

(Continued From Our Last Issue)

"Tell me about it," he said at last, "I was thinking of making a boat and going down on a prospecting trip."

"I'll tell you about it, and then I think you'll change your mind. The first canoe is the one just above where we first saw the river—coming in then there's this mile of quiet water. From that point on the Yuga runs into a gorge. The walls are just about straight up on each side, and of course are absolutely impassable. For nearly two hundred miles the river is considered impassable. Two hundred and fifty miles or so below there is an Indian canoe—but they never try to go down the river from here."

"And after you've once got into the rapids, there's no getting out—no bargains?"

"Of course not. I suppose there are places where you might get on the bank, but the gorge above is impassable."

"You couldn't follow the river down with horses?"

"Yes, in time. Of course it would be slow going, as there are no trails, the brush is heavy, and the country is absolutely unexplored. If any civilized—or any one like that—could take down this river in a canoe in high water—and get through into that great, virgin, trackless country a hundred miles below, it would be almost impossible to get him out."

"And with good ambushes, able to hold off and kill a dozen?" Ben's hands shook, and he looked, then he said, "They call that country—what?"

"Back There. That's all I've ever heard it called—'Back There.'"

"I must be going now," the girl said. "My father pretty near goes crazy when I stay away too long."

His mind seemed to leap and gather her words. She was the joy and the pride of the old man's life. And Jay Brent, the stronger of Nelson's two subordinates, loved her too.

"To strike at them indirectly—through some one they love—such had been his greatest wish."

"Goodby," the girl was saying. "I'll see you toward her, a smile at her eyes. His voice held steady when he spoke."

"I'll have to be soon, if at all," he replied. "I've got to really get to work in a few days. How about a little picnic tomorrow—on the other side of the river?"

The girl's eyes shone, and the color rose again in her tanned cheeks. "I'd think that would be very nice," she told him.

"Then I'll meet you here—at eight."

CHAPTER IX

The Wolf Man's Strategy

ALONE by the fire Ben had opportunity to balance one thing with another and think out the full consequences of his plan.

In the still hour of midnight he carried the equipment down to the canoe that Beatrice had left the evening before. Then he drew from his pocket a sheet of paper and wrote carefully, a long time, with a pencil. Folding his letter carefully, he sealed it with tallow. Then, wrapping one of his blankets about him, he prepared to wait for the dawn.

Just before eight he saw her come. Her voice rang clear and sweet through the hushed depths as she called a greeting.

"Go back and get your heavy coat," he commanded. "I've already been out on the water, and it'll freeze you stiff."

She smiled into his eyes, but she came obediently to men, and she immediately turned. But Ben had better than he thought. His eyes were no longer on her radiant face. They had dropped to the pistol, in its holster, that she carried in her hands, preparatory to strapping it about her waist. This pistol and a small package, the contents of which he did not know, were the only equipment she had.

She laid down the things, and in a moment the thicket had hidden her. Swiftly Ben reached for the gun, and for a few speeding seconds his fingers worked at its mechanism.

"For goodness sake, Mr. Darby," the girl cried. "What have you got in this boat?" She pointed to the pile of supplies, covered by the blankets, in the center of the craft.

"It looks like we had enough to stay a month, doesn't it?" he laughed. "There's blankets there, of course—to make us comfortable—and the lunch, and a pillow or two."

The girl's eyes fell with some apprehension on the shaggy wolf. "I haven't established very friendly relations with Fenris—"

"I'd leave him at home, but he

CHAPTER X

The Stream of Death

WEDDED better keep on going to our landing place," Ben advised. "There's no place to land above it—I went all over the shore this morning. That will give him time to cool down. I only want to get around this curve before he comes with his rifle."

"Turn into the shore," she told him, half-whispering. "You still have time to steer into shore. I'll jump overboard if you don't."

He shook his head. "Don't jump overboard, Beatrice," he answered. "It isn't my purpose to kill you—and to jump over into this stream only means to die."

The girl knew he spoke the truth. "What do you mean go do?" she asked.

"It's just a little debt I owe your father—and his gang," Ben explained. "I'll tell you some time, in the days to come. It was a debt of blood."

The girl's dark eyes charged with red fire. "And you, a coward, turn your payment on a woman. Turn the canoe into the bank."

"You're safe with me—the daughter of Jeff Nelson can't ever be anything but safe with me—as far as the thing you fear is concerned. I'm simply paying an honest debt, and you're the unfortunate agent."

"You've still got time to turn back," the girl answered him, seemingly without feeling. "Glide into shore, and we'll try to catch an overhanging limb. It's my last warning."

Ben shook his head. The girl's white hand flashed to her side, then rose sure and steady, holding her pistol. "Turn quick, or I'll fire," she said.

(Continued in Our Next Issue)

CHAPTER XI

It's My Last Warning

TURN QUICK, OR I'LL FIRE," SHE SAID.

won't stand for it. Lie down, old boy," Ben motioned, and Fenris sprawled at his feet. "Now come here and pet him, Miss Neilson."

"He understands," Ben explained. "He realizes that I've accepted you, and you're all right. You've not forgotten anything?" he asked casually.

"Nothing I can think of."

"Got plenty of extra shells?"

"Part of a box. It's a small caliber automatic, you see, and a box holds fifty."

"Ben's tone indicated deep interest. "May I see 'em a minute? I think I had a gun like it once. Not the gun—just the box of shells."

Presently he started to push off. "You're not taking the other paddle?" the girl asked curiously.

"No. I don't believe in letting young ladies work when I take 'em on an outing. You are just to sit in the bow and enjoy yourself."

Just one moment more he hesitated. From his pocket he drew a piece of paper. This he inserted into a little crack in the blade of the second paddle.

"Just a little note for your father," he explained, "to tell him where we are, in case he worries about you."

"That's very considerate of you," the girl answered in a thoughtful voice.

After the manner of backwoods fathers, Jeffery Neilson had offered no objections to his daughter's all-day excursion with Ben.

When he heard his daughter's voice on the canoe landing, one hundred yards below, he was inordinate by started. She had not told him that their picnic would take them on to the water.

He turned toward the door, inhis office. Three other lists had been prepared besides the one furnished him and Mr. Johnson. Mr. Graeber said in his answers, and these other three lists had been sent to Kannapolis.

CHAPTER XII

The Wolf Man's Strategy

In reply to another question asked by Mr. Maness, Mr. Graeber had stated that a total of $226.35 had been procured by himself toward this fund.

Mr. Johnson, in reply to a similar question, stated that he had secured about $133 in his fund, and that Mr. Gray, near the Gibson Mill, had raised about $21.25. Neither Mr. Graeber nor Mr. Johnson could give any statement as to the amount that had been contributed in Kannapolis.

At the conclusion of the submission of these affidavits, the Court began the hearing of arguments by counsel on both sides. Mr. Frank Armfield, and Mr. J. J. Parker, of defense counsel, were the first to address the court with their pleas for removal of the case.

Co-operatives Announce 117 Million Pounds of Tobacco Sold.

Raleigh, Jan. 4.—Tobacco figures long called for, were released tonight by the Tobacco Growers Co-operative association—highly announces 117,937,109 pounds sold to December 20.

These represent the crop raised by $5,990 growers and total payments of $19,248,895.60, merely complete the second payments. The Richmond office is preparing about forty thousand checks to be delivered this month.

New Wigly Store to Open.

The Piggly Wiggly Store here, which closed several weeks ago, will open again Saturday morning under new management. The stock of goods is being placed in the store now, and everything will be in readiness for the opening Saturday.

stinctively alarmed; then hesitated. After all, he could not tell her to come back. Beatrice would be mortified; and besides, there was nothing definite to fear.

Yet what, in reality, did he know of Ben Darby? All at once a baffling apprehension crept like a chill through his frame.

He could not laugh it away. It laid hold of him, refusing to be dispelled. Once more the man started for the door.

When he reached the landing the canoe was already near the opposite shore, heading swiftly downstream. "Come back!" Neilson called again. "I order you—"

Then his eye fell to the landing on which he discerned the white paper. He bent for it with eager hand. His eyes leaped over the bold writing on the exterior.

"To Ezra Melville's murderers," Ben had written. And with that reading Jeffery Neilson knew a terror beyond any experienced in his life.

His hand ripped apart the sealed fold, and he held the sheet before his eyes.

To Neilson and His Gang:

When you get this, Beatrice will be on her way to Back There—either there or on her way to hell. Ezra Melville was my pard. A letter leaving his claim to me is in my pocket, and I alone know where Hilson's bill is, leaving it to Ezra. Your title will never stand as long as those papers aren't destroyed. If you don't care enough about saving your daughter from me, at least you'll want those letters.

Come and get them. I'll be waiting for you. Ben Darby.

As the truth flashed home, Neilson's first thought was of his rifle. One well-aimed bullet over the water, shooting with all his old-time skill, might yet hurl the avenger to his death in the moment of his triumph. And he cursed himself when his empty hands showed him that he had left his rifle in his cabin.

His pistol, however, was at his belt, and his hand reached for it. His steady finger pressed back against the trigger.

The first shot fell far short. He lifted the gun higher and shot again. Again he shot low. But the third bullet fell just a few feet on the near side of the canoe.

Once more he fired, but the boat was farther distant now, and the bullet went wild. The pistol was empty. He turned back to his cabin for his rifle.

(Continued From Our Last Issue)

CHAPTER XIII

The Wolf Man's Strategy

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The regular monthly meeting of the American War Mothers was held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a good attendance. The meeting was opened by the War Mother, Mrs. Patterson. Reports were given, and a letter from Mrs. Elliott was read, telling how the boys enjoyed the Christmas box sent by this chapter. Sox were bought to be sent to Oteen.

The paying of last year's dues was urged, and it was voted that a check for fifteen dollars be sent to Mrs. Adams to be used for a Valentine supper for the Oteen boys, or as needed.

After the business a lovely luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mesdames M. L. Buchanan, Frank Mills, W. A. Caldwell and W. J. Glass.

CHAPTER XIV

The Wolf Man's Strategy

The Laura Harris Circle of Central Methodist Church met Monday evening at seven-thirty with Mesdames R. A. Brower and W. M. Sherrill and Miss Cottrell Sherrill at the home of Mrs. Sherrill on Spring street.

Mrs. D. L. Best, the new leader, took charge of the meeting, and under her leadership the Circle hopes to accomplish much in the new year.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostesses.

CHAPTER XV

The Wolf Man's Strategy

Announcements have been received in the city of the marriage of Miss Katherine Burrell McKenzie and Rev. L. C. Little, which took place at New Orleans, Louisiana, December 30, 1922. Mr. Little is well-known here, having been here many times when he was Field Secretary of the Christian Endeavor League of North Carolina, and his many friends will be interested to know of his marriage. Rev. and Mrs. Little will be at home after the first of February in Durham, N. C.

CHAPTER XVI

The Wolf Man's Strategy

The first meeting of the circles of the Woman's Auxiliary of the First Presbyterian Church for the New Year Monday were characterized by a splendid attendance. Instead of the regular program the Home Mission Study Book was used and was enthusiastically received by the members.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by each hostess and a pleasant social hour followed. The circles met in the following homes:

Circle No. 1 with Mrs. R. S. Young.

Circle No. 2 with Mrs. Chas. Porter.

Circle No. 3 with Mrs. B. W. Womble.

Circle No. 4 with Mrs. E. T. Cannon.

Circle No. 5 with Mrs. E. H. Brown.

Circle No. 6 with Mrs. H. B. Hopkins.

Circle No. 7 with Mrs. F. C. Niblock.

Circle No. 8 with Mrs. N. A. Archibald.

Circle No. 9 with Miss Mary McLellan.

Circle No. 10 with Mrs. J. A. Cannon.

CHAPTER XVII

The Wolf Man's Strategy

A delightful dinner party was that given Thursday evening, January 4th, by Mrs. Pinkney Morrison in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caldwell, Jr., who have recently married, and Miss Sarah Harry, who is soon to marry Mr. George Trotter, of Charlotte.

The table was beautifully decorated with pink carnations, interspersed with fern, and the same color scheme was used in the linens, which were pink and green.

After dinner the guests enjoyed several games of bridge.

Mrs. Morrison's guests were: Mr. and Mrs. Victor Caldwell, Jr.; Miss Sarah Harry; Mr. George Trotter; Mrs. B. E. Harris, Sr.; Miss Elizabeth Harris; Mr. and Mrs. B. E. Harris, Jr.; Miss Mary Harry; Mr. Edward Morris; Mrs. C. F. Ritchie; Mr. and Mrs. John W. Morris; and Miss Elizabeth Weann, of Charlotte.

CHAPTER XVIII

The Wolf Man's Strategy

Prizes Offered School Children.

Since the whole country is so interested in some form of Safety Education, and all organizations interested in the better civics of community life, have from time to time offered prizes of various kinds for work along lines of safety and civic improvement, the Educational Department of our State Department of Insurance, is offering a prize of ten dollars to the boys and girls for the best paper on Safety Education.

And Mrs. Olive B. Webster, representative of that department, offers in addition, to the boys and girls of this county, the following prizes:

For Best Safety Program (for school)—$5.00.

For Best Safety Poster—$1.00.

For Best Safety Pageant (picture given)—$5.00.

Mrs. Webster will be present at the Teachers Meeting to be held here on Saturday, January 27th, and will fully explain to teachers who are interested, plans in detail for this contest.

The Woman's Club and other organizations of the city may offer prizes along similar lines that will encourage the boys and girls in the school work to take a more active interest in the fundamentals of better citizenship.

Daughter Born to Mr. and Mrs. Stratford.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stratford, January 10th, a daughter, Enda May.

PERSONAL MENTION.

Mr. M. M. Linker spent Wednesday afternoon in Charlotte.

Mrs. Richard Arrington, who has been visiting in Richmond, arrived today to visit Miss Alice Brown before returning to her home in Greenville, S. C.

Miss Addie Sue Harry has returned to Birtree county where she will do County Demonstration Work, after attending the Trotter-Harry wedding.

Mrs. L. M. Todd, of Charlotte, is spending several days in the city, the guest of Mrs. L. B. Lesley.

Messrs. Harold B. Black and R. C. Litafer left Wednesday night for New York to attend the Annual National Automobile Show.

Mrs. J. E. Smoot has returned from Salisbury, where she spent the week-end with her sister, Mrs. Andrews.

Miss Minnie Hoover, court stenographer, is here attending Cabarrus Superior Court.

Mrs. W. H. Gorman left Tuesday night for a visit with friends in Baltimore and Washington.

Messrs. John J. Parker, E. T. Cansler and T. A. Adams, of Charlotte, and Mr. L. C. Caldwell, of Statesville, are here attending the term of court.

Mr. and Mrs. C. E. Lambeth, of Charlotte, are spending a week in New York. Their little son, Harry, is staying with his grandmother, Mrs. J. W. Cannon, during their absence.

Mr. Evie Cook spent Monday in Charlotte on business.

Mrs. Arthur Furr, of Albemarle, spent the week-end here with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Peck.

Miss Nell Herring returned Sunday night from Winston-Salem, where she had been visiting friends.

Mrs. E. T. Cannon left Monday for a short visit to her mother in Richmond, after which she will go on to New York to spend several weeks.

Mr. J. W. Cannon and Rev. J. C. Rowan left Monday for a short visit to Oercooke, in the eastern part of the state.

Mr. Frank Armfield, Cabarrus representative in the State Senate, was here Monday for the Thomas hearing, he being one of Thomas' attorneys.

Mrs. Fred O. Correll, who has been the guest of Mrs. C. W. Byrd and Mrs. J. W. Cannon, Jr., is now the guest of Mrs. W. M. Sherrill.

Mr. Smoot left yesterday for Asheville, where he will spend several days.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemp Bass, who have been living with Mrs. Bass' parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Talbirt, have moved to the home of Mr. J. L. Smith, on West Corbin street, where they will do light housekeeping.

Mesdames M. L. Cannon, C. W. Byrd, Fred O. Correll, J. W. Cannon, Jr., and Mrs. W. M. Sherrill spent Tuesday in Charlotte.

Wheat Exports Large.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Exports of wheat from the United States during the week ending January 6 aggregated 1,578,000 bushels, according to figures made public today by the commerce department in its first week by announcement covering exports of the principal commodities.

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

By MISS COTTRELL SHERRILL Telephone 71, St. Cloud Hotel.

Trotter-Harry.

In a ceremony unsurpassed by beauty and brilliance, Miss Sarah Lawing Harry and Mrs. George R. Trotter, Jr., were wedded last evening at 8 o'clock at the home of the brides parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harry on the Concord-Charlotte road.

Dr. A. H. McGeehy, pastor of the Second Presbyterian Church, Charlotte, performed the impressive ceremony.

No formal invitations had been issued, but the historic home was filled with friends from all parts of this section of the state.

Miss Nell Herring rendered the wedding music. Prior to the ceremony she played "The Star" and "Call Me Thy Own." Mrs. Chas. B. Wagoner sang "Beloved It Is Morn" as a prelude to the ceremony.

The vows were spoken in the living room, ferns and white lilies being used while burning Cathedral tapers formed an effective setting for the nuptial event.

Two of the brides attendants were her two charming and beautiful sisters, Mrs. R. V. Caldwell, a recent bride, her matron of honor, and Miss Nell Harry, her maid of honor. Mrs. Caldwell wore her wedding dress of white satin and lace and carrying a sheaf of sun-set roses and maiden hair fern. Miss Harry was gowned in orchid chiffon trimmed with hand-made roses. Her flowers were a bouquet of colonial roses.

The ribbon girls were little Misses Kate Knox Niblock and Emma Morris. They wore white organdy ruffled frocks and circlets of pink blossoms. The ring bearer was little Miss Virginia Javerson, niece of the groom. She was dainty in a dress of white organdy, fashioned after that of the ribbon girls.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. John Harry. The groom was attended by Mr. Frank de Armand, of Charlotte.

The bride made an exquisite picture of girlish loveliness in her wedding gown of soft white tulle with sprays of orange blossoms over ivory satin and lace. A court train hung clear from the shoulders. In her arms she carried a shower bouquet of roses and valley lilies.

The bride, a brunette of rare beauty, is the oldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Harry and belongs to the state's oldest and most prominent families. Her forbears of distinguished Scotch-Irish descent were prominent in the Revolution. On her paternal side is a descendant of Richard Barry, one of the signers of the Mecklenburg Declaration of Independence, and on her maternal side she is descended from Colonel John Patterson. She was educated at the North Carolina State School for Women.

Mr. Trotter is one of Charlotte's most popular young men and has already attained a distinct success in business. He was educated at North Carolina State College, Raleigh.

Mr. and Mrs. Trotter left for an extended bridal tour, north, after which they will be at home in Charlotte.

A buffet supper followed the wedding in honor of the bridal party and guests.

Attending the wedding were: Mrs. John Caldwell, of Davidson; Mr. and Mrs. John Williams, of Charlotte; Mr. B. R. Harry, of Salisbury; Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Trotter, of Charlotte; Mr. Sam Harry, of Salisbury; Mr. Frank Patterson, of Huntersville; Miss Daisy Patterson, of Charlotte, and Mrs. Alverson, of Charlotte.

Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Davis have moved into their recently purchased home on Simpson street.

Mrs. Query Improving.

The many friends of Mrs. Tom Query will be glad to hear that she is improving at the Presbyterian Hospital in Charlotte. Mrs. Query has been sick since the first of October and has been confined to her bed most of time. It is hoped that she will be able to leave the hospital soon.

U. D. C. Meeting.

The Dodson Ransauer Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy will meet with Mrs. J. P. Cook Friday afternoon at three-thirty o'clock.

Sunday School Class to Meet.

The Ellen Pemberton Class of Central Methodist Sunday School will meet this evening at seven-thirty with Mesdames Lloyd McKay and A. F. Goodman at the home of the latter.

Circle Plan Organization.

On Sunday afternoon the women of the Second Presbyterian Church met to reorganize the Women's Auxiliary on the city plan. Miss May White was chairman, and the following auxiliary officers were elected for the coming church year:

President: Mrs. L. C. Barringer.

Vice President: Miss Martha Barringer.

Secretary: Miss Minnie Hopkins.

Treasurer: Miss Hattie Thompson.

Willing Workers Meet.

The Willing Workers of St. Andrew's Lutheran Church met in business session at the home of the pastor on Georgia Avenue Monday evening at 7.30. After a devotional service conducted by the President, G. A. Moser, officers for the ensuing year were elected. The election resulted as follows: O. B. Walter, president; G. A. Moser, vice president; Miss Ollie Belle Keffer, secretary; Miss Lucy Hovis, assistant secretary, and Miss Mary Cline, treasurer. The retiring president, Mr. Moser, expressed to the society his appreciation of the co-operation which the members had given him as their president during the past two years and said his work had been a pleasure because of their help. The newly elected president, Mr. Walter, in taking charge of the office, expressed a willingness to do all in his power for the success of the organization and asked the same hearty co-operation from the members as had been accorded the retiring president. Several new members were received. Fruit was served

Two Deaths by Accident Occur in Iredell County.

Statesville, Jan. 8.—Two deaths by accident occurred in Iredell county this afternoon.

Mrs. A. S. Storrs, of Montreat, was killed instantly when an automobile in which she was riding with her husband was in collision with a train at the Belmont crossing of the Southern railway, just east of Statesville.

The other accidental death was that of George Shook, of Shiloh township, who was crushed by a falling limb as he was chopping wood in a forest near his home.

COMING TO CONCORD, N. C.

COOPERATIVES ANNOUNCE 117 MILLION POUNDS OF TOBACCO SOLD.

Raleigh, Jan. 4.—Tobacco figures long called for, were released tonight by the Tobacco Growers Co-operative association—highly announces 117,937,109 pounds sold to December 20.

These represent the crop raised by $5,990 growers and total payments of $19,248,895.60, merely complete the second payments. The Richmond office is preparing about forty thousand checks to be delivered this month.

Wheat Exports Large.

Washington, Jan. 8.—Exports of wheat from the United States during the week ending January 6 aggregated 1,578,000 bushels, according to figures made public today by the commerce department in its first week by announcement covering exports of the principal commodities.

SHIP.

Daughter Born to Mr. and Mrs. Stratford.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Stratford, January 10th, a daughter, Enda May.

SMOOT MISSIONARY SOCIETY MEETS.

The Smoot Missionary Society of Central Methodist Church met Tuesday night with Miss Mary Pemberton at her home on North Union street.

Officers for the new year were elected as follows: President, Harry Propst; vice-president, Elizabeth Day-vault; recording secretary, Eleanor Crowell; corresponding secretary, Virginia Batte; and treasurer, George Batte.

At the conclusion of the program refreshments were served by the hostesses.

WAR MOTHERS MEET.

The regular monthly meeting of the American War Mothers was held at the Y. M. C. A. Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock with a good attendance. The meeting was opened by the War Mother, Mrs. Patterson. Reports were given, and a letter from Mrs. Elliott was read, telling how the boys enjoyed the Christmas box sent by this chapter. Sox were bought to be sent to Oteen.

The paying of last year's dues was urged, and it was voted that a check for fifteen dollars be sent to Mrs. Adams to be used for a Valentine supper for the Oteen boys, or as needed.

After the business a lovely luncheon was served by the hostesses, Mesdames M. L. Buchanan, Frank Mills, W. A. Caldwell and W. J. Glass.

PARENT-TEACHER MEETING.

The Parent-Teacher Association met at the Primary building, Tuesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. It was a very important meeting and much was accomplished.

The association went on record as endorsing Dr. Foster's dental clinic here among the school children.

A motion was made and carried that playground equipment for the school be purchased at once, and it was also decided that the hot lunches served to the under-nourished children of the second and third grades, and the milk served to the ones of the first grades, be continued, under the direction of Miss Mary Spurgeon, head of the Home Economics Department.

Officers of the association stated this morning that forty dollars from the association and twenty-five dollars from the teachers of the primary building will be contributed toward the dental clinic at the school.

BRIDGE PARTY.

Misses Mary McLaughlin and Lillian McCalley delightfully entertained at three tables of bridge at the home of Mrs. J. E. Davis Tuesday evening. The ladies prize for high score was won by Mrs. Walker, and the gentleman's prize was won by Mr. Miles Wolf.

Following the games delicious refreshments were served by the hostesses.

The list of guests included: Misses Elizabeth Macey, Annis Smoot, Floy Shealy, Louise Austin, and Mrs. Walker, of Norfolk; and Messrs. Joe McCaskill, G. G. Dunlap, Miles Wolf, Diggs, and Lieutenant Ernest Norman.

MISS FULLER GIVES PARTY.

Little Miss Alysmae Fuller entertained about 25 of her friends at her home on East Depot street Tuesday

FISHER'S

Make It a Point to See These Special Values

| Furs | Coats | Dresses |
|--|---------|---------|
| At Exceptional After Christmas Reductions | | |
| WRAPS | | |
| COATS—Our entire stock has been gone through and classified into Groups for this special selling. This opportunity is an occasion that stresses value—an essential of Real Economy. | | |
| Wraps and Coats—Style and Economy Are Prominent | | |
| A | B | C |
| $9.95 | 11.95 | $13.95 |
| Values to $24.95 | | |
| TOPCOATS Distinguished by Smart Lines and Fabrics | | |
| WOMEN'S FUR TRIMMED COATS AND WRAPS | | |
| E | F | G |
| $18.95 | $23.95 | $32.50 |
| Formerly $37.50 to $89.50 | | |
| HUDSON BAY Seal, Mink, Marmot Name a Price | | |
| Wool Silk Frocks in | | |
| Newest Modes at Lowered Prices | | |
| Another Silk or Wool Frock added to your wardrobe now will give it a new charm. Some one of the new styles initiated this season. All the smart, new modes are included. It is a noteworthy group—a large one that does not curtail your choice though it is a sale. | | |
| GROUPS | | |
| J | K | L |
| $5.00 | $6.95 | $9.95 |
| For Best Safety Pageant (picture given)—$5.00. | | |
| Mrs. Webster will be present at the Teachers Meeting to be held here on Saturday, January 27th, and will fully explain to teachers who are interested, plans in detail for this contest. | | |
| The Woman's Club and other organizations of the city may offer prizes along similar lines that will encourage the boys and girls in the school work to take a more active interest in the fundamentals of better citizen- | | |

See FISHER'S It Pays