PIEDMONT AIR LINE INDORSER.

Hailed as "the Only Way" for Autos from New York to Atlanta.

W. J. Morgan in New York Globe.

H. L. Hopkins, southern manager for the Atlantic Refining Company of Cleveland, Ohio, and special representative of the Overland automobile interests in the south, came in to New York Saturday direct from Greensboro, N. C., and Atlanta, Ga. He was seen at the office of G. W. Garland, New York agent for the Overland car and himself a southerner—having come to New York from South Carolina.

Messrs. Hopkins and Garland were holding an animated conversation relative to good roads in the south, especially as to the most feasible route from New York City to Atlanta, and it was the emphatic opinion of both that what is known as the Piedmont air line is "the only way," and all other roads are delusions and snarls.

Mr. Hopkins grew poetic in his description of the beauties of the route which takes one through the Shenandoah valley of Virginia, down through Danville and into North Carolina by way of Greensboro to Charlotte. He stated that in the counties of Rockingham, Guilford, Davidson, Rowan, Cabarrus, Mecklenburg and Gaston—in fact, in every county traversed in North Carolina—some macadam road has already been built, and much more is in course of construction.

One of the most interesting points to which the route can take the traveller, he says, is Guilford battleground, near Greensboro, where was fought the battle which was perhaps the turning point of the Revolutionary War.

The roads of Guilford and Mecklenburg counties are particularly good, and through these runs the Piedmont Air Line, which is not only the best from the standpoint of roads, but also is the shortest route from New York to Atlanta. There are sufficient hills to make the route picturesque, and yet not too steep to be readily climbed by automobiles. The hotels are modern and of the best, and nowhere throughout the south will the traveller see more evidence of the new industrial awakening than is found along the roads spoken of by Mr. Hopkins. This route, in addition to the places named, will take the traveller through Spartanburg, Greenville and Anderson, S. C., and on a beautiful ridge road to Atlanta, the metropolis of the south.

Mr. Hopkins says: "Let the nomination be closed and the Piedmont Air Line be unanimously selected."

Big Hats in Church.

Statesville Landmark.

A Statesville lady whose husband refuses to go to church because the headgear of the ladies often obscures his view of the preacher, suggests that a ruling be made compelling the women who wear large hats to take the back seats and the men the front seats of the church. It is true that the plan would solve the problem to some extent, but most men prefer sitting beside their fairer sex. The plan would also be of convenience to those women who spend most of their time in church inspecting and commenting on the attire of their fellow women. It makes little difference to this class whether they see the preacher. They are more interested in hats and dresses.

NIGHTS OF UNREST

No Sleep, No Rest, No Peace for the Sufferer from Kidney Troubles.

No peace for the sufferer—Pains in my back and distress from morn to night. Get up with a lame back. Twinges of backache bother you all day.

Dull aching breaks your rest at night. Urinary disorders add to your misery. Get at the cause—cure the kidneys. Doan's Kidney Pills will work the cure.

They're for the kidneys only—Have made great cures in Concord.

Miss Rosa Thompson, 28 Pine St., Concord, N. C., says: "Pains in my back and headache had annoyed me for some time and I often felt so lame and sore that it was impossible for me to sleep well. I had but little energy and was much run down in health. My mother finally procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills for me at Gibson Drug Store and I began their use. I was soon relieved of the trouble and it has never returned. I give Doan's Kidney Pills the credit for affecting a permanent cure."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

A LITTLE BIRTHDAY GIFT FOR JOHN D.

Baltimore Sun.

Mr. John D. Rockefeller, LL. D., was 70 years old on Thursday. It was a joyous occasion. In token of the happy day the American people were presented with an increase of one cent per gallon in the price of gasoline and in addition will be given the privilege of buying butter made from kerosene oil. This will enable the people to tender their fellow-citizen a little birthday present of from $500,000 to $1,000,000 a year, just to show their love and esteem for his distinguished public services. In return Mr. Rockefeller presents them with a present of $10,000,000 for the cause of education; which is proof that the people are getting back some of their money.

Dr. H. F. Biggar, his physician, is of the opinion that Mr. Rockefeller is good for 25 or 30 years more. That will give him time to pick up the few railroads, factories, banks and other enterprises he has overlooked, and properly round out his career.

Though not celebrated so enthusiastically as the Fourth of July, Mr. Rockefeller's birthday is a great event in the nation's life. George Washington was the father of his country, but he never dreamed of becoming the owner of his country.

The Chicago University professor who exclaimed some years ago that Mr. Rockefeller was a greater man than Shakespeare, was far reserved and realistic. Why, Mr. Rockefeller is worth more money than all the Shakespeares that ever lived. He could buy and sell a thousand George Washingtons, and as for Abraham Lincoln he could afford to have a new one every day in the week. By the time he is 100 the map of the world may look like a plate of the Rockefeller estate, with the kingdoms and countries and States marked out like little lots in a suburban addition.

Trolley Development.

Charlotte Chronicle.

All who visit the Central North-west come back with stories of the extraordinary development of that section in the matter of trolley lines. We all know that Mr. England is also far and away ahead of this section of the country in the matter of frequent and convenient transportation by trolley. Here in Charlotte, every extension of the car line has seemed to prove profitable, and it would certainly seem as though lines to Gastonia and Concord would be satisfactory and profitable investments. We very much need better and more frequent communication with all our near-by towns than we have at present, and in view of the success of every extension of the trolley system as it would seem to prosper, it would seem to us that the beginning of an extensive interurban trolley system. A Charlotte and Davidson trolley would conduce immensely to the convenience of the two towns and might be so convenient as to make it unnecessary to consider the moving of the college to Charlotte. There would seem to be a possibility also of success for a line between Charlotte and Troy, crossing the Yadkin river near the Whitney power plant, which is at the Narrows.

Life 100,000 Years Ago.

Scientists have found in a cave in Switzerland bones of men, who lived 100,000 years ago, when life was in constant danger from wild beasts. To-day the danger, as shown by A. W. Brown, of Alexander, Me., is largely from dread disease. "If it had not been for Dr. King's New Discovery, which cured me, I could not have lived," he writes, "suffering as I did from a severe lung trouble and stubborn cough." To cure Sore Lungs, Colds, Obsolete Coughs, and prevent pneumonia, it's the best medicine on earth. 50c and $1.00. Guaranteed by all druggists. Trial bottle free.

Many Cattle Die of Thirst.

According to reports brought recently by stockmen from the north-central part of Mexico, thousands of heads of cattle have succumbed to thirst in that section.

In parts of the Mexican grazing country not a drop of rain has fallen in a year. Many streams on which the ranchmen depended for watering their herds have entirely dried up, and as there are few wells, the cattle have no alternative but to let their cattle die of thirst. The spectacle presented by the thirst-stricken animals is said to be pitiful in the extreme.

Sees Mother Grow Young.

"It would be hard to overstate the wonderful change in my mother since she began to use Electric Bitters," writes Mrs. W. L. Gilpatrick, of Danforth, Me. "Although past 70, she seems really to be growing young again. She suffered untold misery from dyspepsia for 20 years. At last she could neither eat, drink nor sleep. Doctors gave her up and all medicines failed her. Electric Bitters worked such wonders for her health." They invigorate all vital organs, cure Liver and Kidney troubles, induce sleep, impart strength and appetite. Only 50 cents at all drug stores.

If people with symptoms of kidney or bladder trouble could realize their danger they would without loss of time commence taking Foley's Kidney Remedy. This great remedy stops the pain and the irregularities, strengthens and builds up these organs and there is no danger of Bright's disease or other serious disorder. Do not disregard the early symptoms.

BETTER LET THE HEATHEN PERISH.

News and Observer.

"For ways that are dark and for tricks that are vain the heathen Chinese is peculiar." That remark has been emphasized since the murder of Elsie Seigel by a Chinaman who was her Sunday school pupil. He became infatuated with her, he became jealous, and she paid the heavy penalty of her folly. This should forever put an end to the practice of having attractive young women teaching the "heathen Chinese." Better let the heathen perish than to put our girls in jeopardy.

"Knowing the Chinese character as I do, in face of the awful murder of a mission worker in New York city, I would not allow a daughter of mine or any woman, young or old, to teach in any Chinese mission in the United States."

So spoke Bishop E. H. Moore, who spent years in China for the M. E. Church, in addressing the State Episcopal League Convention at Steubenville last week. He said "Let the work be undone forever rather than let women teach in any Chinese mission." The whole country will say "amen." The Elsie Seigel case is not the only one, as the following telegram printed last week shows:

"Pittsburg, Pa., July 7.—Sarah Crew, 17 years old, a teacher in one of the Chinese Sunday schools here, today was sent to the House of Good Shepherd, where she will be held as witness to appear against Lee Fulk, dive-keeper, and her Sunday school pupil, in whose dive she was arrested last Saturday.

"This morning she refused to testify against Fulk, who is charged with a serious crime, declaring she liked him better than any other man she knew and if he were fond of caressing her it was her fault and not his.

"Great pressure has been brought to bear upon the police to give up the crusade for fear they will entangle well-known families.

"Lillian Ray, another of the youthful teachers, to-day refused to give up teaching until after her Chinaman had given her the bracelet he had promised her."

If preachers and lay workers cannot attract Chinamen to Sunday school, let them remain in the heathen faith.

Romance of a Cigar Box.

Mrs. Corinne Raleigh, of Richmond, and Cyril J. Worthington, of Alaska, formerly of Newport News, are soon to be married, as a result of a cigar-box romance.

The groom-to-be went to Alaska some years ago, where he engaged in mining and made considerable money. The bride-to-be was left a widow, and in order to maintain herself worked as a packer in a cigar factory here. "I am very lonely," she wrote on a slip of paper which she enclosed in a box of cigars. The tobacco was purchased in Nome by Worthington, who wrote to Mrs. Raleigh. A correspondence followed which led to a proposal from the Alaska-Virginian, who wanted a Virginia wife.

Photographs were exchanged, and the correspondence finally became a matter of real interest. Worthington is due in Richmond in ten or twelve days, having left Alaska for the wedding, which will take place in Richmond. The bride-to-be is but 25 years old.

Tortured On a Horse.

"For ten years I couldn't ride a horse without being in torture from piles," writes L. S. Napier, of Ruggles, Ky., "when all doctors and other remedies failed. Buckle's Arnica Salve cured me." (Arnica, Piles, Burns, Scalds, Cuts, Bites, Fever-Sores, Eczema, Salt Rheum, Corns, 25c. Guaranteed by all druggists.)

A country minister, in the course of his visiting stayed at a house where a roast chicken was served for dinner. The chicken looked good to him.

"Well," he facetiously remarked, "here's where that chicken enters the ministry."

"Hope it does better than in lay work," rejoined the small boy of the family.

A Night Rider's Raid.

The worst night riders are colored, cotton oil oracles pills. They raid your bed to rob you of rest. Not so with Dr. King's New Life Pills. They never distress or inconvenience, but always cleanse the system, curing Cold, Headache, Constipation, Malaria, 25c at all drug stores.

A lady on one of the ocean liners, who seemed very much afraid of icebergs, asked the captain what would happen in case of a collision.

The captain replied: "The iceberg would move right along, madam, just as if nothing had happened," and the old lady seemed greatly relieved.

Many people with chronic throat and lung trouble have found comfort and relief in Foley's Honey and Tar as it cures stubborn coughs after other treatment has failed. L. M. Ruggles, Rosson, Iowa, writes: "The doctors said I had consumption, and I got no better until I took Foley's Honey and Tar. It stopped the hemorrhages and pain in my lungs and they are now as sound as a bullock."

"What? Fell downstairs! How did it happen?"

"Why, you see, I started to go down, and my wife said, 'Be careful, John!' And I'm not the man to be dictated to by any woman, so down I went."

MR. COWLEY'S "LITTLE BILL."

News and Observer.

Some years ago, when the Republicans (as Maj. Guthrie afterwards called them) were in control of the Legislature it was the habit to let a local bill go through without explanation. This is done in all Legislatures toward the close of the session. In that body, while little local bills were going through the mill, a member by chance was discovered that was his unimportant local "little bill" was in reality a bill to take away every dollar of the appropriations for the maintenance of the University of North Carolina. That member has since been known as "Little Bill."

Nothing like that measure has been introduced in any branch of Congress until recently Representative Cowley, of the Eighth District of North Carolina, introduced a bill in Congress, which he said "was designed to apply to the case of citizens of his district who had paid their poll tax and were denied their right to vote during the Washington correspondent, sent the "little bill" for publication, the editor of this paper wrote to Mr. Pence and asked him to look into the matter further, suggesting that it looked like an attempt to re-enact the statute giving Federal control of elections that was repealed in 1894, while Mr. Cleveland was President.

The result of Mr. Pence's investigation shows that the editorial surmise was correct and that "the little bill" is a re-enactment of seven sections which were passed in the days of Reconstruction for the purpose of perpetuating Republican rule in the Southern States.

Senator Vance then near the close of his illustrious career, was chairman of the Committee on Privileges and Elections, and wrote a report that showed up the statutes in such light that they were wiped out of the report and illuminating extracts from the debate in the Senate.

And yet Mr. Cowley's "little bill" affecting those of his constituents, who were troubled about the poll tax provision in the State Constitution, comes forward in the year 1909 and asks to have these Reconstruction measures re-enacted.

Asheville Has Mystery.

The Asheville police are wrestling with the problem of who the woman was, and where she is, that Friday morning after hiring Addie Blasingame, a colored woman, as a nurse, and turned the child over to her, day on pretext of going to see with friends, has departed and nothing more has been heard from her. The woman who the police have found has been here for some months, a few days ago went to the Western Hotel registering after some hesitancy as "Mrs. Gibbs, of Morganton." She was a neatly dressed and apparently well-bred woman, and had with her a four or five months old boy, who is a spry-looking fellow, although teething, is not very fretful. In the suit case were clothes for the child, and everything points to a well-planned desertion. The child is being cared for by Mrs. Garren, until a home can be found.

Hanged a Second Time.

With blood flowing from his mouth and begging piteously for water, Marshall Lewis, colored, was led to the scaffold in Nashville, Ga., Friday to be hanged a second time, after the sheriff had made a bungling job of the first attempt to execute him.

The drop of six feet stretched the cotton rope so that the man's feet touched the ground. He was cut down and with the aid of one man mounted the scaffold a second time, talking coherently. The second attempt proved unsuccessful in breaking the condemned man's neck, and death resulted in 15 minutes from strangulation.

Lewis shot and killed Clifford Rutherford, assistant postmaster at Lenox, Ga., April 12. He confessed his guilt.

The Southbound Air Line.

Charlotte Observer.

The Winston Sentinel publishes a map showing the line of the proposed Southbound Railroad. In passing from Winston-Salem to Wadesboro, throughout the towns of Midway, Lexington, Fairmont, Whitney, Albemarle, Norwood and Ansonville the road is almost an air line. If it will be as straight when built as it appears on paper according to the Sentinel's map it will be as near an air line road as could be laid out. And by the way, the Wadesboro people have gone earnestly to work in their effort to secure the location in their town of the shops of this railroad. That town has the advantage of being pretty nearly centrally located on the road between the terminal points of Charlotte and Wadesboro, and that fact should give weight to the claim of its citizens for the shops.

GENERAL NEWS.

Thirty-five canary birds as a part of the choir, and participating in the Sabbath morning musical program, constituted an innovation in the religious services at Lincoln Park Industrial Baptist church, in Cincinnati, Ohio, last Sunday.

On account of the fact that Republican politicians consider North Carolina, Virginia, Tennessee and Georgia doubtful State no Democrat will be appointed a census supervisor in any of them. This statement has been made by one in position to know what he is talking about.

Judge Jeter C. Pritchard called at the White House Tuesday to pay his respects to the President. He had to wait some time before he could get in on account of the crowd. He told the newspaper men as he passed out that his call had no political significance. This is the first call this well-known North Carolina Republican has had President Taft.

A report that the boll weevil in its flight eastward has reached Pike County, Mississippi, and that several specimens were found near Magnolia, that State, is contained in The Peacemaker's summary of cotton crop conditions in Mississippi and Louisiana. The past appears to have gained an early start this season in the infested territory and cases are cited where planters are abandoning weevil ridden cotton and plowing up the plant.

Two tots, Joseph and Mary McCarthy, 8 and 10 years old, who fancied that President Taft lived in a palace such as they had read about in their story books, walked from Lynn, Massachusetts Monday afternoon, eight miles distant, to see the wonderful structure that they had pictured. Disappointed, tired, dusty and hungry, they were found in tears behind some trees because they had not seen the palace of their fairy book. Money was furnished the little pilgrims by good fairies and they were sent home in an electric car.
