TRIAL OF MRS. WAGNER UNDERWAY AT PRESENT

Woman is Charged With the Murder of Mrs. Rosetta Warren and Unborn Child. Paducah, Ky., Oct. 5.—The trial of Mrs. Henrietta Wagner, 60, on an indictment charging murder in connection with the death of Mrs. Rosetta Warren and her unborn child when the Warren home was wrecked by dynamite blast here last April, was underway here in circuit court today. Members of the jury, drawn from an adjoining county, were told by City Attorney F. E. Graves in a preliminary statement today that the death penalty would be asked for.

Mrs. Wagner, who had pleaded not guilty to the indictment, fainting following Attorney Graves' statement.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opened Fairly Steady at Decline of 17 to 25 Points.—December 01 to 28.15. New York, Oct. 5.—The cotton market opened fairly steady at a decline of 17 to 25 points and the active positions soon showed net losses of 25 to 35 points with December selling off to 28.15 under liquidation and Southern and Wall Street selling. The market appeared to be influenced by relatively easy cables, Fall River advices claiming there probably would be increased mill curtailment if the demand for goods failed to broaden, and the report of an easier tone in the stock market.

Cotton futures opened fairly steady. Oct. 28.55; Dec. 28.30; Jan. 27.7; March 27.70; May 27.70.

Stresemann Not To Form Cabinet.

Berlin, Oct. 5 (By the Associated Press).—The German democratic party in Reichstag today adopted a resolution declaring that the party could not support a government which had no parliamentary basis. A majority of other parties also adopted the same view. It is not believed Chancellor Stresemann will attempt to form a cabinet.

KLAN LOOMS AS ISSUE IN THE NEXT CONGRESS

Fight Against Seating of Mayfield, of Texas, Will Put Senators on Record. Special to Philadelphia Record. Washington, D. C., Oct. 4.—Governor Walton's death grapple with the Ku Klux Klan organization in Oklahoma is attracting keen interest in Washington, especially because of the likelihood that the Klan will become an issue of no small moment as soon as Congress reassembles.

In the last session of Congress, following the expose of the magnitude of the "Invisible Empire" and its "super government," one or two bills aimed at the Klan were introduced in Congress, but the extreme cautiousness of the politicians in that body caused these bills to be pigeonholed so as to prevent open discussions on the floor. There seemed to be common agreement that the Klan issue should be kept in the background so as not to increase the hazard of political casualties among members who would be compelled to take sides in the fight.

With the convening of the new Congress, two months hence, the situation will be different. The right side of Senator-elect Earle B. Mayfield, Democrat, of Texas, to a seat in the United States Senate is to be sharply contested, and an issue is certain to be drawn that will necessitate Senators disclosing their attitude toward the organization.

One of the specific charges against Senator Mayfield will be that he violated the law limiting campaign expenditures. An effort will be made to show he had spent approximately $20,000 in his behalf, and under precedents established in other cases, if this charge is substantiated, the Texas Senator will be held responsible for the acts of his agents. It is true that this principle was somewhat upset by the Senate vote favorable to Senator Newberry, of Michigan, but the result in that case was manifestly due to the heavy pressure from the White House, which caused many Republican Senators to vote contrary to their own convictions, and Newberry was compelled to howl to the effect of public opinion and resign.

Differ from Newberry Case. The circumstances in the Texas case are somewhat different, but the sentiment against seating a Senator who may be affiliated with an organization which has attempted to override the law in many States may prove strong enough to defeat and unseat Mayfield if a legal case can be made against him.

Prior to the death of President Harding the case against Mayfield had been pretty well worked up. H. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman from Texas and an old friend of Harding, made a number of visits to Washington before Congress adjourned March 4th. It was understood that the groundwork was laid for the Mayfield fight during these visits, and that Harding and Administration Republicans in the Senate would cooperate to wage a successful fight to oust Mayfield. Harding's influence was wanted to keep wabbling Senators of the administration group on line with the anti-Mayfield element.

George E. B. Paddy was the Republican candidate for the Senate in Texas, and owing to the strong anti-Klan sentiment among Democrats in that state there was a party division which gave the Republican nominees the support of a considerable element of Democrats. If Mayfield is ousted, the Republicans will again try to elect Paddy in the special election which would be called, but if a candidate not affiliated with the Klan is nominated by the Democrats it is not likely that the Republicans would raise much dust in Texas.

The fight centering around Mayfield's subversion for so many years is expected to be extremely bitter. His alleged Klan affiliations will inevitably become the chief target of the fire of his opponents and the campaign expenditures question will probably be minimized. From the nature of the contest, it will not be a party vote which will determine the outcome.

In the Newberry case, except in the case of six or eight Progressive Republicans not amenable to administration pressure, all of the votes to sustain Newberry came from the Republican side and the Democrats were lined up solidly against him. With the exception of the late Senator "Tom" Watson, of Georgia, who did not vote. In the Mayfield contest, if his Klan affiliations are proven, there will be a number of Democratic Senators who would be inclined to vote to unseat him regardless of any other considerations involved.

The Klan has claimed that its membership included several United States Senators. This is not generally credited in Washington, although the hooded organization is not without representation in the lower House of Congress. A majority of the Texas delegations are alleged to be members, and the claim is neither denied nor affirmed. The Klan is known to have much less strength than it claims in high places in Washington.

Politicians in the national capital believe that the Klan as an issue in the next Presidential campaign is inevitable, unless Governor Walton's fight in Oklahoma put a quietus on the masked organization. That a plank condemning it will be offered in both national conventions appears certain at this time.

SEIGE OF EDDYVILLE BEGINS ANOTHER DAY WITHOUT BIG CHANGE

Prisoners in Kentucky Prison Showed No Sign of Weakening as They Began Another Day's Fight. STILL HOLDING DINING ROOMS. Men Were Serving Sentences For Murders, and They Have Shot Several Guards in Effort to Get Away.

Eddyville, Ky., Oct. 5 (By the Associated Press).—The siege of Eddyville entered its third day today. Their hands red with life blood of the guards, Monte Walters, Lawrence Griffith and Harry Ferland, convict murderers still lurked behind the bullet riddled walls of the two-story brick mess hall of the Western state penitentiary.

For more than two days and two nights the gunmen there have held the improvised fortress, despite the combined efforts of prison guards, a troop of national guard machine gunners, volunteer citizen riflemen to dislodge them.

The desperate courage of the lost legion—those men with "all to gain and nothing to lose"—carried the fight through two barrages from rifles and machine guns that drove a stream of bullets through the mess hall walls tearing out large holes in the north and west sides at points where the fire was concentrated; a gas attack released by tear gas bombs lobbed into the building through breaches in the walls, and bombardment of rifle grenades.

Just before midnight Governor Edwin P. Morrow ordered national guardsmen to the scene. Acting upon a request for reinforcement from Warden John Chilton who said the machine gunners were worn out by the strain of the long watch, Governor Morrow ordered 25 members of Co. L, 129th Infantry, Mayfield, to the scene. They were expected to arrive by noon today.

U. D. C. DELEGATES AT GREENSBORO VERY BUSY

Memorial Services, Morning and Afternoon Sessions and Luncheon Are Features of Today's Program. Greensboro, N. C., Oct. 5.—Observance of a memorial hour at noon today with a roll call of departed members, a luncheon at the Greensboro country club as guests of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs, and morning and afternoon business sessions featured the annual convention of the North Carolina Department of the United Daughters of the Confederacy today.

This afternoon the delegates were taken for a trip of inspection of Guilford battleground, where the armies of General Greene and Cornwallis fought, and this evening will be introduced to Major Charles M. Steadman, the only Confederate veteran in Congress; and Col. W. H. Chapman, second in command in Mosby's famous raiders, and one of the few survivors of that band.

A historical program will be rendered this evening, and in addition to an address by Major Steadman on "North Carolina's Part in the War Between the States," Mrs. Livingstone Rowe Schuyler, of New York, president general of the United Daughters of the Confederacy, will also speak.

The election of officers and selection of the next meeting place are matters of business slated to come up during the final session Saturday morning.

REBATES COLLECTABLE. JUDGE DEVIN DECIDES

$150,000 Rebates Granted Liggett and Myers May Now Be Collected—Ruling Appealed. Hillsboro, Oct. 5.—Tax rebates granted the Liggett and Myers and American Tobacco companies in 1921 by former Commissioner of Revenue A. D. Waters are collectable, Judge A. Devin ruled in Superior court here this afternoon. The suit which involves approximately $150,000 was instituted some time ago by W. S. Markham, former Durham county tax agent, against the tobacco companies, the Durham county commissioners, city council and sheriff, seeking to force collection of rebates granted on the 1920 valuation of tobacco holdings in Durham county.

Immediately after the judgment today the defendants entered notice of appeal to the Supreme Court of North Carolina. The case will not be taken up, it is said, before next March.

Government Still Seeks Employes by the Thousands.

Washington, Oct. 6.—Despite the fact that the number of federal employes has been reduced by nearly 400,000 since the close of the war, the Civil Service Commission sees no prospect of a considerable decrease in the number of opportunities for government employment. To meet the normal turnover, which in a tremendous force like the government's is necessarily large, the commission held examinations in the year ended June 30, 1923, for more than six hundred different kinds of positions, in which more than 200,000 persons competed. Present indications are that the number for this fiscal year will be as great.

A study of the examinations held during the past two years reveals an interesting range of positions all the way from charwoman and laborer, for which the primary requirement is good physical condition, to those which demand qualifications of a very high order, such as agricultural transportation economist at a salary of $4,000 to $5,500, and mechanical and electrical engineer at a salary of $5,000.

Mrs. Wagner Found Guilty. Paducah, Ky., Oct. 6.—Mrs. Henrietta Wagner, 60, was adjudged guilty of the murder of Rosetta Warren, and her unborn child, who were blown up by dynamite here last April and sentenced to life imprisonment in court here today.
