Bible Thought For The Day

CHRISTIAN CONFIDENCE.—This is the confidence that we have in him, that if we ask anything according to his will, he heareth us.—1 John 5:14.

UNFORTUNATE DECISIONS.

The decision of Solicitor Long to allow Lee McHargue to get away with a manslaughter charge was unfortunate, to put it mildly. His decision was not more unfortunate, however, than the sentence of Judge Webb.

Sheriff Propst was endeavoring to carry out his duty as an officer of the law when he was shot down by McHargue. It may have been that the State could not prove malicious intent to show that McHargue had started out with the intent to kill the Deputy Sheriff, but that does not get around the fact that McHargue shot to kill even after he had been told to surrender by the officers and after he saw the officers with drawn guns on him. Is the State willing to say that the shooting was more or less of an accident? Or that Mr. Propst was killed while McHargue was shooting at someone else?

The sentence is a bad example to set before other people who may hold a grudge against officers. What would the average man care for two years in the State penitentiary if he could get even with some officer? We are not intimating that McHargue had anything against Mr. Propst, but if he can get off with two years after shooting down in cold blood an officer in the performance of his duty certain criminals might be led to believe that they could escape with a sentence equally as light.

Officers have none too much protection when they are backed with the full power of the courts, and to let a man escape with a two or three year sentence after literally "taking a town" and then shooting down an officer will tend to create more disrespect of our laws.

When sentence was pronounced MacHargue is quoted as saying with a smile, "It might have been worse." He was exactly right. We are not surprised that he smiled, and we expect there are criminals in many parts of the State who smiled when they read of this case. It is enough to make everyone smile except those people who believe that officers should be protected and pistol totes and users given the full limit of the law.

It is hard to understand why Solicitor Long and other counsel for the State agreed to the manslaughter verdict, but it is even harder to understand why Judge Webb gave the man almost as light a sentence as he could have given him. The fact that Solicitor Long agreed to a manslaughter plea might indicate that he thought the Rowan jury would free MacHargue, but we can't believe this. If such men as MacHargue are to be freed we might as well discontinue our courts.

A SUGGESTION.

Concord's new administration got underway officially Thursday night, and it tackled the problems confronting it with a determination that should bring fine results to the city within the next two years. The board of aldermen is composed of men who have made good in their business enterprises and as they are the kind of men that will give the city their best thought and interest, it is only reasonable to suppose that they will guard the city's interests with the same zeal that they displayed in the management of their own affairs.

We understand that the board is to inaugurate a period of economy in the city, and while we agree with this principle we hope at the same time that the members of the board will give serious consideration to the proposal that an athletic field be built by the city at the new high school. The students need and deserve an addition to the high school plant, and the money expended for the project would be wisely invested.

THE UNDERPASS.

According to information which Mr. Dunlap, State Highway Engineer located here, is said to have received, an underpass will be constructed on the Kannapolis road to take the place of the present grade crossing at Cook's Crossing. Work will be started on the project at once.

We think the underpass will prove more satisfactory than the proposed overhead bridge. And it is certain that local opinion favored the underpass, for it will serve more people of the county. The pass will mean that people driving to Kannapolis from Townships Nos. 2 and 3 will not have to use the grade crossing, which they would have been compelled to use if the overhead bridge had been built. The underpass will be safer, too, we believe, though drivers will have to approach it with caution, as they have to do with every underpass.

The County Commissioners and a number of citizens of the county were heard in the matter and it appears that their opinion had some weight, for it is known that the Southern Railway Company favored the bridge. Commissioner Wilkinson, however, is said to have favored the underpass plan from the beginning, and it is to be supposed that he had more influence than anyone else in the final location of the route.

The Kannapolis road is one of the most important in North Carolina, and now that the route has been definitely decided upon, it is to be hoped that the work on the road will be pushed forward with all practical speed.

"NOW I LAY ME DOWN TO SLEEP"

Dr. McQuire Newton, one of the most distinguished child specialists in the United States, died recently at his home in Richmond, death being due to a large extent to his great practice, which he was unable to get away from, even after becoming ill. In telling of his death the Richmond papers said the specialist was strengthened in his last illness by the knowledge that thousands of children in Richmond were praying for him. One Richmond paper quotes a gentleman as saying:

"The prayers were not unavailing. He was conscious that others were sustaining him and often in semi-delirium he would murmur the prayers he had so often heard from the lips of his little patients. It was touching in the extreme to hear this brilliant physician brought to childhood again and whispering at darkness, 'Now I lay me down to sleep.'"

PRISON INVESTIGATIONS.

Governor Morrison promises to precipitate a lively battle by his request to the Board of Charities and Public Welfare that he be allowed to conduct the investigation into conditions at the prisons of the State. The Governor formerly had asked the board members to conduct the investigation but last week he decided that he wanted to conduct the inquiry personally. His request has already brought forth much comment from various sources in the State, and while the board is almost certain to grant the request of Mr. Morrison its members are not certain to feel that he is not making a mistake, according to indications and intimations coming from the State capital.

Due to the great publicity that has been given the investigation recently, it seems to us that the inquiry itself is of the greatest importance and the question of who is to conduct it probably comes next. If nothing had been said by Governor Morrison or members of the board of charities when charges were first made that prisoners in the State penal institutions were not fairly treated, then the investigation would not be needed, but too much has been said now for the matter to be dropped, and the people of the State demand that a full investigation be made and all of the facts made public.

Governor Morrison states that he wants to make the investigation himself because within the next several weeks he wants to inaugurate in North Carolina "an up-to-date prison system." He also declares that his investigation need not interfere with one proposed by the board of charities and welfare, but that he does not want the latter made upon his request, as would have been done if he had not withdrawn his request.

The fuller the investigation the better, we believe. If there is anything wrong at the Raleigh prison or any of the others the public should know and it will not be long until the trouble is ironed out.

It would seem that the question of whether or not prisoners in this county have been treated cruelly is answered for the present. The board of county commissioners finds after an investigation that the men have not been treated cruelly and the board members were basing their report on statements made by the prisoners themselves.

We think the commissioners are to be commended for the manner in which they tackled the proposition in this county. The grand jury report stated that prisoners were not treated right, and we have no doubt that the report was based on statements made by the prisoners, and the commissioners gave every man in the camps an opportunity to give his version of camp life in an effort to get at the facts. They not only secured these facts but they studied them and made them the subject of a long meeting. And when all of the facts had been polled down and the substance was evident, the commissioners found that the prisoners had not been cruelly treated, though some changes in the management of the camps was recommended and better food was ordered.

A full investigation is the best way to decide questions of this kind. Cabarrus county received some unfavorable publicity in regard to the conditions at the camp and we think it was but fair and right that the commissioners should make a thorough investigation. They have statements of prisoners and persons who may think the report was not just what it should have been could see the statements and decide for themselves just how bad conditions have been at the camps. Members of the board are men of unquestionable character, however, and now that they have rendered their verdict we do not expect that verdict to be questioned.

Let's have a full investigation at Raleigh and the other State camps. We should keep nothing from the public.

The State of North Carolina will get about $6,000,000 next year for road work, the money to be raised from auto and gasoline taxes. The people who will pay the taxes will not feel them in the long run, for when a man starts with his auto on a journey he forgets money and everything. We are enjoying good roads now and soon we will have even better roads, as a whole, and it is right that the people who enjoy them should pay for them.

HIGH BUILDING COSTS DELAY TELEPHONE HOME

New York's $11,200,000 skyscraper will not be started June 1.

New York, May 12.—The New York Telephone Company today announced that work on its $11,200,000 new home, scheduled to start on June 1, would be postponed owing to high building costs.

About $50,000,000 in new building construction has been postponed within the present month for the same reason, it was said by Officers of the Building Trades Employers' Association.

Only a few days ago Columbia University announced that it would not go through with its $10,000,000 improvement project until prices came down. The Helweg Orphan Asylum took similar action on a $4,000,000 project, and yesterday a large contracting company reported cancellation of a $7,000,000 contract.

Other cancellations include a $2,000,000 annex to the West Side Y. M. C. A., a $4,000,000 office building at Thirty-eighth street and Fifth avenue, a $300,000 hotel in West Thirty-seventh street, and two contracts of $5,000,000 and $2,000,000 each of two large building firms.

Newspaper Advertising Urged By the Episcopal Convention.

Burlington, May 11.—At the last meeting of the Episcopal convention of the diocese of North Carolina the following resolution was passed, at the instance of the diocesan publicity committee, Rev. Thos. F. Opie chairman:

"That the several rectors in the diocese take advantage of the columns of the local press to advertise in a dignified and impressive way the services of the church from week to week, both in the usual church calendar columns and, wherever feasible and advisable, by way of special space purchased in the interest of the progressive conduct of the work of the parish and that committees be named in every parish and mission in the diocese to canvass the entire membership of the local church with a view of increasing interest in and subscription to the Carolina Churchman (diocesan organ) and the other weekly and monthly papers of the church."

Weather Forecast for Next Week.

Washington, May 12.—South Atlantic States: Unsettled, showery first part of week, followed by generally fair; temperature somewhat below normal in interior and normal on coast.

The people of Concord are as alert to the need of character building agencies and as generous in their response to any public need as any people on earth.

EPISCOPALIANS CRITICISE LAW.

Episcopal Clergymen, Favoring Repeal of Dry Law, Admits He Likes His Wine.

New York, May 9.—A spirited debate over prohibition and its enforcement today marked the close of the annual convention of Protestant Episcopal diocese of New York, which finally adopted a resolution requesting Governor Smith not to sign the bill which would repeal the prohibition enforcement act.

As originally submitted by the committee on miscellaneous business, the resolution opposed signing of the repealer "in the interest of law and order." This phrase was stricken out after one speaker had asserted that he would not vote for a resolution which would brand every member of the legislature who had voted for the repealer as not being a supporter of it.

During the debate one clergyman asserted he favored repeal of the state dry law, because under present conditions persons were compelled to be hypocrites as far as enforcement as concerned.

"I go among my friends," he said, "many of whom are at this very convention, and find wine upon their tables. I like a glass of wine myself. Many persons, including good Episcopalians, are busy making their own wine."

After one speaker had deplored the fact that the question of prohibition had come before the convention at all, and another had termed prohibition a dismal failure, Bishop Manning asked permission to speak one word.

"I would not feel quite content if I could sit in silence without expressing my views," he said.

"I stand where I did last year before this convention. I said then and I say now that I have never been a prohibitionist, but have always stood for upholding the law. It would be most sad and serious if this great state of New York should stand before the people of the land as in a position to oppose the federal law. I could be sadder still if this convention, representing the greatest dioceses of the country, should take that position. I hope that the governor, for the credit of the state, will see fit to veto this law."

The resolution then was amended and adopted.

JESS WILLARD TO MEET JOHNSON TOMORROW

Jess Is 40 Years Old, and Johnson Is Little Over Half That.

New York, May 11 (By the Associated Press).—Jess Willard, biggest and oldest of all the world's active heavyweight pugilists, who will essay at Yankee Stadium tomorrow to punch Father Time into an "I've got enough" mood, was not considered a first class fighter until he took the world's title from Jack Johnson in Havana in 1915.

Willard will met Floyd Johnson, a man about half his age. It is Willard's chance to come back. He does not look his years, which are around 40.

Cotton Co-ops to Ask Courts to Decide on Tax Question.

Raleigh, May 10.—The Supreme court probably will be called on to decide how the tax is to be paid on cotton in the hands of the North Carolina Cotton Growers' Co-operative Association May 1.—The directors of the cotton association and their attorneys decided today to advise members of the association to list their interest in the cotton on hand as personal property.

Advances totaling 10 cents a pound have been made on all cotton in the hands of the association, and the interest of each member in the remaining cotton can be computed, it was stated, by finding the value of cotton delivered by him to the association and deducting therefrom the amount received from the association as advances.

While not discounting the opinions of others as to how the tax should be paid, the directors took the position that the matter was important enough to have the highest court in the state pass on it, and a friendly suit likely will be started at an early date to decide on the procedure for listing the cotton for taxes.

The Marriage of Dr. Grier and Miss Hall.

Lenoir, May 10.—A wedding of unusual interest to their many friends took place at the home of Mrs. J. G. Hall at 2:30 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, May 9, when her daughter, Miss Gertrude Hall, became the bride of the Rev. J. M. Grier.

The wedding ceremony was performed by Rev. C. T. Squires and Rev. A. A. McLenn, using the beautiful and impressive service of the Episcopal church, and took place in the attractive living room of the home which was appropriately decorated with valley lilies and other lovely white flowers of the season. Only close relatives and a few intimate friends witnessed the occasion, which was most quiet and impressive.

Mrs. Grier has a wide circle of friends both here and in Hickory, her former home, and throughout the state who admire her for her many traits of character and most charming personality. Dr. Grier is one of the most prominent and beloved ministers of the Presbyterian church and has numerous friends who count his friendship a choice blessing.

After an extended tour Dr. and Mrs. Grier will be at home in the Newton manse.

RECOMMENDATIONS ABOUT PHYSICAL EDUCATION

Certain Phases in Athletics Dangerous and Asked to Be Removed.

Greensboro, N. C., May 9.—Recommendations that all schools in the state make physical education a required subject in the curriculum and that certain phases in athletics, termed as dangerous, be removed are being sent to all educational institutions by officials of the North Carolina Physical Education Society. The recommendations, in the form of a resolution, were adopted at the recent meeting of the organization in Winston-Salem.

The complete resolutions are as follows:

"Be it resolved:

1. That we heartily endorse the affiliation of this society with the North Carolina Teachers Association.
 2. That whereas, we believe that the strength, endurance, vitality and efficiency of the race depend in a large degree upon the wholesome and happy physical activities of childhood and youth; that we recommend:
- "a. That in all schools of the state, physical education shall, as rapidly as is practicable, be made a required subject in the curriculum.
- "b. That all communities establish and support adequate opportunities for recreation that will assist in the preparation of our boys and girls for the duties and responsibilities and joys of life as a whole.
- "3. Whereas, we believe that there may be, in our present system of athletic contests, grave dangers resulting from exploitation, from specialization, from checking intellectual growth, from commercialization, from physical strain and from poor sportsmanship; be it resolved that we recommend:
- "a. That schools and their organizations shall stress, such activities as will engage a maximum number of individuals, rather than individual accomplishments and the winning of championships.
- "b. That inter-institutional athletic contests be preceded by an opportunity for each boy and girl to have a full season's program of all-round athletic activities.
- "c. That these contests be conducted under the leadership of instructors who have the educational value of the sport in mind, rather than winning.
- "d. That we shall demand a medical examination for all contestants.
- "e. That in publicity from the local and industrial press, the sport rather than the group or the individual competitor be stressed.
- "f. That inter-school athletics for children under high school age be regarded as questionable, except where conducted by the chart system or by mail.
- "g. That in athletic contests for women and girls, only properly trained women instructors and officials be in charge.
- "h. The association further recommends that these in authority do all in their power to emphasize the value of true sportsmanship.
- "i. That we endorse the efforts of the North Carolina Girls' High School Athletic League to broaden the field of sports for girls and to establish an athletic point system that shall reward true sportsmanship.
- "4. Be it further resolved: that the North Carolina Physical Education Society and Mr. Van Lloyd, Mr. Hathaway and his staff for their hospitality and cooperation; and that we commend the local press for their general support of our efforts, and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to Superintendent R. H. Latham, to the state department of education, to the local press, to the State Teachers Association, to the county and state summer schools, and to the North Carolina Educational Magazine."

WARMER WEATHER ONLY TEMPORARY

A Wave of Cool Weather is Forecast for Saturday and Sunday.

Washington, May 11.—Although warmer weather is promised for the territory east of the Mississippi River for the next 24 hours, a wave of cool weather again will overspread the lower Lake region and the Ohio and lower Mississippi valleys Saturday and Sunday night, the weather bureau says. It will be colder also Saturday and Sunday nights in the Atlantic and East Gulf States.

How Egyptians Made the Pyramids.

London, May 12.—How did the ancient Egyptians, without the aid of pulleys, block, or tackle, succeed in erecting their gigantic pyramids and obelisks? This problem, which has engaged the attention of antiquaries and mechanics for ages, is now believed to have been solved by Mr. R. Engelbach, Chief Inspector of Antiquities in Upper Egypt, whose explanation is very interesting.

In the first place, a sloping embankment was erected, having on its high end a funnel-shaped pit descending to the previously prepared pedestal on which the obelisk was to rest. A gentle curve led down from the surface of the embankment until it met the sloping walls of the funnel.

The funnel was filled with sand, and the obelisk was rolled up the embankment until its base was over the opening. The base of the obelisk was then allowed to sink into the sand from the foot of the funnel through tunnels. All the time the sand was being removed the obelisk naturally sank lower into the cavity, and, at last, rested on its pedestal.

Mr. Engelbach had a model obelisk made and, putting his theory to the test, found that it worked successfully. In the days of the ancient Egyptians great armies of men were engaged on this work. As many as ten thousand were sent at a time to transport monuments of less weight than an obelisk.

The city that does not regard its young men as its greatest asset is apt to find them its largest liability.

Declares Tanlac Ended Years of Suffering From Stomach Trouble, Nervousness and Headaches and Health Is Now Perfect.—"Like Different Person."

"I can't begin to tell how glad I am that I started taking Tanlac, for it has restored me to perfectly splendid health," declared Mrs. Henry Miller, highly esteemed resident of 217 Pryor St., Gastonia, N. C.

"For about three years I suffered the worst kind of misery from stomach trouble, nervousness and headaches. Sometimes indigestion made me so weak I could hardly walk about. I lost my appetite and even the thought of food often nauseated me. My nerves were in such an excited state I would jump at the least noise, my head ached till I thought it would burst, and I was in a wretched, rundown, worn-out condition.

"But my trouble seemed to be easy for the Tanlac treatment to overcome. I never have headaches or indigestion, my nerves are calm and I am altogether like a different person. I cannot praise Tanlac too highly."

Tanlac is for sale by all good druggists. Accept no substitute. Over 37 million bottles sold.

Tanlac Vegetable Pills are Nature's own remedy for constipation. For sale everywhere.

RECORD FOR SAFE TRAVEL ON TRAINS OF SOUTHERN

17,668,605 Passengers Were Handled in 1922 Without Single Fatality.

Atlanta, May 10.—Figures just compiled by the safety department of the Southern railway show that a high degree of safety for passengers was accomplished during the year 1922 when the Southern handled a total of 17,668,605 passengers without a single fatality to any passenger as the result of an accident to a train or negligence on the part of the railway.

A total of 177,084 passenger trains were operated during the year and the average distance traveled by each passenger was 62.17 miles. Had one passenger ridden the entire distance that these passengers were carried he would have traveled more than 44,000 times the distance around the earth.

Four passengers were killed as the result of their own acts in violation of the safety rules established for their protection. Of these, two fell from moving trains, one attempted to board a moving train and fell under it and one jumped through the window of the coach in which he was riding.

"These figures," says a statement issued by the safety department of the Southern, "show that, while the Southern has attained a remarkable degree of efficiency in protecting the passengers who ride on its trains, no refinement of protective features can insure the safety of persons who carelessly or deliberately violate the common laws of safety and the rules which have been established for their protection."

Southern Pines, May 11.—Patches Department Store here was broken into from the rear last night by burglars who took about $1,500 in clothing and later the body of a negro was found about 200 yards from the store. The robbery is supposed to have been the work of an organized band, and the opinion was expressed that the members must have fallen out among themselves over the disposal of the loot.

Silk dresses, underwear, shoes and men's blue serge suits comprised the chief articles stolen.
