80 years, reduced to the penury and went and without friends, took his own life in an obscure room in Washington last Tuesday. In Scharf's History of Maryland we find the following mention of Helper:

"Early in 1859 a man destitute of principle, driven from a State of which he claimed to be a native on account of his bad conduct, published a book, which bore his name, at the instance of the publishing committee of the Republican party, to be used as a campaign document, entitled 'The Impending Crisis of the South.' By Hinton Rowan Helper, of North Carolina."

Some few extracts from this book will indicate its nature and purpose. "Our own banner is inscribed: No co-operation with them in religion; no affiliation with them in society; no recognition of pro-slavery men except as ruffians, outlaws and criminals."

"It is our honest conviction that all the proslavery slaveholders deserve at once to be reduced to a parallel with the basest criminals that lie fettered within the cells of our public prisons. 'Slaveholders are more criminal than common murderers.'"

"Our plan is to make war openly or secretly upon the property of slaveholders and their abettors; not for its destruction, if that can be avoided, but to convert it to the use of the slaves. If it cannot be thus converted we advise its destruction. Teach the slaves to burn their masters' buildings, to kill their cattle and hogs, etc."

It was suggested to negroes to cut their masters' throats.

The publication of this book assumed a serious aspect, as inciting a servile insurrection, when its teachings and purposes were publicly approved by William H. Seward, John Sherman and by, we believe, every Republican member of Congress.

The indignation of the people of the South can scarcely be understood by men of this generation to whom the unutterable horrors of a servile insurrection have never suggested themselves as possible.

School Tax Election in Salisbury.

The Salisbury board of aldermen has called a special election for that city to be held May 4th for the purpose of voting on a proposed special school tax of 30 cents on the $100 worth of property and 90 cents on each poll. The Salisbury school board has been considerably embarrassed this year for a want of available funds for school purposes the deficit being caused by a big decrease in revenue on January 1st. It is believed the special school tax will be authorized.

HOW TO KEEP WELL.

Some Simple Rules Which Every One Can and Should Follow.

New Jersey Board of Health Report.

Air.—Fresh air and sunshine are necessary to good health.

Cold or damp fresh air does no harm if the skin is kept warm.

Night air is as good as day air. Breathe only through your nose.

Avoid hot, crowded, dusty, dark or damp rooms.

Food.—Live on plain food and eat regularly.

Eat slowly, chew thoroughly, and avoid fried food.

Drink water freely, (not iced.)

Exercise and Rest.—Regular exercise is essential to good health.

Go to bed early and sleep with the windows open.

Clothing.—Wear only loose clothes.

Wear no more clothing than you need to keep warm.

Never sit with wet feet or damp clothing.

Cleanliness.—Consumption and other diseases are spread by careless spitting.

Spittle on the floors of rooms, halls, stores and cars will certainly be breathed in the form of dust.

Keep clean—wipe and dry the body quickly every day.

Keep your finger nails clean, and wash your face and hands before you eat.

Clean your teeth after each meal and before going to bed.

Never hold money, pencils, pins, or other things in your mouth.

Never lick your fingers while turning the pages of a book or counting money.

A Lesson on Holding Cotton.

Real Estate Record.

A certain Cabarrus county farmer this week brought in his crop of cotton held from the season of 1907, consisting of fourteen bales. On Jan. 21, 1908, he was offered twelve and three-quarter cents per pound, but refused to sell, being advised to hold for an advance in the market.

After holding his cotton for over a year he marketed this week, at nine and one-half cents, sustaining a loss of seventeen and one-half dollars per bale, or a total loss of two hundred and forty-five dollars.

We doubt very much whether this particular individual can be induced to hold cotton in years to come, and there are many instances where such losses have occurred through the endeavor to force up the price of the staple.

It would mean much more for the cotton belt section, to have marketed at one the entire crop when the money could be put into circulation, and debts paid, making it far more easy for all concerned. Yet we see farmers willing to tie up their season's work, allowing their bills to remain unpaid, embarrassing those who have extended to them favors, keeping the money out of circulation, and perhaps selling at a loss at some future date.

The fresh consider themselves the salt of the earth.

HOUSE FLY A PEST.

Prof. Beyer Tells of Insect's Relation to Disease.

New Orleans Times-Democrat.

The common house fly hardly can be denounced enough, said Prof. George E. Beyer, who delivered the second of three consecutive lectures on insects and their relation to disease at the Hutchison Memorial, in Canal street.

The house fly carries all manner of disease in several ways, he says, and blames only the negligence of the general public for its prevalence.

The covering of horse manure so that it would be inaccessible to flies would almost completely exterminate the pest, or at least greatly reduce its numbers, he says, as only in that substance can the larvae of the common house fly live.

An interesting portion of the lecture was the professor's explanation of the method in which the mosquito transmits malarial diseases, including fever. The malarial germ reaches maturity in the stomach of the mosquito, he says, then makes its way into the salivary glands of the animal. When a mosquito bites a human being its mouth is inserted into the opening of a pore sweat gland in the skin, where the mouth punctures a tiny capillary blood vessel.

The salivary fluid is injected into the vein, then the mosquito extracts the mixed blood and salivary fluid into its body. Some of the salivary fluid is left behind, including often a number of the disease germs.

The several other varieties of flies and mosquitoes were described in detail, the difference between the varieties being explained.

The common house fly, said the lecturer, lays between 120 and 200 eggs, which hatch in from 6 to 8 hours. About ten days is required from the hatching of the eggs to the time the fly reaches maturity. The ordinary house fly cannot bite hard, he said, and when people complain of being bitten severely by the house fly they have been bitten by the stable fly, which resembles the house fly very closely.

The bedbug, said the professor, is a remarkable insect, marvelously well adapted to its mode of life. "Of other insects," said he, "it may be said they have a certain geographical range, but wherever man has wandered in his mundane peregrinations the bedbug has faithfully followed. It early discarded its wings and flattened its body so as to be able to retreat into the smallest crevice when pursued by its maddened victim. Both the male and female can live for months without food."

The assassin bug, slowly making their way from Mexico eastward and already well known as far east as San Antonio, Texas, were described, as was also the chigger.

There are 300,000 kinds of insects, already described and classified, said the lecturer, and nearly every kind as a different shaped or mottled wing. The mechanics of flight are simple, he said, the wings merely beating directly up and down. The flexible posterior part of the wing bends from the resistance of the air, creating resistance from behind, and thus propelling the insect forward.

The number of variations depends on the size of the wings, he said, the butterfly making nine beats to the second, the bee 200 and the common fly 320. The largest insect known is fifteen centimeters long, considerably larger than the smallest insects are smaller than the smallest other known kind of animal life excepting bacteria.

Raleigh News and Observer is Giving Away $10,000.

One of the most interesting things that has come to our notice for some time is the Raleigh News and Observer's great $10,000 voting contest. This contest opened February 8, and will close April 25.

For the purpose of increasing its circulation the News and Observer is going to give away $10,000 in prizes. It has provided what it calls three grand prizes, a $2,000 White Steamer touring car, an $850 Ford touring car and a Henry F. Miller $750 Grand piano. But in addition to these three the "Old Reliable" is going to give away forty-one other prizes. It has divided North Carolina into eight districts, and five prizes must go into each district. The first prize in this district is a $400 upright piano; the second, a $200 diamond ring; the third, a bank deposit of $100; the fourth, a $100 buggy, and the fifth, a $50 Turkish rocker. All of these prizes are to be won in this district, but in addition every contestant has a chance at the three Grand prizes, as fully explained in the News and Observer.

Votes are being secured in two ways: by clipping the daily ballots in each issue of the News and Observer and by securing subscriptions, either old or new, to the paper. Votes are being issued on all paid in advance subscriptions. There isn't any reason why two or three, at least, of those prizes shouldn't be won right here by some of our popular and energetic people.

As Advertised.

I purchased a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and found it to be all claimed for it in the advertisements. Three of the family have used it with good results in summer complaints.—H. E. Hows, publisher of the Press, Highland, Wis. For sale by All Druggists.

It is easier to hit a lion than a hare.

PARAGRAPHS.

Collector Crum, of Charleston, S. C., after a diligent study of the writing on the wall, has concluded to quit.

In New York City, they are urging babies as collateral for another argument against race suicide.

"A Texas legislator complains that he was improperly approached," says the Mobile Register. As we understand the situation in Grand Old Texas, nothing so fills a legislator with woe as to be improperly approached.

A man who gets to be a President's private secretary may be regarded as having a good position for life.

We'll all be very likely to remember the lads of March, 1909.

The "Monday message" habit has been abandoned to the great relief of Congress.

King Alfonso is talking of going up in an aeroplane, and King Manuel of Portugal is thinking of getting married. What brave Kings these be.

Sometimes a state is better off without any United States Senators. If you don't believe it ask Delaware.

King Alfonso is trying to raise a mustache, and the old joke about hair apparent must be dusted off.

The motto of the England militant suffragettes appears to be: "Give us notoriety, or give us jail."

Absence in Africa will make the heart grow fonder.

Before a great while now there will not be anything to get excited about except baseball.

The new administration is already playing in great luck with the people who eat eggs. The price has dropped greatly during the past few days.

It is conservatively estimated that 845,978,246 snapshot pictures were made in Washington during the inauguration.

Children Clean Charlotte Streets.

Over two thousand school children, white and colored, worked like Trojans in Charlotte last Friday scraping the town as with a fine tooth comb to gather up every stray bit of trash, broken glass, pottery and bricks that could be found high and low, in a contest for prizes offered by the Woman's Club to the child raising the largest pile of trash.

As a result many of the streets of the town present the appearance of barricades, with trash piled waist and head high along the gutters, waiting for the city wagon to convey the rubbish to the crematory.

The chief of the sanitary department states that it may require a week for his department, working with the street force also, to get rid of the accumulated piles. Nothing like it has ever been witnessed in Charlotte before and the municipal authorities admit that they are unable to cope with the situation except by gradually disposing of the tons of garbage brought together by the industrious lads.

The public schools gave holiday for the contest, and the streets in some of the negro settlements are almost blocked in places where the colored children have moved thousands of tin cans, rocks, bricks, etc., to the streets.

WOMEN'S BEAUTY.

It Can Never Be Perfect Without Luxuriant Hair.

A head of luxuriant hair is sure to be attractive. But nature has not crowned every woman with glorious hair. Some very lovely women she has treated rather scantily in this respect.

For instance, there are tens of thousands of women in America to-day, who have harsh, faded and lustreless hair, who are unattractive simply because they do not know that nowadays even the whims of nature can be overruled by the genius of science.

If you are a woman without beautiful hair, do not permit your attractions to be hidden because of this slight misfortune.

Go to-day to Gibson Drug Store and buy a large bottle of Parisian Sage for 50 cents, use it each night, and you will notice the harsh, repulsive hair disappear, and in its place will come soft, silky, bright and luxuriant hair.

Parisian Sage is guaranteed to cure dandruff, itching of the scalp, and stop falling hair in two weeks, or money back.

That Chicken Law in Rowan.

Salisbury Post.

Many inquiries have been made of The Post as to the provisions of the law enacted by the legislature with reference to depredations by domestic fowls in Rowan county. For the information of the public it may be stated that the law provides that when the fowls of one person depredate upon the premises of another, the latter shall give notice to the owner of such fowls. If after this notice the depredations continue the injured party may kill the depredating fowls. For the third offense the owner of the fowls becomes guilty of a misdemeanor.

GENERAL NEWS.

President Taft said Friday that this would be an optimistic administration, to an optimistic country, full of hope, cheerfulness and confidence.

Dr. Theodore Ledyard Cuyler, one of the Protestant pastors and most popular religious writers of the time, died on February 26th, at his home in Brooklyn, N. Y.

It is announced that Congressman Richmond Pearson Hobson will have a fight for re-nomination to Congress from the sixth Alabama district next year and that he will probably be defeated.

Arrangements have been completed to raise the first torpedo boat of the Confederacy from the bottom of Lake Pontchartrain. The boat is lying near Spanish Fort where it went down years ago. It is proposed to place this vessel on the lawn of the Confederate Soldiers' Home in New Orleans.

Three men whose features appear to have been concealed by their heavy overcoats and slouch hats, were seen in the study of the Rev. Erasmus Hanson, pastor at Newark, N. J., Friday morning and opened fire upon him. Three bullets from their three revolvers hit the priest, killing him instantly.

The oddest story of the killing of a calf comes from Farmer William Reid, in East Bradford township, Chester county, Pa. While his cow lay in her stall at night, a calf, tied in the same stall, clambered over her. The cow rose, lifted the calf on her back, and when morning came there it was, dead, hanging on its mother's back.

Morris Cohen, grocer of Atlanta, tried on a charge of storing and selling intoxicants in violation of the prohibition law, was Friday sentenced in the city court to serve thirty days in the stockade and to pay a fine of $500. Recently a thousand bottles of beer and 100 flasks of whiskey were seized at Cohen's place.

NASAL CATARRH.

Gibson Drug Store Sells the Great Remedy that Cured Mrs. Karberg.

Here is a very simple yet wholly accurate statement of a Michigan woman, who was cured by using Hyomei—the no cure no pay remedy for catarrh, asthma, hay fever, croup, coughs and colds.

"A bad case of catarrh was cured for me by the use of Hyomei. The trouble affected my head, nose and eyes, and was very annoying and disagreeable, and the cure, from the use of Hyomei, was very gratifying. Hyomei has from me a strong recommendation and endorsement."—Mrs. E. Karberg, 218 Kingsley street, Ann Arbor, Mich., Nov. 16, 1908.

Thousands of just such letters are in existence, and thousands more would be but for the desire to avoid publicity.

If you have catarrh, bestir yourself, and drive it out of your system. Kill the germs. You can do that easily if you use Hyomei (pronounced High-o-mey).

It is a dry, antiseptic and very pleasant air, that, when inhaled, quickly relieves all forms of catarrhal inflammation, stops sneezing, hawking and blowing. The price for a complete outfit including inhaler, is only $1.00 at Gibson Drug Store.

Men Deserting Families.

Thousands of men are deserting their wives and children in New York because they cannot find work. Frank G. Warne, University extension worker, told the assembly ways and means committee that there were 200,000 idle men and women in New York City alone today. Seventy per cent. were farm laborers who had drifted in from the country.

Mr. Warne urged the creation of a commission to investigate the unemployed.

It Saved His Leg.

"All thought I'd lose my leg," writes J. A. Swenson, Watertown, Wis. "Ten years of eczema, that 15 doctors could not cure, had at last laid me up. Then Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured it sound and well." Infallible for skin eruptions, eczema, salt rheum, boils, fever sores, burns, scalds, cuts and piles. 25c at All Druggists.

One of the last official acts of George Von L. Meyer as Postmaster General was the issuance of an order directing that all mail matter sent by Frances F. Cleveland, widow of the late President Grover Cleveland, and by Mary Lord Harrison, widow of the late President Benjamin Harrison, under their written autograph signatures, shall hereafter be conveyed free of postage during their natural lives.

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gully down what ever food or medicine you are offered you say 'Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?'

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. He has published a booklet and on each bottle- wrapper, what the ingredients are made of and the results to be expected. This he feels he owes to the public. The ingredients are made of the most reliable and purest materials and are made of the most reliable and purest materials.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weakness, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, back-ache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, sometimes, with a dragging-down pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally as effective in restoring health and vigor to the system of the expectant childbearing woman, and the nursing mother, as in restoring health and vigor to the system of the childbearing woman, and the nursing mother. It is equally as effective in restoring health and vigor to the system of the childbearing woman, and the nursing mother.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which 'Favorite Prescription' is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card, please, for a free booklet of extracts from the leading medical authorities. Dr. R. C. Reese, Investigator, Buffalo, N. Y., will write you by return post.
