DR. ELIOT'S RELIGION.

Charity and Children.
A great deal of noise was made over Dr. Eliot, who did the South the honor of submitting a few remarks at various institutions of learning recently, and saying nothing worth repeating wherever he went. He did violate all the canons of good taste at Trinity College by making a fierce onslaught on those colleges that are trying to compete with the institutions that are fed on the bounty of the public treasury. If he scored a single point above the commonplace in his various speeches we failed to see it. Dr. Eliot has broken out in a new place. He has delivered his ultimatum on the subject of religion. He sends the Bible into limbo, rejects the divinity of Christ, and with that beautiful dogmatism that has been a leading characteristic of his life, he graciously gives the world the Eliot plan of salvation. He forgets that wiser men than he in ages past have done the same thing, and that their theories have long been buried in the deep sea of oblivion. The Eliot brand will "place reliance on nothing but the laws of nature." It denies the supernatural and will furnish to the world another "gospel of sweetness and light." The trouble with Dr. Eliot is evidently in the fact that he has obtained no comfort in his own religion. This is not surprising, but in talking about the religion of Christ being enshrined in the gloom of the grave the Harvard president simply confesses to the emptiness of that form of godliness to which he has clung. Millions of earnest and happy Christians know the joy of the new life in Christ and would not exchange it for all the vagaries of all the crack-brained scholars in all the world. There are some things Dr. Eliot can do. He can run a college, for he has demonstrated that fact; but there are two things he can not do: he can not make a selection of books that will please mankind, and he can not substitute true religion with adulterated moonshine, for he has demonstrated this fact also.

"As long ez I wuz po'," said Brother Williams, "I wuz humble enough ter be thankful fer what I wuz bout ter receive; but one day I found $10 in de big road, an' after dat I went 'bout holdin' my head so high dat I couldn't see what wuz befo' me an' I felled in a dry well, an' astdar der pull me three hollowin' folks ter pull me out. Satan hisself wuz once an angel in heaven, but he wouldn't let prosperity, an' look whar he is now!"

For indigestion and all stomach trouble take Foley's Orino Laxative as it stimulates the stomach and liver and regulates the bowels and will positively cure habitual constipation. (Gibson Drug Store.)

"I wish I wuz Jimmie Smith," "Why, Johnny! Jimmie hasn't any of the nice things you have," "I know it, but—" "And you're bigger and stronger than he is, aren't you?" "Yessum, but—" "And you have a nicer home, and you don't have to carry papers, and—" "I know, but Jimmie kin wiggle his ears an' spit through his teeth."

Mrs. Uptydate—"Marie, have you finished bathing the dog?" The Maid—"Yes, ma'am." Mrs. Uptydate—"Did you tie the pink ribbon round his neck?" The Maid—"Yes, ma'am." Mrs. Uptydate—"Then you can go and see what baby is crying about."

HOME ENDORSEMENT.

Hundreds of Concord Citizens Can Tell You All About It.

Home endorsement, the public expression of Concord people, should be evidence beyond dispute for every Concord reader. Surely the experience of friends and neighbors, cheerfully given by them, will carry more weight than the utterances of strangers residing in faraway places. Read the following:

Mrs. L. S. Bonds, 140 W. Depot Street, Concord, N. C., says: "Doan's Kidney Pills, procured at Gibson Drug Store, benefited me in every way and I do not hesitate to endorse them. I suffered from a constant, dull pain in the small of my back, accompanied by miserable headaches and various other symptoms which showed that my kidneys were disordered. Doan's Kidney Pills went directly to the root of my complaint and I had taken them but a short time when they entirely disposed of my kidney trouble."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.

ZEPPELIN'S LATEST ACHIEVEMENT.

Atlanta Journal.
It is entirely natural that we should exult over the success which the Wright brothers have achieved with their heavier-than-air flying machine, which indeed has worked wonders, but when it comes down to the practical success of the various types of air craft it is evident that Count Zeppelin, with his dirigible balloon, has come nearest to solving the problem of navigating the air.

On Saturday he made a flight of two hundred and twenty miles, from Frederickshafen to Frankfurt, and then descended easily and gracefully within a comparatively small enclosure, around which a hundred thousand people had assembled to witness the termination of his flight.

While not so long as one of his previous flights, this was conceded to be the most successful ever made. He maintained an average speed of twenty-one miles an hour, and had his balloon under perfect control throughout the trip.

Attention has already been called to the fact that in Germany and in France, arrangements have been made for regular service of airships, beginning this fall.

Those starting from Paris are to make flights in four different directions, carrying a limited amount of freight and passengers, and those in Germany are on an even more ambitious plan.

As an engine of war the airship of the Zeppelin type has been brought by Germany to a high degree of perfection. If there was any way of making it contribute to the death-dealing art of war, Germany was sure to find it. The perfection to which it has been brought is startling.

They may become the greatest factors in securing universal peace.

A Big Oklahoma Wheat Crop.

Probably the most remarkable wheat field in Oklahoma is three miles west of Cherokee, owned by John Bahm, a German-Russian farmer. It contains seventy acres, and yielded an average of forty-seven bushels to the acre. The threshers turned 2,291 bushels of wheat over to Mr. Bahm. It tested sixty-two pounds to the bushel. But for a ten-acre strip on the west side, which was on low ground, the entire field would have averaged better than fifty bushels to the acre.

Five years ago Mr. Bahm paid $3,000 for the quarter section on which the 70-acre field is located. He sold this year's wheat crop for $102 a bushel, the 70 acres thereby producing $3,355.80. The rest of the farm is in alfalfa and will produce almost in value as much as the wheat field. Farmers in the Salt Fork Valley all look for five cuttings.

Mr. Bahm is a young German-Russian, who left Central Russia with his parents a number of years ago on account of the political troubles. He has not been home for twelve years and this fall intends to return to Russia for a visit.

MRS. JOHNSON KNOWS.

She Says That Parisian Sage is the Only Real Hair Tonic.

Parisian Sage is the quick acting hair grower that can now be obtained in America and that is guaranteed by Gibson Drug Store to cure dandruff, stop falling hair and itching scalp in two weeks or money back.

Mrs. Johnson says: "Parisian Sage is the only hair tonic that ever benefited my hair. I began and used it daily for a while, afterwards I used it according to directions. I am absolutely positive that it will thoroughly cleanse the scalp and hair, stop irritation, eradicate dandruff, stimulate the growth of the hair, prevent baldness, and make the hair soft and silky."—Mrs. Sue Johnson, 229 4th St., Frankfort, Ky.

Parisian Sage is a most delicately perfumed hair dressing and has not a particle of stickiness or greasiness in it.

A "Conjure" Doctor Called in For Pella.

Monroe Journal.
Mr. William Helms died of pellagra at his home north of Monroe Saturday. He had been sick several weeks and having been told that he was "conjured," sent for a man named Thompson, who claimed to be able to take off the "spell" but who did him no good. When a local physician was summoned, the disease had advanced so far that his efforts to save the man were fruitless. Thompson has been arrested on the charge of malpractice and will have to tell the court something about it. There have been reported several cases of the disease, pellagra, in this county.

The Carmichael bill, providing for statewide prohibition, was passed by the Alabama house Tuesday by a vote of 75 to 19.

We need a few pessimists—not too many—to balance the optimists.

PARAGRAPHS.

Uncle Nelse Aldrich may perhaps let Taft be the nominal President.

Kansas City is to have a new $20,000,000 union railway station. Baltimore is trying to get a little $500,000 one.

Friend Taft, it seems, thinks he may essay a little tariff revising on his own account.

Mr. Taft knows, moreover, that in the bright lexicon of golfology there are no such words as "that hazard is too much for me."

Ahmed Mizra, the new ruler of Persia, cried when he was taken away from his mother. Poor little kid!

"If at first you don't succeed," fly, fly again!

Teddy's caught a dingalinga, shot a digdig in the eye; oh, what a lot of funny things for a Smithsonian pie!

That's an astonishing sight—Cabinet officers actually cutting down the Government expenses.

Senator Root seems to hold a position equivalent to that of advisory counsel to the administration.

"People worry me too much," says Mr. John D. Rockefeller. And Mr. Rockefeller's idea of relieving them is to raise the price of kerosene oil now and then.

A Colorado man says he has observed that "only ugly women vote." Evidently the rise of the suffrage movement is to be counteracted by subtle diplomacy.

Mr. F. W. Hensel, an Englishman, practiced in the art of astronomy, thinks he would have more success signaling Venus than Mars. It does seem likely that Venus would talk back, some.

If England really wants to abate its suffragette mob, why does not the government arm the police with mice?

With woman in Congress, as threatened in Colorado, there will be no guesswork about the stocking and guss schedules.

It would seem that President Taft had succeeded in getting well under the epidermis of some of those Senators who fancied their hides were thoroughly protected.

The price of wheat is having another little Marathon with the thermometer.

Gore Bursts Party Chains.

Kansas City Star.

In a remarkable interview given to The Star Saturday morning, when he sat in a chair car attacked to a Southern Kansas Atchison, Topeka & Santa Fe train at the Union Depot Thomas P. Gore, Oklahoma's blind senator, declared that the Democratic party ought not to nominate candidates for Congress against such men as Murdock of Kansas and the rest of the twelve anti-Cannon Republicans in the House of Representatives.

"And I suppose there will be those who will cry aloud 'treason,'" Senator Gore said, "but if that be treason, let them make the most of it. I place my country above my party. And I do not believe fidelity to party requires a man to be unfaithful to his country. If it does, it is an over-draft on my party loyalty."

"Murdock and those men from Iowa—all the anti-Cannon twelve—there should be no Democratic candidates against them in their districts. We ought at least to give them our moral influence and help them to defeat the Cannon stand-pat Republicans. And then where Cannon men—stand-patters—especially where the moss on their backs trails the ground on which they walk—where they are nominated, then there should be a reasonable hope of assistance from progressive Republicans. I rather believe that we would rather see a good Republican in Congress than a bad Democrat. There is no question that there are some persons in the Democratic party who ought to be in the Republican party, and some in the Republican party who ought to be in the Democratic party. An exchange of pass-ports—might be of some value."

A bill has been introduced in the Georgia Legislature imposing severe penalties on any person in that State who may speak in terms of baseless detraction or innuendo of any woman, thereby causing her to suffer in reputation and to lose unjustly the respect of her neighbors. The object of the bill is to stop the tongue of idle gossip of both sexes from wagging, and to punish foolish or malicious babblers.

Husband—"You must marry again, dearest, when I am gone, and that will be very soon."

Wife—"No, Edward. No one will marry an old woman like me. You ought to have died ten years ago for that."

People with chronic bronchitis, asthma and lung trouble, will find great relief and comfort in Foley's Honey and Tar, and can avoid suffering by commencing to take it at once. Gibson Drug Store.

GOUGING IN BANKRUPTCY.

Wilmington Star.
The press of North Carolina is palpably justified in demanding reform in bankruptcy matters. When a firm or corporation goes into bankruptcy it means that the receivers, the courts and the lawyers just about wipe out the assets. They leave little or nothing for the creditors.

In the receivership of the Pomona Cotton Mills of Greensboro, the expense of winding up the affairs of the concern were so enormous that the gouging aroused the condemnation of the press of the State. Now another outrageous instance has arisen in settling up the receivership of the Odell Cotton Mill. Receiver Gone has been paid $28,000, attorneys $14,000, and the other expenses have been along the same astonishing line.

At Greensboro a few days ago before Judge Boyd, of the United States District Court, Charles W. Tillett, Esq., representing creditors rallied out against any further gouging in the assets of the bankrupt company. The receivers and attorneys have already grabbed $42,000 and the court was asked to allow $2,500 for an adjuster appointed on behalf of the receiver, whereas the same work was done by an adjuster for the fire companies for $250, while the third adjuster called in got $150.

The election of a President, is really a windrow of garnered crops—a wave that starts in the great agricultural region, and spreads in ever-widening area, nor ever stops till it has penetrated the smallest and most remote estuary on which the life of the nation has gained a foothold.

It is not in Wall Street that prosperity originates, but on the farms. The prospect this year is for a good output of it.

When you go to buy your fall suit and your merchant asks you $5 more than the same goods cost last year, you will have a reminder of Mr. Nelson W. Aldrich, of Rhode Island, who is strong enough to override the wishes of President Taft, his fellow Senators and the people of the United States—the friend of "the interests" and the enemy of mankind.—Charity and Children.

WHERE PROSPERITY BEGINS.

There is every indication that the harvest this year will surpass, both in quantity and in value, the crop yield of any other year for a decade. Of ten of the principal crops, all but two—rice and cotton—show an increased acreage since last year. Those two show a decline, slight as regards rice, but considerable as regards cotton. Considering the states geographically, the Southern group is least fortunate this year; for not only is there a decreased acreage of cotton, but the principal crop of the section, but the conditions are slightly below the average.

In the Northern and Western Central States, on the other hand, the conditions are so much better than last year, and, indeed, so much better than the average for ten years, that the aggregate for the whole country is thereby raised above the average.

Corn, both winter and spring wheat, oats, barley, rye, flaxseed, rice, hay, pasturage, potatoes, sweet potatoes, tobacco peaches and grapes were all in better condition on July 1st than at the corresponding period last year, and better than they usually are at that time. Apples, however, were distinctly below the average, and clover just attained the level of the ten-year period for which comparisons are made.

The "wave of prosperity," which is frequently referred to as something dependent chiefly upon political conditions or industrial developments, or the passing of a tariff bill, or the election of a President, is really a windrow of garnered crops—a wave that starts in the great agricultural region, and spreads in ever-widening area, nor ever stops till it has penetrated the smallest and most remote estuary on which the life of the nation has gained a foothold.
