

SOCIAL & PERSONAL

Miss Adelaide Caldwell Married in New York City.

Charlotte Observer. Of deepest interest to a wide circle of friends throughout the state will be the announcement of the marriage of Miss Adelaide Peason Caldwell, of this city, and Mrs. Charles Ormond Butler, of Wilmington and Waycross, Ga. which took place Saturday afternoon, December 1, at 5:30 o'clock at the Waldorf-Astoria hotel, New York City, Rev. William Pierson Merrill, D. D., pastor of the Brick Presbyterian church on Fifth avenue, officiating.

There were no attendants and only relatives of the bride and bride-groom and a few intimate friends were present for the simple ceremony of the Presbyterian church, which was used.

King's Daughters to Meet. The King's Daughters will meet this evening at 7 o'clock with Miss May White, at her home on Franklin avenue. All members are urged to attend.

Missionary Circle to Meet. The Laura Harris Circle of the Woman's Missionary Society of Central Methodist Church will meet on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock with Miss Pat Adams at the home of Mrs. W. C. Houston.

Birthday Dinner. Mr. L. H. Johnson was given a birthday dinner Sunday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Leighton Brown, with whom he makes his home. The delicious dinner, served in courses, was given in honor of Mr. Johnson's twenty-third birthday and every one of his children and grandchildren were present. Mr. Johnson enjoys a rather enviable position for a man of his age, as every one of his children and grandchildren live within a radius of four city blocks.

Blackwelder-Ridenour. A pretty wedding was solemnized Saturday afternoon at two o'clock when Miss Addie Ridenour became the bride of Mr. Charlie Blackwelder at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ridenour on East Corbin street.

With Miss Lillian Cline at the piano Mr. C. J. M. Blume, brother of the bride, sang "At Dawning," after which the bridal party entered to the strains of Lohengrin's Wedding March.

Rev. L. A. Thomas, pastor of the bride and groom, took his place at the altar, which was decorated with ferns and ivy and lighted with candles. The bride's only attendant was little Miss Helen Grady, cousin of the bride, dressed in pink crepe de chine, carrying the ring in a white rose. The bride and groom entered together. The ring ceremony of the Lutheran Church was used. The bride wore a lovely one piece dress of blue and grey crepe combined with accessories to match, and wearing a corsage of pink roses.

Mrs. Blackwelder is the attractive daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Ridenour and held a position with the Concord Telephone Company for several years. Mr. Blackwelder is a young business man of Concord and a son of Mr. and Mrs. R. V. Blackwelder.

After the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Blackwelder left for Asheville to spend several days, after which they will make their home in Concord.

Party at Country Club. Miss Mary O'Neal, of Rock Hill, and Miss Mary Heath Jones, of Lancaster, S. C., who are the guests of Miss Margaret Virginia Ervin, were the honor guests at a week-end party at the Cabarrus County Club Saturday evening.

Kennett-McCain. A marriage that will be of peculiar interest to social circles throughout this section of the State, took place in High Point Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock when Miss Laura McCain, of Waxhaw, became the bride of Mr. J. A. Kennett, of this city.

The marriage was witnessed by only a few relatives of the bride and took place at the home of Dr. W. R. McCain, brother of the bride. The announcement of the marriage received by relatives here did not state when Mr. and Mrs. Kennett will return to their home here.

Mrs. Kennett is a daughter of the late William McCain, prominent for many years in the life of Waxhaw. Since the death of her mother several months ago she had been making her home in High Point. She is a college graduate and a woman of culture and refinement.

Mrs. A. C. Cline, of this city, is a cousin of Mrs. Kennett.

Mr. Kennett is a well known business man of Concord, where he has been a cotton broker for a number of years.

Dreher-Schenck. Greensboro News. Mrs. Bertha Schenck, Mr. and Mrs. Merlin Schenck, Miss Virginia Schenck and Gordon Schenck returned last evening from Wilmington where they attended the wedding Tuesday evening of Luthergirl Virgil Schenck, son of Mrs. Bertha Schenck, and Miss Martha Dreher, of Wilmington. Miss Schenck and Gordon Schenck were attendants in the wedding.

Record Crowd Attends Record Game at "The Hill"

Despite a downpour of rain in the morning, 18,000 persons, it is estimated, witnessed the annual gridiron classic at Chapel Hill between Carolina and Virginia, in which the two teams played to a scoreless tie for the first time in the 31 years of athletic relations between the two universities. The rain held up before the game, but it was played on wet grounds in a damp, cold wind.

Cook-Goodman. Mr. Marshall Cook and Miss Ethel Goodman were united in marriage at the Reformed parsonage Wednesday afternoon, Nov. 28, the ceremony being performed by Rev. W. C. Lyerly. The parents of both the bride and groom were present. These young people are from Kannapolis and will make their home there.

Celebrates 15th Birthday Anniversary. Miss Ethelina Lineberger celebrated her 15th birthday anniversary Monday evening, November 26th, by entertaining about twenty of her friends at her home on South Spring street. Numerous games and dancing were enjoyed throughout the evening, after which the guests were invited into the dining room by Mrs. Lineberger, where hot chocolate, crackers and cake were served.

The following enjoyed Miss Lineberger's hospitality: Misses Mary McLellan, Helen and Evelyn Goodman, Mary E. Davis, Virginia Moser, Zula Petrea, Ethel Gaskel, Bessie Griffin; Messrs. Robert Cline, Jayson Gaskel, Jay Shive, Wilson Griffin, Clyde Widenhouse, Billie Caldwell, Kenneth Goodman, Reece Bostian, Miles Jones, Dowd Shinn, Dee Witt Best and Jit Lineberger.

Concord Pastor Remembered. Rev. J. Frank Armstrong, of Forest Hill, asks us to express for him and his family their sincere appreciation of a number of good things which their friends brought or sent to them for Thanksgiving. A hundred weight of Bon-Ton flour was found on the back porch of the parsonage Wednesday night with absolutely nothing to identify the big, thoughtful heart that sent it. A most dependable "staff" on which to lean, nevertheless.

King's Daughters to Meet. The Concord chapter of King's Daughters will meet Monday evening at 7 o'clock with Miss May White, at her home on Franklin Avenue.

Tanenhaus Store Employees Feast. Charlotte News. M. S. Yachelson, manager of Tanenhaus Stores, 205 East Trade street, will entertain the store employees at dinner Wednesday night at the Selwyn. This is an annual affair of this store. In addition to discussions of business connected with the operation of the store will be carried out. Mr. Yachelson will be toastmaster.

EVERYBODY DOING IT NOW SO HERE GOES

All-State Team is Chosen by Tribune With Aid of Concord Men Who Have Seen Number of Games. Ends—Faison, Davidson; Carter, Trinity. Tackles—Matthews and McIver, Carolina. Guards—Poindexter, Carolina; Bostian, State. Center—Simpson, Trinity. Quarterback—McDonald, Carolina. Halfbacks—Greason, Wake Forest; Bonner, Carolina. Fullback—Shipp, Trinity.

Football in North Carolina this year did not rise to the height it obtained last season. There was no "wonder team" such as Bill and Bob Fetzer trained at "The Hill" last year and aside from local interest, which is maintained on campuses and in home towns in even the leanest years, there was little excitement aroused by the eleven of the leading institutions in the State. Fans in surrounding state found no grid machine in North Carolina to arouse their interest or lay claim to district titles, and the season must be classed as a mediocre one when compared to the one of 1922.

And as the calibre of football has been below the standard, there are few outstanding stars to be placed on the mythical eleven being chosen in almost complete regularity in all parts of the State and being captioned "All-State" teams. For this reason the task of choosing such a team is less complicated, although under any circumstances it is dangerous. In fact, as one scribe puts it, next to lighting a match to see how much gasoline is in the tank, the most hazardous occupation is to survey the eleven and select an All-State team. But the public is not bound by the decision and every one will go on just as before in selecting their "all-stars" and pointing out the weakness in the eleven chosen by the other man.

There was no outstanding end in North Carolina this year, although a number of the wingmen played consistent ball throughout the season. Capt. Morris, of Carolina, Capt. Faison, of Davidson, Carter of Trinity, and Pezono, of Wake Forest, seem the best quartette, with little to choose between them. Faison is selected, however, for one end because of his steady, consistent playing, and Carter gets the other end. Capt. Morris started off the season in good fashion, but somehow after his illness he was never the same player he was last season. He was taken out of the Virginia game and seemed to lack the snap and pep that characterized his play last season. Carter is aggressive, fast on punts and about the average as a receiver of passes.

The tackle positions in the state were filled by a number of good men but of them all the best were Moran, Wake Forest, Matthews and McIver, of Carolina, and Cox of State. The Carolina line was by far the best in the State and McIver and Matthews played an important part in its efficiency. They are chosen as the tackles. Both men played stellar ball in the Virginia game. Ellerbee, of Wake Forest, is another man who deserves special mention.

At guard Poindexter, of Carolina, was decidedly the best in the State. As his running mate we choose Captain Bostian, of State, a center by trade, but a player of ability who could fill in admirably at guard. Both men are powerful and consistent. Beatty, of State, Johnson, of Wake Forest, Baker, of Elon, and Taylor, of Trinity, all deserve credit for their season's work.

Simpson was easily the best center in the State this year. In fact, he would have starred anywhere else, we believe. In addition to playing the role of center to perfection, being spectacular on both the defense and offense, Simpson did the drop kicking for his team, called signals in several games and handled the punting assignment in other games. He was good in each role and is recognized as one of the outstanding figures in the abbreviated constellation of stars brought out this season. Emerson, of Wake Forest, played good ball at center, but was not so good as Simpson.

Choosing a quarterback and field general for this eleven is an easy matter. McDonald, of Carolina, led the field by a wide margin. He is the nearest thing to a triple-threat man the State produced this year and was easily 75 per cent. of the offensive strength of his team.

Greason, of Wake Forest, and Bonner, of Carolina, have shown up as well as any backs in the State this year. Bonner was McDonald's chief assistant in the Carolina attack and Greason made many of the gains registered by the Bonnerists. Jonston, of State, and Rackley, of Wake Forest, were good back in this season which showed a dearth of back-field material, but we pick Greason and Bonner before them.

Shipp is selected for fullback. Weighing but little more than 150 pounds Shipp has been the star of the Methodist attack throughout the season and he would make an ideal running mate for the speedy Bonner and Greason. Shipp would be the fastest man in the back-field, and although light he has shown ability to pick holes when made for him. In addition to running with the ball he would be valuable as a punter, as he alternated with Simpson in the kicking game for Trinity. There was no outstanding fullback in the State.

This team should really be designated as the Concord "all-State" selection, as a number of the most prominent gridiron followers of the city added their advice when the selections were made. These men, with the writer, have seen every team in the State in action, and have seen several of them in two games.

Pageant Presented. An audience that taxed the capacity of St. James Lutheran Church witnessed the rendition of the pageant, "Songs of Grateful Hearts," by the members of the Light Brigade of the Church Sunday night. An attractive feature of the pageant was the singing of a Japanese song in the foreign language by little Miss Rebecca Norman, daughter of Rev. and Mrs. C. E. Norman, returned missionaries from Japan.

At this service Mrs. Jno. M. Cook, the leader of the Light Brigade, presented to Mr. Norman a pin in the form of a cross, a sign that he is now a life member of the Women's Missionary Society of the United Lutheran Church of America, having been made so by the Light Brigade of St. James Lutheran Church from whose midst he went to the foreign field.

Rev. Dr. A. G. Dixon Preaches Here. Rev. A. G. Dixon, D. D., president of the North Carolina conference of the Methodist Protestant Church, held the first quarterly conference for the First Church here last Saturday night, at which time reports were read of the different phases of church work. Dr. Dixon occupied the pulpit of this church on Sunday morning, and preached a very practical sermon. He was heard by a large congregation, as he is very popular here where he has often visited and held services.

He congratulated the pastor, Rev. Lawrence Little, and members on the first record that has been made since Mr. Little was assigned to this pastorate for a month. At a meeting with the pulpit supply committee, which is composed of Mr. D. A. McLaurin, chairman of the board of stewards, and Messrs B. F. Waddell and L. H. Sides, Mr. Dixon stated that he had not as yet been able to secure a regular pastor for this church, and appointed Mr. Little to serve for another month. Mr. Dixon held services at Allison's Grove at 3 p. m. and Mrs. Dixon made an address to the congregation at the Roberts church last night at 7 o'clock.

Former Concord Man Edits Anti-Klan Paper. Mr. Manly L. Misenheimer, formerly a resident of this city and who was when a boy an employe of The Times office, is now editor and publisher of the Johnston County Free Press, of Tishomingo, Oklahoma, which is heralded as the official state organ of the Anti-Ku Klux Klan Association, and also has the endorsement of the Oklahoma branch of the Farm Labor Union.

A recent issue of the paper carries a big display page ad of a state convention of the anti-klan organization, which was scheduled to be held at Durant, Oklahoma, yesterday, and at which former Governor J. C. Walton was to be the chief speaker.

A Few Reasons For Supporting the Anti-Tuberculosis Campaign.

- First—Because the death rate from this disease is so high.
- Second—Because the plague may invade any home almost any day.
- Third—Because the longevity of the human family is shortened by the disease.
- Fourth—Because the longevity of insurable persons has been, according to life insurance statistics, lengthened 11 per cent. on account of the work already done.
- Fifth—Because the disease can be prevented through co-operation on the part of all.
- Sixth—Because we are interested in health conditions, especially in our own state, county and town.

Concord League Union to Hold Meeting.

The Concord-Kannapolis-Moont' Olivet Epworth League will hold the regular monthly meeting in Forest Hill Methodist Church, this city, next Monday night, December 10th, at 7:45 o'clock. One of the largest crowds in the history of the organization is expected. The music will be a star feature. Also some fine addresses. Young people of this city and all the territory embraced by this organization, clear everything out of the way and arrange to be present.

Concord Well Represented at the Pinehurst Meeting.

Concord was well represented at the convention of North Carolina Cotton Manufacturers' Association which was held at Pinehurst last week. Among those in attendance from Concord were Mr. Thomas H. Webb, Mr. Alexander R. Howard, Mr. and Mrs. E. Sauvain, Mr. M. L. Cannon, Mrs. J. W. Cannon and Miss Fisher, and Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Cannon. Mr. R. S. Mebane, of Great Falls, S. C., was the guest of Mr. M. L. Cannon.

Injured in Peculiar Manner.

Mr. Adam Klutz was injured in a peculiar accident last night. As he and several friends were leaving a club room of the city one member of the party turned off the lights. Another member of the party turned to throw a book he had in his hand to a table, but instead he threw the book at Mr. Klutz, who was struck in the eye. The injury proved so painful that Mr. Klutz was taken to Charlotte, where his eye was examined and treated by a specialist. It is not known yet how serious the injury may be.

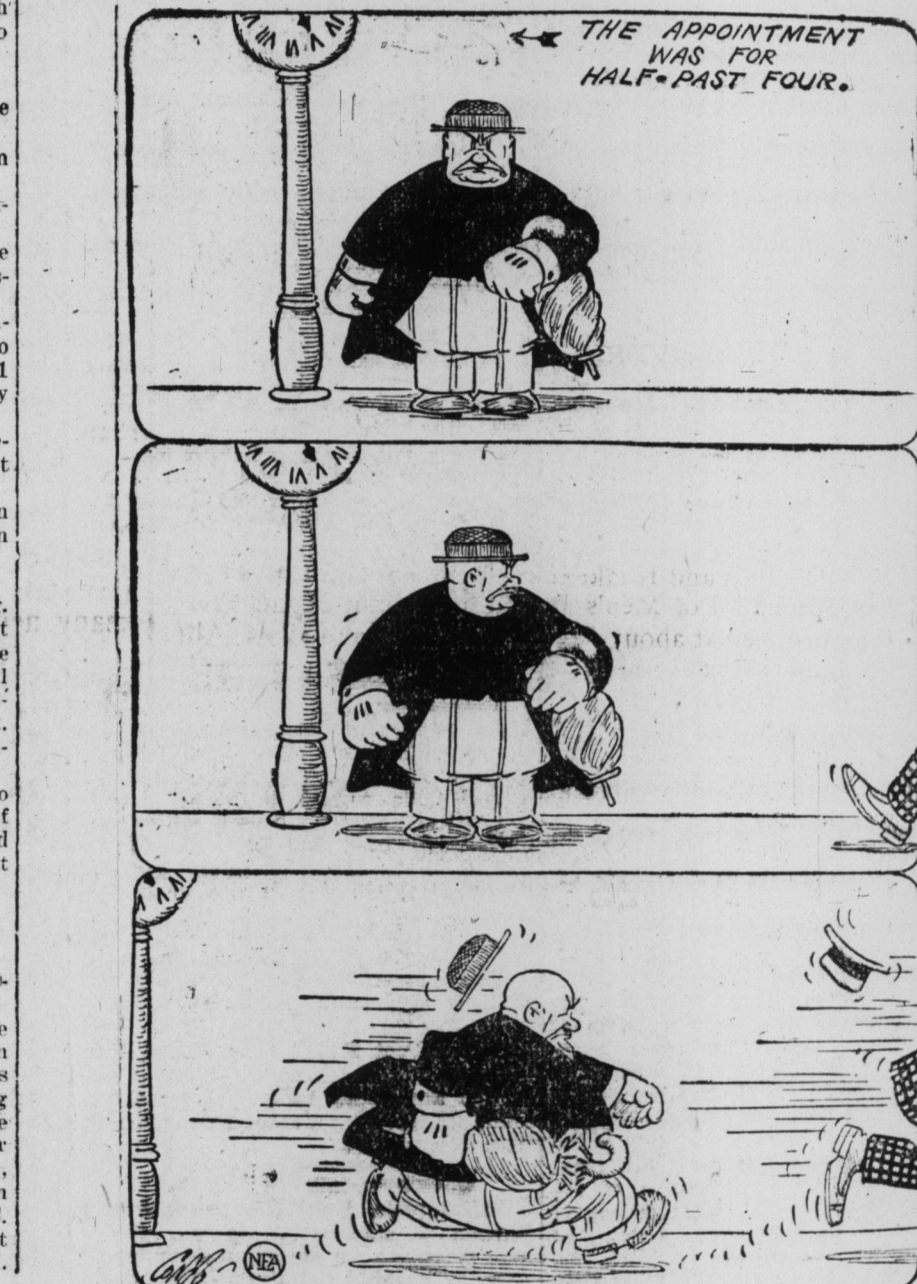

At the Theatres.

Leo Maloney in "King's Creek Law" and "Fire! Fire!" a comedy, are being offered today at the Pastime. At the Piedmont today "The Santa Fe Trail" and "The Devil's Partner" are the two attractions. Walter Heiss, big screen star, plays the leading role at the Star today in "60 Cents an Hour." There will be a meeting of the Alumni Association of the University of North Carolina at the Merchants & Manufacturers Club on Tuesday evening at 7:30 o'clock. Dr. Daniel L. Grant, general Alumni Secretary, will be present.
