LADIES' NIGHT PROVED EVENT OF INTEREST

Rotarians Had Their Annual Meeting at Which Ladies Are Honor Guests.

Tuesday night was ladies' night at the Concord Rotary Club and the gymnasium at the Y. M. C. A., where the meeting was held, was the scene of merriment, cheer and interest. The address of welcome was by Rotarian John Oglesby, after which there was a stunt, "New Vegetables," under the direction of Rotarian Leslie Bell. It consisted of a guessing contest as the vegetables were passed the diners and aroused much merriment. Two readings by little Miss Lorraine Blanks, daughter of the new Y. M. C. A. Secretary, made a decided hit and she was enthusiastically encored.

The musical program was by Mrs. Sloane, of Charlotte, accompanied by Miss Nell Herring. Always a Concord favorite, Mrs. Sloane's selections Tuesday evening were received with unusual evidences of appreciation and she and Miss Herring were required to respond to several encores.

The evening's program was concluded with three stunts, featuring F. C. Niblock, A. F. Hartsell, Maury Richmond, Alex Howard, Arthur Odell and Cliff Byrd.

MISS CARLTON IS TO SEEK ANNULMENT OF HER MARRIAGE

To "Alan Dwan Prindell" - Her Father, Dr. J. F. Carlton, Makes This Announcement.

ALREADY HAD A LIVING WIFE

Evidence Indicates That He Lived Here Under an Assumed Name - Affidavit From His Wife.

The following is copied from the Statesville Daily of Tuesday, November 13th: Dr. J. F. Carlton will take legal steps to annul the marriage of his daughter, Elizabeth, to Alan David Prindell, which marriage took place in Concord Wednesday morning, October 3rd. This step has been decided upon following receipt of enough evidence to indicate that her husband lived here under an assumed name and that he already had a living wife and from whom he had not been legally divorced.

To substantiate the allegations above set forth, Dr. Carlton will offer as evidence an affidavit from Mrs. Helen Dwan, of Frankfort, Ky. The substance of this affidavit is that she was married to Alan Dwan May 22, 1919, in Oklawaha City, Okla.; that they have been separated since some time March, 1923, and so far as she knows they have not been divorced. From information she has received, she states, she is positive that Allan David Prindell and Alan Dwan are one and the same person; that he had written to her a number of times from Concord and Statesville, stating that he was at these places under the assumed name of Allan D. Prindell.

Mrs. Dwan states that after their marriage they lived together in Oklawaha City for about a year; then at Oklawaha, Okla., until some time in March of the present year. From there Dwan went to New York City and Mrs. Dwan to Chicago, where she remained until July of the present year, when she came to Frankfort, Ky., where she has since been employed with a publishing company. Mrs. Dwan says there was no special reason why she and her husband separated other than financial reasons. She does not know much of Dwan's early life but he had told her that he was born in Waterbury, Conn.

When the announcement was made some weeks ago that Mrs. Prindell would not live again with her husband, suspicion was aroused that Prindell had another wife but the affidavit is the first definite evidence of this contention. Along with this suspicion was heard the more specific charge that he had left unpaid bills here and there where he had lived and that he had been rather free in issuing worthless checks. Some local people can testify as to this.

MR. TROTTER AT KANNAPOLIS

Evangelist Says God Has But Small Use For Moral Wobblers.

Asserting that God has no use for the fearful and tremblers in moral matters, Melvin Trotter, evangelist preaching at Kannapolis Tuesday night, declared that to be acceptable to God one must be firm in religious principles.

He spoke to a well filled auditorium and delivered his message with no little vigor. He also spoke in the afternoon.

Following are excerpts from his night talk: "Forty years before Deborah had sung her song of peace when the awful Midian oppression set in, the Midianites flocked into the land of Israel like flies and took possession of the land, crops and houses, and raped and murdered the women, slew their children and made slaves of the men. Israel had sinned, and for seven years such suffering has never been known, not even in our own cruel war. At last they realized their only hope was in God and began to pray for deliverance. And of course God always hears the cries of His people; and as they confessed their sins He proved Himself faithful and forgave them.

"When God has a message for the world He always finds the man He can trust to bring it. He went into the country and found a farmer boy named Gideon. When He told Gideon what He wanted, Gideon proved to be from Missouri. He said: 'If you want me you'll have to show me.' And he made a proposition like this to God: 'If you really want me, let the dew fall upon this sheepskin that I will stick outside my door and the ground all around it be perfectly dry.'

"I don't believe Gideon slept much that night. Early in the morning he got up and wrung a bowl of water out of the fleece. Still afraid there might be some mistake in his call, he asked God to be patient with him and give him another night with the sheepskin, only he said: 'Let the sheepskin be dry and the ground wet.' And again God answered his prayer.

"It's unsafe to criticize a prayer that God answers. Often we don't like the way a man prays, but if God answers him you had better leave your hands off. Gideon made a call for an army and the very first flop out of the box he got 32,000 men, hungry, no weapons, yet they were ready to do anything for deliverance. The Lord looked them over and said: 'You've got too many men,' and told them to send the fearful and trembling home. And 22,000 of them went home so fast that you couldn't see them for dust. Look at that bunch a minute. Mighty few to fight, but God wants quality and not quantity. The fearful man is the fellow that's afraid of the enemy; always talking about 'the power of the word.' We have them today and they're not worth a dollar a hundred in the church."

"When we used to talk prohibition the fearful would say: 'It can't be done; the liquor interests have more money than the national banks.' When we said slavery ought to go out of this country our fearful brethren would talk about it as an institution that was too powerful to change. When we decided that segregated and redlight districts must go, aid fearful would talk about a necessary evil, and our nation must always have it.

"God can't fight with that kind of soldiers. Greater is he that is in you than he that is in the world. The devil may be mighty, but God is almighty, and God has sent brother 'fearful' home. "Now the tremblers are a different bunch. They believe that God is greater than the enemy, but they are afraid in the winning they may lose their lives. It costs too much to win. Mr. Business Man says: 'If I put my name on that petition I'll lose trade. I know it's wrong, but I can't afford to make it right.' Every move for civic rightness is met by Mr. Trembler with old Mr. Will-it-pay-or-can-we-afford-it. They make poor soldiers and God sends them home.

"With 10,000 left Gideon starts to prepare for battle when God stops him again and tells him he still has too many men. The 10,000 were brave—not a fearful or trembling one among them. God said to take them down to the river and give them a drink and He would separate them there. Gideon asked them all down to take one on him and he watched them as they drank. Nine thousand seven hundred of them laid off their armor and helmets and crawled down on their knees, forgetful of the enemy, and drank. Three hundred men kept their eyes on the enemy, kept their armor and helmets on, ready at a moment's notice to fight. With their hands they dipped water and lapped it like a dog, and God said: 'With the 300 men that lapped will I save you, and the 9,700 I'll send home. They were good folk and brave, but they took too much time for unnecessary things and God can't use them. Sitting down by the river side and drinking and the world going to hell.

"Many a true Christian father and mother, true to their church and their God, right tonight to do know where their boys and girls are. At home in their slippers and smoking jackets and the kid out with the typewriter raising the devil. They are in no hurry, take time to eat and sleep and rest, and the enemy right under their nose robbing them of their loved ones. Good folks—none better—brave in every way but not on the job for God.

"What Kannapolis needs is 300 men who are courageous and consecrated and able to do without—300 who do not sit by the streams and drink, but lap it and go to work. The world is in bondage and praying to God for deliverance. Will you go? Some one did go for me. I had tried everything. In my extremity I cried to God, and on a snowy Tuesday night in January God heard my prayer and raised up a little army of workers and had them in Pacific Garden mission in Chicago. They took me into His presence and He delivered me from my sin, and tonight all over Kannapolis people are crying to God for deliverance. Will 300 say, with the prophet, 'Here am I, Lord; send me?'"

Inactive Liver "I have had trouble with an inactive liver," wrote Mrs. S. Nichols, of 4412 Spencer St., Houston, Texas. "When I would get constipated, I would feel a light, dizzy feeling in my head. To get up in the morning with a lightness in the head and a trembly feeling is often a sign that the stomach is out of order. For this I took Thedford's Black-Draught, and without a doubt can say I have never found its equal in any liver medicine. It not only cleans the liver, but leaves you in such a good condition. I have used it a long time, when food does not seem to set well, or the stomach is a little sour." If it isn't Thedford's it isn't BLACK-DRAUGHT Liver Medicine.
