BISHOP CANNON DENOUNCES MODERN WOMEN TENDENCIES

They Spend Millions for Paint, Powder and Lipstick Stuff, He Says, While the Needs of the Church Go Begging.

Greensboro, Feb. 15.—Recalling that women of the country spent one hundred and seventeen million dollars last year for "paint, powder and lipstick stuff," Bishop James Cannon, of Richmond, Va., of the Southern Methodist Church, in a talk here today, said that he is "simply disgusted with the women."

He was talking on the centenary missionary program of the church and the great need of money for missions, comparing that with the vast expenditures made by people for other things.

He read the other day that Gloria Swanson had got married for the third time and that she announced she had signed a contract for seven thousand dollars a week—in other words, he said, that girl is going to make three hundred and sixty-five thousand dollars a year.

The baseball world series games played in Washington cost more than one million dollars, he estimated, counting the cost of persons getting there, getting in and getting back home.

Football, movies, automobiles running into billions, cigarettes, multiplied by millions—he named these spendings of people, and while not denouncing these amusements, he wanted to show that the country has great wealth and that the prosecution of the centenary program, under full steam, would not involve any undue sacrifice on the part of the people.

Pastors and laymen from Guilford, Randolph and Rockingham counties representing twenty-four churches of the Greensboro district of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, in special conference at West Market Street Church here this afternoon, pledged themselves to unswerving prosecution of the great centenary program and other missionary activities projected by the church.

Morning and afternoon sessions were held. Fred N. Tate, of High Point, district lay leader, presiding. The feature of the morning service was the sermon by Bishop Cannon, who has charge of the missionary program in Mexico, Cuba and the Congo. His subject was, "God's Challenge to the Church of Our Day."

The bishop is tremendously interested in the plan to raise $16,000,000, the amount remaining unpaid on centenary pledges made in southern Methodism in 1918, the original pledges having totaled $36,000,000.

COOPERS ARE TO EACH SERVE IN FEDERAL PRISON

Fome Lieutenant Governor of State Is Found to Be Guilty.

Wilmington, N. C., Feb. 14.—A jury in the United States District court today found former Lieutenant Governor W. B. Cooper and Thomas E. Cooper guilty on four counts of misappropriation of the funds of the Commercial National Bank and of making of false entries on the books of the institution.

Federal Judge J. C. Rose sentenced T. E. Cooper to three years in the Atlanta penitentiary on each count and W. B. Cooper to 18 months on each count. The sentences will run concurrently.

In a charge of an hour's duration, Federal Judge J. C. Rose presented the law governing the charges against Thomas E. Cooper, and W. B. Cooper, who have faced trial during the past seven days on various counts involving alleged violations of the National banking laws. The charge was regarded as a fair exposition of the charges.

The indictment, although as yet to be expected, quite a number of exceptions were filed by attorneys for the two defendants. These exceptions were permitted by the court, and will represent a part of the record in the event the cases eventually should go to the Circuit Court of Appeals under appeal from possible verdicts in the district court.

In the commencement of the charge, Judge Rose indicated that while originally there were thirteen counts in the bill of indictment, nine of these have been abandoned by the Government. The involved general allegations of misappropriation of funds, and of making false entries with intent to deceive, either the comptroller of the currency or National bank inspectors.

TOM COOPER WILL SERVE SENTENCE

To Withdraw His Appeal and Leave for Atlanta Prison Wednesday.

Wilmington, Feb. 15.—Loser in his gamble with a hunch as his stake that one member of the jury would refuse to convict him, Thomas E. Cooper, former president of the defunct Commercial National Bank, will on Wednesday of this week withdraw his appeal for a new trial and go to Atlanta to begin his three-year sentence in the federal prison, according to friends who were in conference with him in the New Hanover county stockade today.

No longer ago than Friday morning just before court convened for the last testimony against him, Cooper declined to enter a plea of guilty on one count, accept a sentence of three years in the Atlanta prison while a nol pro's would be taken in the cases pending against his brother, W. B. Cooper, indicted and convicted with him. He stuck to his faith in his luck and lost.

Accused of Theft, She Sues for $10,000.

Greensboro, Feb. 15.—A $10,000 damage suit is the result of a girl being arrested in High Point accused of the theft of a 15-cent handkerchief. Nellie Trotter is plaintiff in the suit, the complain of which is filed in Guilford Superior Court here, and charges that last December while in Gilmer's Store in High Point she was seized by the arm by G. L. Byerly, employe of the defendant, Gilmer, Inc. while she was inspecting the handkerchief with the prospect of buying it. This was done in the presence of a large number of persons, the complaint states, and she claims that her character was damaged thereby. It is further contended that she was called to say in jail for 24 hours until bail could be arranged and that when the case came up in municipal court she was found not guilty.

MAN OR MONKEY? IS SUBJECT OF MINISTER

Norfolk Preacher Uses Live Monkey to Illustrate Argument Against Evolution Theory.

Norfolk, Va., Feb. 15.—A congregation that overflowed the Park avenue Baptist church tonight heard the pastor, the Rev. Floyd T. Holland, D. D. preach on man or monkey, in which he used a live monkey to illustrate his argument against the theory of evolution.

The climax came late in the sermon when the monkey, borrowed from a local zoo and placed a few feet from the pulpit during the minister's discourse was held aloft in the pulpit as Dr. Holland pointed to the simian and challenged any one to stand up and acknowledge common ancestry with the animal. There was no response.

In announcing his subject Dr. Holland said he was not actuated by sensationalism but had chosen the particular theme because of the introduction of a measure in the North Carolina legislature designed to discourage the teaching in the supported schools of the Darwinian theory of the origin of man. He based his contentions largely on the book of Genesis and declared that a belief in evolution precluded a belief in the Bible. "The Bible must stand or fall on its reliability as the inspired word of God and if we cannot believe in the statements of the Bible we can not believe in religion," he added.

The minister pointed out what he said were discrepancies between calculations scientists as to the origin of man, characterized them as guesses and bitterly scored the teaching of any such doctrine in the schools and colleges of the country.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opened at Decline of 6 to 11 Points in Response to Lower Liverpool Cables.

New York, Feb. 16.—The cotton market opened at a decline of 6 to 11 points today in response to lower Liverpool cables and better prospects for rain in the southwest. Rumors of a sharp break in Egyptian cotton also were a factor in the decline, which carried the price of May contracts off to 24.42 before the end of the first hour, or about eighteen points net lower. Liverpool bought near months, but sold later deliveries here, while in London there was considerable commission house liquidation of both old and new crop positions.

The opening prices were: March 24.17; May 24.53; July 24.79; Oct. 24.65; Dec 24.67.

MARY L. McCATHERN WINS FIRST PRIZE IN STORY CONTEST

Winner Is Student at Sunderland School and She Intends to Take Trip to Europe Given as First Prize.

GREAT INTEREST SHOWN IN STORIES

Muriel Wolff, Catherine Widhouse and Francis Pickard Win Group Prizes and Trip to National Capital.

Sunderland Hall is all agog with excitement today as a result of the victory of one of the students of that institution in the Bible Story Contest held at the First Presbyterian Church last night. There is good reason for the excitement, too. As a result of the victory, Mary Louise McCathern wins a trip to Europe.

Mary Louise is barely 17. Her father and mother are both dead and for the past few years she has been living with relatives at Rocky River. Her parents died during the flu epidemic which swept the country during 1918. It has been one of her fondest ambitions to travel, but naturally she was unable to get around a great deal. Her longest journey was a trip she made several years ago to Virginia.

When the announcement came out about the contest and the trip to Europe as the grand prize, Mary Louise saw her chance. Despite the fact that she had made an effort a year ago in the contest and had not even drawn a place among the first three contestants, she set diligently to work to get a story in shape. Her story chosen, she labored over the memorizing and calling her instructors to help with the manner of telling it.

In the contest, she stood before the congregation which packed every inch of the Presbyterian Church and calmly gave a narration of some of St. Paul's experiences. There was never a quaver nor was there a hesitancy from the time she started until she had finished. During the entire recital, the audience was spell-bound.

She took her victory very calmly and when questioned about it, gave all the credit of winning to her teachers. Her teachers, however, had a different story to tell, insisting that she had won by hard work.

Other contestants in the group four who received mention were Helen Brown, McKinnon Presbyterian Church, and Francis Pickard of the First Presbyterian Church, won second and Muriel Wolff of St. James Lutheran Church, won third. Each of these winners received the prize of a trip to Washington. This contest was held at the Forest Hill Methodist Church before a full house.

In speaking of the audience which attended the First Presbyterian Church last night, Rev. J. C. Rowan said that it was a larger crowd than was present to hear Billy Sunday on his visit to Concord last year.

H. W. Blanks this morning expressed his appreciation to the pastors and Sunday School Superintendents of the city for their co-operation in making this contest such a success.

The contestants of group 3 were: No. 1—John Fink, Mt. Olive Methodist. No. 2—Ella Mae Dees—St. Andrews Lutheran. No. 3—Essie Caudle—Westford Methodist. No. 4—Francis Pickard, First Presbyterian. No. 5—Mable Hudson, Sunderland Hall.

No. 6—Mm. McClintock, A. R. P. No. 7—Catherine Widhouse, Forest Hill Methodist. No. 8—Muriel Wolff, St. James Lutheran. No. 9—Ruth Dayvault—Central Methodist. No. 10—Walena Crooks, McKinnon Presbyterian. No. 11—Pauline Lowder, Methodist Protestant. No. 12—Mildred Turner, Second Presbyterian. No. 13—Laura G. Barrier, Epworth Methodist.

The contestants for group 4 were: No. 1—Minnie Davis, Westford Methodist. No. 2—Mildred Propst, t. James Lutheran. No. 3—Robbie Corzine, Epworth Methodist. No. 4—Donald Wauchope, Second Presbyterian. No. 5—Gatha Sides, Methodist Protestant. No. 6—Helen Brown, McKinnon Presbyterian. No. 7—Curtis Keppner, St. Andrews Lutheran. No. 8—Mary Grady Parks, First Presbyterian. No. 9—Mary McEachern—Sunderland Hall. No. 10—Curtis Keppner, St. Andrews Lutheran. No. 11—Clarence Steward, Mt. Olive. No. 12—Mary E. Davis, Trinity Reformed.

A bout between Lou Tandler and K. O. Mars drew the largest attendance of any of the 25 boxing shows held in Cincinnati during 1924.

WORK OF STATE LEGISLATURE

Important Bills Are Expected to Be Enacted Into Laws During Present Week.

Raleigh, Feb. 16 (By the Associated Press).—With the peak of the session apparently just ahead, the General Assembly, following another recess, will meet tonight at 8 o'clock. Members are returning today from their homes were ready to tackle big tasks, both in the legislative halls and in committee rooms.

This week, it is predicted by lawmakers, will see some of the major legislation, including highway and bus bills, and probably a state wide game bill enacted into law. Evolution fight will come up tomorrow night and it is expected to draw many spectators. A minority report will be considered.

With a tentative revenue bill drawn up, the joint finance committees will spend the greater part of the week going over this proposed measure section by section, even line by line, in an attempt to squeeze dollars out of every available sentence. Members are free in the expression that this and the appropriation bill form the major task of legislative session. There will be every effort exerted to co-ordinate these two measures so as to make them fit, with a view to setting up a balanced budget. Backing up this effort, Representative Connor has introduced an executive budget bill, embodying the recommendations of Governor McLean in detail. There will be an effort made to put the state on a cash and carry basis, to prevent the recurrence of a deficit.

The game bill has many interested backers; the evolution measure will call for sharp debates on how far the State would go in regulating pedagogical prerogatives; the bus bill is all but agreed upon; and the executive budget is expected to be accepted in some form as it appears in line with present trend of legislative and executive expressed opinions. Local measures will continue to claim some of the attention of the representatives but the fiscal policies to be shaped are clearly the outstanding problems before the 1925 session of the general assembly.

MRS. C. C. CODDINGTON DIED SUDDENLY TODAY

Had Been Prominent in Social and Civic Life of Charlotte For Several Years.

Charlotte, Feb. 16.—Mrs. Margery Lyon Coddington, wife of C. C. Coddington, prominent automobile distributor, died at her home here early today of heart trouble, superinduced by indigestion. Funeral arrangements have not been completed. Mrs. Coddington is said to have apparently been in the best of health, and for several days had been hostess to a house party out of town guests. Dr. Baxter Moore, who attended her, said that late Sunday night she suffered an attack of heart trouble. Death occurred in less than an hour.

The hour of the funeral has not been arranged, pending the arrival of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. W. Lyon, of Atlantic City, N. J., and a sister, Mrs. Frances Lyon Holmes, also of Atlantic City. Mrs. Coddington is survived also by her husband and three sons.

Mrs. Coddington was forty years old. She was born in Thomasville and spent the greater part of her life in Greensboro, marrying Mr. Coddington in 1908. In 1909 they moved to Charlotte. She was prominent in social and civic affairs of the city.

Mersey's Mammoth Tunnel.

London, Feb. 16.—The great tunnel about to be built under the Mersey river, linking Liverpool with Birkenhead and other towns of the south bank of the river, will be the largest in existence. It will have an internal diameter of 45 feet, and will be built of cast iron with lining of concrete, the space between the cast iron and the sandstone rock being filled with a mixture of cement and lime forced in under pressure.

The main roadway on the upper deck will be thirty-six feet wide, and will accommodate two lines of traffic along in either direction. On the lower level there will be a double set of railway tracks.

The narrowest part of the river, where the tunnel is to be built, varies in width from 3,000 to 3,600 feet, but the approaches to the tunnel will be the greater part of a mile in length. The estimated cost of the tunnel is about $135,000,000.

Cotton Groups Hold Parley.

Austin, Tex., Feb. 16.—Plans for a campaign looking toward increasing production here of cotton per acre and better methods of marketing cotton, will be formulated here this week at a conference of the Southern Commissioners of Agriculture Association. The call for the conference was issued by B. E. Harris, commissioner of agriculture of South Carolina, who is president of the association. Ways and means to curb the activities of the cotton speculator and to insure the cotton farmer an equitable price for his product will be one of the most important problems to receive the attention of the agricultural commissioners.

Expensive Cartridges.

London, Feb. 16.—A record price for shotgun cartridges is that paid by a french millionaire sportsman, who has had them sent from Paris to Scotland by aeroplane. Each one cost him twenty francs. On his hunting trip in Scotland he carried shotguns of a special make, and when he reached his destination he found that he was unable to obtain ammunition for this type of gun. So he hired an aeroplane and sent his secretary to buy some in Paris.

Herriot Against Inflation.

Paris, Feb. 16 (By the Associated Press).—Premier Herriot, explaining the government's financial policy to the chamber of deputies this afternoon declared emphatically against inflation. "Cost what it may," he said, "France must in the solution of this problem maintain her reputation for financial probity. Cost what it may, she must resist all temptation to abandon the policy of avoiding inflation."

FILIBUSTER MOVE SENATE SEEMS LIKELY TO OCCUR

Night Sessions Are Started In Effort to Clear the Slate But Filibuster May Defeat the Measures.

HOUSE IN BETTER SHAPE AT PRESENT

There Many of the More Important Bills Have Passed.—Session Will Adjourn on March Fourth

Washington, Feb. 16.—With the Senate inaugurating regular night sessions the sixty-eighth Congress set its pace today for the home stretch which finds much to be accomplished to put through even the more important of pending measures before its expiration in a little more than two weeks ahead.

With the House clear of the regular supply bills and moving leisurely over other matters, the legislative jam is more or less centered in the Senate. Although leaders hope the night sessions will accelerate the pace there, a filibuster move is drawing strength from the opposition to several measures. The emergency officers retirement bill which has the right of way today, the Cape Cod measure and conference report on Muscle Shoals to be considered later in the week all face determined opposition.

While satisfied that all of the appropriation bills, several of which still wait action in the Senate, will be sent to the White House before adjournment March 4th, the Senate and House leaders have no such confidence as to the fate of several other important measures. Notable among these are the postal pay and rate increase bill, and farm relief legislation.

ANOTHER PROTEST IS LODGED AGAINST HOOVER

Witness Before House Committee Says Secretary Hoover Wants to Dominate American Agriculture.

Washington, Feb. 16.—Appearing before the House agricultural committee today, George N. Peck, president of the American Council of Agriculture entered a protest over what he termed the domination of American agriculture by Secretary Hoover, of the commerce department.

The recommendations of the President's agricultural conference, the witness, contained nothing which had not already been formulated by Mr. Hoover, and he quoted Mr. Hoover as having said the function of the department of agriculture should end with farm production and preparation. Transportation and marketing, he declared, were held by Mr. Hoover to be the function of his department.

Enactment of a revised McNary-Haugen farm export measure was advocated by the witness who also favored special session of Congress, if necessary, to enact remedial farm legislation.

Produce 95 Bales of Cotton 65 Acres.

Dunn, Feb. 15.—G. L. W. Jackson, one of Harnett county's best farmers, gathered a total of 95 bales of cotton averaging more than 500 pounds each from 65 acres planted last year on the outskirts of Dunn. While a number of Dunn district farmers have been known to produce two bales per acre on a small tract, it is not thought the record of Mr. Jackson on 65 acres has been exceeded. Harnett was one of the few eastern counties which produced a larger cotton crop last year than in 1923.
