COORN.

(By J. P. Campbell.)

The average yield of corn per acre for ten years from 1897 to 1906 was: 13.7 bushels for North Carolina 9.8 bushels for South Carolina 10.56 bushels for Georgia. The average yield for the same period in the following states was: 32.5 bushels for Iowa. 34. bushels for Illinois 34.9 bushels for Ohio

The above figures exist in spite of the fact that the northern climate is not nearly so good for corn as the southern climate. The growing season is shorter and in many instances corn is not fully matured when harvested. It often happens that an entire crop is caught by the frost and greatly damaged. For this reason it is impossible in the northern states to make as much corn per acre as in the South. The largest yields that have ever been grown in the world were made in South Carolina, yet the lowest average yields are in the Cotton Atlantic States largely for the reason that the majority of the farmers have paid little attention to improved seed and the proper methods of handling the soil.

During the season of 1908 the Farmers' Cooperative Demonstration Work proved that the Southern soils can do in growing a good corn crop. The agents of this Work visited the farmers every month and directed their work on one or more acres of corn. In the fall of the year they measured the yields, and a careful record of the cost of production, kept by agent and farmer, showed that 40 to 100 bushels per acre could be produced at a cost of from 7 to 30 cents per bushel. Below we give the names and addresses of several farmers in Georgia, North Carolina and South Carolina, who grew this corn, showing the exact cost of production and value of the corn crop.

We have valued the stover of an acre of land at $10, which is a fair estimate, although many farmers of the south have not yet fallen into the habit of saving all the stover. The Southern farmers must change their farm methods and they are now rapidly abandoning the practice of growing all cotton. They have begun to increase the acreage and yields per acre of other crops. Statistics of the State Department of Agriculture showed that during the season of 1908 the state of North Carolina raised its average yield to 18 bushels per acre. Information from E. J. Watson, Commissioner of Agriculture, shows that the value of the South Carolina corn crop in 1908 over that of 1907 was $3,500,000. In Georgia the increased yields on the Demonstration Farms alone, as shown by Mr. E. Gentry, amounted to $15,000 for 1908 over those of 1907.

Through the agricultural colleges, farmers' institutes, experiment stations, State Department of Agriculture, Farmers' Union, The National Department of Agriculture, and other sources, the farmers of the South are awakening to their conditions and their future possibilities. It is not the object of the Demonstration Work to produce an abnormal yield of corn on a single acre at great expense and possible detriment to the land, but to produce a bountiful crop at a minimum cost and maintain the fertility of the soil.

We give below some results obtained by the Methods of the Farmers' Co-operative Demonstration Work in North Carolina in 1908 by C. K. Hudson, State Agent:

Mr. L. A. Lipe, Mt. Pleasant, N. C., broke his land 10 inches deep and harrowed it three times before planting. This was red clay land on which a crop of wheat grew the year before. He used 130 pounds of 8-3-3 fertilizer without any other manure. For the first two cultivations he used the weeder. For the last two he used the cultivator.

In all the calculations made below labor is figured at $1.00 per day for a man and $1.00 per day for a horse. Stable manure is figured at $2.50 per ton. Land that makes fifty bushels of corn per acre is counted as making $10 worth of stover, or if 100 bushels per acre, $20.00 worth of stover. Rent of land is figured at $5.00 per acre.

Mr. Lipe figures his results as follows:

Cost of labor per acre.....$7.20
Cost of fertilizer per acre.....2.00
Rental value of land per acre.....5.00
Total cost.....$14.20
Value of Stover.....10.00
Net cost.....$4.20
Yield of corn per bushel, 60 bushels.
Cost per bushel......07
Mr. R. F. Lineberger, Mt. Holly, N. C., made seventy-six bushels of corn per acre on a red clay loam soil. In November he broke the soil to a depth of 10 to 12 inches and harrowed it well three times before planting. He cultivated five times. He used four one-horse loads of stable manure and 700 pounds of home mixed fertilizer analyzing about 8-2-2. He planted Virginia White Corn. His figures show:

Cost of labor per acre.....$12.50
Cost of fertilizer per acre.....9.25
Rental value of land.....5.00
Total cost per acre.....$26.75
Value of stover.....15.00
Net cost per acre.....$11.75
Cost per bushel......15 1/2

Mr. J. W. Leutz, Statesville, N. C., grew sixty bushels of corn per acre on sandy loam soil. This land was broken five inches deep, was disced twice and harrowed once before planting. He harrowed twice after planting and cultivated four times. From his figures we get the following results:

Cost of labor per acre.....$6.75
Five tons barnyard manure.....10.00
Total cost.....$16.75
Value of stover.....11.00
Net cost per acre.....$5.75
Rent of land one-third of corn leaving forty bushels at a cost of 14 cents per bushel.

Mr. Samuel Yount, of Reepsville, N. C., had some light sandy soil which had previously grown alfalfa. He broke the ten inches deep and used 1500 pounds of poultry manure which he valued at $3.00. He thoroughly harrowed the soil three times before planting to get it in condition and cultivated it five times after the corn was planted. His figures on this basis show as follows:

Cost of labor per acre.....$15.00
Cost of manure.....8.00
Rental value of land.....5.00
Total cost per acre.....$28.00

Value of stover per acre.....20.00
Breaking one acre.....$2.00
Seeding and planting.....1.00
Cost of fertilizer.....5.00
Cost of cultivation.....2.00
Rental value of land.....5.00
Total cost.....$15.00
Value of stover.....10.00
Net cost of corn.....$5.00
Yield, 65 bushels.
Cost of one bushel.....15 5-13

When the lugger broke up Captain Williams swam to Green Hill island then tried to make the mainland in a dingy which he was able to make seaworthy. He was caught in a squall and after drifting for three days was carried into the gulf and eventually landed on Field island, off the mouth of the Alligator river. This island is destitute of water, but some rain fell, and he eked out an existence for twelve days on the small supplies thus obtained, and turtle eggs. Both turtles and alligators were numerous. He then re-embarked in the dingy and made his way into the mouth of the West Alligator river, but could find no fresh water. He obtained from the bark of trees sufficient liquid to sustain life until rain fell.

Abandoning the dingy he made his way up the east bank of the Wildman river, living on sweet potatoes and iguanas. His matches having been exhausted, he carried firesticks with him. He eventually crossed Wildman river and came out on what he thinks was Lake Finnis, where he found plenty of swamp turtles, iguanas and other native food.

On striking the Adelaide river jungle Williams saw plenty of buffalo, but his only weapon being a revolver he did not shoot any. He got down to the Adelaide river near what is known as Lawrie's landing, where he built himself a raft of bamboo and crossed. He had not long gone south when a cyclonic squall came on and blew the timber down all around him. He narrowly escaped death but pluckily resumed his 230-mile walk until he reached Port Darwin.

When to Stop Advertising.
Will a merchant who is wise Ever cease to advertise?
Yes—when the trees grow upside down;
When the beggar wears a crown;
When ice forms on the sun;
When the sparrow weighs a ton;
When gold dollars get too cheap;
When women, secrets keep;
When a fish forgets to swim;
When Satan sings a hymn;
When girls go back on gum;
When the small boy hates a drum;
When no politician schemes;
When mince pie makes pleasant dreams;
When it's fun to break a tooth;
When all lawyers tell the truth;
When cold water makes you drunk;
When you love to smell a skunk;
When the drummer has no brass—
When these things all come to pass,
Then the man that's wise Will neglect to advertise.

People past middle life usually have some kidney or bladder disorder that saps the vitality, which is naturally lower in old age. Foley's Kidney Remedy corrects urinary troubles, stimulates the kidneys, and restores strength and vigor. It cures uric acid troubles by strengthening the kidneys so they will strain out the uric acid that settles in the muscles and joints causing rheumatism. Gibson Drug Store.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Concord people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Concord reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mrs. L. S. Bonds, 140 W. Depot St., Concord, N. C., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Gibson's drug store, benefited me in every way and I do not hesitate to endorse them. I suffered from a constant, dull pain in the small of my back, accompanied by miserable headaches and various other symptoms which showed that my kidneys were disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills went directly to the root of my complaint, and I had taken them but a short time when they entirely disposed of my kidney trouble."

Sailor's Trying Experience With Shipwreck and Hunger.

A walk of 230 miles, the weathering of a cyclone on a bamboo raft and an existence of three weeks on turtle eggs and iguanas are some of the experiences which recent befel Captain Williams, in charge of the lugger Nebraska, which was lost on Green Hill island 100 miles or thereabouts from Port Darwin, in the northern territory of Australia.

How Things Go in New York.

Every second four visitors arrive in New York city.
Every forty-two seconds an immigrant arrives.
Every fifty-two seconds a passenger train arrives.
Every three minutes some one is arrested.
Every seven minutes there is a funeral.
Every thirteen minutes there is a wedding.
Every forty-two seconds a new business firm starts up.
Every forty-eight minutes a building catches fire.
Every forty-eight minutes a ship leaves the harbor.
Every fifty-one minutes a new building is erected.
Every one and three-fourths hours some one is killed by accident.
Every eight and one-half hours some pair is divorced.
Every ten hours some one commits suicide.
Every night $1,250,000 is spent in restaurants for dinner.
Every day three hundred and fifty new citizens come there to live.

The end of one's ambition becomes merely the means to a greater effort.

A Bold Step.

To overcome the well-grounded and reasonable objection of the more intelligent to the use of secret, medicinal compounds, Dr. R. V. Pierce, of Buffalo, N. Y., some time ago, decided to make a bold departure from the usual course pursued by the makers of put-up medicines for domestic use, and he published broadcast and openly to the whole world, a full and complete list of all the ingredients entering into the composition of his widely celebrated medicine. Thus he has taken his numerous patrons and patients into his full confidence. Thus too, he has removed all doubts from among secret nostrums, and has made them as plain as the face of the sun.

By this bold step Dr. Pierce has shown that the formulae of such compounds are not hidden, but are subject to the most rigid scrutiny.

Not only does the wrapper of every bottle of Dr. Pierce's Great Peppermint Cure, and Liver and Kidney Pills, and all other diseases wherever located, bear printed upon it, in plain English, a full and complete list of all the ingredients consisting of it, but a complete book has been compiled from numerous standard authorities, containing very numerous extracts from the writings of leading practitioners in the various branches of the strongest possible terms, each and every ingredient in the medicine, and the value of each of these little books will be mailed free to any one sending address on postal card or by letter, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, 1515 Broadway, New York, N. Y., and requesting the same. From this little book you will learn the value of the ingredients contained in no alcohol, narcotics, mineral waters, or any other objectionable agents, and that they are made from the most valuable medicinal plants existing in the world. The "Favorite Prescription" for weak, nervous, overworked, and debilitated men, were employed, long years ago, by the Indians for similar ailments affecting their bodies. In fact, the most valuable medicinal plants existing in the world, were known to the Indians as "Ginseng-Wood." Our knowledge of the uses of a few of our most valuable medicinal plants was gained from the Indians. As made up by Dr. R. V. Pierce, the "Favorite Prescription" is a most efficacious remedy for restoring all the worn-out, overworked, and debilitated men, and for promoting, increasing, and restoring the vitality of the nerves and bringing about a perfect state of health. Sold by all dealers in medicine.
