Brick by Brick They Are Removing Debris With the Hope of Removing All the Bodies From Wreckage.

Boston, July 6.—The 44th body was taken from the wreck of the Pickwick Club, once a gay night resort, early today just fifty hours after the tragedy of the night before the 4th revelers were flung down and buried with the collapse of the building.

All night long the search had gone forward. Under the concentrated glare of dozens of arc lights an army of men had patiently, brick by brick, worked their way down through the mass of debris, pausing now and then to lift another unfortunate.

By this time they had found nearly all "Ella's" body, Miss Ella Cauley, was brought out pitifully bruised. In her dress she found the money for which she had smiled away the broad bandings of the guests that she might realize her hope of marriage and a home.

HENRY WINECOFF INJURED BY NEGRO THIS MORNING

Altercation Between Glenn Winecoff and Negroes Results in Arrest of One, Other Escaping.

Henry Winecoff was injured this morning when he was struck by a negro, Brooklyn Brown, with the butt of a gun after he had gone to the negro's home to investigate a quarrel between his son, Glenn, and Hardy Brown, father of the boy.

His condition was said not to be serious despite the fact that the physician felt it necessary to take a number of stitches in closing the wound on his head. The quarrel started early this morning when Glenn and Hardy Brown began arguing and then exchanged blows. Hardy's family, his son and his wife, entered the altercation and drove Glenn from the farm which belongs to Mr. Winecoff.

Glenn then went home and told his father of the affair. The two of them returned and when they did, they were met by the negroes led by Brooklyn Brown, who had a gun in his hand. Mr. Winecoff attempted to disarm the black and when he did so, he was struck on the head. Police were notified and arrested Hardy Brown but have not been able to find his boy yet. A hearing will probably be held this afternoon at Recorder's court.

Chattanooga, Tenn., July 6.—Sheriff Tom Felman this morning began an investigation into the story told by Dr. W. D. Mason, local veterinarian, and Lawrence Bowman, alleged feudist in aid of prohibition officers that they had been kidnapped on Signal Mountain and kept captive for ten days. The two men who disappeared on June 23rd were found yesterday morning by Jim Thomas, mountaineer, who was hunting stray hogs, handcuffed and tied to trees in the wilds about fifteen miles from Chattanooga.

Bowman and Mason were in a serious condition as result of their experience. Bowman said while driving along the road at night they were set upon by five men wearing tow sacks over their heads, overpowered, and taken into the woods. Bowman and Mason had been lured to the mountain by a fake telephone message and were returning home when attacked. Their disappearance was discovered next day when Mason's car was found on the mountain with blood stains on the running board and containing the hats of the vanished men.

Poses immediately took up the search and combed the mountains including the place where Bowman and Mason were found, bearing out statements of the victims that they had been moved to different trees each night of their captivity.

THE COTTON MARKET

Opened Barely Steady at Decline of 6 to 15 Points, With Prices Later Declining 25 to 32 Points.

New York, July 6.—The cotton market opened barely steady today at a decline of 6 to 15 points in response to relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of more favorable weather in the South over the two day adjournment. Local traders were apprehensive that the rainfall had not been sufficient to relieve the droughty conditions in Texas, but the lower temperatures were considered beneficial and the market here showed net losses of 25 to 32 points by the end of the first hour, October selling off to 22.82. Private cables said Liverpool had declined under local and professional selling on reports of rains in the South and that spinners were showing little interest, while Manchester anticipated a lower basis, as a result of last week's government report.

Cotton futures opened barely steady, July 22.95; Oct. 23.05; Dec. 23.00; Jan. 22.60; March 22.87; May 23.07.
