Efforts are being made to get a special car for Concord people on the Southern for the game to be operated on trains Nos. 44 and 35 on the day of the game, but if this car is not obtained it is certain that practically all of the Concord people will drive to Chapel Hill rather than spend two nights on the train, as they will have to do unless the special car is provided.

LOCAL DRY AGENT HELPS IN RAIDS ON BREWERIES

D. F. Widenhouse Writes of His Experiences in Pennsylvania, Where He Is On Special Duty.

Daniel F. Widenhouse, federal prohibition agent, with headquarters in this county, is finding many interesting experiences in Pennsylvania at present, according to a letter received by The Tribune from him. The efficient run humber of the Red Cross in the service of the world, except probably for the services of a nurse for stated times. But there are parts of this State that have been in distress when this organization manifested the real spirit for which it stands. But the fact that we may have never had to call on the Red Cross for its services does not relieve us from the obligation of helping in this Roll Call. We are not certain that we shall always be so fortunate. But larger still is our opportunity of helping an organization that has in the past and is now doing a most excellent work among the less fortunate of the world's population. This is purely a work of mercy. It seeks no asks for no rewards for its services. It is more than merely helping a person out of a difficulty, it is uniting the whole world in a bond of mutual fellow-feeling. So nothing less than the desired amount for this community should be thought of, nor should anything less be satisfactory. We are accustomed to doing what is asked of us, but more is the measure of the spirit of service.

THE RED CROSS ROLL CALL

There Are But Few Calls Which Have a Larger Breadth Than This One.

In the Red Cross Roll Call this week this community is given an opportunity to express itself in a splendid fashion. There are few calls that have a larger breadth to them than this one. The things that this organization stands for are, or ought to be, familiar to every one. So that when we are asked to contribute "a heart and a dollar" we are asked to make about as small a contribution as could be possibly expected. However the largest of the two is the first. If this community will make the contribution of the heart for this world-wide cause the dollars will not be lacking.

To my knowledge this particular part of our country has never had the occasion to make any demand for the services of the Red Cross in any large way, except probably for the services of a nurse for stated times. But there are parts of this State that have been in distress when this organization manifested the real spirit for which it stands. But the fact that we may have never had to call on the Red Cross for its services does not relieve us from the obligation of helping in this Roll Call. HURT WHEN AUTOMOBILES CRASH MONDAY NIGHT

Baxter Allman Suffered Two Broken Ribs and Negro Was Badly Hurt in the Crash.

Baxter Allman, well known man of this city and driver of one of the trucks for the Concord Steam Laundry, and Anzi Gilmer, negro, were hurt in an automobile crash which occurred Monday night about 6 o'clock near the Concord Steam Bakery on Corbin Street. In the accident Mr. Allman suffered two broken ribs and Gilmer was severely shaken up and was unable to talk or move for some time following the accident.

Police officers stated this morning that they did not know definitely how the accident occurred or who was responsible. Mr. Allman, it is understood, stated that he came into Corbin Street from Bell Avenue and was on the right-hand side of the road when Gilmer struck him. Gilmer, it was reported, had not talked of the accident, but a companion told the police that in his opinion, Gilmer was not on the wrong side of the road. However, several persons who saw the wrecked cars, stated that the accident seemingly occurred on the right-hand side of the road. At least the cars were on that side of the road after the accident.

The truck Mr. Allman was driving was not badly damaged, but the truck which Gilmer was driving, and which is the property of Mr. M. E. Woody, for whom he worked, was practically ruined.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY SYSTEM

The Next Hundred Million

On the Southern Railway System in the past ten years we have invested more than $100,000,000 in the enlargement of our facilities to provide for the growth of traffic over our 8,300 miles of lines.

The remarkable industrial growth of the South has made necessary every dollar of this expenditure.

But the South is going to keep on growing. More railroad facilities will be demanded. Another $100,000,000 will be needed for track and terminals and equipment in the next few years.

How will the next hundred million be provided?

With the continued cooperation of the people of the South, the Southern Railway System will be able not only to save a part of its earnings to provide additional facilities, but also to attract new capital from the investment markets of the world, and thus increase the wealth of the South.
