MISS AMERICA'S FATHER ARRESTED AS DISORDERLY. Prize Beauty in Papa's Car at Celebration When He Toots His Horn Too Much.

Philadelphia Record. William S. Malcolmson, of No. 616 South Fifty-fifth Street, father of Miss Ruth Malcolmson, who was crowned "Miss America" at the beauty pageant in Atlantic City last summer, was arrested last night by Motorcycle Policeman Aljely, of the Thirtieth district, on a charge of disorderly conduct.

Malcolmson was driving one of the machines given to the beauty queen by some of her admirers and was proceeding to Fifth Street and Glenwood Avenue, where a special demonstration in honor of his daughter was being staged by megachants in that section.

In the car with Malcolmson was his wife, Miss America herself, two of her publicity agents and two moving picture photographers. Everything was going along rosy until the car reached the scene of the celebration, where it is alleged that Malcolmson opened the cutout of the high priced car, making a terrific noise and keeping it up despite the warnings of policemen, who were trying to keep a crowd of several thousand people in order.

Aljely asked Malcolmson if he wouldn't stop the noise. Instead of doing so, Malcolmson is said to have opened the cutout again and made more noise, in the meantime taunting the officer, telling him that he would keep up the din as long as he pleased, whereupon Aljely placed him under arrest.

As this took place, the crowd got so boisterous that the lieutenant of the district rushed an extra detail of police to the scene of the celebration, fearing there would be a riot. The Malcolmson family was escorted, amid jeers, to the thirtieth district station.

COUNCIL IN ROCK HILL SUSTAINS POLICE CHIEF. Young Woman Appears in "Hinkers" to Make Charges—May Now See the City.

Rock Hill, S. C., Nov. 17.—After hearing, between occasional snorts, testimony by Miss Willie Trammell, Oden's storekeeper, in support of her charge that Chief of Police J. M. Youngblood, of Rock Hill, had insulted her in regard to her wearing on the streets here what she terms a "blue knicker suit," a statement from the chief and Dr. R. A. Miller, of this city, council tonight formally declined to discharge the officer and unanimously exonerated him of all blame in the affair.

Miss Trammell wore the alleged "offending knicker suit," at her appearance and was accompanied by her mother, who sat close to her side as she told in a simple but nervous manner incidents that led to the controversy with Chief Youngblood.

More than 100 persons packed into the council chamber to hear the case rehearsed. The councilmen went into a 30-minute executive session before rendering a decision.

THE VILLAGES

Dear Folks: Tommy Bowles lives in a city that is known from coast to coast for its beauty spots and objects that are worthy of a boast. There are buildings, schools and churches, and a thousand other sights that are filled with much of interest, and their history delights all the visitors who marvel at the things so rich and rare, and who feel a thrill of pleasure as they walk around and stare.

So when Tommy's aunt from Lisbon came to look around a bit, she relied on Tommy's guidance, who was forced to then admit that he knew but very little of the town where he was raised, though he'd heard it had some relics that most everybody praised.

When they made the trip together, Tommy's eyes were opened wide. Then there came a look of wonder, of amazement and of pride on his face as he discovered that for years and years he'd missed many things that he had dreamed of, but had simply passed them by till a stranger to his city brought them closer to his eye.

All about us there are treasures, opportunities and joys that are shouting for attention, but because we hear their noise every day, we do not see them till a stranger comes around and imparts the startling knowledge that we walk on golden ground.

WRESTLING AT THE Y. Men, If You Do Not Grasp This Chance, You Are Missing Something.

For some time there has existed in this and nearby towns, the spirit of a good out and out tussle in a gymnasium or something of that sort. Now is your chance to develop yourself into the man you have longed to be. It is very easy to turn through the profusely illustrated pages of a well-known health magazine and admire and envy the pictures of noted physical culturists and wonder and even study how their remarkable development was obtained, but, it takes a real man to acquire such a development. It takes a man to rip off his shirt and snap into the hard things in life. It takes a man to take hold of his opportunities and make the best of them. It takes a man to corryet himself and turn all those stringy ligaments into swelling and well-rounded muscles, and that brain that is dulled by long business hours of dictation and cigar smoke, into a clear and responsive mind.

When you are walking down the main street of the city, do the admiring glances of bystanders follow you until you're out of sight? When you step up on the sidewalk, is it in a dragging motion, or does it come natural to land on the toes and spring lightly up?

Do you drag out of bed in the morning with eyes half open, and with a grouchy temper, and a distasteful appetite, or do you hop up from bed, run through your exercise, eat a light but hearty breakfast, kiss the wife good-bye, and step out on the walk feeling like the only rose in a garden of thorns, and walk with a brisk step through the main thoroughfare in a mood not unlike a frisky young colt?

Are you brimming over with vitality supreme, or are you absent from work one day per week on account of aching arches, etc?

Every man, woman and child should have some means of recreation, either indoor or outdoor, and for those who are not interested in hiking, etc., should take up the gymnasium as their line of sport.

The head of all gymnastic work is interesting, and Mr. Denny at the Y, has a class every Tuesday and Friday night, and everyone, unless he be professional is eligible and welcome.

Classes from Rocky River and Harrisburg have been organized and are now in full sway.

Half a dozen matches with colleges have already been scheduled.

During the winter cards will be seen with words like this: Carolina vs. Y. M. C. A., two matches. Davidson vs. Y. M. C. A., two matches. Trinity vs. Y. M. C. A., 2 matches.

Several fine drawing cards for preliminary bouts have been arranged and it was also said that a match was had with Washington and Lee, but was cancelled on account of the changing of their schedule, and deciding not to make a southern tour.

One of the special features this winter will be Young Blake, who is now with the Southeastern Construction Company, and has been consistently working at the Charlotte Athletic Club, and although he is in the light heavyweight division, will take on all heavyweights in the college matches at the Y.

Meu, if you do not grasp this opportunity, you are missing something. The Y wants you, and you are welcome. Come on in and get your workout, and feel fit as a king. BY OSCAR.

French Boy Knocks His Opponent. Paris, Nov. 17.—The story of a "knock-out" boxing fight, "Knock-out" speediness, was literally coming to life during a bout between two young heavyweights. They had been boxing and pulling each other through the after round when one of the boys caught the other on the front of the chin with a wild swing.

The one on the receiving end of the swing went down like a log. He was revived after a few minutes, but was amazed to find that he could not see. He had a single word, "Bullshit," and had gone completely dumb to the end of a swoon.

It was four days before the injured boxer recovered his speech. Doctors fished to the French Boy's eyes, but he declared that his jaw was broken, located, but that the blow was so severe, nerve hitherto unknown to science, that are making a further study of the matter.
