DON'T NEED FOREIGNERS.

nation in the South, states that in some parts of South Carolina now there are more operatives than jobs. This condition, he points out, is due to the trend from farm to factory caused by the invasion of the boll weevil on the South Carolina farms.

It will be many years before we need to import any labor for the mills in the South and until there is a need for them we hope the foreigners will be kept out. The high class labor that is found in the South today is responsible for our splendid conditions more than any other factor, we believe, and all we should strive to keep the standard high.
