SMITH ALSO GETS ENCOURAGING WELCOME

Hundreds of Supporters Packed Into Hall to Hear Him.—Speech Made by Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Madison Square Garden, New York. The Democratic National convention today opened up with a new program for Wm. G. McAdoo.

The convention got underway at 10 o'clock, and was presided over by McAdoo.

The speaker's stand in the center of the hall was surrounded by a group of men and women from her husband's campaign headquarters.

As the demonstration passed the three-quarter hour mark, the din seemed to increase rather than decrease.

Mr. Roosevelt remained at the speaker's stand, supporting himself with his arms, and waving to the passing marchers during most of the parade.

Through the center aisle an enormous bouquet of flowers, carried above the heads of the demonstrators, was sent to the platform to Mr. Smith who was in a box with Mrs. Roosevelt at the rear of the hall near that occupied by Mrs. McAdoo.

At the hour and a quarter mark Mr. Roosevelt waved to his lieutenants on the floor to quiet the demonstration. Senator Walsh began hammering with the gavel and Mr. Roosevelt was lifted up beside him.

Some of them were dressed as ragamuffins, others as newsies, and all of them had automobile license plates hung around their necks bearing the words "All Smith."

GOV. SMITH GETS OVATION

Madison Square Garden, June 26.

Having given a renewed but brief demonstration for Wm. G. McAdoo, the democratic national convention today plunged into a rip-roaring demonstration for Alfred E. Smith that was going on unabated more than an hour after it started.

Like the principal McAdoo demonstration of yesterday, the Smith demonstration was aided and pushed along by a complete organization of demonstrators, hundreds of whom marched into the hall from the outside, bearing banners and noise making devices.

Galleries and guest sections obviously filled with friends of the New York Governor for today's event, let out a continuous series of yells, howls and whistles.

No sooner had Franklin D. Roosevelt finished his speech placing the New York Governor in nomination than the racket broke loose. Bands, rosters armed with megaphones, cheer leaders, singers and others with all the equipment of professional demonstrators, burst into the jammed aisles and began a procession about the hall.

From points of observation on the speaker's stand it appeared that probably half the delegate space was taking part in the demonstration, either by contributing to the marching parties which bore various state standards, or by standing on chairs and waving flags and joining the cheering.

The other section of delegate space, apparently interested in looking at the show, stood up, but gave no evidence of joining. In the machinery of the demonstration about every device seen heretofore and some new ones appeared.

Children as young as three and four years were used.
