It seems that Jode Morgan was accused of writing some libelous matter to friends of Huneycutt, and he said to them that he would take him to the parties to whom he was accused of writing, and clear the matter up. Olan is said to have remarked, "I don't ask you to do this." Words followed, and threats of drawing blood were said to have been advanced by Morgan. As the Press gathers it, Huneycutt was informed by other parties that Morgan had written or made the libelous statements against him to some lady friend, and that he showed his displeasure. Jode Morgan resented the charge, and denied that he had any part in them...

JODE MORGAN HELD

Is Returned to Albemarle Jail Without Privilege of Bail. Albemarle Press, 29th. Yesterday morning, the recorder's court, before Judge R. R. Ingram, had as its chief case for trial that of State vs. Jode Morgan, charged with the murder of Olan Huneycutt on Sunday, August 12th, on the highway leading to Stanfield.

The first witness for the State was young Tise Morgan, who is a first cousin of Jode Morgan. Young Morgan testified that he was with Olan Huneycutt on the day in question, walking. They wanted to ride, and remarked they wished a car would come by. About that time, Jode Morgan drove up and stopped, the witness raising his hand, and asking if they might ride with him to Stanfield. Jode said: "You may ride with me; I have a crow to pick with Olan."

According to Tise Morgan, when the parties met on the road, Jode Morgan got out of his car from the left side and made a kick at Huneycutt and missed him. That Huneycutt struck at Morgan with his right hand and missed him. Cross-examination developed the statement that Huneycutt held a knife in his left hand, but did not use it. Morgan climbed into his car from the left, got out on right side, advanced to the front and shot Huneycutt when within about five feet of him.

Mrs. John Morgan testified that Tise Morgan was at her home on Sunday of the accident before and after dinner. She is the mother of Tise Morgan. On his return to her home, Jode remarked that he was going after Olan. That one or two others of them would walk up in his shirt sleeves, and that he carried a pistol. Attorneys for the defense drew her out, and it was shown that all parties involved were at her home that day, and that there was no unusual display of bad feeling between Jode and Olan.

The defense offered to place witnesses on the stand if trial judge would consider allowing prisoner to give bail. Judge Ingram thought this was beyond his jurisdiction in the matter, and after consideration of the evidence presented, he ordered that prisoner be remanded to jail until next term of court.

GOV. PINCHOT ADVOCATES 10 PERCENT INCREASE IN WAGES

Offers His Plan For Avoiding the Coal Strike Called For Saturday. Harrisburg, Pa., Aug. 29.—Governor Pinchot tonight submitted to representatives of the anthracite miners and operators in joint conference, a proposed basis of settlement providing for a 10 per cent increase in pay, recognition of the eight-hour day for all employees, and full recognition of the union by the operators without the check-off but with the right to have a union representative present when the men are paid.

GOV. PINCHOT ADVOCATES 10 PERCENT INCREASE IN WAGES

Recognition of the basic eight-hour day for all employees; if longer hours are necessary at certain occupations, the overtime to be paid for at the eight-hour rate. A uniform increase of 10 per cent to all employees. This to take effect September 1st. Full recognition of the union by the operators, without the check-off, but with the right to have a union representative present when the men are paid. A fourth point proposed complete recognition of the principle of collective bargaining.

GOV. PINCHOT ADVOCATES 10 PERCENT INCREASE IN WAGES

Governor Pinchot asked that both sides withhold announcement of any conclusion until they meet with him again at noon on Friday next, and that they will then give their decision. The governor also suggested that as a method of settling differences in cases of disagreement between miners and operators each side select a man agreeable to both to attend and take part in discussions, but without a vote, and not as an umpire, or referee. If then unable to agree, he proposed the differences be referred to the conciliation board, which will be provided with whatever equipment is necessary for the rendering of prompt decisions.

MAKING FOR PERFECTION

Statesville Daily. The following is credited to the Savannah (Ga.) Press: North Carolina is a perfect State. That's about all the Georgia Legislature has had to say about it since the session began two weeks ago. It is pure speculation as to what the House and Senate would have had to talk about but for North Carolina. The legislators are old several times daily what a great State it is. Its tax measures are perfect, its laws are a delight, its prosperity is marked and its folks happy. Committee meetings are filled with speeches praising North Carolina. It is difficult to see how some Georgians keep from moving up there. The North Carolina tax act is reported as being a perfect measure for gathering coin and at the same time helping industries. There are more cotton spindles in North Carolina than in Georgia. There is more happiness in the hills of Buncombe county than in the hills and valleys of Habersham and Hall. Nobody has a word of criticism for North Carolina and its method of taxing the folks and keeping them in a good humor. If this Legislature doesn't put Georgia in the North Carolina class before the first of September it will not be from lack of advice to that effect.

North Carolina has set a pace that should be an inspiration as well as an example to Georgia not only, but to numerous other commonwealths; and the legislators thereof may with profit spend much time in discussing what has been done in this State for public betterment. Modesty and candor compel the admission that we have not yet attained perfection; in fact some of our folks would admit, without being pressed, that our shortcomings are many. But that is among ourselves. We will not only declare to the outsider that we are nearing perfection, but we will attempt to prove it; and few there be among us who are not sincerely proud of the progress we are making and the reputation we have justly earned abroad. It is surprising that more Georgians do not move to North Carolina; in fact we are surprised that folks who are free to move will stop anywhere outside of North Carolina.
