of Work Their Association Is Doing. Greenville, N. C., July 30 .- In an address before the student body of the East Carolina Teachers College here, Jule B. Warren, secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, discussed the importance of the teacher's assuming a professional attitude and knowing the details of her chosen work.

Mr. Warren pointed out that the purpose of the Association was to create better conditions educationally in the State from two standpoints, that of the teacher and that of the citizen. He told his hearers that last year the organization had a membership of approximately ten thousand. Out of the fee of $2.00 each teacher receives a subscription to the North Carolina Teacher, the Association's official organ. This magazine is published specifically for the teachers of the State and operates on finances furnished by them.

The Association, Mr. Warren stated, also operates a placement bureau, to the privileges of which all members are entitiled. The entire income of the organization is dedicated entirely to the service of teachers and education. "The State Association is the means through which the leaders of the teaching profession in North Carolina hope to accomplish the dream of an educated State in the next

The dispatch refers to "an influx of Russians from Vladivostok and Canton" and says that two Russian ships have arrived at Whampoa, an outpost 27 miles from Canton.

The characteristic of these Rusian ships is not indicated. There are a large number of "white" Rusians in various parts of China where they fled from the Bolshevik regime in their country. The dispatch does not indicate whether the "influx" at Canton is by "reds" 'whites."
