There will be a called meeting of the Children of the Confederacy Friday afternoon at 4 o'clock at the home of Miss Elizabeth Coltrane on North Union Street. It will be a short meeting and all members between the ages of ten and eighteen are urged to attend.

Tea Postponed.

The Colonial Tea to have been given by the D. A. R. has been postponed on account of the absence of Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour, Sr., who is chairman of the arrangement committee. Mr. and Mrs. Ridenhour are now in Florida visiting their daughter, Mrs. H. G. Gibson.

Prof. Beach to Give Recital.

Prof. Wm. Beach, teacher of public school music of Winston-Salem, will give a short musical recital preceding his talk on public school music, at the Central School building Friday evening, February 16th. Don't forget the date. Keep your social calendar clear, and remember Prof. Beach is here the evening of the 16th under the auspices of the Woman's Club.

Home Economics Department to Meet Friday. The Home Economics department of the Woman's Club will meet Friday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Central Graded School. Talks will be made by Miss May Stockton and Miss Kathleen Wilson, and all the members are urged to attend.

Having Delightful Visit.

A card has been received here from Mrs. R. E. Ridenhour, who, together with Mr. Ridenhour and Miss Nell Edison, is visiting her daughter, Mrs. Gedy Gibson, in Tampa, Fla., and on this card Mrs. Ridenhour states that the weather there is like June weather in Concord. Evidently there are no ground hogs in Florida.

American Legion Auxiliary Meets This Evening.

The American Legion Auxiliary will meet this evening at 7:30 at the Legion's club rooms. February is the month for the payment of dues and it is hoped that every member will come prepared to pay dues at this meeting.

Auxiliary Meeting.

The Young Ladies' Auxiliary of Trinity Reformed Church held their regular monthly meeting Tuesday night with Mrs. E. G. Martin at her lovely new home on Franklin avenue. The study, India on the March, was continued and a lecture on this was given by Rev. W. C. Lyerly. Delicious refreshments were served by the hostess. The invited guests were Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Swinson, Rev. and Mrs. W. C. Lyerly and little son.

Book Club Meeting.

The regular meeting of the Julia Magruder Book Club was held Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. W. C. Houston at her home on North Union street.

Papers were read by Mrs. L. D. Coltrane and Mrs. Leonard Brown and at the conclusion of the program a salad and ice course was served by Mrs. Houston, assisted by Miss Pat Adams and Mrs. R. S. Young.

Miss Dry Entertains Class.

Miss Nellie Dry entertained the members of her Sunday School Class of St. James Lutheran Church Tuesday evening at the home of Mrs. L. A. Thomas on West Corbin street.

Hearts dice was played and the prize for high score was won by Miss Mary McLaughlin. The members were then asked to suggest a name for the class and "The Earnest Workers" suggested by Miss Cora Penninger was chosen.

The hostess then served fruit salad, cakes and cocoa.

Those present were: Misses Nellie and Ruth Dry, Mary McLaughlin, Marie and Kathleen Sappenfeld, Katharine Ridenhour, Beulah Praetner.

Helen Patterson, Cora Penninger, Grace Pratt, Irene Brown, Mrs. Gilbert Hendrix and Rev. and Mrs. L. A. Thomas.

With Our Sick.

Mr. Merlin Talbot is again able to be at his work at Fisher's after being confined to his home for six weeks by whooping cough.

Mrs. Lewis Hartsell is again able to be out after being ill for several days.

Friends of Mr. J. L. Kearns, who was very painfully hurt last week, will be glad to know that he is improving.

The many friends of Miss Bertie Louise Willeford will be glad to know that she has returned from the Charlotte Sanatorium, where she underwent an operation for appendicitis and is recuperating nicely.

The King's Daughters.

The King's Daughters held a very interesting as well as enthusiastic meeting at the home of Mrs. Ada Rogers Gorman Monday evening. The visiting committee reported that clothing had been given from the King's Daughters closet to twenty-nine people; also medicine and fuel sent to several homes.

Three children were sent to Drs. Matheson and Peeler of Charlotte for treatment. The teachers report that those three children after being fitted with glasses are acting like normal children and doing fine work in school.

Mrs. L. D. Coltrane, Sr., chairman of the welfare department of the woman's club, asked for the cooperation of the King's Daughters in bringing to Cabarrus a trained welfare worker. The circle decided to work with the welfare department and a joint committee was appointed from the two organizations.

Miss Stockton, the much beloved all-time nurse of Cabarrus, made a few remarks expressing her love for the King's Daughters and appreciation of their support during her time of service in the county.

The circle assured Miss Stockton that her love and appreciation of the King's Daughters was reciprocated by every member of the local organization and they regretted to see her leave.

A "Get Together" meeting of all the King's Daughters both in Concord and Kannapolis, will be held on Thursday evening, the 15th at the home of Mrs. G. L. Patterson, with Miss Stockton as honor guest.

The refreshment committee for this occasion is Mesdames R. E. Ridenhour, Jr., G. B. Lewis, J. A. Cannon, Ernest Hicks and Miss Mary King. The decoration committee is Misses Jean Maxwell, Addie White, Ethna Boyd, Mrs. Gorman and Mrs. Marsh. The visiting committee for the next month is Mrs. J. E. Davis, Miss Adeline Morrison and Mrs. Pickard. Miss Addie White was elected corresponding secretary.

Mrs. Gorman served tea and delicious cookies at the conclusion of the business meeting.

The circle adjourned to meet the first Monday in March at the home of Mrs. L. D. Coltrane, Sr., on South Union street.

Much Interest in Prof. Beach's Address.

Prof. Wm. Beach will be in Concord February 16th, Friday evening, and give a talk on public school music. Please keep in mind the date of Prof. Beach's coming to Concord and let no engagement keep you from the graded school Friday afternoon, February 16. Prof. Beach has had much experience in his line of work and now has charge of the music department of the Winston-Salem public schools. Prof. Beach comes to Concord under the auspices of the Woman's Club.

Epworth League Members Entertained.

The members of the Intermediate Epworth League of Forest Hill Methodist Church were delightfully entertained by Mrs. J. F. Armstrong, their superintendent, Monday evening at her home on Buffalo street.

One would have to go far to find a happier, jollier crowd of young people and after music and games fruit was served by the hostess.

Those present were: Misses Theo Morrison, Jack Cook, Bonnie Walters, Pauline Shelton, Lorine Hudson, Lena Ridenhour, Lena Widenhouse, Julia Hopkins, Marie Jones, Frances Tarleton, Viola Winecoff, Hazel Rogers and Sarah Simpson.

he address he brought very effectively to the attention of the Church leaders the necessity of a new program "which shall challenge the attention of our outstanding adults in the community for a constructive program creating public sentiment, making it possible for every child to have his heritage clean red blood."

He further asserted that environment under which children grow is such a large factor in determining the ideals, that the adults are challenged in a new way to create their conditions, and maintain those ideals which shall challenge the people and youths to maintain sacredly and sanctity of the home, exalting the church and sanctifying the Sabbath. It was his opinion that we have tried other lines of emphasis in popularizing the accumulation of money, which has not satisfied the social needs, and on every hand strife and hatred is being engendered because of misunderstandings. Intelligent culture has been attempted as a solution to make a nation great, and Germany has demonstrated the fact that that alone is worse than a failure, was the speaker's opinion. The only solution, judging from conclusions arrived at by outstanding leaders in finance and labor, and in other organized groups, is that the only safeguard is a religion conscientiously controlled by a real passion in the belief in Christ.

Miss Magee was heard again at the night session, though she was not scheduled to speak. She spoke on "Music and Religion," as follows:

Pershing says "Music is the first, simplest and most effective of all instruments of moral instruction." Music has been linked with religion through all past ages. The earliest attempt at song was occasioned by religious motives. The savage praised his god by dance pantomime and song. The old records of Ninevah and Assyria show hymns and prayers to the Gods. Music in Egypt was a sacred art, the Greeks used music at religious ceremonies and the ancient Hebrews had their songs and anthems of praise.

During the reign of David and Solomon choral and instrumental music was on a brilliant scale. In the organization of the temple service 4,000 Levites were appointed to praise God with instruments and 288 skilled singers sang by the altar.

The early Christian church took some of its music from the old Jewish music but they created much that was new. The Christian convents sang with a new motive, a new spirit unknown to Greek, Roman or Hebrew. To the adoration of the same supreme power before whom the Jew bowed in awe-stricken reverence was added the assurance never granted the Jewish faith of the old dispensation. The Christian felt himself joint heir of a risen and ascended Lord. They sang with joy of the hitherto unknown.

With the reformation came Luther and Calvin. Luther who revived congregational singing and did much to spread his faith through song; Calvin, the Psalm singer, introduced the singing of the Psalms. Watts bridged the way between the Psalm singing and the Wesley type of song.

The Wesleys added a great evangelistic note and touched many whom

Watts failed to reach. One of Wesley's seven rules of singing was "Above all sing spiritually with an eye to God." It has been said that "It was the spiritual songs of John and Charles Wesley that gave prominence to the whole English reformation."

From earliest ages music has had a sacred and influential place with the peoples of the earth.

Types of church music are instrumental and vocal. The vocal includes choir and congregational music.

The congregational music is composed largely of hymns. St. Augustine said "Hymns are songs containing the praise of God. If there be praise and it is not God's praise it is not a hymn. If there be praise and it is not sung it is not a hymnal." Bred said "The ultimate object of a hymn is God," and "A true hymn is worship. A hymn must have three things—praise, God's praise and song."

Songs that may be used in Sunday School were classified by Miss Magee under worship hymns, vesper hymns, songs of patriotism, prayer hymns, songs of God's word and songs of social service.

Songs for the Sunday School should be selected according to quality of hymn tune, and fitness of words and message to the group with which they are used.

Messages for the children should be love, trust, obedience, thankfulness and friendship of Jesus; for young people love, faith, service and consecration. The words must carry the message in a way that it can be understood.

Miss Magee stated that a splendid musical program could be based on the great hymns of the church.

Mr. Albertson discussed "The Price of Leadership," and in this discussion he suggested the necessity of building in the thought of our boys and girls the ideals of living for others, with the will power that makes possible a controlled conduct. Those who are to be leaders in any line, according to the speaker's conviction, will be glad to forego any personal pleasures, set aside any selfish gratifications, spend any amount of money, use every possible effort to prepare through training. He will be conscientious enough to stand in the face of opposition, endure the scorn of his fellows who are unsympathetic, and have a patience and passion which shall be as irresistible as a Savoronah or Luther. The leaders must be willing to pay the price of staying constantly at the task without complaining if the world is to believe in his real conviction and if his name is to be heralded as leader in society, having a worthy ideal, the compensation for such services will be rewarded by an abiding confidence that for today the task has been well done under an all wise father.

Speaking first was Mr. Sims, whose subject was "Holding the Present Pupils." Mr. Sims is a convincing speaker and has been heard with pleasure here several times before. The first way to hold them, said Mr. Sims, is to pray for them individually and by the name as soon as you get them in the class; the second, to give the pupil a square meal of the Word of God, well seasoned with prayer and common sense; third, use them in the work of the class, making each feel his efforts are vital to its success; fourth, visit them when they are ill, gain their confidence and know their home conditions; and fifth, love of the class, teacher and work.

Wolf of Wall Street Fails to Put In His Appearance.

New York, Feb. 5.—David Lamar, known as the "wolf of Wall Street," who is under sentence of a year's imprisonment in the penitentiary at Caldwell, N. J., today failed to make good the prediction of his attorneys that he would surrender to the United States marshal. Lamar's disappearance from his home here was discovered Saturday when a bench warrant for his arrest was issued. Assistant United States Attorney Joyce announced that the Fidelity and Deposit Company of Maryland, which furnished $25,000 bail for Lamar, had been notified that if Lamar was not in custody by Wednesday motion would be made for forfeiture of the bond.

Lamar's attorneys said he had been seen in the halls of the building where they had offices, and were surprised that he had not surrendered himself. They thought he surely would do so tomorrow.
