Several of the defendants were charged with speeding, while other minor charges were lodged against the others. Nothing of importance has been reported to the police this week, Chief Talbirt stated. The county-wide typhoid and diphtheria campaign started Monday and Dr. Buchanan stated that he was well pleased with the result of the first day's work. The serums will be given in the office of the health department here each Wednesday afternoon and each Saturday. The county commissioners are meeting again today at the court house. They met Monday, devoting the greater part of the day to a discussion of a welfare officer for the county and a revision of the jury list. Thomas W. Smith, died here at 11 o'clock Tuesday morning at her home on Marsh street. Mrs. Smith had been suffering with heart trouble for several months and death was caused by this malady. She was as well as usual during the morning, but was stricken shortly before 11 o'clock and the end came peacefully at that hour. The funeral services were held on Wednesday afternoon at five o'clock at the Central Methodist Church, conducted by Rev. W. A. Jenkins, pastor of the church. Interment will be made in Oakwood cemetery. The deceased is survived by her husband, two daughters, two sons, one sister and several brothers. The daughters are Mrs. U. G. DesPortes, of Wintboro, S. C., and Mrs. J. D. Hatchett, of Atlanta. Mr. Henry Smith, of this city, and Mr. Thomas Smith, of Rio Janeiro, are the surviving sons. The surviving sister is Mrs. J. D. Kerr, of Clinton, and the surviving brothers are: Thomas L. Hubbard, of Clinton; Willie G. Hubbard, of Charleston, W. Va.; A. N. Hubbard, of Roncoveite, W. Va.; and Allison Hubbard, of Fayetteville. Mrs. Smith was a member of Central Methodist Church and as long as her health permitted, took an active interest in the work of the church. She was especially interested in the Woman's Missionary Society of her church and devoted much of her time to its work. The death of Mrs. Smith removes one of Concord's finest women. Coming here many years ago with her husband, who then was serving as pastor of Central Methodist Church, Mrs. Smith soon became a friend to everyone, and no woman in Concord's history, perhaps, was better known or more generally beloved. She met everyone with a smile and carried her sunny disposition into many homes where sorrow prevailed and where help was needed. Reared in a Christian atmosphere, she retained her high qualities of heart and mind until the end, and the city has been blessed by her life. Mrs. Smith was born in Clinton, N. C., June 2, 1857, a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Langdon C. Hubbard. She was married on November 23rd, 1876 in Clinton, and during her husband's active ministry lived in a number of cities in the State. Her family has been prominent in Clinton and eastern North Carolina for many years. You Guard Against Burglars, But What About Rats? Cabarrus County Leader In Health Work Results

During First Three Months of Year This County Got More for Its Money Than Any County in State.

DR. RANKIN MAKES HIS REPORT PUBLIC

State Health Department Conducting Test to See Just What People Get For Their Health Money.

In a test recently made by Dr. W. S. Rankin, head of the State Board of Health, to determine what county in the State was getting the most for its money spent in health work, Cabarrus county led this State. This fact was made known with the publication of a report by Dr. Rankin covering the work during the first three months of this year, the test having been started on January 1st. The following story from Monday's Raleigh News and Observer covers fully on both the county's train, on July 5th, has the following to say about Rankin and his prospects: "With much talk being indulged in about another pitcher for the Reds sight must not be lost of a young fellow in whom Pat Moran and the members of the team have the greatest confidence and for whom the prediction is made that he will be one of the great National League pitchers before many moons. He is no other than Will Harris, the tall, gentlemanly southerner who looks like the twin brother of Pete Donohue. Pat Moran is one of the greatest admirers of the youngster and is not slow to voice his opinion of him. 'The Reds have the pitcher they need,' said Pat today. 'Moran will flash him when the time comes.' "The fans have wondered all season why Moran has not released Harris, who seemed as useful to the Reds as a fifth wheel to a go-cart. "Pat didn't release Harris, and he did not farm him out. Harris was doing nothing; other clubs begged for a pitcher, and the chances to loan Harris, and to find out what he amounted to, seemed too good to be turned down—and still Pat kept the silent, workless pitcher. He had his reasons and it begins to look as if Pat's judgment would be richly rewarded in due course of time. "Harris, ill all winter, and ill part of the present season, is a great pitcher, and will show it before many days go by. Manager Pat believed in him, believed him too good to release, and thought his value might be shown too soon to risk losing him by the loaning process. So he kept the pitcher; the catchers gave Harris light exercise, and day by day, the boy gained strength and speed. Now, he's almost ready. Two weeks more, so the other players say, will find him fit and strong—and then the Reds will have what they have needed so badly, a fast right-hander who can step in there and do his portion of the pitching. "The Reds say that Harris will be Donohue's 'stuff' as well as looks—that he has control, judgment and a marvelous curve. In his brief workout against the Cubs, he had a shoot that was a wonder and the Cubs were easy—even the pop home run scored by Friberg would have been a certain out at Redland field. "Pat Donohue thinks Harris is about ready and that he will be the sensation of the late season. Edd Roush and George Burns believe that Harris has plenty of valuable goods. The catchers say that he is a marvel and bewail the fact that illness held him back so long. Harris himself, the most modest of youngsters, says that he appreciates Pat Moran's kindness in holding him so long, and that he believes he can make good. "And if he delivers the proper stuff, WOW! Watch the Reds in August and September!"

Cabarrus county heads the list of 24 counties included in the experiment with an earning of $2.52 for every dollar spent in public health work in the county during the first three months in the year. Wilkes county lost twelve cents on every dollar spent, with an earning of 88 cents. Only three counties operated their health departments at a loss.

Four thousand copies of the report of the first three months of the operation of the system were mailed out yesterday to citizens living in the 24 counties maintaining whole time health officers, with a brief note calling attention to the standing of each county in the list, and the results obtained by the local health officer. Dr. Rankin is willing that the figures speak for themselves. The plan was put into operation January 1st, after several years of intensive study of the problem of health administration. Dr. Rankin outlined the duties of a county health work. For each item he fixed a definite cost, basing his estimate on the results of years of investigation of the cost of health work in the State and throughout the country. The twenty-four health officers were given the list and asked to keep an accurate record of each item performed that could stand the scrutiny of an auditor. If a health officer vaccinated 100 people in a month, he would be credited with $25 in his results. If the vaccination cost him less than that amount, he had earned money. If it cost more, he had lost. And so on, with the entire list of items of work to be done.

Dr. Rankin's undertaking has been watched with profound interest throughout the world among men who are interested in public health and among men who are interested in the economies of the administration of a public office. It is the first time that the government has been reduced to the point where the average citizen can know to the penny what he is receiving for the taxes he is paying. The scheme has been in Dr. Rankin's mind for several years, and it is the main reason that he will not be a member of the faculty of one of the greatest universities in the world this fall. He declined to allow any mention to be made of it. It carried a compensation of two and a half times the compensation of his office here. Final analysis of the results, and of the workings of the plan will not be possible, Dr. Rankin thinks, until it has been in operation for a year. Thus far his observation are summed up in a brief statement that he will send out to groups of citizens in the twenty-four counties involved in the tabulation.

"Feeling Fine!" "I was pale and thin, hardly able to go," says Mrs. Bessie Bearden, of Central, S. C. "I would suffer, when I stood on my feet, with bearing-down pains in my sides and the lower part of my body. I did not rest well and didn't want anything to eat. My color was bad and I felt miserable. A friend of mine told me of CARDUI The Women's Tonic and I then remembered my mother used to take it. After the first bottle I was better. I began to fester up and I regained my strength and good, healthy color. I am feeling fine. I took twelve bottles (of Cardui) and haven't had a bit of trouble since."
