J. H. Spaulding, a Wake Forest man, is the superintendent.

An effort is now being made to build two new cottages at the Home, and funds are being solicited for this purpose. The Home takes no children regularly admitted into an orphanage. It now has 575 applications from children for homes, which it is not able to accommodate. The Economy Home is chartered and licensed by the State of South Carolina. J. N. Nesbitt, M. D., of Gaffney, S. C., is president. It is on the southeast side of Kings Mountain battlefield, two miles of Kings Creek Station on the Southern Railway on the backbone of a beautiful, high range, at one of the finest mineral springs in the state, formerly known as Pleasant Springs.

Annual Junior-Senior Banquet at Mt. Pleasant. Last Friday evening the Annual Junior-Senior Banquet was held at Mt. Pleasant Seminary, the spacious halls, rooms and dining-hall lending themselves graciously to this form of entertainment. The decorations were simple but beautifully appropriate, streamers of pink and white (the Senior colors) being mingled with green and other vines and white wild blossoms—green and white being the chosen colors of the Junior Class. In the music studio members of the Junior Classes of both institutions served punch and candies during the evening. The amusements, up to eleven o'clock, were quite unique and interesting, and the whole program for the evening's entertainment was artistically set forth on souvenir hand-painted fans; this combined program was fully carried out up to the time allotted for the banquet. Tables were scattered in the large Assembly Hall on which games of Cubical Hearts were played; and prizes were bestowed on the winning couples in each contest. Dancing the old-time square dance was kindly permitted by the presidents of the institutions and was highly enjoyed by all who participated. At the last moment the musicians and callers failed to put in their appearance; but Mr. R. H. Harris ably performed the latter office while Miss Ethel Black-Welder and her auto-harp came nobly to the rescue as regards the necessary music. Then came the most important part of the program—the banquet, which was indeed a gorgeous one and reflected much credit upon the culinary and artistic skill of the two Junior classes. It is useless to attempt to describe all that loaded the many joined tables, as it would be an easier matter to mention what they did not have. The entire menu was written out in French, and those who could not understand the names of the various dishes could and did learn all about them by means of the generous samples provided for the happy banquetters. It was also a "feast of reason and a flow of soul," as the many clever speeches and toasts testified, the toastmaster being Mr. John Kerns. It was in the "wee sma' hours" when they dispersed to their respective "polar" homes, a thoroughly happy and excited crowd. The College Glee Club will give an entertainment in the Auditorium Friday night of this week, and we can promise in advance a time of rare enjoyment for all who may attend. All the inhabitants of Mt. Pleasant, scholastic and otherwise, are highly enjoying the innovation of a tri-weekly moving-picture entertainment at the Auditorium. The Lenoir College film, shown last Friday and Saturday nights, were especially fine. L. H. B.

"OLD CLOTHES DAY"

What is it? Well, its a day fixed for the people of North Carolina to sort out all their discarded winter clothes and take them or send them to the local "Concentration Camp" which for Concord and Cabarrus county is Dr. Sidney Buchanan's office.

What for? To send to the big warehouse in Raleigh from which point they will be shipped to North Carolina's five great orphanages at Trebizond to keep warm next winter the thousand of little parentless children, a great multitude of whose brothers and sisters and even fathers and mothers froze to death last winter. When is "Old Clothes Day"? Tuesday, May 1st.

Who has charge in Cabarrus county? Mrs. Ernest L. Hicks for Concord, Miss Kathleen Wilson for the rural sections, Mrs. T. M. Widenhouse for Kannapolis, and Rev. W. T. Albright for Mt. Pleasant. What are you going to do about it? My faith in the people of Concord and Cabarrus county is so strong that I can but look for them to bring forward great quantities of cast-off clothing that can be of no further service to them, but sent across the world, will serve to keep alive many who otherwise would die a horrible death. Remember any kind of winter clothing for children or adults will be gratefully received. School children especially should be encouraged to help collect this clothing.

Col. George H. Bellamy, state chairman, has offered from his own pocket cash prizes of $25.00, $15.00 and $10.00 to the schools or classes which collect the greatest amount of clothing per capita. According to advertising from Raleigh Monday, Cabarrus is still leading every county in the state in the amount of pledges and cash above her quota.

Why not make the same record on "Old Clothes Day"? J. FRANK ARMSTRONG, Chairman.

The association will play a schedule of 154 games, with September 23 as the closing date.

In Mexico City nearly everybody lives over a shop, if the house be two stories, or uses the lower floor as a garage, stable, or quarters for the servants. Even the millionaires often rent the ground floor of their residences for business purposes.

Fourth, the sad end, Dead Buried Forgotten. Services tonight at 7:30. Friday at 3:30 p. m. in the evangelist will preach to the children. We desire that the parents will let their children come to hear this message. PASTOR.

First, who are the wicked? He is a law breaker. He is allied with the enemies of God, and he will die. He would not die. The man who says today that a person could sin or disobey God and still hold his integrity with God is an enemy of God and allied himself with Satan.

Second, where had they come from and gone? Not the dance hall, not the gambling room, not the bar room. But from the place of the holy, the church should be the place of the holy and used only for preaching series, Sunday school and prayer meetings. But we are making it a place of feasting.

Third, this shows the opportunity of the wicked.
