Seaplane, Skimming Surface, Hits Submarine Periscope.

Rome, Oct. 31 .- An unusual accident occurred at Spezia when a flying machine collided with a submarine. A navy seaplane skimming over the surface of the bay preparatory to a practice flight struck the periscope of a submarine traveling submerged at right angle to the plane's course. The seaplane turned over, but both its occupants escaped unnurt. The periscope of the undersea craft was torn away by the force of the impact.

The submarine commander, acting promptly, brought his craft to the surface almost before the crew realized the danger they had just gone through safely.
