gress of Athletics; "The One-Eyed Circus;" and a dozen thrilling and sensational riding devices of the latest and safest types.

The Bernardi show played the State Fair at Baltimore, and was seen at the Allentown Fair; Jersey State Fair at Trenton; Virginia State Fair at Richmond, and other large fairs throughout the nation.

Dr. Spencer and other fair officials when seen at the grounds this morning, reiterated their belief that the fair will be the greatest ever offered in this section of the State.

"I know we have never offered such shows, free acts, fireworks and races as we have booked for this year," one official said, "and so far as we know no other fair in this section of the country has offered anything better."

We have striven to get the best possible, and we are confident thousands of people will show their appreciation and pleasure by attending the fair."

The free acts each evening will begin at 6:45 to continue an hour. At 7:45 the fireworks will be staged. The fireworks will be the most elaborate ever shown at a local fair and were secured at a cost much in excess of that spent last year for a program that was entirely pleasing.

BROOKS JURY HAS NOT YET BEEN COMPLETED

Difficulty Experienced in Choosing Last Three of Jury to Try Bonnie Brooks.

Hendersonville, Oct. 12.—Examination of ten venire men in an effort to secure three more men to complete the jury in the case of Bonnie L. Brooks, charged with the murder of Sam Y. Bryson, former mayor, took up practically the whole morning session of the Superior Court today.

Out of this number no one was found available, two being related to the defendant and the other 8 having fixed opinions as to the guilt or innocence of Brooks. There are still about 100 venire men to be examined if necessary in order to complete the jury, and it was indicated today that it will probably be late this afternoon or perhaps tomorrow morning before the testimony in the case will be made public.

REPORT OF SALARY AND WAGE COMMISSION

Orders Annual Decrease in Salaries of $19,232.

Raleigh, N. C., Oct. 12.—(AP)—Abolition of five positions and a decrease in the salaries paid annually by the State of $19,232 were the outstanding features of the report of the Salary and Wage Commission made public here Saturday night. Accompanying the 56 page book which contains the action and recommendations of the Commission as to state employees, their salaries, working hours, holidays, schedules of pay for certain positions and a mass of other data, was a statement explaining and summarizing the Commission's work. The report was approved by Governor McLean.

The state insurance department, to suffer as to employees. The Commission recommended the abolition of positions held by five safety education agents and two fire investigators. The saving annually by this was given as $13,300 in salaries and $6,641.75 in expenses. The work of the Commission is not final as the charitable institutions and educational establishments have not been included in the report. The figures given were exclusive of these two classes.

Briefly the commission recommended the reduction of 108 salaries, the increase of 29 and 1464 remained unchanged. The report showed a total of 1,601 in the non-institutional departments and agencies. These were receiving a total of $2,906,230 in salaries annually. The figures were based upon data assembled as of April 15 and become effective November 1st.

"The purpose of the Commission," said the statement issued with the report, "was not, as conceived by some, merely to cut salaries and wages, but rather to classify and place on a business basis the compensation paid employees of the State. The Commission spent approximately six months in the work assigned to it and after mature consideration made its report to the Governor on October 1, 1925.

"The Commission found in some instances inefficient employees were being paid salaries higher than efficient employees in other departments. In some instances in the same department different salaries were paid to employees of comparatively the same degree of efficiency, training and service. It has been the purpose to eliminate inequalities and discriminations wherever found and while the Commission realizes that the full benefits arising from its work will not be immediate and that some errors will have to be eliminated when they are made apparent by the practical working of the plan, it believes that the report will justify the action of the General Assembly in enacting the law and that by following up the work as outlined in this report most permanent good will result."

"The Commission has provided first: classification of employees according to the duties assigned them by the heads of departments; and second: has prescribed a range of salaries and wages for each class of employees.

"Uniform working hours, sick leave and vacation leave have been provided in the rules, thus preventing one employee from obtaining advantage over others."

The statement adds that each department head is left free to select his own employees under certain rules and on a uniform scale. It also expresses the belief that there is nothing in the report to hamper a department head in discharging any employee.

A minimum of seven hours a day work will be required of each employee with four hours on Saturday. Among other recommendations made by the Commission are those for a twelve days vacation leave, ten days sick leave annually, the unused days to be carried over each year and the establishment of six full legal holidays and one half holiday.

CHAIRMAN MADDEN SAYS MUCH MONEY HAS BEEN WASTED

Says Army and Navy Have Squandered Money in "Purposeless and Meaningless" Experiments.

WITNESS FOR INQUIRY BOARD

Says Aviation Must Be Taken From Army and Navy If Forward Steps Are to Be Taken Now.

Washington, Oct. 12.—(AP)—The Army and Navy were charged today by Chairman Madden, of the House appropriations committee, with squandering millions of dollars "in a purposeless, meaningless, endless experimental orgy" in technical aircraft development.

Testifying before the President's air board which resumed hearings after a recess of several days, Mr. Madden declared technical development of aviation could no longer be "safely left" to the two military services if the United States was to take its place among the countries of the world in the air.

"If credit is to be given witnesses who have preceded me," he asserted, "the experimental development work conducted by the army and navy since the war has been productive of very little if any advance toward a plan which might be accepted by Congress."

"You have been told by men who should know, that with few exceptions no real steps have been made," he said.

Citing testimony of Major General Mason Patrick, chief of the army air service, that 262 pursuit planes purchased by the army have been found deficient in vision requirements, Mr. Madden said he had "heard something of a charge of criminal negligence, but that borders on criminal waste."

"Think of buying 262 pursuit planes that a pilot has difficulty in seeing out of," failure of the army and navy to spend their money "intelligently" in the air service, he declared, is not unique as "similar extravagances get nowhere programs are being carried on in tank development, artillery development, chemical warfare, and ammunition development."

SEEKING BODIES OF KANSAS PERSONS IN SEBASTIAN INLET

Fourteen Lives When Small Boat Capsized.—Eleven Bodies Are Found.

BOY SAVED FOUR PERSONS IN BOAT

Swam Ashore and Returned With Boat.—Two Children Among Those Drowned.

Melbourne, Fla., Oct. 12.—(AP)—While fishermen and others were searching today for three missing bodies of 14 persons who were drowned here yesterday when the Clara A, a 40-foot pleasure launch, capsized, the bodies of 11 others which had been recovered were being prepared for burial and shipment to their homes.

Most of those who lost their lives were Kansas people here on a junket to inspect Florida farm properties of the Melbourne Farm Co. whose guests they were on the fatal excursion.

The trip yesterday in the Clara A was a part of the company's program of entertainment for their guests.

It was the intention of Captain Ed Arnold, master of the little craft, to take them for a ride on the Atlantic Ocean, but after negotiating Sebastian Inlet, 18 miles south of here, he decided the seas outside were too rough for his craft, so he attempted to turn back.

Survivors said the boat did not respond to the helm quickly enough and the waves swept over her decks when she was about a quarter around, sweeping several from the deck. She had not recovered from this shock when a second wave hit her, swamping the boat.

The heroic efforts of James Arnold, 12-year-old son of Captain Arnold, saved the lives of four passengers who had been thrown into the raging breakers, when his father's launch turned turtle.

Survivors said the lad swam ashore and obtained a small boat. Returning to the yacht he jumped into the water, and fighting against the high waves succeeded in rescuing four persons in the boat and landing them safely.

Two children were among those drowned.

Dan Roach went down with his father, C. E. Roach, and Miss Loreta Dreiling, 15, who had accompanied D. U. Ruckles on the excursion, was the second youthful victim.

SIX MORE WORKING DAYS IN THE FIRST CAMPAIGN PERIOD

Candidate, What Are You Going to Do Toward Cinching One of the Big Automobiles?

THESE ARE THE CRUCIAL DAYS

The First Period of Our Subscription Campaign Expires Next Monday at Midnight.

Six more workings days remain in the first period of The Tribune-Times campaign. Well may the candidates in this truly great effort ask themselves what they are going to do toward cinching one of the big automobiles in these all-important big vote days. They are the crucial days of the contest, the time when the ultimate winners show strength in their work and the time when the lesser candidates keep up only an ordinary pace or drop into a slump.

Six more days until midnight, Monday, October 19th. We have known all along, from the first announcement of this campaign, that this date was to mark the first decline in the vote given on subscriptions to The Tribune and Times. But now that it looms in the near future it is brought more closely home that this coming week is the biggest time in the whole campaign, the time when each one should do his or her utmost toward tilting up the winning vote in the election.

It is important to realize that two, three, four and five-year subscriptions, especially the latter, are invaluable to candidates in this first period. True, not many of these can be commanded by any one person, but each one, no doubt had hopes of getting a few. Now is the time to get them in when they get the biggest vote. Just one five-year subscription to The Tribune gives the candidate producing it 250,000 votes and if new, 100,000 more. And to this is added the club value of the business. A five-year to The Times carries 100,000 if old and 150,000 if new. Just a few of these now can put an entirely different aspect to the looks of any one's standing in the campaign.

The Cabarrus County Fair, which opens tomorrow for five days, is due to be an appreciable factor in the campaign with the campaign department having arranged for space in the automobile show tent in which will be displayed the campaign automobile prizes. At the opening there will be seen the Studebaker phaeton, the Hudson coach and the Chevrolet sedan. It may be the second day of the fair before Parks Lafferty of the Standard Buick Company, from which the Buick Brougham was purchased, can make arrangements to have the biggest car on display but it will be there. It will be a good idea for candidates to bring their friends around to that booth and show them what they are working for.

Let midnight, Monday, October 19, be the biggest hour of your lives and see that by the time that fateful hour arrives you have done your very best toward securing the subscriptions and votes for one of the big prizes.

More than 1500 birds were entered in the poultry show by 113 exhibitors, says Mr. Hendricks, who says that the fair, as a whole, was the best held during the past six years.
