INTERURBAN TROLLEY LINE.

Views of Mr. G. Ed Kestler on Proposed Line from Greensboro to An-Boys After Prize Money Calls-Be derson, S. C.

e1.50

The anouncement that the Dukes will build an interurban trolley line, for both passenger and freight business, from Greensboro to Anderson, S. C., is creating much interest all along the line, Mr. G. Ed Kestler, chairman of the board of county commissioners, gives The Tribune the following as his views in regard to this

He says as the Messrs. Duke have stated to the press that they will build an interurban trolley line uniting Greensboro, Salisbury, Concord, Charlotte and the South Carolina towns provided the people along the proposed line show some appreciatin for and take some interest in said proposition we should show our inclination to welcome this great movement in our midst. It is true a company is now building a line here but he thinks it would no doubt either be an independent link in this chain or else be willing to join in said general line. In either case we would be the beneficiary of said enterprise. If the promoters of this line will tell us what is necessary for us to do to co-operate in the work it would be the part of wisdom to do it and thus bring an enterprise here that would redound greatly to our industrial growth. Such things spell progress of untold value to any community, and our people will encourage all efforts looking in this direction. In ten years we would have an almost continuous chain of towns all along this line and we could hardly estimate the value resultant from such a situation. In Virginia, in the North and West these lines have wrought wonderful things to these sections. If this movement is dependent upon our co-operation let us start to co-operate. It takes big money and big people to do big things and the Dukes are such people and they should be welcomed here. We should find out what the requirements are of these gentlemen and if the conditions are liberal and conducive to our good, then take steps to meet them.

A Sudden Death.

Mrs. J. C. Stowe died suddenly last Tuesday afternoon about 1 o'clock at her home on Simpson street after an illness of one day. Mrs. Stowe had a chill the day before but was up part of her time yesterday morning. When her daughters came home at dinner time she was lying on the bed drinking a cup of coffee. She talked with them and seemed to be in good spirits. The daughters returned to their work at the mill, leaving their mother with the smaller children. They called her about 4 o'clock in the afternoon and she failed to answer them. They called in some of the neighbors who discovered that she was dead. It is very probable that she died soon after her daughters returned to their work as she was cold in death when her neighbors were called in to awake her. She was 57 years of age, and is survived Ly her husband and several children. The funeral services will be held this afternoon at Meadow Creek. Stanly county.

The Cold Snap Here.

Several farmers in the city Tuesday report a heavy frost this morning. There is no question that the frost did not do considerable damage all through this section but it is hard to determine the amount of damage today. One of them stated that he was positive that most all the young vegetables in his garden were injured, and he thought wheat and oats were also injured, but he was unable to find out as to what extent before leaving home. In the city but little injury was done to vegetables. The fruit is all right. Thank Von

Miss Edna Correll gave her mother, Rev. T. E. Winecoff Gaining Fame as a Poet.

Rev. Thos. E. Winecoff, D. D., who was reared in this county, and who now lives at Strongsville, a suburb of Cleveland, O., has become a poet of considerable note, and his poems are published often by the northern religious press. The following which is from his pen, was recently published in the Western Christian Advocate:

The charging squadrons thunder by, My Captain holds me in reserve-When Thou are ready, then am I.

For them the multitudes acclaim, For me the long unhonored wait; For them the muster-roll of fame, For me no roll-call with the great.

The beaten columns stagger back, 'Fore Gog and Magog to the fray-For that, O Lord, I silent wait,

My tempered steel I ready keep, Till men in panic need shall call A lesser Moses from his sheep, Or Cincinnatus from his plow.

My call shall come, or here or there, Some larger battle duly try

The trusted troop reserved of God-When Thou are ready, then am I.
