Two Popular Policemen Surprised. On Sunday, July 15th, when Patrolmen W. E. Philemon and Motorcycle Policeman W. O. Allen journeyed quietly together to their respective homes on Allison Street to partake of their usual Sunday dinner, they found everything seemingly gone wrong.

At the Allen home there was no family and no dinner, but just up the street it looked as if half the Gibson village had swarmed like a hive of bees and settled around the Philemon domicile.

These men, however, are accustomed to unraveling dark and baffling mysteries and they advanced upon this one with martial tread and determined air.

Like the true disciples of Sherlock Holmes that are they soon picked up a clue and, hanging to it doggedly, they speedily arrived at the heart of the matter which proved to be an immense table in the yard loaded down with a magnificent dinner.

And Eli said to Allen, "I'm forty-four years old today." And Allen said to Eli, "Yes, and as I live, I'm thirty-five."

And that is what it was all about. The good wives and willing friends of these faithful defenders of the city had planned a surprise birthday dinner for them and pulled it off in great style.

A minister was there and proper grace was said. The Chief was there and proper dignity was had. And happy folks (Happy Fowlkes) were there and everybody had a good time.

GERMAN PRESSES GRIND OUT MARKS ALL DAY AND NIGHT. Production Problems Increase: 500-Mark Notes Worth No More Than Paper They Require.

Berlin, July 18.—Forthone German printing plants, working day and night, disgorged 47,563,819,142 marks' worth of fresh paper money every hour during the first week in July, according to figures available today.

The total paper currency circulation on July 7th was 20,241,782,906,000 marks, an increase of 2,950,721,616,000 over June 30. The aluminum coinage in circulation increased in the same period from 1,000,000,000 marks to 20,200,000,000.

The printers are working three shifts covering the entire 24 hours every day in the week. It is unofficially stated that no note under the face value of 1,000 marks will be printed in the future, as it costs more than the note itself actually is worth to print any of the smaller denominations.

The production of a 100-mark note costs many times its face value, and a 500-mark note is worth no more than the paper used.

WHEAT WORTH $1 IN HOGS

Kansas Urged by College to "Sell" Product to Swine.

Kansas City Star. Pressure of new crop wheat caused the market to break sharply Tuesday. Kansas City futures fell 3 1/4 to 3 5/8 cents while Chicago prices dropped 3 to 3 1/2 cents.

Cash wheat was 1 to 3 lower in Kansas City, with new wheat selling at 93 to 98, or about 70 cents at most country points, lowest in more than a year. Arrival of the first car of new wheat in Chicago caused the September price there to drop to $1.

Manhattan, Kas.—H. Umberger, head of the extension service in Kansas, advised the sixty agricultural agents under his direction Monday to encourage farmers to feed their wheat to hogs. The present market situation, which has never been paralleled in the history of the state, makes it possible for the wheat grower to "sell" his product through hogs for $1 a bushel, compared with the average price of about 75 cents paid at elevators.

"Kansas hog producers are at a loss to know how to meet the unusual condition which confronts them," said C. G. Eling, swine specialist at the Kansas State agricultural college, who has just returned from a ten days' tour through the wheat belt. In Comanche county and elsewhere Mr. Eling found men hauling wheat to market, receiving 70 cents for it, while their underweight spring pig litters were being fed a scant grain ration of 90-cent corn until the new crop matured.

Eling pointed out to these men the comparative feeding value of wheat and corn. He showed that by feeding wheat instead of corn at the present prices the farmer would save $2.26 on each one hundred pounds of pork produced. He also showed them that the value of such procedure would be augmented by the part that it would permit the feeder to finish his hogs in September and October, before the customary slump in market price following the new corn crop and the dumping of hogs on the market by Corn Belt feeders.

Also by reducing the surplus of wheat there would be a tendency to enhance the market value of wheat. According to experiment station tests, wheat 70 cents a bushel will produce 100 pounds of gain on 100-pound shorts at a cost of $6.06. Corn at 90 cents a bushel will make the same gain for $8.32, when both are fed with a 10 per cent tankage ration. The difference is a net saving of $2.26. Without the tankage supplement the margin is favor of wheat is even higher.

Kansas farmers are now receiving on the average less than 75 cents for the common run of wheat. Due to late frosts and excessive rain in the ripening period, a relatively large per cent of the crop is low grade and practically unsalable. Corn, on the other hand, is high priced, with little chance of becoming cheaper before fall. With prices of the two staple crops of Kansas reversed, the hog raising business has arrived at an unprecedented situation.

According to Mr. Eling, nothing is to be gained by mixing wheat and corn, half and half, unless it would be a slight difference in the quality of the pork. Although wheat is richer in protein than corn, the specialist advises a protein supplement for most economical gains. Hogs on pasture will do well on a 5 per cent tankage ration. Shrivelled wheat runs higher in protein than the better grades.

Whole wheat should not be fed to hogs. Coarse grinding or cracking improves the feeding value from 16 to 22 per cent. Wheat ground too fine forms a sticky mass in the hog's mouth and should be fed only in a slop.

A self-feeder is a satisfactory method of feeding the ground wheat. The tankage can be fed in a separate compartment or mixed with the wheat. Seventy-cent wheat makes it advisable to put spring pigs on a full ration in order to get them up to 200 or 225 pounds as quickly as possible, according to Mr. Eling. However, the pigs should be put on a full feed gradually, allowing at least a week to get them ready for the self-feeder system.

MRS. VANDERBILT COMPLETES TOUR OF NORTH CAROLINA

In the interests of the State Fair—Meets With a Gratifying Response. Raleigh, July 17.—Mrs. Edith Vanderbilt, President of the North Carolina Agricultural Society, has just completed a tour of Eastern North Carolina in the interest of the State Fair. She is urging closer co-operation between county and community fairs and the State Fair. She met with a gratifying response from the large crowds that heard her the past week.

She spoke at Monroe, Wilmington, New Bern, Kinston, Goldsboro and other points in the State. She made the trip in an improved stump speaking style, traveling by automobile, so that she could make better time.

Her poke bonnet had caught the fancy of her audiences, and many a Tar Heel farmer is ready to wager that she is going to make the Fair this year the biggest success that she has in mind. Certainly she will if those who heard her speak can aid her in realizing her ambition, it is declared, for these farmers found that she is a real womanly woman without frills or furbelows.

Mrs. Vanderbilt in her address explained that the proper function of a State Fair or any fair for that matter is not the amusement of pleasure seekers but the development along proper lines of education in agriculture, industry and general knowledge.

She ventured to say that there is no other State on the Atlantic seaboard that can present so much in the way of natural resources as North Carolina and she ventured further to predict that a State Fair on a State-wide basis and financially organized would do more for North Carolina in five years than a million dollars spent in any other way. Even as it is last years fair brought favorable comments from as far west as Wisconsin.

The logical conclusion of the program of the Agricultural Society, she said, is to build up an institution that will belong to the State and that will adequately represent the State.
