

Chairman Page Visits This City on Business

With High Officials of the Southern Railway Co. He Makes Inspection of New Route to Kannapolis.

ROUTING OF ROAD BROUGHT VISITORS

It Is Believed Controversy Over Underpass or Overhead Bridge Brought the Officials to the City.

Frank Page, chairman of the State Highway Commission, the district engineer of the commission, and high officials of the Southern Railway Company spent several hours in Concord Saturday making an inspection of the Kannapolis road to determine whether an underpass or an overhead bridge will be constructed to care for the present grade crossing at Cook's crossing. The Southern officials here were B. Herman, assistant to the Vice President, of Washington, D. C., C. D. McKay, mail traffic director, of Washington, and Mr. Buckley, maintenance of way expert, of Charlotte.

Mr. Herman was traveling in his private car, No. 13, and Mr. McKay was traveling in his car, No. 15. One party came to Concord on train No. 11 from Winston-Salem, and the other came from Charlotte on train No. 26. Mr. Page and his engineer also came on train No. 36 from Charlotte.

Immediately after reaching the city the party left in autos to make an inspection of the Kannapolis road. The trip here was made necessary by changes in the original plans of the Highway Commission, relative to the construction of the road over the tracks of the Southern. The commission first planned to build an underpass, it is understood, but later decided to construct an overhead bridge. This action brought protests from a number of people of the county, including the county commissioners, who passed a resolution asking the commission to adopt its original plans and construct the underpass.

It is generally understood here that the request for the overhead bridge was made by railroad officials, and the visit of the officials here today is construed as a step in their plans to convince the commission that a bridge and not an underpass should be erected.

Mayor Womble stated to a representative of The Times that he would seek an interview with the Southern officials and ask them to pave the company's road at the passenger station, and also the truck road in the rear of the freight depot, where the cars are unloaded. Mr. Womble said the party was here, but the officials had already left when he arrived. The city has been negotiating with the Southern for some time relative to a paved road at the two stations. Mayor Womble was determined to take this opportunity to present the matter to the officials in person. The road at the passenger station has in bad condition for years, and Mr. Womble expressed pleasure in the fact that the officials should visit Concord, when they can see for themselves just how rough and wet the road comes after each rain.

Class Sociable. The Philanthropic class of the Presbyterian Church held its quarterly class meeting and social last Friday evening at the home of Mrs. Kaldelisch, on Valley street. A large number was present. In addition to the regular business the following officers were elected for the coming year:

President—Mrs. E. G. Sherrill. Vice-President—Mrs. Clarence B. Secretary—Mrs. Ollie Baker. Treasurer—Mrs. J. C. Barringer.

An interesting social hour followed at the close of which the social committee served ice cream, cake and fee. Mrs. W. C. Wanchow, piano teacher of this class.

MacDowell Music Club Meets. Miss Sherrill. An interesting meeting of the MacDowell Music Club was held Friday evening with Miss Cottrell Sherrill, her home on Marsh avenue.

Miss Margaret Morrison read sketches of Chopin and Miss Margaret Hartsell delightfully rendered selections by MacDowell, "To a Rose," "The Old Trysting Place," and "To a Water Lily." The program was supplemented by several victrola selections of Chopin, Liszt, Paderewski and Mendelssohn's compositions.

At the conclusion of the program a pleasant social hour followed, which the hostess, assisted by her mother, Mrs. J. B. Sherrill, served. Refreshments.

Miss Emily Jarvis, of Washington, D. C., arrived Sunday to spend short time with Mr. and Mrs. J. Sherrill. Miss Jarvis has been attending the Veterans' Reunion at New Lenox and is stopping over on her way here en route to her home in Washington.

Miss Sarah Louise Cline, student of Queen's College, Charlotte, arrived Saturday afternoon to spend the week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Cline.

Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Cannon, of Charlotte, spent the week-end in Concord.

KIWANIS MEETING

Mr. J. P. Cook Makes a Most Interesting Talk on the Jackson Training School.

A talk by Hon. James P. Cook, and solos by Miss Mary McLaughlin, were featured at the meeting on Friday evening of the Kiwanis Club of Concord, which held its regular meeting at the Y. M. C. A.

No business matters of importance were brought before the club. The committee appointed to confer with Commissioner Wilkinson regarding the Kannapolis highway reported through Chairman McFayden that it had not yet had an opportunity to take the trip to Charlotte to see the Commissioner, and asked that it be continued.

The trash committee made a report that the trash piles just outside the city limits were still growing, and that a new one had been started on East Depot Street, just outside of the corporate limits. The need of a disposal plant for this trash was again emphasized, and the members of the club were informed that steps toward this end are now being considered by city and county officials.

Mr. Cook, who is chairman of the Board of Trustees of the Jackson Training School, in beginning his talk, declared that the idea so often instilled into young people that making a living is the main thing in life, is a very low ideal. Even the lowest creatures on earth make a living, and the man who is not making a living should do more than merely make a living.

The idea that character is hereditary was scouted by the speaker, who declared that some of the greatest criminals in the country have as much as five generations of so-called blue blood behind them. Criminals are made more by their environments than from anything else. In the population of the boys at the Jackson Training School, he continued, the bulk of them are families which are, in their community, considered A-1 families. The boys are the products of environments, and are not criminal.

Mr. Cook then outlined the beginnings of the Training school, thirty-two years ago. Up until 1890, he said, the state had made no provision for any of its unfortunate, except an institution for the insane. About this time a little boy, thirteen years of age, "in a county not far from here," was convicted of the theft of $1.30 from a bureau drawer in the home of a man who preached the Gospel, in the home where the boy had been placed, and the youngster of 13 years was sentenced to three and one-half years on the chain gang. He was to be put to work every day by the side of men who were hardened criminals, who had no hope in life, nor any ambition. Such a sentence, said the speaker, was nothing short of giving the youth a ticket straight to hell.

This incident caused the birth of the institution which is now situated at Concord, with its present plant representing nearly $1,000,000 outlay. Less than half of this amount has been furnished by the state. The remainder of it is an expression of the love and interest of the men and women of the State, who have given of their means and efforts to build this institution.

On January 12, 1909, the Jackson Training School was first opened, and the first boy admitted. The building had been erected by several interested men, who personally endorsed for the part of the money which was still owed on the building. One lady went to some of the towns nearby, and got enough tableware, linen, etc., to furnish the building.

In the Training School the boys are not treated as criminals or culprits, continued the speaker. When a boy enters the institution, he is given to understand that the past is all closed—the slate is wiped clean—and he is to make a new start. He is not in jail, there are no chains nor bars. He is given responsibilities, and confidence is reposed in him, and it is wonderful how readily the boy nature responds to this line of treatment. It is making the man appreciate the higher things in life, and the man are now Training School boys who are now grown to manhood and holding responsible positions are an index to the success that is being achieved.

The Jackson Training School is here. How many of the people of Concord have been through the institution? asked Mr. Cook. The message that he wished to impress on his hearers, he continued, is that the institution craves the interest of the people of this community. The school is always open to visitors—there are no secrets. All his hearers were invited to come to visit the place, and bring their families along with them.

The program chairman, Jacob O. Moose, announced the drawing of the attendance prize, which was drawn by John B. Sherrill.

The program for next Friday evening will be in charge of team No. 2, J. Buxton Robertson, captain.

Services at the Wesleyan Methodist Church. The services at the Wesleyan Methodist Church on Cedar street, which are being conducted by Rev. J. A. Clement, of Colfax, N. C., were well attended Friday regardless of the heavy rainfall. Several came to the altar for prayer and were saved.

The evangelist spoke at 3 p. m. concerning the "Two Works of Grace as Taught in the Scripture." First—The calls of God. (1) Call to sinners to repentance. Luke 5:22. (2) call to Christians to holiness. 1 Thess. 4:7-8.

LOCAL AND OTHERWISE

Eleven new cases of measles and one new case of chicken pox were reported to the county health department Friday afternoon.

Seventeen cases of measles and three new cases of whooping cough were reported to the county health department Thursday afternoon.

Julius Fisher, Jr., the young son of Mr. and Mrs. Julius Fisher, is confined to the home of his parents on Franklin Avenue by a severe attack of measles.

Mr. J. Lee Crowell, Jr., has returned from Philadelphia, where he underwent treatment under an eye specialist for some time. His condition is reported as greatly improved.

Marriage licenses have been issued by Register of Deeds Elliott to the following couples: Walter Allman and Miss Myrtle Little, both of Concord, and Theo. Flowe and Miss Mary Barnhardt, both of Cabarrus.

School closes at Shion on Thursday night, April 19th, 1923. The program consists of a negro minstrel, jokes and speeches by noted men. Music will be furnished by the Kannapolis string band. The public is cordially invited.

The will of the late Miss Mary Ann Hartley, who died here last week, was read in recorder's court last Friday. The deceased in her will leaves her property to her nephew, Mr. F. J. Little, with whom she lived at the time of her death.

Dr. S. E. Buchanan, county health officer, left Thursday for Asheville to attend a State meeting of County Health officers. The meeting will be in session about a week, and a number of prominent physicians will address the doctors during the meeting.

Rev. K. L. McIver, Rev. W. C. Wanchow and Messrs. Jones Query, C. F. Ritchie and W. L. Morris have returned from Lenoir, where they attended the sessions of the Spring convention of the Concord Presbytery. Mr. Ritchie was elected moderator of the Presbytery.

Five federal prisoners, sentenced at the last term of Federal Court in Charlotte, are in the county jail here now. Two of the men are serving four months sentence; another is in for 30 days; one must serve three months and the other will serve eleven months.

The baseball game scheduled to be played here Friday by the teams of the Concord and Graham High Schools had to be called off on account of the heavy rain. There was some prospect Friday morning of holding the game, but with the heavy downpours of the afternoon there was no chance to play.

The baseball fans in the Sally League are all primed for the opening of the season Monday. Reports from the six clubs in the league indicate that each team will be stronger than last year, and a fine season is predicted. Charlotte opens the season in Greenville, and comes back to Charlotte Thursday for the first game here.

Creeks in the county were running high today. The heavy rains of Thursday night soaked into the ground, but Friday's rain ran off, swelling the creeks and rivers. The rain-Friday afternoon was accompanied by some lightning, but no damage has been reported from any part of the county so far.

The baseball game scheduled to be played here last Saturday by the Gibson Mill and North Charlotte teams had to be called off on account of the rain. The game was to have been the opening one of the year for the Gibson team, one of the best amateur teams in this part of the State last year.

Seven defendants were tried in recorder's court Friday. Three of them paid fines totaling $50, one was sentenced to serve three months on the chain gang for larceny, another was bound over to Superior court on a charge of assault with a deadly weapon and two were found not guilty by the court.

The Anderson, S. C., Daily Mail contains a very extensive account of the death in that city a few days ago of Mr. Robert Moorhead, who was a great uncle of the late Mr. W. B. Moorhead of Concord. He was a very prominent citizen of that section and the Mail also contains an editorial article on his life and work.

Six persons were on docket for trial in recorder's court last Friday. One was charged with stealing a bicycle belonging to Ralph Litaker. The machine was found by the officers Thursday at a house several miles below Mt. Pleasant. Other defendants were charged with assaults on a female, intoxication and gambling.

The Concord Telephone Company is gathering data now for the new directory it will issue on June 1st. Mr. L. D. Coltrane, Jr., manager of the company, stated this morning that persons who wish to make changes in their names are asked to send in their requests at once, so they can be compiled with when the directory is printed.

Chief Tablirt was notified Friday by the Fayetteville Chief of Police that Mr. Fred Faggart's car, which was stolen here on the night of April first, has been located there. Mr. Faggart and several friends went to Fayetteville Friday to get the car. The Fayetteville officer did not state whether or not any one was arrested for the theft of the car.

The bridge over Cold Water Creek, on the Phoenix Mine road, which gave way Thursday when a big county truck was crossing it, has been repaired. The county already has a new bridge planned to take the place of the old one, which has been repaired solely for the purpose of taking care of traffic until the new bridge is completed.

The bridge over Big Cold Water Creek, on the Phoenix Mine road, gave way Thursday while one of the big county trucks was crossing it. There were several persons on the truck at the time of the accident, but they escaped injury. The truck was slightly damaged, but was able to get out of the water under its own power when a temporary run-way was erected.

Prof. J. B. Robertson, superintendent of the city schools, went to Charlotte Friday to attend a school conference conducted by Dr. E. C. Brooks, superintendent of education in North Carolina. The conference was one of several to be held in the State by Dr. Brooks, the object being to explain the new school laws to superintendents, members of boards of education and county commissioners.

The old Salisbury road, via No. 5 township, is being generally used now as a detour to Salisbury. Many persons driving to Kannapolis also use this route, which connects with a good road to Kannapolis near the home of Mr. Brantley. The Cabarrus end of the road is rough at present, but will be repaired in the near future. The Rowan end is fine, a new top soil road having been constructed to the Cabarrus line several months ago.

As a means of aiding in the campaign for funds for Lenoir College, Mr. W. E. Stewart, manager of the Parkin Theatre, has made arrangements to show moving pictures of life at the college. Views on the campus, in some of the buildings, a close-up of the faculty and other interesting phases of college life will be shown in the pictures. The pictures will be shown at Mt. Pleasant tonight by Mr. Stewart and in his theatre here on Monday and Tuesday.
